PART 3203—MATERIAL ENTERING INTO THE PRODUCTION OF MAINTENANCE EQUIPMENT FOR PASSENGER AUTOMOBILES, LIGHT, MEDIUM AND HEAVY MOTOR TRUCKS, TRUCK TRACTORS, TRUCK TRAILERS, PASSENGER CARRIERS, AND OFF-THE-HIGHWAY MOTOR VEHICLES

[Limitation Order L-270]

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of certain critical materials used in the manufacture of automotive maintenance equipment for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 3203.1 Limitation Order L-270—(a) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the Regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(2) "Producer" means any person engaged in the manufacture or assembly of any automotive maintenance equipment.

(3) "Automotive maintenance equipment" means the items listed on Schedules A, B, and C, to this order, as the same may be amended from time to time, which are manufactured or assembled for automotive repair usage.

(4) "Automotive repair usage" means repairing, reconditioning, rebuilding, renewing, servicing, or maintaining automotive vehicles or parts of automotive vehicles.

(5) "Automotive vehicles" means passenger automobiles, light, medium and heavy motor trucks, truck tractors, truck trailers, passenger carriers, and off-the-highway motor vehicles.

(6) "Original equipment" means any automotive maintenance equipment produced for or purchased by manufacturers of automotive vehicles for shipment with such vehicles and included in the manufacturer's sales price of the automotive vehicle.

(c) Restrictions on production. On and after April 30, 1943:

(1) No producer shall manufacture or assemble any automotive maintenance equipment listed in Schedule A.

(2) No producer shall manufacture or assemble in any calendar quarter any item of automotive maintenance equipment listed in Schedule B in excess of twenty (20) per cent of the number of like items of automotive maintenance equipment sold by him for other than original equipment in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1941.

(i) In the event that the limitation imposed by paragraph (c) (2) should result in restricting production, in any calendar quarter, to less than his minimum practical factory run of any item of automotive maintenance equipment listed in Schedule B, a producer may, notwithstanding the provision of paragraph (c) (2), produce a minimum practical factory run, provided that his dollar volume of sales of such item, in any calendar quarter shall not exceed twenty (20) per cent of the total dollar volume of his sales of such item in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1941. But in no event may his production of such items during three consecutive calendar quarters exceed twenty (20) per cent of his production of such items during the three corresponding calendar quarters of 1941.

(3) No producer shall manufacture or assemble in any calendar quarter any item of automotive maintenance equipment listed in Schedule C in excess of seventy-five (75) per cent of the number of like items of automotive maintenance equipment sold by him for other than original equipment in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1941.

(4) No producer shall manufacture or assemble in any calendar quarter a dollar volume of repair or replacement parts for automotive maintenance equipment in excess of ten (10) per cent of the total dollar volume of automotive maintenance equipment sold by him in the corresponding calendar quarter of 1941.

(5) No producer shall use copper products or copper base alloy products in the manufacture of automotive maintenance equipment, except: for conducting electric current; in bearings, bushings, and check valves; where noncorrosive metal is required; and when so used, such copper products and copper base alloy products shall be reduced to the minimum quantity and minimum gauges, size and grade of copper product or copper base alloy product necessary for the proper operation of the automotive maintenance equipment.

(6) No producer shall use any aluminum, steel, or other critical materials in the manufacture of automotive maintenance equipment where the use of less critical materials is practicable and, when so used, such aluminum, steel, or other critical materials shall be reduced to the minimum quantity and grade necessary for the proper operation of the automotive maintenance equipment.

(d) Restriction of sales by producers. No producer shall sell, transfer or deliver to any person any automotive maintenance, equipment, or any replacement parts for automotive maintenance equipment except pursuant to orders bearing a preference rating of AA-5 or higher.

(e) Exceptions to applicability of this order. (1) The terms and restrictions of this order shall not apply to any automotive maintenance equipment sold to or produced under contracts or orders for delivery to or for the account of the United States Army, Navy, Maritime Commission, or the War Shipping Administration.

(2) The terms and restrictions of paragraphs (c) (2), (3) and (4) shall not apply to any automotive maintenance equipment sold to or produced under contracts or orders for delivery to or for the account of:

(f) Records. All persons affected by this order shall keep and preserve for not less than two years accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production and sales.

(g) Reports. All persons affected by this order shall execute and file with the War Production Board such reports and questionnaires as the Board shall from time to time request. No reports or questionnaires are to be filed by any person until forms therefor are prescribed by the War Production Board.

(h) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(i) Audit and inspection. All records required to be kept by this order shall, upon request, be submitted to audit and inspection by duly authorized representatives of the War Production Board.

[Preference Rating Order P-142]

Preference Rating Order: For the purpose of facilitating the acquisition of materials for maintenance, repair, operating supplies and certain other requirements of transportation systems in the public interest and to promote the national defense, preference ratings are hereby assigned to deliveries of such materials upon the following terms:

§ 3216.1 Preference Rating Order P-142—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(2) "Transportation system" means a steam railroad, an electric railroad, a terminal railroad, a switching railroad, a private car line company, a rapid transit system, an electric street railway system, a trolley coach system, or a common carrier passenger motor bus system.

(3) "Operator" means any person to the extent that he is engaged in the business of transporting passengers or property over a transportation system. The term does not include any person who can obtain all of his controlled material requirements at retail, or from warehouses or distributors under the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 4, and who has not elected to operate under this Order P-142 pursuant to paragraph (g) (1) hereof; such person shall continue to operate under the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 5 and all other applicable regulations.

(4) "Material" means any commodity, equipment, accessory, part, assembly, or product of any kind.

(5) "Controlled material" means controlled material as defined in Schedule I of CMP Regulation No. 1, as amended from time to time.

(6) "Maintenance and repair" means the upkeep or restoration of any unit of the operator's property or equipment by using the minimum amount of material necessary

(i) To keep the unit usable for the purpose intended in its existing design.

(ii) To restore parts of the unit to their original usefulness, or

(iii) To renew parts to restore the unit to its usefulness for the purpose intended in its existing design.

The term does not include the use of material for "heavy repair of locomotives" or "heavy repair of railroad cars" as those terms are defined hereinafter; except that the following may be deemed maintenance and repair: modernization of locomotives when the cost of labor and material per locomotive does not exceed $500, and the new installation on railroad cars of truck snubbers, bottom rod guards and break beam safety devices.

(7) "Operating supplies" means those materials and supplies which are essential to the operations of the operator's transportation system, the rendering of services, and the collection of revenues in connection therewith, but not including those items shown in List A of CMP Regulation No. 5, as amended from time to time. In addition there may be included as operating supplies minor items of productive capital equipment not exceeding $500 per unit (excluding cost of labor).

(8) "Construction" means the use of material to provide additional facilities or to rehabilitate existing facilities for a purpose not intended in the existing design.

(9) "Heavy repair of locomotives" means any of the following:

(i) Such repair to boiler, machinery and tender as is necessary to put the unit in thorough order and in condition to run out a new term of assigned mileage (sometimes known as class 1, 2 and 3 repair), and also such intermediate repair thereto as is necessary to enable the unit to run out its full mileage assignment (sometimes known as class 4 and 5 repair);

(ii) Conversion, which means any change in the general machinery or wheel arrangement of the locomotive; or

(iii) Modernization, which means the addition of accessories and or specialties to the locomotive.

(10) "Heavy repair of railroad cars" means either of the following:

(i) Program repair for any group of cars, or, if the operator does not so program such repairs, repair of any car requiring 50 or more man hours per car for freight cars, or 100 or more man hours per car for passenger cars; or

(ii) Conversion, which means the modification of the structure of an existing car to such an extent as to change the type of the car.

(b) Preference ratings. (1) Subject to the restrictions of this order, the following procedure is established for the assignment of preference ratings to orders to be placed by an operator after March 31, 1943, for material other than controlled materials for a use authorized by paragraph (d) hereof, except that preference ratings for Class A products for which an allotment is required will be assigned at the time the allotment is made:

(i) The War Production Board may assign in writing specific preference ratings to deliveries of specific materials essential for emergency repairs, upon application made pursuant to paragraph (g) (2) hereof;

(ii) The War Production Board may specifically assign in writing preference ratings to deliveries of materials, in the quantities, for the periods, and on the terms and conditions specified in the copy of Form PD-844 returned to the operator, upon application made pursuant to paragraph (g) (3) hereof.

(2) The ratings assigned in accordance with paragraph (b) (1) hereof may be applied by an operator to deliveries of material other than controlled material only by use of a certification in substantially the following form (in lieu of the endorsement specified in Priorities Regulation No. 3, and the certification required in CMP Regulation No. 5), signed manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7:

Preference Rating • • • (specify rating)—CMP allotment symbol MRO—P 142. No. ____ (show serial No.). The undersigned certifies, subject to the criminal penalties for misrepresentation contained in section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, that all material and items covered by this order are required for an essential use authorized by paragraph (d) of Preference Rating Order P-142; that this order is rated and placed in compliance with said Order P-142; and that the delivery requested has been duly authorized on the applicable Form PD-844 returned to the undersigned.

However, in lieu of the above certification, the certification specified in CMP Regulation No. 7 may be used, Provided, That the designation P-142 and appropriate serial number is included therein.

(3) The ratings applied in accordance with paragraph (b) (2) hereof may be extended in the manner provided in Priorities Regulation No. 3, subject, however, to the restrictions contained in CMP Regulation No. 3.

(4) An order for material, other than controlled material, bearing a rating applied or extended in accordance with this paragraph (b) and the CMP allotment symbol MRO—P-142, No. -- shall have the same status as a rated order bearing a CMP allotment number under all applicable CMP regulations. Such symbol shall constitute an "allotment number or symbol" for the purpose of CMP Regulation No. 3.

(c) Controlled materials. (1) Subject to the restrictions of this order, any operator requiring delivery after March 31, 1943, of any controlled material, except aluminum, for a use authorized by paragraph (d) hereof, may obtain such controlled material (to the extent authorized pursuant to application made upon Form PD-844 in accordance with paragraph (g) (3) hereof) by placing on his delivery order substantially the following certification, signed manually or as provided in Priorities Regulation No. 7:

CMP allotment symbol MRO—P-142. No. ____ (Show serial No.). The undersigned certifies, subject to the criminal penalties for misrepresentation contained in section 35 (A) of the United States Criminal Code, that the controlled material covered by this order is required for an essential use authorized by paragraph (d) of Preference Rating Order P-142, and that delivery thereof has been duly authorized on the applicable Form PD-844 returned to the undersigned.

However, in lieu of the above certification, the certification specified in CMP Regulation No. 7 may be used, Provided, That the designation P-142 and appropriate serial number is included therein.

(2) An order for controlled material for a use authorized by paragraph (d) hereof, and bearing the CMP allotment symbol MRO-P-142, No. — and the certification required in this paragraph (c), shall constitute an authorized controlled material order under all applicable CMP regulations.

(3) Aluminum for delivery after March 31, 1943, required by an operator for any purpose authorized by this order, may be obtained only upon specific application to the War Production Board, pursuant to paragraph (g) (2) hereof.

(d) Restrictions on use of material. (1) No operator shall use any material (including controlled materials, Class A products, Class B products, and other products and materials) acquired under the provisions of paragraph (b) or (c) of this order, nor make withdrawals of any material from inventory, except for the following purposes:

(i) Maintenance, repair and operating supplies;

(ii) Heavy repair of locomotives;

(iii) Heavy repair of railroad cars;

(iv) Replacement of rail with the weight of rail and type of fastenings conforming to the operator's standard practice; or

(v) For any other use when specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(2) No operator shall make withdrawals of any material from inventory for construction except to the extent specifically permitted by Conservation Order L-41, as amended from time to time; Provided, That any new materials (in excess of $500 for any one project) so used from inventory shall be replaced only pursuant to the provisions of an approved order in the P-19 series.

(e) Conservation of materials. (1) Every operator shall, whenever possible, use conservation measures such as substitution, redesign and respecification to eliminate scarce materials normally used; and shall plan his operation, maintenance and repair schedules in accordance with the relative urgency and national need for transportation, subject to the provisions of this order. The War Production Board may from time to time issue supplementary orders or schedules requiring the elimination or diminution of the use of any material with or without the substitution of other materials, and may specify the use to which specific types of materials can be put.

(f) Inventory control. Notwithstanding any provision of this order, and unless otherwise specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board, no operator shall accept delivery of any item of material (except fuel) if his storehouse inventory of such item is, or will by virtue of such acceptance become, greater than the quantity of such item he will be required by his current practices to put into a use authorized by this order during the succeeding 60-day period. Nothing in this paragraph (f) shall be deemed to prevent any operator from maintaining minimum stocks of material for emergency use, nor from acquiring reasonable stocks of ties and lumber for seasoning. Shipment of material from the storehouse in advance of its actual need shall be deemed contrary to the intent of this paragraph.

(g) Procedure—(1) No operator shall be entitled to any assistance under the provisions of this order (except as provided under paragraph (m) hereof), until he has been assigned an authorized serial number, which may be obtained upon application by letter to the War Production Board, stating that the applicant will be unable to obtain all of his controlled material requirements at retail or under the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 4. In addition, any person who can obtain all such requirements at retail or under that regulation may elect to apply as above for an authorized serial number. When such serial number is assigned to him, he shall be deemed an operator under all the provisions of this Order P-142.

(2) An operator, in order to secure authorization or exemption under paragraphs (b) (1) (i), (c) (3), (d) (1) (v), (f) or (h) (2) hereof, must communicate with the War Production Board, describing the nature of the emergency or the reason why specific authorization is necessary, and the amount and type of material involved. The War Production Board will thereupon notify such operator in writing whether, and to what extent, his application is approved.

(3) An operator, in order to secure authorization for delivery of material under paragraphs (b) (1) (ii) and (c) (1) hereof, must forward to the War Production Board, 60 days prior to the beginning of each calender quarter, an application on Form PD-844 filled out in accordance with instructions thereon, and in accordance with any supplemental instructions covering all or any one or more operators, or specific classes of operators, under the provisions of this Order P-142. A supplemental application on Form PD-844 may be filed as the need arises. The War Production Board will in each case return such Form, notifying the operator whether, and to what extent, his application is approved.

(h) Resale of materials. (1) An operator may resell material (whether or not obtained with the assistance of this order):

(i) To any other operator,

(ii) To another person when such material is to be physically incorporated in repairs of equipment that is used in the maintenance, repair, or operations of the operator's own property, Provided, That such material could have been used by the operator itself in making its own repairs without violation of any of the provisions of this order.

(iii) To the operator's own transportation system subsidiaries, or for the maintenance of track or equipment not owned but customarily maintained by the operator or its subsidiaries, or

(iv) For the repair of equipment of another carrier in accordance with the Code of Rules for the Interchange of Traffic as adopted by the Association of American Railroads, and any such sale shall be expressly permitted within the provisions of paragraph (c) (3) of Priorities Regulation No. 13: Provided, That nothing in this paragraph (h) (1) shall be deemed to authorize receipt or use of any material by any person in violation of any inventory or use restriction imposed by this order or any other order or regulation of the War Production Board, and no operator shall make any sale of material authorized above if he knows or has reason to believe that receipt or use thereof by the buyer will be in violation of any such restriction.

(2) In addition, an operator may resell such material when specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(i) Appeal. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from and stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(j) Records, audits and reports. Each operator shall keep and preserve for a period of not less than two years accurate and complete records of all transactions affected by this order and shall submit from time to time to audit and inspection by duly authorized representatives of the War Production Board. Each operator shall execute and file with the War Production Board or other designated agency such reports and questionnaires as the War Production Board shall from time to time require.

(k) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(l) Applicability of regulations. (1) This order and all transactions affected hereby, except as herein otherwise provided, are subject to all applicable regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(2) None of the provisions of CMP Regulations No. 5 or No. 5A shall apply to operators as defined in paragraph (a) (3) of this order, and no such operator shall obtain any material under the provisions of either of those regulations; except that operators of common carrier passenger motor bus systems may obtain material for delivery in the second quarter of 1943 under the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 5.

(m) Applicability of Order P–88. This order shall supersede Preference Rating Order P–88 as of April —, 1943, and all ratings assigned or issued thereunder are revoked as of that date; except that ratings assigned on Form PD–351 for the second quarter of 1943, and authorizations for deliveries of material in quantities, and on the terms and conditions specified on said Form PD–351 for that quarter, shall remain valid just as if they were ratings and authorizations specified on Form PD–844, pursuant to the provisions of this Order P–142.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the wholesale prices of new rubber tires and tubes have risen and are threatening further to rise to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942. (iii) A price determined by ascertaining in accordance with the provisions of subdivisions (i) or (ii), the maximum price for the new rubber tires or tubes which are most comparable as to type, quality, and size, and adjusting such price in accordance with the price differentials prevailing in the industry on March 1, 1942, for differences in brand, type, quality, and size.

(iv) A price determined by taking the net price charged by the seller for the last delivery prior to March 1942, of new rubber tires or tubes which are comparable as to type, quality, and size and adjusting such price in accordance with the price differentials prevailing in the industry on March 1, 1942, for differences in brand, type, quality, and size and for differences between purchasers.

(iii) A price determined by ascertaining in accordance with the provisions of subdivisions (i) or (ii), for the new rubber passenger-car tires or tubes which are most comparable as to type, quality and size, the base price to which the percentage of the maximum retail price is to be added under these subparagraphs, adjusting such base price in accordance with the price differentials prevailing in the industry on March 1, 1942, for differences in brand, type, quality and size, and adding to such adjusted base price a dollar amount equal to 16% of the maximum retail price established by Revised Price Schedule No. 63, apart from the 16% increase provided in paragraph (n) of §§ 1315.110 and 1315.111, for the particular new rubber passenger-car tires or tubes for which a maximum wholesale price is being determined under this subdivision (iii).

(c) Exhibit C passenger-car tires and tubes. (1) The maximum wholesale price for any Exhibit C passenger-car tires or tubes shall be a price determined according to whichever of the following subdivisions (i) to (iii) is applicable:

(i) If the Exhibit C filed with the Office of Price Administration on which the particular tires or tubes are listed sets forth consumer list prices, the maximum price for such tires or tubes shall be a price determined by taking the price set forth on the Exhibit C list for tires or tubes of the same brand, type, quality and size; deducting the prescribed 20, 40, or 60 percent discount set forth for such tires or tubes on the Exhibit C; applying to the price which results after such prescribed discount is deducted all discounts from consumer list prices which the seller had in effect on March 1, 1942, for a purchaser of the same class on current brands of tires or tubes which are comparable as to type, quality and size; and increasing that resultant price by a dollar amount equal to 16% of the price set forth on the Exhibit C list, after deducting the prescribed 20, 40, or 60% discount, for the tires or tubes for which a maximum wholesale price is being computed.

(ii) If the Exhibit C filed with the Office of Price Administration on which the particular tires or tubes are listed sets forth net wholesale prices, the maximum price for such tires or tubes applicable to the manufacturer or distributor who filed such Exhibit C, shall be a price determined by taking the price set forth on the Exhibit C list for tires or tubes of the same brand, type, quality and size which is applicable to the class of purchasers in which the particular buyer falls; deducting the prescribed 20, 40, or 60% discount set forth for such tires or tubes on the Exhibit C; applying to the price which results after such prescribed discount is deducted all discounts, if any, from such net wholesale prices which the seller had in effect on March 1, 1942, for a purchaser of the same class on current brands of tires or tubes which are comparable as to type, quality and size; and increasing that resultant price by a dollar amount equal to 16% of a consumer list price for the tires or tubes for which a maximum wholesale price is being computed, which consumer list price shall be computed as follows:

Take the maximum retail price established by Revised Price Schedule No. 63, apart from the 16% increase provided in paragraph (n) of §§ 1315.110 and 1315.111, for the passenger-car tires or tubes of the same manufacturer or distributor which are most comparable as to type, quality, and size; adjust such price in accordance with the price differentials prevailing in the industry on March 1, 1942, for differences in brand, type, quality and size; and adding to such adjusted base price a dollar amount equal to 16% of the maximum retail price established by Revised Price Schedule No. 63, apart from the 16% increase provided in paragraph (n) of §§ 1315.110 and 1315.111, for the particular new rubber passenger-car tires or tubes for which a maximum wholesale price is being determined under this subdivision (ii).

(iii) If the Exhibit C filed with the Office of Price Administration on which the particular tires or tubes are listed sets forth net wholesale prices, the maximum price for such tires or tubes applicable to any seller other than the manufacturer or distributor who filed such Exhibit C, shall be a price determined by taking the price set forth on the Exhibit C list for tires or tubes of the same brand, type, quality and size which is applicable to the seller on his purchases of such tires; deducting the prescribed 20, 40, or 60 per cent discount set forth for such tires or tubes on the Exhibit C; applying to the price which results after such prescribed discount is deducted the normal mark-up which the seller had in effect on March 1, 1942 for a purchaser of the same class on current brands of tires or tubes which are comparable as to type, quality and size; and increasing that resultant price by a dollar amount equal to 16% of a consumer list price for the tires or tubes for which a maximum wholesale price is being computed, which consumer list price shall be computed as follows:

Take the maximum retail price established by Revised Price Schedule No. 63, apart from the 16% increase provided in paragraph (n) of §§ 1315.110 and 1315.111, for the passenger-car tires or tubes of the same manufacturer or distributor which are most comparable as to type, quality, and size; adjust such price in accordance with the price differentials prevailing in the industry on March 1, 1942, for differences in brand, type, quality and size; and deduct the prescribed 20, 40 or 60 per cent discount set forth in Exhibit C for the tires or tubes for which a maximum wholesale price is being computed. (Paragraph (c) (1) as amended by Amendment No. 3, 8 F.R. 320)

(2) It shall be the duty of the seller to determine which of the tires or tubes he is selling appear on the Exhibit C filed with the Office of Price Administration by the manufacturer or distributor thereof, the prices set forth for such tires or tubes on the Exhibit C list, whether such prices are consumer list prices or net wholesale prices, whether a discount of 20, 40, or 60 per cent is prescribed by the Exhibit C for such tires or tubes, and any other information which is necessary to enable the seller to determine the maximum prices for Exhibit C passenger-car tires or tubes under subparagraph (1) of this paragraph. Such information can ordinarily be obtained from the manufacturer or distributor of the tires or tubes involved. All such information can be obtained by any seller by writing to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., where an accurate Exhibit C for each manufacturer and distributor is on file and available for inspection at all times.

(3) Notwithstanding any provision of subparagraph (1), the maximum wholesale price for any factory second Exhibit C passenger-car tires or tubes shall be calculated by applying a discount of 25% to the maximum wholesale price which would apply to the tire or tube under subparagraph (1) if it were not a factory second.

(d) Passenger-car reclaimed rubber war tires. The maximum wholesale price for any new passenger-car reclaimed rubber war tires shall be a price determined according to whichever of the following subparagraphs (1) to (5) is applicable:

(1) Sales on the basis of consumer price lists. (i) For any seller who quoted wholesale prices during March, 1942, by applying discounts to a consumer price list, the maximum wholesale price for any new passenger-car reclaimed rubber war tires shall be determined by deducting from the maximum retail price of such reclaimed rubber war tires, as established by Revised Price Schedule No. 63, a percentage discount equal to the smallest discount from maximum retail prices at which the seller delivered, or if he did not deliver, at which he offered for delivery, during March, 1942, to a purchaser of the same class, the brand of passenger-car tires listed in paragraph

(b) of §§ 1315.110 or 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 for the manufacturer or private brand distributor whose company name or brand name appears on such reclaimed rubber war tires.

(ii) If such seller did not deliver or offer for delivery during March, 1942, to a purchaser of the same class, any tires of the brand listed in paragraph (b) of §§ 1315.110 or 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 for the manufacturer or private brand distributor whose company name or brand name appears on the reclaimed rubber war tires, the maximum wholesale price for such reclaimed rubber war tires shall be determined by calculating the maximum wholesale price for the most comparable purchaser in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (i), and adjusting the price so calculated in accordance with the price differentials prevailing in the industry between such purchasers on March 1, 1942. (Paragraphs (d) (1) (i) and (ii) added by Amendment No. 2. 7 F.R. 9890.)

(iii) If such seller did not deliver or offer for delivery during March, 1942, to any purchaser, any tires of the brand listed in paragraph (b) of §§ 1315.110 or 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 for the manufacturer or private brand distributor whose company name or brand name appears on the reclaimed rubber war tires, the maximum wholesale price for such reclaimed rubber war tires shall be the maximum wholesale price to a purchaser of the same class for the most comparable seller, calculated in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (i) or (ii).

(iv) For any sale or delivery by a manufacturer where the maximum wholesale price determined under subdivisions (i), (ii) or (iii) is less than 45% of the maximum retail price of such reclaimed rubber war tires, as established by Revised Price Schedule No. 63, the manufacturer may calculate his maximum price in accordance with the procedure set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, as though it were a sale or delivery of private brand tires to the private brand distributor. When a manufacturer follows the procedure set forth in subparagraph (3) in calculating his maximum price to any purchaser who is not the private brand distributor of the tires involved, any reference in subparagraph (3) to the private brand distributor shall be deemed to be a reference to the particular purchaser involved, and any reference in subparagraph (3) to the brand of tire listed for the distributor in paragraph (b) of § 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 shall be deemed to be a reference to whichever brand of passenger-car tire delivered or offered for delivery during November, 1941, by the manufacturer to the particular purchaser, has a maximum retail price on the 6.00–16 size closest to $17.11. All provisions of subparagraph (3), including the reporting provision, must be followed. In addition the manufacturer must report to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., what his maximum price would have been under subdivisions (i), (ii), or (iii) of this subparagraph (1), on the first sale or delivery of the tires to the purchaser. (Subdivisions (iii) and (iv) added by Amendment No. 3. 8 F.R. 320.)

(2) Sales on the basis of net wholesale price lists. (i) For any seller who quoted wholesale prices during March, 1942, on the basis of a net wholesale price list, the maximum wholesale price for any new passenger-car reclaimed rubber war tires shall be determined by taking the highest net price at which the seller delivered, or if he did not deliver, at which he offered for delivery, during March, 1942, to a purchaser of the same class, the 6.00—16 size of the brand of passenger-car tires listed in paragraph (b) of §§ 1315.110 or 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 for the manufacturer or private brand distributor whose company name or brand name appears on such reclaimed rubber war tires, expressing that price as a percentage of the maximum retail price for the 6.00—16 size of the same brand, as established by Revised Price Schedule No. 63 apart from the 16% increase provided in paragraph (n) of §§ 1315.110 and 1315.111, and applying that percentage to the maximum retail prices for the reclaimed rubber war tires, as established by Revised Price Schedule No. 63.

(ii) If such seller did not deliver or offer for delivery during March, 1942, to a purchaser of the same class, any 6.00—16 size tires of the brand listed in paragraph (b) of §§ 1315.110 or 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 for the manufacturer or private brand distributor whose company name or brand name appears on the reclaimed rubber war tires, the maximum wholesale price for such reclaimed rubber war tires shall be determined by calculating the maximum wholesale price for the most comparable purchaser in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (i), and adjusting the price so calculated in accordance with the price differentials prevailing in the industry between such purchasers on March 1, 1942. (Subparagraph 2 (i) and (ii) added by Amendment No. 2. 7 F.R. 9890)

(iii) If such seller did not deliver or offer for delivery during March, 1942, to any purchaser, any 6.00–16 size tires of the brand listed in paragraph (b) of §§ 1315.110 or 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 for the manufacturer or private brand distributor whose company name or brand name appears on the reclaimed rubber war tires, the maximum wholesale price for such reclaimed rubber war tires shall be the maximum wholesale price to a purchaser of the same class for the most comparable seller, calculated in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (i) or (ii).

(iv) Notwithstanding the provisions of subdivisions (i), (ii) or (iii), the maximum wholesale price for any new passenger-car reclaimed rubber war tires on which the name General Tire and Rubber Co. appears, shall be the price applicable to a purchaser of the same class calculated in accordance with the provisions of subdivisions (i), (ii) or (iii), increased by 7 percent.

(v) For any sale or delivery by a manufacturer where the maximum wholesale price determined under subdivisions (i), (ii), (iii) or (iv) is less than 45% of the maximum retail price of such reclaimed rubber war tires, as established by Revised Price Schedule No. 63, the manufacturer may calculate his maximum price in accordance with the procedure set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, as though it were a sale or delivery of private brand tires to the private brand distributor. When a manufacturer follows the procedure set forth in subparagraph (3) in calculating his maximum price to any purchaser who is not the private brand distributor of the tires involved, any reference in subparagraph (3) to the private brand distributor shall be deemed to be a reference to the particular purchaser involved, and any reference in subparagraph (3) to the brand of tire listed for the distributor in paragraph (b) of § 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 shall be deemed to be a reference to whichever brand of passenger-car tire delivered or offered for delivery during November, 1941, by the manufacturer to the particular purchaser, has a maximum retail price on the 6.00–16 size closest to $17.11. All provisions of subparagraph (3), including the reporting provision, must be followed. In addition the manufacturer must report to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., what his maximum price would have been under subdivisions (i), (ii), (iii) or (iv) of this subparagraph (2), on the first sale or delivery of the tires to the purchaser. (Subdivisions (iii), (iv) and (v) added by Amendment No. 3. 8 F.R. 320.)

(3) Manufacturers' sales to private brand distributors. Notwithstanding any provision of subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph, the maximum wholesale price for any sale or delivery by a manufacturer to a private brand distributor of new passenger-car reclaimed rubber war tires bearing the distributor's company name or brand name shall be the price determined upon the manufacturer's first sale or delivery of such tires to the private brand distributor, by applying to the factory cost of the particular size of reclaimed rubber war tire, determined according to subdivision (i), the percentage mark-up applicable to the purchaser, determined according to subdivision (ii). The maximum wholesale price so established shall be the maximum wholesale price for all future deliveries of such reclaimed rubber war tires by the manufacturer to the same private brand distributor.

(i) Computation of factory cost. The factory cost of a reclaimed rubber war tire shall be the sum total of direct labor costs, direct materials costs including waste, and factory overhead. The direct labor costs shall be determined by multiplying the number of hours of each type of labor required in the manufacture of the tire by the wage rates determined in accordance with inferior subdivision (a) of this subdivision (i). The direct materials costs shall be determined by multiplying the quantity of each type of material required in the manufacture of the tire by the materials prices determined in accordance with inferior subdivision (b) of this subdivision (i). If any materials are supplied or paid for directly by the private brand distributor, the cost of such materials shall not be included in calculating the factory cost of the reclaimed rubber war tire.' Waste shall be determined by applying the same methods as were used or would have been used by the manufacturer in similar production during March, 1942, adjusted to reflect the actual quantity of waste in the production of the reclaimed rubber war tire. The factory overhead shall include the following items: expense materials, supplies and miscellaneous expense; indirect labor and salaries; repairs and maintenance; depreciation; insurance; taxes, excluding income and excess profits taxes; power; royalties; mold depreciation if the manufacturer owns the mold; factory warehousing and shipping expenses (at location in the same town or city as the factory is located). The factory overhead shall be determined by using the bases and predetermined rates which the manufacturer had in effect on November 1, 1941, in determining the factory overhead on the brand of passenger-car tire listed in paragraph (b) of § 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 for the private brand distributor whose company name or brand name appears on the reclaimed rubber war tire. If the manufacturer did not manufacture during November, 1941, any tires of the brand so listed for that distributor, the factory overhead shall be determined by using the rates and bases actually used by the manufacturer during November, 1941, in determining the factory overhead on the brand of tires most comparable thereto.

(a) Wage rates. The wage rates applicable to any tire shall be the highest wage rates, in effect in the manufacturer's plant for any substantial portion of March, 1942, for each class of labor involved in the production of the tire. If the manufacturer did not employ a given class of labor in March, 1942, he shall use the highest wage rate paid for any substantial portion of March, 1942, by the nearest employer operating under comparable conditions who employed that class of labor during that month.

(b) Materials prices. The price of any materials used in the tire being priced shall be the highest price charged during March, 1942, (as defined in subdivision (iii) of this subparagraph (3)) by the manufacturer's supplier; except that if the Office of Price Administration has established a lower maximum price for the sale of that material to the manufacturer by his supplier, such lower price shall govern. If the material was not delivered or offered for delivery by the manufacturer's supplier during March, 1942 the material price shall be the first price at which the manufacturer's supplier offered to sell the material to a purchaser of the same class as the manufacturer after March 31, 1942, or the maximum price for the material established by the Office of Price Administration, whichever is the lower. The manufacturer's supplier shall be (1) his March, 1942, supplier of the material, or (2) lacking a March, 1942, supplier of the material, his most recent supplier of the material. If neither of these exists; it shall be his potential supplier. For the purposes of this inferior subdivision (b) if the manufacturer shall receive a written affirmation from the seller that the material is being sold at a price which is not in excess of the maximum price established by the Office of Price Administration, and if the manufacturer shall have no cause to doubt the accuracy of the affirmation, and if, as of the time of his determination of the price of a tire, the maximum price of which is established by this paragraph, the manufacturer shall have no reason to believe that the selling price of the material is in excess of the maximum price established by the Office of Price Administration, the price as affirmed by the seller shall be deemed to be the maximum price established by the Office of Price Administration for that material.

(ii) Percentage mark-up. The percentage mark-up to be applied to the factory cost of any size of reclaimed rubber war tire in determining its maximum price to any particular private brand distributor shall be the difference between the manufacturer's actual factory cost in November, 1941, for the 6.00–16 size tire of the brand listed for that distributor in paragraph (b) of § 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63, and the highest net price at which such tire was delivered, or if it was not delivered, at which it was offered for delivery, by the manufacturer during November, 1941, to that private brand distributor, expressed as a percentage of such November, 1941, factory cost. In determining the actual November, 1941, factory cost on the 6.00–16 size tire of the brand specified above, the manufacturer shall consider the same elements of cost as those specified by subdivision (i) of this subparagraph (3) for determining the factory cost of a reclaimed rubber war tire. If the manufacturer did not deliver or offer for delivery to a particular private brand distributor during November, 1941, any 6.00–16 size tires of the brand listed for that distributor in paragraph (b) of § 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63, the percentage mark-up to be applied in determining the maximum price to that distributor shall be a mark-up approved in writing by the Office of Price Administration upon application by the manufacturer as provided in subdivision (v) of this subparagraph (3).

(iii) Definitions. When used in subdivision (i) (b) of this subparagraph (3), the phrase "highest price charged during March, 1942", means:

(a) The highest price at which the seller delivered, or if he did not deliver, at which he offered the commodity for delivery, during March, 1942, to the same manufacturer in a quantity normal for that manufacturer.

(b) If the seller made no such delivery or offer for delivery during March, 1942, to the same manufacturer, the highest price at which the seller delivered, or if he did not deliver, at which he offered the commodity for delivery, during March, 1942, to a purchaser of the same class as the manufacturer in a quantity normal for that purchaser.

(iv) Report of maximum prices. Within five days after a private brand distributor first agrees to buy tires for which a maximum price must be determined under this subparagraph (3) or within five days after the completion of the production of the tires for the first sale or delivery of such tires to such a purchaser, whichever is later, the manufacturer shall report to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., the maximum price as computed by him for each size of tire. The report shall show in detail the computation of the factory cost of each size of reclaimed rubber war tire and shall include a detailed showing of how the percentage mark-up to be applied was determined. The showing of how the percentage mark-up was determined either shall give in detail a breakdown of the November, 1941, factory cost of the 6.00–16 size tire of the brand listed for the same distributor in paragraph (b) of § 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 and set forth the highest net price at which such tire was delivered, or if it was not delivered, at which it was offered for delivery by the manufacturer during November, 1941, to the same private brand distributor, or it shall state that application for approval of a percentage mark-up has been made pursuant to subdivision (v) of this subparagraph (3). The report under this subdivision (iv) shall be made on Form 243:1, copies of which are available at the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., and shall include in detail all the information called for on that form. The manufacturer may not accept payment for any such tires until fifteen days have elapsed after the mailing of the report. Within this fifteen day period the price so reported shall be subject to adjustment by the Office of Price Administration. If the fifteen days elapse without the Office of Price Administration making any adjustment in the price reported, that price shall be the maximum wholesale price to that purchaser and shall apply to all future deliveries of such tires until adjusted by written order of the Office of Price Administration. If within this fifteen day period the Office of Price Administration has not disapproved in writing a mark-up requested in accordance with subdivision (v) of subparagraph (3), the manufacturer may consider that mark-up as approved. Subsequent to this fifteen day period, the price reported shall be subject to adjustment (not to apply retroactively) at any time upon the written order of the Office of Price Administration.

(v) Application for approval of a percentage mark-up. If the manufacturer did not deliver or offer for delivery to a particular private brand distributor during November, 1941, any 6.00–16 size tires of the brand listed for that distributor in paragraph (b) of § 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63, the manufacturer must apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of a percentage mark-up to be used in determining the maximum price to such dis-

facturer must apply to the Office of Price Administration for approval of a percentage mark-up to be used in determining the maximum price to such distributor under this subparagraph (3). Such application for approval must set forth the mark-up requested along with a showing that it is in line with other mark-ups determined according to subdivision (ii) of this subparagraph (3) and a detailed explanation of the basis for determining such mark-up. The application must be made at the same time as or prior to the report of maximum prices under subdivision (iv) of this subparagraph (3). The Office of Price Administration will approve or disapprove in writing the percentage mark-up for which approval is requested. (Subparagraph (3) added by Amendment No. 2. 7 F.R. 9890.)

(4) Other sales under cost-plus contracts—(i) Manufacturers. For any sale or delivery of new passenger-car reclaimed rubber war tires by a manufacturer to a purchaser to whom the manufacturer was selling tires pursuant to a cost-plus contract during March, 1942, the maximum wholesale price shall be a price calculated in accordance with the procedure set forth in subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, as though it were a sale or delivery of private brand tires by a manufacturer to the private brand distributor. This inferior subdivision (i) does not apply to a sale or delivery of private brand tires to the private brand distributor, which is priced under subparagraph (3). When a manufacturer follows the procedure set forth in subparagraph (3) in calculating his maximum price to any purchaser who is not the private brand distributor of the tires involved, any reference in subparagraph (3) to the private brand distributor shall be deemed to be a reference to the particular purchaser involved, and any reference in subparagraph (3) to the brand of tire listed for the distributor in paragraph (b) of § 1315.111 of Revised Price Schedule No. 63 shall be deemed to be a reference to whichever brand of passenger-car tire delivered or offered for delivery during November, 1941, by the manufacturer to the particular purchaser, has a maximum retail price on the 6.00–16 size closest to $17.11. All provisions of subparagraph (3), including the reporting provision, must be followed.

(ii) Other sellers. For any sale or delivery of new passenger-car reclaimed rubber war tires by any seller other than a manufacturer to a purchaser to whom the seller was selling tires pursuant to a cost-plus contract during March, 1942, the maximum wholesale price shall be the price determined upon the seller's first sale or delivery of such tires to the particular purchaser, by applying to the seller's net buying price of the particular size of reclaimed rubber war tire, the percentage mark-up applicable to the purchaser. The percentage mark-up to be applied to the seller's net buying price of any size of reclaimed rubber war tire in determining its maximum price to any particular purchaser shall be the difference between the seller's net buying price in November, 1941, of the 6.00–16 size tire of the brand designated in the next sentence, and the highest net price at which such tire was delivered, or if it was not delivered, at which it was offered for delivery, by the seller during November, 1941, to that purchaser, expressed as a percentage of the seller's November, 1941, net buying price. The brand of tire to be used in calculating the percentage mark-up shall be whichever brand of passenger-car tire delivered or offered for delivery during November, 1941, by the seller to the particular purchaser, has a maximum retail price on the 6.00–16 size closest to $17.11 if the seller is pricing a manufacturers' brand under this subdivision or closest to $15.37 if the seller is pricing a private brand under this subdivision. The maximum wholesale price so established shall be the maximum wholesale price for all future deliveries of such reclaimed rubber war tires by the seller to the same purchaser. The seller shall report his maximum prices in accordance with the provisions of subdivision (iv) of subparagraph (3) of this paragraph, except that he need not use Form 243:1 in making his report and he shall show on his report his own net buying prices which he used in making his calculations instead of the factory costs referred to in that subdivision (iv). (Subparagraph (4) added by Amendment No. 3. 8 F.R. 320)

(5) Factory seconds. Notwithstanding any provision of subparagraph (1) to (4), inclusive, the maximum wholesale price for any factory second passenger-car reclaimed rubber war tires shall be calculated by applying a discount of 25 percent to the maximum wholesale price which would apply to the tire under subparagraphs (1) to (4), inclusive, if it were not a factory second.

(6) Retail price labels. On and after December 1, 1942, before the delivery of any passenger-car reclaimed rubber war tire to any purchaser, every manufacturer and private brand distributor must, for those tires which bear its own company name or brand name, attach or cause to be attached securely to each such tire or to the wrapping on the tire, so that it is clearly visible, either a tag or a label displaying the following statement, with the maximum retail price of the tire at least one inch in height:

OPA retail ceiling price $------ plus Federal Excise Tax. This notice may not be removed until delivered to the consumer.

[Paragraph (4) added by Amendment No. 2, 7 F.R. 9890, and redesignated (6) by Amendment No. 4.

(c) Other tires and tubes. The maximum wholesale price for any new rubber tires or tubes which cannot be priced under paragraphs (a) to (d), inclusive, of this section shall be a price determined by the seller after specific authorization from the Office of Price Administration. A seller who seeks an authorization to determine a maximum price under the provisions of this paragraph shall file with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., an application setting forth (1) a description in detail of the tires or tubes for which a maximum price is sought, including the brand name, type, sizes and plies; (2) a statement of the facts which make it impossible for him to determine a maximum price under paragraphs (a) to (d), inclusive; (3) his proposed pricing method; and (4) a statement of the reasons why he believes that the use of this method will result in a maximum price which is in line with the level of maximum prices established by this Maximum Price Regulation No. 143. Such authorization will be given in the form of an order prescribing a method of determining the maximum price. (Paragraph (e) added by Amendment No. 2. 7 F.R. 9890)

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 34 (7 F.R. 10779) permits special packing expenses to be added to maximum prices on sales to procurement agencies of the United States.]

(f) Sales for export. The maximum wholesale price at which a person may export any new rubber tires or tubes shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation[5] issued by the Office of Price Administration on April 25, 1942.

(g) Taxes. (1) If the seller customarily stated and collected separately from the purchase price during March, 1942, the Federal Excise Tax levied in respect to tires and tubes, the seller shall not include the tax in determining the maximum price under paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section and in such case may collect the dollar amount of such tax in addition to the maximum price.

(2) If the seller did not customarily state and collect separately from the purchase price during March 1942, the Federal Excise Tax levied in respect to tires and tubes, the seller shall include the tax in determining the maximum price under paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section and in such case may not collect the tax in addition to the maximum price. (Paragraphs (d) and (e) redesignated (f) and (g) by Amendment No. 2. 7 F.R. 9890)

(3) The dollar amount of the Federal Excise Tax levied in respect to tires and tubes may be added to the maximum prices established by paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section. (Subparagraph (3) amended by Amendment No. 2. 7 F.R. 9890)

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 31 (7 F.R. 9894) provides that:

The report shall also set forth a complete list of all the classes of purchasers to whom such seller delivered or offered such tires during March, 1942, indicating in detail all the bases, such as volume of purchases or function in the trade, used by the seller in distinguishing between classes of purchasers.

(f) Such persons shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration and keep such other records in addition to or in place of the records and reports required in paragraphs (a) to (d) of this section as the Office of Price Administration may from time to time require or permit. 3. Section 1351.1523 is added to read as follows:

§ 1351.1523 Maximum prices for industrial casein (inedible).—(a) Definitions. (1) "Casein" means the chemical compound which is precipitated from skim milk by the action of rennet or of one of several acids customarily selected as a precipitating agent. For the purpose of this amendment, the curd resulting from the precipitation shall not be deemed "industrial casein" unless it is prepared for the purpose of ultimate utilization in one or more manufactured commodities that are not consumed as edible products by human beings.

(2) "Processed acid-casein", means acid-precipitated "industrial casein" which is dried, ground, screened and blended with other individual quantities of such casein in such manner as to produce a product of uniform quality that will meet the needs of individual consumers. Such processed acid-casein shall be cream or light yellow in color, be nearly odorless with no more than a trace of sourness, have a moisture content of not more than 10%, contain not more than 2.25% fat (moisture-free basis) or less than 14.2% nitrogen (moisture-, fat-, and ash-free basis) or more that 4.0% ash (moisture-free basis), and the total acidity shall not be more than 10.5 c. c. of N/10 alkali per gram.

(3) "Processed rennet-casein", means rennet-precipitated "industrial casein" which is dried, ground, screened, and blended with other individual quantities of such casein in such manner as to produce a product of uniform quality that will meet the needs of individual consumers. Such processed rennet-casein shall be light cream or cream in color, be nearly odorless with no more than a trace of sourness, have a moisture content of not more than 10%, contain not more than 1% fat (moisture-free basis) or less than 14.2% nitrogen (moisture-, fat-, and ash-free basis) or less than 7.5% ash (moisture-free basis), and the total acidity shall not be more than 2.5 c. c. of N/10 alkali per gram.

(4) "Dry acid-casein", means acid-precipitated "industrial casein", the curd of which has been dried but has not been ground, or screened or blended.

(5) "Dry rennet-casein", means rennet-precipitated "industrial casein", the curd of which has been dried but has not been ground, or screened or blended.

(6) "Wet curd acid-casein", means acid-precipitated "industrial casein" which has not been dried, or ground, or screened or blended.

(7) "Wet curd rennet-casein", means rennet precipitated "industrial casein" which has not been dried, or ground, or screened or blended.

(8) "Bag" means the burlap or other container holding approximately 100 pounds in which casein is customarily packed by the manufacturer or blender. It may or may not be lined with paper or another similar substance.

(b) Maximum prices for processed acid-casein and processed rennet-casein. Maximum prices for sales and deliveries of processed acid-casein or processed rennet-casein to any person shall be those listed in the following Table A:

TABLE A

	Acid	Rennet
100 bags or more	21	22½
20 bags to 99 bags inclusive	21¼	22¾
Less than 20 bags	21½	23

(1) The above maximum prices shall be f. o. b. the seller's plant, warehouse, or other place from which the casein is shipped. Where the seller produces the casein in several plants and then transports it to a warehouse before shipping it to the buyer, the casein shall be sold f. o. b. such shipping point and not f. o. b. the plant where it was produced.

(2) If the sale is made on a delivered basis, then maximum delivered price shall be the f. o. b. price listed for each quantity in Table A above, plus the lowest available freight rate from the shipping point to the purchaser's receiving point, but charges for freight shall in no case exceed the amount actually paid by the seller for the given shipment.

(c) Maximum prices for wet curd acid-casein, wet curd rennet-casein, dry acid-casein and dry rennet-casein. Maximum prices for sales and deliveries of wet curd acid-casein, wet curd rennet-casein, dry acid-casein and dry rennet-casein, to any person in any quantity shall be the prices listed in the following Table B; except that a seller who customarily extended a quantity discount, shall continue to do so as provided below in paragraph (e):

TABLE B

Type of casein	Cents per pound
Wet curd acid-casein, dry basis	14¾
Wet curd rennet-casein, dry basis	16¾
Dry acid-casein	17¾
Dry rennet-casein	19¼

(1) The above maximum prices shall be f. o. b. the seller's plant, warehouse, or other place from which the casein is shipped. Where the seller produces the casein in several plants and then transports it to a warehouse before shipping it to the buyer, the casein shall be sold f. o. b. such shipping point and not f. o. b. the plant where it was produced.

(2) If the sale is made on a delivered basis, then maximum delivered price shall be the f. o. b. price listed for each type in Table B above, plus the lowest available freight rate from the shipping point to the purchaser's receiving point, but charges for freight shall in no case exceed the amount actually paid by the seller for the given shipment.

(d) Quality differentials. The maximum prices established in this section for each type of casein shall not be increased by any charge for a special mesh, viscosity, or any other process or treatment in manufacturing. In no case shall the seller charge more per pound than the prices provided in this section. Where, however, the casein does not meet the standards set forth in the definitions for each type of casein, the maximum prices set forth herein shall be reduced to reflect the customary differential between the price for casein which meets the standards set forth herein and such sub-standard casein.

(e) Discounts and allowances. The maximum prices established by this section shall not be increased by brokerage fees, commissions or other charges. However, the maximum prices shall be decreased to reflect the seller's customary discounts and allowances including those for prompt payment.

(f) Evasion. Specifically, the provisions of this section shall not be evaded by any requirement by the seller or agreement between the buyer and seller that a seller may ship or a buyer receive casein in smaller quantity than that which was actually ordered or would have been ordered but for the attempted evasion.

4. Section 1351.1524 is added to read as follows:

§ 1351.1524 Maximum prices for whey powder (except that which is for human consumption).—(a) Definitions. (1) "Whey powder", means the substance which is derived from the reduction of the moisture content of liquid whey. It is a byproduct of the manufacture of cheese or casein or both. The dried product shall contain at least 65% lactose (milk sugar) and shall otherwise meet specifications set forth on page 22 of "Official Publication" published by the Association of American Feed Control Officials Incorporated.

(2) "Bag" means the burlap or other container holding approximately 100 pounds in which whey powder is customarily packed by the manufacturer or blender. It may or may not be lined with paper or another similar substance.

(3) "Wholesaler" means any person who buys whey powder, unloads his purchase into a warehouse and resells the same, in the original container without mixing it.

(4) "Retailer" means any person who buys whey powder and resells the same, without mixing it, to the consumer in lots of 5 bags or less.

(5) "Consumer" means any person who buys whey powder for the purpose of actually feeding it to animals or poultry.

(b) Maximum prices for sales and deliveries of whey powder by manufacturers. Maximum prices for sales and deliveries of whey powder by a manufacturer to any person shall be the prices listed in the following Table A:

TABLE A

Quantity	Cents per pound
6 to 99 bags inclusive	8⅛
5 bags or less	8¼

(1) The above maximum prices shall be f. o. b. the seller's plant, warehouse, or other place from which the whey powder is shipped. Where the seller produces the whey powder in several plants and then transports it to a warehouse before shipping it to the buyer, the whey powder shall be sold f. o. b. such shipping point and not f. o. b. the plant where it was produced.

(2) If the sale is made on a delivered basis, then maximum delivered price shall be the f. o. b. price listed for each quantity in Table A above, plus the lowest available freight rate from the shipping point to the purchaser's receiving point, but charges for freight shall in no case exceed the amount actually paid by the seller for the given shipment.

(c) Maximum prices for sales and deliveries of whey powder by wholesalers. The maximum price in cents per pound that any wholesaler may charge for whey powder shall be:

¼¢ (maximum profit margin) over the price listed in Table A for whey powder in quantities of 100 bags or more, which is 8¢ per pound, plus all applicable transportation charges actually paid for moving such whey powder to his place of business at the lowest available freight rate.

Transportation charges to be added, shall be determined by dividing the total charge for a shipment by the number of pounds shipped. If, on the other hand, the wholesaler buys whey powder on a delivered basis, he shall determine his cost for such whey powder by dividing the cost to him of the whey powder delivered by the number of pounds delivered and then add ¼¢ per pound (maximum profit margin) to determine his maximum price.

Where the wholesaler delivers the whey powder he may add to the maximum prices established pursuant to this paragraph, the lowest of the following delivery charges:

(1) His actual cost for transporting the whey powder from his shipping point to buyer's receiving point.

(2) His customary delivering charge, if he had an established charge for such deliveries prior to the effective date of this paragraph.

(3) The published common carrier rate for shipping a like quantity of whey powder from his shipping point to buyer's receiving point.

(d) Maximum prices for sales and deliveries of whey powder by retailers. The maximum price in cents per pound that any retailer may charge for whey powder shall be:

(1) ½¢ per pound (maximum profit margin) for sales of 1 to 5 bags inclusive, and

(2) ¾¢ per pound (maximum profit margin) for sales of less than 1 bag over the maximum price paid by him in cents per pound to his supplier, plus all applicable transportation charges actually paid for moving such whey powder to his place of business at the lowest available freight rate. Transportation charges to be added shall be determined by dividing the total charge for a shipment by the number of pounds shipped. If, on the other hand, the retailer buys whey powder on a delivered basis, he shall determine his cost for such whey powder by dividing the cost to him of the whey powder delivered by the number of pounds delivered and then add his appropriate differential (½¢ of ¾¢ per pound as the case may be) to determine his maximum price.

Where the retailer delivers the whey powder he may add to the maximum prices established pursuant to this paragraph, the lower of the following delivery charges:

(1) His actual cost for transporting the whey powder from his shipping point to buyer's receiving point.

(2) His customary delivering charge, if he had an established charge for such deliveries prior to the effective date of this paragraph.

(e) Method of computation and fractions of a cent. In computing maximum prices pursuant to this amendment, the wholesaler or retailer shall carry all calculations to the third decimal of a cent to arrive at his maximum price per pound. He shall then multiply this price (carried to the third decimal of a cent) by the number of pounds he is selling in each individual sale. The result arrived at by this multiplication shall be his maximum price for the sale. Any fractions of a cent resulting from such multiplication shall be adjusted to the next higher cent if they are one-half cent or more, and to the next lower cent if they are less than one-half cent.

(f) Discounts and allowances. The maximum prices established by this section shall not be increased by brokerage fees, commissions or other charges. However, the maximum prices shall be decreased to reflect the seller's customary discounts and allowances including those for prompt payment.

(g) Evasion. Specifically, the provisions of this section shall not be evaded by any requirement by the seller or agreement between the buyer and seller that a seller may ship or a buyer receive whey powder in smaller quantity than that which was actually ordered or would have been ordered but for the attempted evasion.

This amendment shall become effective April 8, 1943.

(6) Assembling costs. (i) Whenever assembling operations are performed by an "authorized cheese assembler" one cent per pound may be added to the maximum prices established in subparagraphs (1), (2), and (5) of this paragraph for each pound of Cheddar cheese so assembled. An "authorized cheese assembler" means a cheese assembler authorized by the Food Distribution Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture pursuant to Food Distribution Order No. 15—Cheddar Cheese issued by the United States Department of Agriculture.

(ii) For the purposes of this subparagraph no person shall be entitled to the additional cent per pound for assembling unless he performs the following functions: accumulates cheese; grades it in accordance with legal requirements or, in the absence of such requirements, in accordance with customary industry practices; paraffins it; stores it in a refrigerated space; weighs it; and customarily ships it in carload lots. For the purpose of this subparagraph paraffining means a covering of all surfaces of the cheese by dipping in paraffin having a temperature of not less than 240° Fahrenheit. The cheese before paraffining must have dry, clean surfaces free of mold and be not less than three days old at time of dipping.

(iii) This allowance of one cent per pound shall include transportation costs, if any, from the cheese factory to the assembling warehouse, whether the assembling warehouse is located inside or outside the state of Wisconsin.

5. Paragraph (b) of Table D in § 1351.1519 (c) (1) (i) is hereby revoked.

6. The following sentence is added to § 1351.1519 (c) (2): Provided, further, That the maximum price for all sales of Cheddar cheese aged or cured 2 months or longer, to the U. S. Government or any of its agencies, made pursuant to a contract entered into before April 1, 1943 shall be the maximum price established by Maximum Price Regulation No. 280[2]

Provided, That such cheese is delivered to the buyer prior to May 1, 1943.

7. Section 1351.1519 (g) is added to read as follows:

(g) All sales of Cheddar cheese by a cheese factory to an assembler are exempted from the requirements of § 1351.1505 of this regulation. However, for all such sales, the cheese factory shall preserve for inspection by the Office of Price Administration, for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, remains in effect, remittance statements furnished the cheese factory by the assembler.

8. Section 1351.1519 (a) (8) is added to read as follows:

(8) In addition to the maximum prices established by this paragraph, a cheese assembler may compensate any cheese factory that has customarily transported the cheese manufactured by it from the cheese factory to the assembling warehouse, for such transportation service: Provided, however, That no amount may be paid by a cheese assembler, or charged by a cheese factory for such service greater than the maximum price established for such service by the General Maximum Price Regulation.[3]

No sale where delivery is not made to the physical premises of a purchaser designated in this subdivision shall be deemed a sale by a jobber within the meaning of this subparagraph.

(ii) The maximum price for the sale of any particular score or grade of bulk butter in any place by a jobber shall be the maximum price for "sales by a creamery" of that particular score or grade in that place as established in subdivisions (i) to (viii) inclusive, of paragraph (2) of this paragraph, plus:

A "retail route-seller" shall include a dairy company operating delivery routes through driver-salesmen, but shall not include a grocery store or meat market which delivers butter.

(2) The maximum price for any particular score or grade and form of butter sold at retail in any place by a retail route-seller shall be the maximum price for that particular score or grade established for "sales by a creamery" in paragraph (a) (2) of this section, plus the appropriate sum for that particular form as determinable from the provisions of Table B of paragraph (b) of this section, plus 8½¢ per lb.

(i) The maximum price for that particular score or grade established for "sales by a creamery" in paragraph (a) (2) of this section if such butter is in bulk.

(ii) The maximum price for that particular score or grade established for "sales by a creamery" in paragraph (a) (2) of this section plus the appropriate sum designated in Table B of paragraph (b) (1) of this section if such butter is in prints or packages.

(f) Maximum price in places not on railroad line or siding. The maximum price for any sale of butter by any person to a purchaser in any place not located on a railroad line or siding shall be the maximum price established by the provisions of this section for a sale by such person to a purchaser of the same type in that closest place which is located on a railroad line or siding and which is in the same area, as determinable from the provisions of subdivisions (i) to (viii), inclusive, of paragraph (a) (2) of this section.

(g) Reference to Food Distribution Order No. 2. The Dairy Products Marketing Association shall be considered an agency of the United States Government for purposes of purchasing butter set aside by a creamery for sale to the United States Government. The Dairy Products Marketing Association or any other agency of the United States Government may compensate any "authorized receiver" of butter for services rendered in assembling unprinted butter for sale to the United States Government to an amount not to exceed ½ cent per pound for each pound of butter assembled. An "authorized receiver" for the purposes of this paragraph means an authorized receiver as defined in Food Distribution Order No. 2 issued by the Food Distribution Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture.

(i) Labelling. On and after June 1, 1943 the wrappers or cartons covering prints of butter of 93 score or Grade AA sold by any person, including retailers who print, to any other person must be clearly labelled either "93 score" or "Grade AA".

(j) Calculations. (1) In calculating transportation charges referred to in the foregoing paragraphs, the 3% transportation tax imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 shall not be included. All calculations of transportation charges shall be made on a cents per lb. basis and shall be carried to the second decimal point.

(2) All maximum prices for butter of any score or grade or form shall be calculated as follows: In sales of quantities of 1 lb. or less, the fractional price per lb. shall be adjusted to the nearest cent, or the next higher cent where the fractional price is ½¢. In multiple pound sales, the fractional price per lb. shall be multiplied by the number of pounds sold and the total price then adjusted to the nearest cent, or to the next higher cent where the total price ends with the fraction of ½¢. Sales at retail by retail route-sellers shall be deemed multiple pound sales unless separate collections are made for each single delivery of 1 lb. or less.

1. In § 1394.8052 (c) the first sentence is amended to read as follows:

If a board determines that, for one or more of the reasons specified in paragraph (a) of this section, more mileage is needed, or in the case of a non-highway ration, more gasoline is required, than that stated in the application on the basis of which the current ration was issued, it may, upon receiving the surrender of the former ration, issue a new and further ration in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) of § 1394.8054

2. Section 1394.8053 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) If the board determines that the vehicle or vehicles for which an application is made are being operated in such fashion as to obtain the maximum mileage per gallon of gasoline reasonably possible, it may, upon receiving the surrender of the former ration, issue a new and further ration in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) of § 1394.8054.

Section 1394.8054 (b) is amended to read as follows:

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

PROCESSED FOODS

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Ration Order 13 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 3.1 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) A place where processed foods are produced is a processor establishment. Any place at which a "person" produces "processed foods" for sale or other "transfer", is a "processor establishment." (This article does not apply with respect to dry beans, peas, or lentils, to "growers" or to "country shippers." Article XXIV sets forth the definitions and rules controlling growers and country shippers with respect to dry beans, peas, and lentils. However, any person who is a grower or country shipper of dry beans, peas, or lentils as well as a "processor" of other processed foods is controlled by both Article XXIV and Article III of this order.)

(1) A person produces processed foods:

(i) If he bottles, cans or packs fruits, fruit juices, vegetables, vegetable juices, soups or baby foods, in hermetically sealed containers and sterilizes them by the use of heat; or

(ii) If he packs and freezes fruits or vegetables in containers of ten (10) pounds or less; or

(iii) If he sorts, washes, and dries or dehydrates fruits; or

(iv) If he packs fruit or vegetable juices from containers over one (1) gallon into hermetically sealed containers of one (1) gallon or less and sterilizes them by the use of heat; or

(v) If he packs frozen fruits or vegetables from containers over ten (10) pounds into containers of ten (10) pounds or less; or

(vi) If he precooks dry beans, peas, or lentils; or

(vii) If he packages dried or dehydrated vegetables or meat stocks whether or not in combination with noodles or other similar paste products for use as a dried soup or soup base; or (viii) If he uses processed foods to produce other processed foods (as, if he uses canned peaches to make canned fruit salad).

Note: Not all items in the above groups are processed foods as that term is defined. For example, fruit and vegetable juices packed in containers over one gallon are not processed foods. Canned olives are not processed foods. Therefore, a person who packs fruit juices in containers over one gallon, or who cans or bottles olives, does not thereby produce a processed food.

2. Section 4.1 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Any place, including a public warehouse, where a "person" who deals in "processed foods" keeps stocks of those foods for sale or other "transfer" is a "wholesale establishment," if fifty percent or more of those stocks are transferred from there directly to persons other than "consumers." However, if he keeps the stocks which are not transferred to consumers, just to supply his own establishments, it is a wholesale establishment only if it supplies:

(1) At least one of his wholesale establishments; or

(2) At least four of his "retail establishments."

(A place where a person regularly keeps for sale or transfer only stocks of processed foods which he himself produced or imported is a "processor establishment" and not a wholesale establishment. In addition, this Article does not apply, with respect to dry beans, peas, or lentils, to "growers" or to "country shippers." Article XXIV sets forth the definitions and rules controlling growers and country shippers with respect to dry beans, peas, and lentils. However, any person who is a grower or country shipper of dry beans, peas, or lentils as well as a "wholesaler" of other processed foods, is controlled by both Article XXIV and Article IV of this order.)

3. Section 6.1 (c) is added to read as follows:

(c) A wholesaler or retailer who marks or labels dry beans, peas, or lentils in accordance with applicable federal or state seed laws (or, if none is applicable, in accordance with the standards stated in the federal seed law), does not thereby become an industrial user.

4. Section 9.2 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Beginning March 1, 1943, only "retailers", "wholesalers", "processors", "country shippers", and "growers" may sell or transfer processed foods. (Certain transactions between consumers, covered in § 2.3 (b); certain transactions by seed dealers, covered in § 14.7; and certain other transactions, covered in Article X are excepted from this rule.)

5. Section 9.8 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) If a retailer, wholesaler, processor, country shipper, or grower receives points in advance for a transfer of processed foods, and is unable to transfer all or any part of the amount ordered, he may return the points in excess. He must return the points in the same form he would use to give up points for a purchase or other acquisition of processed foods. (For example, a wholesaler can give up points only in the form of a ration check. He would, therefore, deposit all the points received by him, and draw a check for any amount to be returned. However, this section does not apply to consumers, except in connection with mail order transactions.)

6. Section 10.2 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Any person may exchange processed foods with any other person for processed foods of equal point value without giving up or taking points. (This rule applies even if there is a money payment to make up any difference in the money value of the processed foods exchanged.) However, neither a "grower" nor a "country shipper" may exchange dry beans, peas, or lentils for other processed foods.

7. Section 10.9 is amended to read as follows:

SEC. 10.9 Processed foods may be transferred to prospective buyers for sampling, point-free and may be used for sampling and demonstration. (a) A processor, country shipper, or grower may deliver processed foods to prospective buyers (other than consumers) for sampling, without getting points. However, he may not deliver in this way more than one-fortieth of one percent of the total amount of processed foods produced or imported by him.

(b) A retailer or "wholesaler", who acquires processed foods from a processor, country shipper, or grower, may sample some of them in order to check grades and quality, and may use some of them to demonstrate them to prospective purchasers other than consumers. However, he may not use for this purpose more than one-tenth of one percent of the total amount of processed foods acquired by him. A wholesaler shall attach to his monthly report to the Washington Office on OPA Form R-1310 a statement accounting for the amount of processed foods used by him for sampling or demonstration to prospective purchasers.

8. Section 10.13 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 10.13 Grower of dry beans, peas, or lentils may transfer them to country shippers point-free. (a) No points need be given up for a sale or transfer of dry beans, peas, or lentils by a "grower" to a "country shipper". At the time of the point-free sale or transfer, the country shipper must give to the grower, and the grower must get from the country shipper, a written receipt on which the country shipper's O. P. A. registration number appears.

9. Section 10.14 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 10.14 Country shipper or grower of dry beans, peas, or lentils may transfer them point-free to growers for seed purposes. (a) No points need be given up for a sale or transfer of dry beans, peas, or lentils by a country shipper or grower to a grower, when the transferee acquires the dry beans, peas, or lentils for use as seed.

10. Section 10.15 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 10.15. Wholesaler or retailer may transfer dry beans, peas, or lentils point-free for seed. (a) No points need be given up for a sale or transfer of dry beans, peas, or lentils by a wholesaler or retailer to a person when such person acquires the dry beans, peas, or lentils for use as seed. However, when the transferor sells or transfers, point-free for use as seed, dry beans, peas, or lentils which were in his inventory on March 1, 1943, or which he acquired for points, he shall make and keep a record of the name and address of the transferee, the date of the sale or transfer, and the amounts of dry beans, peas, or lentils transferred point-free for use as seed.

11. Section 10.16 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 10.16 Dry beans, peas, or lentils may be transferred point-free between country shippers. (a) No points need be given up for a sale or transfer of dry beans, peas, or lentils by one country shipper to another country shipper. At the time of the point-free sale or transfer, the country shippers must exchange written receipts and invoices on which their respective names and addresses and O. P. A. registration numbers appear.

12. Section 14.6 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 14.6 Wholesaler or retailer may apply for points to replace dry beans, peas, or lentils transferred point-free for seed. (a) Any wholesaler or retailer who sells or transfers, point-free for use as seed, dry beans, peas, or lentils which were in his inventory on March 1, 1943, or which he acquired for points, may apply on OPA Form R-315 to the Board with which he is registered (or to the Washington Office, if he is registered there) for a certificate for the number of points which he would have received if his transferees had given up points for the dry beans, peas, or lentils so transferred.

(b) The application must contain a statement:

(1) Of the amounts of such dry beans, peas, or lentils sold or transferred point-free for seed purposes;

(2) That the applicant did not receive points for the sales or transfers;

(3) Of the number of points which he would have received if his transferees had given up points for the dry beans, peas, or lentils sold or transferred point-free for use as seed; and

(4) Of the dates between which the sales or transfers were made. The total number of points for which application is made must not exceed the total point value of the amounts of dry beans, peas, and lentils which were in the applicant's inventory on March 1, 1943, or which he acquired for points and which he sold or transferred point-free for use as seed and of which records are kept as required by § 10.15 (a).

(c) If the Board (or the Washington Office) finds the statements made in the application to be true, it will issue to him a certificate for the number of points needed to replace the dry beans, peas, or lentils sold or transferred point-free for use as seed.

13. Section 14.7 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 14.7 Person acquiring seed beans, peas, or lentils may transfer them as food only for points. (a) Any person who, for sale or transfer, acquired dry beans, peas, or lentils marked or labeled in accordance with any applicable federal or state seed laws (or, if none is applicable, in accordance with the standards stated in the federal seed law), may transfer them for use as food only if the transferee gives up points equal to the point value of the processed foods so sold or transferred.

(b) Points received for dry seed beans, peas, or lentils, acquired point-free for use or transfer as seed but sold or transferred for use as food, may not be used by the transferor for any purpose. They must, within 5 days of the sale or transfer, be given up to the board for the place where the principal business office of the transferor is located. At the time the points are given up, the transferor must report in writing to the board:

(1) The amounts of dry seed beans, peas, or lentils sold or transferred as food;

(2) The reason that the dry seed beans, peas, or lentils were sold or transferred as food; and

(3) The names and addresses of the persons to whom they were transferred.

14. A new Article XXIV, containing §§ 24.1, 24.2, 24.3, 24.4, 24.5, 24.6, 24.7, 24.8, and 24.9, is added to read as follows:

Article XXIV—Growers and Country Shippers of Dry Beans, Peas, and Lentils

SEC. 24.1 Explanation of terms grower and country shipper with respect to dry beans, peas, and lentils—(a) Grower. Any "person" who, for sale or "transfer", grows or produces dry beans, peas, or lentils for his own account or for the account of himself and others, is a "grower" with respect to the dry beans, peas, and lentils grown or produced by him. However, if he is a "country shipper", he is a country shipper even with respect to the dry beans, peas, and lentils grown or produced by him.

(b) Country shipper. A country shipper is:

(1) The first person who "acquires" dry beans, peas, or lentils from a grower for purposes of sale or "transfer" if such person is regularly engaged in the distribution of dry beans, peas, or lentils and if more than fifty percent of the dry beans, peas, and lentils sold or transferred by him are sold or transferred to persons other than "consumers", "retailers", or "industrial" or "institutional users"; or

(2) A person who imports dry beans, peas, or lentils for purposes of sale or transfer.

Note: Such person is a country shipper whether he acquires the dry beans, peas, or lentils by warehouse receipt, or otherwise. A person operating a warehouse in which dry beans, peas, or lentils are sorted or cleaned for the account of another person is not a country shipper unless the warehouseman acquires title to the dry beans, peas, or lentils.

(c) Country shipper may not be grower, processor, or wholesaler. A person who is a country shipper may not be a grower, "processor", or "wholesaler" with respect to dry beans, peas, or lentils, nor may he include dry beans, peas, or lentils in the inventory or transfers of any of his processor or "wholesale establishments". Any country shipper of dry beans, peas, or lentils who is also a processor of other "processed foods" is covered by Article III with respect to the other processed foods and by Article XXIV with respect to dry beans, peas, or lentils.

(d) A person who is a country shipper or a grower and also a retailer must be treated as two separate persons. A person who has a "retail establishment" and who is also a country shipper or a grower must be treated as two separate persons.

SEC. 24.2 Country shippers must register and file reports—(a) Registration. Every country shipper of dry beans, peas, or lentils must register with the Office of Price Administration by filing OPA Form R–1303 at any time before April 20, 1943. The form must be completed and signed by the country shipper or his authorized agent.

(b) Reports. Every country shipper of dry beans, peas, or lentils must file a monthly report, also on OPA Form R–1303, covering his operations during the month before. The reports must be signed by him or his authorized agent. His first report will cover March 1943, and will be his registration. Reports for each subsequent month must be filed within 20 days after the end of the month. Any country shipper of dry beans, peas, or lentils who is also a processor of other processed foods must file monthly reports on both OPA Form R–1305 and OPA Form R–1303.

(c) Some country shippers need not file reports for months after March 1943. A country shipper of dry beans, peas, or lentils who handled less than 10,000 pounds of dry beans, peas, and lentils during 1942 must register but need not file a report for any month after March 1943. However, if the dry beans, peas, and lentils transferred by him in 1943 reach a total of 10,000 pounds, he must file reports beginning for the month in which that figure was reached.

(d) Country shippers must give information called for by form. Country shippers of dry beans, peas, or lentils must give all the information called for by OPA Form R-1303.

(e) Registration and reports must be filed in Washington. The Country shipper's registration and monthly reports must be filed by mailing OPA Form R–1303 to the Office of Price Administration, care of the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C. The form is considered filed on time if the envelope is postmarked on or before the last day it is due.

SEC. 24.3 Country shipper is given a registration number. (a) After a country shipper of dry beans, peas, or lentils has registered, the "Washington Office" will send him a card giving him his registration number. After he gets the registration number, he must use it on each report, invoice, or similar document prepared in connection with any sale or transfer by him of dry beans, peas, or lentils. (A country shipper who is also a processor of other processed foods will receive two registration numbers. He will receive one registration number as a processor when he registers by filing OPA Form R–1305. That number must be used on his documents prepared in connection with his sales or transfers of processed foods other than dry beans, peas, and lentils. He will receive a different registration number when he registers by filing OPA Form R–1303. That second number must be used on his documents prepared in connection with his sales, transfers, and acquisitions of dry beans, peas, or lentils.)

SEC. 24.4 Country shipper may not do business if he does not register and file reports. (a) No country shipper may transfer or acquire dry beans, peas, or lentils after April 20, 1943 unless he has registered in the manner required.

(b) No country shipper may transfer or acquire dry beans, peas, or lentils after any date on which a report is due from him, unless he has filed that report.

SEC. 24.5 Country shippers must report their inventories. (a) As part of his registration and monthly reports, a country shipper must report his inventory.

(b) A country shipper's inventory consists of all dry beans, peas, and lentils owned or possessed by him, or in transit to him. However, the following items are not part of that inventory:

(1) Dry beans, peas, or lentils stored for the account of persons other than his purchasers or transferees;

(2) Dry beans, peas, or lentils held by him as security for a loan made by him to another (or similar transaction); or

(3) Dry beans, peas, or lentils in transit to him for either of those purposes.

SEC. 24.6 A country shipper must turn over the points he receives to the Washington office. (a) A country shipper of dry beans, peas, or lentils is not permitted to buy or acquire processed foods with the points he gets for sale or transfer of dry beans, peas, and lentils which were part of the inventory reported by him, except for one purpose: to get back dry beans, peas, or lentils which he sold or transferred, if his transferee returns them to him.

(b) A country shipper must give up to the Office of Price Administration for cancellation, all points he receives for sales or transfers of dry beans, peas, and lentils. Not later than the 20th day of every month he must issue and mail to the Office of Price Administration, care of the Bureau of the Census, Washington, D. C., his certified ration check (payable to the Office of Price Administration) for all those points he received during the month before. A country shipper who is required to file monthly reports on OPA Form R–1303, must attach his check to the report. A country shipper who does not have to file monthly reports must send his check in a sealed envelope, enclosing a statement showing his name, principal business address, and registration number.

(c) A country shipper who used some of those points to get back dry beans, peas, or lentils which he transferred must issue and send his check for the rest. He must enclose with his check a statement giving the name of the person who returned the dry beans, peas, or lentils and their point value.

SEC. 24.7 A country shipper must keep records. (a) Beginning April 1943, every country shipper of dry beans, peas, or lentils must keep at his principal business office a record showing:

(1) All dry beans, peas, and lentils acquired by him;

(2) All dry beans, peas, and lentils sold or transferred for points;

(3) All dry beans, peas, and lentils sold or transferred for purposes of seed;

(4) All dry beans, peas, and lentils sold or transferred point-free to other country shippers; and

(5) All weight adjustments.

(b) He must also keep, at his principal business office, a copy of his registration and of his monthly report on OPA Form R–1303 (if any are required).

(c) In addition, at the time of any change in the point value of dry beans, peas, or lentils, every country shipper must make a record of the amount of that item which he has in his inventory. The record must show the point value of the item before and after the change and the amount by which the point value of his inventory was increased or decreased as a result.

SEC. 24.8 Country shippers must open a ration bank account. (a) Every country shipper must open at least one ration bank account for his operations in dry beans, peas, and lentils. If he has more than one business office, he may, if he wishes, open a separate account for each or for any group of them.

SEC. 24.9 Growers who sell or transfer dry beans, peas, or lentils to persons other than country shippers must do so only for points. (a) Any grower, who sells or transfers dry beans, peas, or lentils directly to persons other than country shippers, must do so only for points equal to the point value of the dry beans, peas, and lentils sold or transferred.

(b) Points, received by a grower as a result of sales or transfers of dry beans, peas, or lentils directly to persons other than country shippers, may not be used by the grower for any purpose. They must, between the 1st and 10th days of the following month, be given up to the Board for the place where the dry beans, peas, or lentils were grown.

15. Section 21.1 (a) (12) is amended to read as follows:

(12) "Processor establishment" means any place where a "person" produces "processed foods" for sale or "transfer". This does not apply, with respect to dry beans, peas, or lentils, to "growers" or to "country shippers". A person is considered to "produce" if he:

(i) Bottles, cans or packs fruits, fruit juices, vegetables, vegetable juices, soups or baby foods, in hermetically sealed containers and sterilizes them by the use of heat; or

(ii) Packs and freezes fruits or vegetables in containers of ten (10) pounds or less; or

(iii) Sorts, washes and dries or dehydrates fruits; or

(iv) Packs fruit or vegetable juices from containers over one (1) gallon into hermetically sealed containers of one (1) gallon or less and sterilizes them by the use of heat; or

(v) Packs frozen fruits or vegetables from containers over ten (10) pounds into containers of ten (10) pounds or less; or

(vi) Precooks dry beans, peas, or lentils; or

(vii) Packages dried or dehydrated vegetables or meat stocks whether or not in combination with noodles or other similar paste products for use as a dried soup or soup base; or (viii) Uses processed foods to produce other processed foods.

The term "processor establishment" also means any place to which a person imports processed foods into the United States, from any place outside the United States, for sale or transfer. It also includes a place at which a person does not produce or import processed foods, if he regularly keeps there, for sale or transfer, only processed foods which he himself produced or imported. Finally, there is one case in which a place where a person keeps stocks of processed foods produced or imported by someone else is a processor establishment. If he keeps those stocks at that place just to use them to produce other processed foods, that place is a processor establishment.

16. Section 21.1 (a) (18) is amended to read as follows:

(18) "Wholesale establishment" means any place (other than a "processor establishment" or a place at which dry beans, peas, or lentils are kept by a "grower" or "country shipper") where a "person" who deals in "processed foods" keeps stocks of those foods for sale or transfer, if fifty percent or more of those stocks are transferred from there directly to persons other than "consumers". However, if he keeps the stocks which are not transferred to consumers, just to supply his own establishments, it is a wholesale establishment only if it supplies;

(i) At least one of his wholesale establishments; or

(ii) At least four of his "retail establishments".

17. Section 21.1 (a) (20) is added to read as follows:

(20) "Country shipper" means:

(i) The first "person" who "acquires" dry beans, peas, or lentils from a "grower" for purposes of sale or "transfer" if such person is regularly engaged in the distribution of dry beans, peas, or lentils and if more than fifty percent of the dry beans, peas, and lentils sold or transferred by him are sold or transferred to persons other than "consumers", "retailers", or "industrial" or "institutional users";

(ii) A person who imports dry beans, peas, or lentils for purposes of sale or transfer.

18. Section 21.1 (a) (21) is added to read as follows:

(21) "Grower" means any "person" who, for sale or "transfer", grows or produces dry beans, peas, or lentils for his own account or for the account of himself and others. Such person is a grower with respect to the dry beans, peas, and lentils grown or produced by him. However, if he is a "country shipper", he is a country shipper even with respect to the dry beans, peas, and lentils grown or produced by him.

This amendment shall become effective 12:01 a. m. on April 2, 1943.

PART 1440—PROCESSED FOOD COMMODITIES

[MPR 326,[1] Amendment 1]

MACARONI PRODUCTS AND NOODLE PRODUCTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation 326 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1440.3a is added to read as follows:

§ 1440.3a Wagon wholesalers' maximum prices. Wagon wholesalers shall determine their maximum prices per dozen or other unit of each variety, type, brand, container size and style of macaroni products and noodle products by adding to their net cost thereof a markup of 25% of such net cost. These maximum prices shall be recalculated on receipt of an item whenever there is any change in the net cost.

"Net cost" means the invoice price for macaroni products and noodle products delivered in a customary quantity from a customary supplier by the customary mode of transportation at the wagon wholesaler's customary receiving point less all discounts allowed him, except the discount for prompt payment. No charge or cost for local unloading or local trucking shall ever be included.

A "wagon wholesaler" for the purposes of this regulation is a wholesaler who distributes macaroni products or noodle products from an inventory stocked in trucks or other conveyances to retail outlets, or to commercial, industrial or institutional users. Such conveyances must be under the supervision of driver salesmen who make delivery at the time and point of sale.

Such wholesaler is a wagon wholesaler only for the macaroni products and noodle products which he buys and resells in this manner.

2. Section 1440.3b is added to read as follows:

§ 1440.3b Primary distributors' maximum prices. The maximum price per dozen or other unit which a primary distributor may charge for each variety, type, brand, container size and style of macaroni products and noodle products to each class of wholesalers thereof shall be:

(a) The primary distributor's maximum price per dozen or other unit for each variety, type, brand, container size and style of macaroni products and noodle products figured in accordance with the General Maximum Price Regulation, plus

(b) The difference between his supplier's maximum price for that item figured in accordance with this regulation and his supplier's maximum price for that item established under the General Maximum Price Regulation.

A "primary distributor" for the purposes of this regulation is one who purchases macaroni products or noodle products from a producer thereof and resells them to wholesalers and retail distributing warehouses.

Such distributor is a primary distributor only for the macaroni products and noodle products which he buys and resells in this manner.

3. Section 1440.7 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1440.7 Enforcement. Any person violating a provision of this regulation is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages and suspension of licenses provided by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended.

4. Section 1440.11 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1440.11 Applicability of the General Maximum Price Regulation[2] and Maximum Price Regulation No. 262[3] (a) Except as provided in paragraph (b) of this section, the provisions of this regulation supersede the provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation with respect to sales and deliveries of macaroni products and noodle products for which maximum prices are established by this regulation. They also supersede the provisions of Maximum Price Regulation No. 262 with respect to egg noodles.

(b) The registration and licensing provisions of §§ 1499.15 and 1499.16 of the General Maximum Price Regulation are applicable to every wagon wholesaler and primary distributor subject to this regulation.

This amendment shall become effective April 8, 1943.

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation 340 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 2 (b) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) Rope. This regulation covers all sales of No. 1 jute rope and No. 2 jute and istle rope by a manufacturer or by a jobber.

Manufacturers' and jobbers' sales of such rope are divided into three categories: (i) sales to jobbers and military purchases; (ii) sale to industrial users; (iii) sales to retail stores.

The term "jobber" means a person who purchases rope for the purpose of resale to industrial users and retail stores.

The term "industrial user" means any person who in 1942 was treated by the seller as an industrial user of rope as evidenced by price quotations and business correspondence, and any other person purchasing rope in substantially similar quantities and under substantially similar circumstances. The term is limited to a person who purchases rope for use and not for resale, and in general refers to persons who purchase rope in substantial quantities.

The term "military purchases" means purchases by the War Department, the Department of the Navy, the United States Maritime Commission or the Lend-Lease Section in the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department of the United States or any agency of the foregoing.

The term "retail store" means a person who purchases rope for the purpose of resale to ultimate users other than industrial users.

2. Section 4 (a) is amended by inserting, after the phrase "Price to jobber" in each of the first and fourth price columns in the table of maximum prices, the words "and for military purchases".

3. Section 13 is added to read as follows:

SEC. 13 Emergency military purchases. The provisions of this regulation or any other regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration shall not apply to any emergency purchase for immediate delivery of any jute or istle rope for which a maximum price is established by this regulation by the War Department, the Department of the Navy, the United States Maritime Commission or the Lend-Lease Section in the Procurement Division of the Treasury Department of the United States or any agency of the foregoing: Provided, That a person making such emergency purchases on behalf of any of the foregoing agencies files a report with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., within five days after such purchase is made, certifying that it was made in a situation in which it was imperative to secure the rope immediately and in which it was impossible to secure, or unfair to require, immediate delivery at the applicable maximum price and setting forth (a) the name and address of the seller (b) the date of purchase (c) date of delivery (d) description of the rope purchased (e) quantity purchased (f) price at which purchased and (g) a brief statement of the facts giving rise to the emergency situation which necessitated the purchase at a price higher than the applicable maximum price.

This amendment shall become effective April 8, 1943.

For the reasons set forth in an opinion issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register,* It is ordered:

Paragraph (a) (2) of § 1499.50 is amended as set forth below:

§ 1499.50 Maximum prices for sales of a mail box manufactured by Nutone Incorporated. (a) This Order No. 13 sets maximum prices per unit for sales of a wood mail box, 6½" wide by 9" high by 18" long, manufactured by Nutone Incorporated, Third and Eggleston Avenue, Cincinnati, Ohio.

(2) For sales at wholesale in quantities of six or more, the maximum prices are:

In the eastern zone	$1.67
In the western zone	1.85

Five percent may be added for a sale of less than six boxes. The wholesale prices are delivered prices. However, if the shipment to the retailer weighs less than 100 pounds, because of the size of the retailer's order, the retailer may be required to pay the transportation charges in addition to the maximum price.

Generally, the location of the seller's place of business shall determine which zone price is applicable. However, on shipments weighing 100 pounds or more from a wholesaler in the eastern zone, to a retailer in the western zone, the western zone maximum price may be charged.

This amendment shall become effective on the 2d day of April 1943.

A & B COAL CO.

ORDER EXTENDING EFFECTIVE DATE OF REVOCATION OF CODE MEMBERSHIP

In the matter of J. A. Allred and W. B. Brown, individually and as copartners, doing business under the name and style of A & B Coal Company, code members.

On March 17, 1943, an order was entered in this proceeding revoking and cancelling the code membership of J. A. Allred and W. B. Brown, individually and as copartners, doing business under the name and style of A & B Coal Company, in District 8, Overton County, Tennessee, effective fifteen (15) days from the date thereof.

Thereafter, on March 29, 1943, the Bituminous Coal Producers Board for District No. 8 ("District Board 8") filed with the Division its Petition for Modification of Findings, Conclusion and Order, requesting a reconsideration and modification by the Director of the above mentioned revocation order. On March 30, 1943, District Board 8 filed a further Motion for Interim Modification of Order, requesting that the effective date of the Order Revoking Code Membership, dated March 17, 1943, be extended to allow additional time, pending reconsideration of the revocation order.

The Director finds that there is a reasonable showing of necessity for reconsideration and extension of time, as requested;

Accordingly, the second paragraph of the Order Revoking Code Membership dated March 17, 1943 should be amended to read as follows:

It is ordered, That effective April 30, 1943, the code membership of J. A. Allred and W. B. Brown, individually and as copartners, doing business under the name and style of A & B Coal Company, in District No. 8, be and it hereby is cancelled and revoked; and Moreover, in order to aid the Director in reconsidering the Order Revoking Code Membership, District Board 8 or any other party to this proceeding should file with the Division affidavits in support of the Petition for Modification, setting forth specifically and in detail any extenuating circumstances which may warrant modification of the order, supported by a statement of the financial condition of J. A. Allred and W. B. Brown, individually and as copartners doing business under the name and style of A & B Coal Company, or such other facts as may be deemed pertinent.

In these respects, the motions of District Board 8 should be granted.

Accordingly, It is so ordered.

Order No. 20 under Maximum Price Regulation No. 152 is amended to read as follows:

On October 20, 1942, the Applicant, C. S. Kale Canning Company filed a petition pursuant to Procedural Regulation No. 1 and Procedural Regulation No. 6 issued by the Office of Price Administration for specific authorization to adjust maximum prices established under Maximum Price Regulation No. 152. This petition was denied by Order No. 20 (8 F.F. 2618) under Maximum Price Regulation No. 152 issued and effective February 27, 1943. On March 15, 1942, Applicant filed a request for review of Order No. 20 insofar as such order denied adjustment under Procedural Regulation No. 6 of its maximum prices requested for sales of green beans to the Quartermaster Depots of the United States Army.

Due consideration has been given to the information submitted by Applicant in its original petition and in its request for review of Order No. 20 with respect to the packing for its general commercial trade of green beans in No. 2 and No. 10 size cans and with respect to the packing for the Quartermaster Depots of the United States Army of extra standard (choice) 4 sieve cut green beans and extra standard (choice) 5 sieve cut green beans in No. 10 size cans, which formed the basis of its contracts with the Quartermaster Depots.

For the reasons set forth in the opinion which accompanies this Revised Order No. 20 and under the authority vested in the Price Administrator by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, Executive Order No. 9250 and pursuant to Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 and Procedural Regulation No. 6 it is hereby ordered that:

(a) The C. S. Kale Canning Company may sell, offer to sell or deliver to the Quartermaster Depots of the United States Army and the Quartermaster Depots of the United States Army may buy, offer to buy or receive No. 10 size cans of extra standard (choice) 4 sieve cut green beans at a price no higher than the maximum price of $6.125 per dozen f. o. b. factory and No. 10 size cans of extra standard (choice) 5 sieve cut green beans at a maximum price no higher than the maximum price of $5.875 per dozen f. o. b. factory.

(b) Applicant's petition filed under Procedural Regulation No. 1 for adjustment of its maximum prices for sales to its general commercial trade of green beans packed in No. 2 and No. 10 size cans is hereby denied.

(c) This Revised Order No. 20 may be revoked or amended by the Price Administrator at any time.

(e) The Applicant, C. S. Kale Canning Company shall not change its customary allowances, discounts or price differentials unless such change results in a lower price.

(f) Unless the context otherwise requires the definitions set forth in § 1341.30 of Maximum Price Regulation No. 152 and section 302 of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, shall be applicable to the terms used herein.

(g) This Revised Order No. 20 shall becomes effective on April 6, 1943.

GILA PROJECT, ARIZ.

AMENDMENT TO STOP CONSTRUCTION ORDER

Builder: U. S. Dept. of Interior, Bureau of Reclamation, Denver, Colorado. Project identified as the Gila Project, Arizona.

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of metals, lumber and other materials used in construction, for defense, for private account and for export, and of construction machinery and other facilities used in construction; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

It is therefore ordered:

1. Prohibition of construction. The builder shall neither perform nor permit the performance of any further construction or installation on the project described above except for permitted further construction being construction necessary for the development of guayule and the levelling, irrigation and cultivation of approximately 3,000 acres adjacent to the Army Air Forces Advanced Flying School, for purposes of dust control and solely for purposes of safety or health or to avoid undue damage to or deterioration of materials already incorporated.

2. Prohibition of deliveries of materials. Neither the builder nor any supplier, shall deliver or accept delivery of any further materials to be used in connection with the construction of or any installation on the project. This paragraph shall not, however, prohibit the delivery to their immediate destination of any materials which are now in transit, or the acceptance of any such delivery nor shall it prohibit the delivery or acceptance of delivery for materials to be used for permitted further construction as defined in paragraph (1) hereof.

3. Reports. The builder shall file with the War Production Board, Materials Redistribution Branch, such reports as may be required by the Director General for Operations.

4. Notice to suppliers. The builder shall promptly advise its suppliers of the terms of this order, and each supplier shall in turn notify his suppliers.

5. Application for exception. The builder or any supplier who considers that compliance with this order would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him may apply to the War Production Board for an exception, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reasons why he considers he is entitled to the relief requested. The War Production Board may thereupon take such action as it deems appropriate, including restoration or temporary restoration of any rating herein revoked. Applications for exception under this paragraph shall be addressed to the War Production Board, Ref.: P-19, Washington, D. C.

6. Effect on prior orders. This order supersedes all previous orders and directives of the War Production Board relative to the project.

7. Communications. Comunications concerning this revocation shall be addressed to the War Production Board, Ref.: P-19, Washington, D. C.

PART 130—ORDERS FIXING OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE CHARGES

FORT PECK INDIAN IRRIGATION PROJECT, MONTANA

MARCH 9, 1943.

This order consisting of §§ 130.38 to 138.40, inclusive, as amended by the Acting Assistant Secretary of the Interior on June 24, 1940 (5 F.R. 2543) is hereby further amended by modifying §§ 130.38 and 139.39 to read as follows:

§ 130.38 Charges. Pursuant to the Acts of August 1, 1914 and May 7, 1928 (38 Stat. 583, 45 Stat. 210; 25 U.S.C. 385, 387) and the Act of May 18, 1916 (39 Stat. 142), irrigation water will be furnished on the Fort Peck Indian Irrigation Project, Montana, for the calendar year 1943 and each year thereafter until further notice upon the rates and conditions hereinafter set forth.

(a) On the Poplar River Unit and that part of the Big Porcupine Unit not served by the Wiota Pumping Plant, water when available will be furnished upon approved application during each irrigation season at a flat rate of $1.00 per acre per annum for all irrigable lands included in the farm unit or allotment described in the application, whether water is used or not.

(b) On that part of the Big Porcupine Unit that is under the service area of the Big Porcupine or Wiota Pumping Plant, water when available will be furnished to all irrigable non-Indian lands and to all Indian owned allotments leased to non-Indians, to which delivery of water can be made, at a minimum rate of $1.00 per acre per annum. Payment of the minimum rate entitles the water user to the delivery of one acre-foot of water per acre of irrigable land included in each farm unit or allotment. Any additional water delivered shall be charged for at the rate of $1.00 per acre-foot or fraction thereof.

(c) For Indian land farmed by the Indian owner or leased and farmed by Indians, under the part of the Big Porcupine Unit that is within the service area of the Wiota Pumping Plant, water when available will be furnished at the minimum rate of $1.00 per acre per annum for the entire irrigable area included in the allotment for which application for water delivery is filed. Payment of the minimum rate entitles the Indian water user to the delivery of one acre-foot of water per acre included in the allotment. Any additional water delivered shall be charged for at the rate of $1.00 per acre-foot or fraction thereof.

(d) On the Frazer-Wolf Point Unit (comprising all irrigable lands supplied with water from the Little Porcupine Reservoir and the Fraser Pumping Plant) water when available will be furnished at a minimum rate of $1.00 per acre per annum for non-Indian owned farm units or former Indian allotments, which are under the constructed works (whether subjugated or not). Water when available will be furnished at a like minimum rate for the irrigable area of all subjugated Indian owned allotments under the constructed works. This minimum rate shall entitle the water user to the delivery of one acre-foot of water per irrigable acre per annum. For additional water the rate shall be $1.00 per acre-foot or fraction thereof.

(e) For all Indian owned land in the Frazer-Wolf Point Unit, not subjugated but to which water can be delivered, water will be furnished on an application basis at a minimum rate of $1.00 per acre for the entire irrigable area included in the allotment for which an application is filed, whether water is used or not, and payment of this charge shall entitle the water user to the delivery of one acre-foot of water per acre per annum as covered by the application. Additional water may be delivered to the allotment at the rate of $1.00 per acre-foot or fraction thereof.

§ 130.39 Payment. The flat rate and the minimum charges fixed in § 130.38 of this part shall become due and payable on April 1 of each calendar year. The charges for excess water delivered during any irrigation season shall be included in the bill for the ensuing season and shall be due and payable on April 1 following the season in which the excess water is delivered, except in the case of excess water deliveries to lessees of Indian lands where payment is required in advance of the delivery of water.

No water shall be delivered to any lands until all charges shall have been paid except in the case of Indian trust lands farmed by Indians to which water may be delivered upon certification by the superintendent of the reservation that satisfactory written arrangements have been made providing for the payment of such charges from the proceeds of the crops or from proceeds received in payment for labor performed by the water user on the project works. Copies of such certificates shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs and shall be subject to rejection or modification upon review. Any unpaid assessments, in instances where the superintendent has certified the Indian owner is financially unable to pay the charges, shall be entered on the accounts as a lien against the land but without penalty for delinquency.

To all charges assessed against lands in non-Indian ownership and Indian lands under lease to non-Indian lessees which are not paid on or before July 1 of each year there shall be added a penalty of one-half of one per cent per month or fraction thereof from the due date, April 1, so long as the delinquency continues.

This order as approved by the First Assistant Secretary of the Interior on January 6, 1933 (25 CFR §§ 130.83 to 130.85, inclusive), is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 130.83 Charges. Pursuant to the provisions of the Acts of August 1, 1914 and March 7, 1928 (38 Stat. 583, 45 Stat. 210; 25 U.S.C. 385, 387), the reimbursable cost of operating and maintaining the Walker River Indian Irrigation Project, Nevada, is apportioned on a per acre basis against the irrigable lands of the project and for the calendar year 1943, and each succeeding year until further order, there shall be collected, as a partial reimbursement of such cost, from each acre of irrigable land to which water can be delivered through the constructed works of the project, a charge of $0.50 per acre per annum against lands in Indian ownership, not under lease to a non-Indian, and $1.25 per acre per annum against lands in non-Indian ownership and lands in Indian ownership under lease to a non-Indian lessee.

§ 130.84 Payment. The annual charges fixed in § 130.83 of this part shall become due on April 1 of each year and are payable on or before that date. Where an Indian owner of land under a trust patent or a fee patent, not under lease to a non-Indian, is financially unable to pay the charges from the proceeds of the crops, or from the proceeds of labor performed on the project works, or from any other source, the delivery of water may be continued if a written certificate be issued by the superintendent that such Indian is financially unable to pay his charges. Copies of such certificates shall be forwarded to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs and shall be subject to rejection or modification upon review. In such cases the charges shall be entered on the accounts and will stand as a first lien against the lands until paid but without penalty for delinquency. To all charges assessed against lands in non-Indian ownership and lands in Indian ownership under lease to a non-Indian lessee there shall be added a penalty of one-half of one per cent per month or fraction thereof, from the due date, if not paid on or before July 1 following the due date.

POST-WAR REFUND OF EXCESS PROFITS TAX AND CREDIT FOR DEBT RETIREMENT

SEC. 250 POST-WAR REFUND OF EXCESS PROFITS TAX. (Revenue Act of 1942.)

Subchapter E of Chapter 2 is amended by inserting at the end thereof the following new Part:

SEC. 780. POST-WAR REFUND OF EXCESS PROFITS TAX.

(a) In general. The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized and directed to establish a credit to the account of each taxpayer subject to the tax imposed under this subchapter, for each taxable year ending after December 31, 1941 (except in the case of a taxable year beginning in 1941 and ending before July 1, 1942), and not beginning after the date of cessation of hostilities in the present war, of an amount equal to 10 per centum of the tax imposed under this subchapter for each such taxable year. For the purposes of this part, in the case of a taxpayer whose tax is determined under section 710 (a) (3), the term "tax imposed under this subchapter" means the excess of the tax imposed by such section 710 (a) (3) over the tax that would be imposed if such section 710 (a) (3) were not applicable.

(b) Application of credit to purchase of bonds. Within three months after the payment of the amount of the excess profits tax shown on the return for a taxable year to which subsection (a) applies, if the payment is made before three months before the date of maturity of bonds for such year under subsection (c), there shall be issued to and in the name of the taxpayer bonds of the United States in an aggregate amount equal to 10 per centum of the tax paid in respect of which a credit is provided under subsection (a), and the credit established under subsection (a) for such taxable year is hereby made available for the purchase of such bonds.

(c) Terms and maturity of bonds. The bonds provided for in subsection (a) shall be issued under the authority and subject to the provisions of the Second Liberty Bond Act, as amended, and the purposes for which bonds may be issued under such Act are extended to include the purposes for which bonds are required to be issued under this section. Such bonds shall bear no interest, shall be nonnegotiable, and shall not be transferable by sale, exchange, assignment, pledge, hypothecation, or otherwise, on or before the date of cessation of hostilities in the present war, but after said date, such bonds shall be negotiable, and may be sold, exchanged, pledged, assigned, hypothecated, or otherwise transferred, without restriction, and shall be redeemable (at the option of the United States) in whole or in part upon three months' notice. Such bonds for any taxable year to which this section applies shall mature on the last day of that calendar year, beginning after the date of cessation of hostilities in the present war, which is shown in the following table to be applicable to such bonds for such year:

After December 31, 1944	5th

(d) Exemption of proceeds from tax. The proceeds of any such bond upon redemption shall not be included in gross income.

(e) Date of cessation of hostilities in the present war. As used in this section, the term "date of cessation of hostilities in the present war" means the date on which hostilities in the present war between the United States and the governments of Germany, Japan, and Italy cease, as fixed by proclamation of the President or by concurrent resolution of the two Houses of Congress, whichever date is earlier, or in case the hostilities between the United States and such governments do not cease at the same time, such date as may be so fixed as an appropriate date for the purposes of this section.

§ 30.780–1 Post-war refund of excess profits tax—(a) In general. Section 780 (a) authorizes and directs the Secretary to establish a post-war credit, for each taxable year specified in such section, to the account of each taxpayer subject to excess profits tax. The taxable years so specified are those ending after December 31, 1941, which begin on or before the "date of cessation of hostilities in the present war," as defined in section 780 (e). However, any taxable year which began in 1941 and ended before July 1, 1942, is excluded.

The post-war credit accounts of taxpayers subject to excess profits tax shall be maintained by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Subject to the limitations prescribed in section 781 (d) (see § 30.781–1 (b)), the post-war credit of a taxpayer for a taxable year is an amount equal to 10 percent of the excess profits tax imposed upon the tapayer for such year. For such purpose the tax imposed is the amount of tax determined under subchapter E of chapter 2 prior to (1) any credit under section 131, as made applicable by section 729, for tax paid or accrued to a foreign country or possession of the United States, (2) any credit for debt retirement under section 783, and (3) any adjustment under section 734 on account of position inconsistent with prior income tax liability; except that for such purpose, in the case of a taxable year which began in 1941 and ended after June 30, 1942 (with respect to which section 710 (a) (3) is therefore applicable), the tax imposed is the excess of the amount of tax determined under section 710 (a) (3) prior to any such credit or adjustment over the tax that would be determined prior to any such credit or adjustment if section 710 (a) (3) were not applicable. If it is determined, in the case of any taxpayer with respect to any taxable year, that constructive average base period net income should be used pursuant to section 722 in computing its tax, the tax imposed, for the purpose of the post-war credit for such year, is the amount determined pursuant to the preceding sentence after the determination pursuant to such section. But in such case, pending the final determination of the tax pursuant to section 722, the tax imposed shall, for such purpose, be tentatively considered as an amount determined without regard to the determination under section 722, minus the amount, if any, by which the tax payable at the time prescribed for payment is reduced under section 710 (a) (5) (relating to deferment of payment of tax in case of claim under section 722). For the purpose of the post-war credit, the tax imposed does not include any interest, penalty, additional amount, or addition to the tax.

For provisions relating to reduction of the post-war credit on account of the allowance of a credit for debt retirement, see section 783 (c) and § 30.783–1 (c).

(b) Bonds. Section 780 (b) relates to the application of the post-war credit to the purchase of bonds of the United States. Section 780 (c) relates to the terms and maturity of such bonds. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall certify to the Secretary statements of the amounts of post-war credit when such amounts are determined. The issuance, transfer, and redemption of bonds, and other matters relating to the bonds (as distinguished from the determination and adjustment of amounts of post-war credits and the maintenance of post-war credit accounts), are within the jurisdiction of the Secretary to be handled through the office of the Commissioner of the Public Debt, not the Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

For provisions relating to reduction of the amount of bonds on account of the allowance of a credit for debt retirement, see section 783 (c) and § 30.783–1 (c).

(c) Exemption of proceeds of bonds from tax. The proceeds of bonds upon redemption which are issued under section 780 shall not be included in gross income.

Subchapter E of Chapter 2 is amended by inserting at the end thereof the following new Part:

SEC. 781 SPECIAL RULES FOR APPLICATION OF SECTION 780.

(a) Effect of deficiencies. If a deficiency in respect of the excess profits tax for any taxable year for which a credit is provided in section 780 (a) is paid by the taxpayer before three months before the date of maturity of the bonds for such year, an amount of such credit equal to 10 per centum of the excess of the tax imposed by this subchapter on the basis of which the deficiency was determined, over the tax imposed by this subchapter as previously computed and paid shall be available, as provided in section 780 (b), for the purchase of bonds as provided under such section, and there shall be issued to the taxpayer bonds under such section in an amount equal to such excess and with the same maturity as in the case of bonds issued with respect to the taxable year with respect to which the deficiency is determined.

(b) Effect of refunds. If an overpayment of the tax imposed by this subchapter for any taxable year for which a credit is provided in section 780 (a) is refunded or credited to the taxpayer under the internal revenue laws, the credit, if any, provided in such section then existing in favor of the taxpayer shall be reduced by an amount equal to 10 per centum of the excess of the tax imposed by this subchapter on the basis of which such tax (in respect of which the internal revenue refund or credit was made) was previously computed and paid, over the tax imposed by this subchapter as determined in connection with the determination of the amount of the overpayment. In such a case, if such credit provided in section 780 (a) is less than the amount by which it is required to be reduced, or if there is no such credit then existing in favor of the taxpayer, the excess of such amount over the amount of such credit, if any, shall be carried forward as a charge against the taxpayer to be applied in reduction of a subsequent credit under section 780 (a); and if no such subsequent credit is made in favor of the taxpayer, the amount of such charge (without interest) shall be paid by the taxpayer to the United States or the amount of bonds previously issued to the taxpayer under section 780 (b) shall be adjusted on account of such charge.

(c) Tax payments after cut-off date. In the case of a payment of the tax imposed by this subchapter shown on the return for any taxable year for which a credit is provided in section 780 (a), or the payment of a deficiency in respect of such tax for any such taxable year, after the date prescribed in section 780 (b) or 781 (a) but before the date of maturity of the bonds with respect to such taxable year under section 780 (c), the amount of the credit under section 780 (a) for such taxable year attributable to such payment shall, so far as practicable, be available, as provided in section 780 (b), for the purchase of bonds as provided under such section, and, so far as practicable, there shall be issued to the taxpayer bonds under such section with the same maturity as bonds issued with respect to such taxable year. To the extent that it is not practicable to issue bonds against such amount of the credit, the taxpayer shall be paid in cash. In case after the date of maturity of the bonds of any taxable year under section 780 (c) there is any credit under section 780 (a) remaining in favor of the taxpayer, attributable to such year, such remainder shall be paid to the taxpayer in cash. No amount of any payment made under this subsection to a taxpayer shall be included in gross income.

(d) Limitation. The credit under section 780 (a) for any taxable year shall not be greater than the excess of the amount of the tax paid under this subchapter to the United States (and not credited or refunded under the internal revenue laws) in respect of such year over the amount of tax which would be payable to the United States if the excess profits tax rate were 81 per centum, or if the limitation of section 710 is applicable if the amount determined under such section were reduced by 10 per centum.

SEC. 782. REGULATIONS.

The Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to prescribe, from time to time, such rules and regulations as may be necessary to carry out the preceding provisions of this Part.

§ 30.781–1 Special rules for application of section 780—(a) Deficiencies; refunds and credits of overpayments. In case a deficiency is paid by the taxpayer, or an overpayment is refunded or credited to the taxpayer, for any taxable year to which section 780 (a) applies, appropriate adjustments will be made in the post-war credit account of the taxpayer. In such case, whenever the amount of bonds should be increased or reduced, the Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall certify the status of the account to the Secretary in order that appropriate adjustments may be made in the amount of bonds. Collection from a taxpayer under section 781 (b) of the amount by which charges (arising by reason of a refund or credit of an overpayment) exceed the amount of the post-war credit of the taxpayer, and payment to a taxpayer under section 781 (c) of amounts of any outstanding post-war credit against which bonds have not been issued, shall be made by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue. Such payments to taxpayers under section 781 (c) shall not be included in gross income.

(b) Limitations on amount of post-war credit. The post-war credit provided for in section 780 (a) (see § 30.780–1 (a)) is subject to the limitations set forth in section 781 (d). The limitations operate in certain cases in which the taxpayer takes a credit against excess profits tax, pursuant to section 131, as made applicable by section 729, for tax paid or accrued to a foreign country or United States possession. They operate also to eliminate or reduce the post-war credit in case the excess profits tax is not paid, or is not paid in full, and in certain cases in which the excess profits tax is reduced by an adjustment under section 734 on account of position inconsistent with prior income tax liability (as, for example, if the amount of such reduction exceeds the amount of excess profits tax that would be payable if the excess profits tax rate were 81 percent). The limitations are as follows:

(1) The post-war credit is provided only with respect to excess profits tax paid (and not credited or refunded under the internal revenue laws). (See examples (1) and (4), below.)

(2) The post-war credit for any taxable year, other than a taxable year to which section 710 (a) (1) (B) or section 710 (a) (3) is applicable, shall not be greater than the excess of the excess profits tax paid over the amount which would be payable if the excess profits tax rate were 81 percent. (See examples (1) and (2), below.)

(3) In the case of any taxable year to which section 710 (a) (1) (B) is applicable (limiting excess profits tax to an amount which, when added to normal tax and surtax, equals 80 percent of corporation surtax net income before the credit for income subject to excess profits tax provided in section 26 (e)), other than a taxable year to which section 710 (a) (3) is also applicable, the post-war credit for such year shall not be greater than the excess of the excess profits tax paid over the amount which would be payable if the amount determined under section 710 (a) (1) (B) were reduced by 10 percent. (See example (3), below.)

(4) In the case of any taxable year to which section 710 (a) (3) is applicable (that is, a taxable year which began in 1941 and ended after June 30, 1942), the post-war credit for such year shall not be greater than the excess of the excess profits tax paid over an amount equal to the sum of the following: (i) the excess profits tax which would be payable if section 710 (a) (3) were not applicable, and (ii) 90 percent of the excess of the excess profits tax payable over the amount that would be payable if section 710 (a) (3) were not applicable. (See example (4), below.) This limitation is applicable also to any taxable year to which both section 710 (a) (1) (B) and section 710 (a) (3) are applicable, the provisions of the former section being taken into account in computing the limitation.

For the purpose of the limitation prescribed in section 781 (d), the amount of credit for debt retirement allowed under section 783, if any, shall be considered as an amount of tax paid; and for such purpose, in determining amounts of tax which would be payable under the conditions prescribed in section 781 (d), such amounts shall be determined without regard to any credit for debt retirement.

The application of section 781 (d) may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). The X Corporation has for the calendar year 1942 an adjusted excess profits net income of $1,000,000, which is subject to the excess profits tax rate of 90 percent. The excess profits tax imposed is $900,000 (90 percent of $1,000,000), of which only $850,000 is actually paid. The post-war credit of the corporation under section 780 (a) computed without regard to the limitation provided in section 781 (d) would be $90,000 (10 percent of $900,000). However, such credit is limited by section 781 (d) to $40,000, computed as follows:

Excess profits tax paid	$850,000
Less excess profits tax payable if rate were 81% (81% of $1,000,000)	810,000
Post-war credit allowable	40,000

Example (2). The normal-tax net income, surtax net income, and excess profits net income of the X Corporation, a domestic corporation, for the calendar year 1942 is $1,000,000, of which $200,000 is from sources within a foreign country and $800,000 from sources within the United States. The amount of the normal-tax net income and of the surtax net income is stated hereinbefore without regard to the credit for income subject to excess profits tax provided in section 26 (e). The corporation pays to the foreign country with respect to the calendar year 1942 income tax in the amount of $160,000 upon income from sources therein. After allowance of the credit against normal tax and surtax for foreign tax, the amount of $136.000 of the foreign tax is available as a credit against the excess profits tax for 1942. Such credit is limited by section 729 to one-fifth of the corporation's excess profits tax for that year since only one-fifth of its entire excess profits net income is from sources within the foreign country. The excess profits credit of the corporation for 1942 under section 712 is $295.000, and its specific exemption under section 710 (b) is $5.000. The corporation pays its excess profits tax for 1942 in full. The post-war credit of the corporation for that year is $50.400, computed as follows:

Less:
Specific exemption	$5.000
Excess profits credit	295.000
		300.000
Adjusted excess profits net income		700.000
Excess profits tax imposed (90% of $700.000)		630.000
Less foreign tax credit (1/5 of $630.000)		126.000
Excess profits tax determined under section 710		504.000
Post-war credit under section 780 (a) computed without regard to the limitation under section 781 (d) (10% of $630.000 (tax imposed))		63.000

Excess profits tax paid		$504.000
Less excess profits tax payable if rate were 81%:
Tax at 81% rate (81% of $700.000)	$567.000
Less foreign tax credit (1/5 of $67.000)	113.400
		453.600
Post-war credit allowable		50.400

Since the post-war credit under section 780 (a) ($63.000) computed without regard to the limitation under section 781 (d) is greater than the amount ($50.400) determined under section 781 (d), the amount determined under section 781 (d) is the amount of the post-war credit.

Example (3). The facts are the same as in example (2) except that the excess profits credit of the X Corporation under section 712 is $95.000 instead of $295.000 and the amount of the foreign tax available as a credit against the corporation's excess profits tax, after allowance of the credit against normal tax and surtax for foreign tax, is $152.000 instead of $136.000. The post-war credit of the X Corporation for the calendar year 1942 is $60.800, computed as follows:

Less:
Specific exemption	$5.000
Excess profits credit	95.000
		100.000
Adjusted excess profits net income		900.000
Excess profits tax determined under section 710 (a) (1) (A) (90% of $900.000)		810.000
Normal-tax net income before credit for adjusted excess profits net income		1,000.000
Less credit for adjusted excess profits net income		900.000
Normal-tax net income		100.000
Normal tax (24% of $100.000)		24.000
Surtax net income before credit for adjusted excess profits net income		$1,000.000
Less credit for adjusted excess profits net income		900.000
Surtax net income		100.000
Surtax (16% of $100.000)		16.000
Limitation under section 710 (a) (1) (B):
80% of surtax net income before credit for adjusted excess profits net income (80% of $1,000.000)		800.000
Less:
Normal tax	$24.000
Surtax	16.000
		40.000
Excess profits tax determined under section 710 (a) (1) (B)		760.000
Less foreign tax credit (1/5 of $760.000)		152.000
Excess profits tax determined under section 710		608.000

Excess profits tax paid		608.000
Less amount of excess profits tax determined under section 710 reduced by 10% ($608.000 minus $60.800)		547.200
Limitation under section 781 (d)		60.800
Post-war credit allowable		60.800

Since the post-war credit under section 780 (a) ($76.000) computed without regard to the limitation under section 781 (d) is greater than the amount ($60.800) determined under section 781 (d), the amount determined under section 781 (d) is the amount of the post-war credit.

Example (4). The X Corporation has for the taxable year beginning December 1, 1941, and ending November 30, 1942, an adjusted excess profits net income of $1,000.000. The 80 percent limitation under section 710 (a) (1) (B) is not applicable in the computation of the tax. The excess profits tax of the corporation for that year determined under section 710 (a) (3) is $699,035.61, of which only $690,000 is actually paid. The post-war credit of the corporation for that year is $5,467.95, computed as follows:

Excess profits tax computed without regard to section 710 (a) (3)		554,000
Excess profits tax computed as if amendment made by section 202 of Revenue Act of 1942 were applicable		900,000
Portion of tentative excess profits tax computed under section 710 (a) (3) (A) (212/365 of $554.000)		321,775 34
Portion of tentative excess profits tax computed under section 710 (a) (3) (B) (153/365 of $900.000		377,260.27
Excess profits tax determined under section 710 (a) (3)		699,035.61

Tax Imposed (as Defined in Section 780 (a))

Excess profits tax determined under section 710 (a) (3)		699,035.61
Less excess profits tax that would be determined if section 710 (a) (3) were not applicable		$554,000.00
Tax imposed		145,035.61

Less:
Excess profits tax that would be payable if section 710 (a) (3) were not applicable	$554,000.00
90% of excess of excess profits tax payable over excess profits tax that would be payable if section 710 (a) (3) were not applicable (90% of $145,035.61 ($699,035.61 minus $544,000.00))	130,532.05
Limitation under section 781 (d)		5,467.95
Post-war credit allowable		5,467.95

Since the post-war credit under section 780 (a) ($14,503.56) computed without regard to the limitation under section 781 (d) is greater than the amount ($5,467.95) determined under section 781 (d), the amount determined under section 781 (d) is the amount of the post-war credit.

SEC. 250. POST-WAR REFUND OF EXCESS PROFITS TAX. (Revenue Act of 1942.)

Subchapter E of Chapter 2 is amended by inserting at the end thereof the following new Part:

SEC. 783. CREDIT FOR DEBT RETIREMENT.

(a) General rule. An amount equal to 40 per centum of the amounts paid during the taxable year in repayment of the principal of indebtedness shall, at the election of the taxpayer made in its return for such year, be allowed as a credit against the tax for such year imposed by this subchapter.

(b) Limitations. The credit under subsection (a) with respect to any taxable year shall in no event exceed whichever of the following amounts is the lesser—

(1) An amount equal to 10 per centum of the tax imposed under this subchapter for the taxable year.

(2) An amount equal to 40 per centum of the amount by which the smallest amount of indebtedness during the period beginning September 1, 1942, and ending with the close of the preceding taxable year exceeds the amount of indebtedness as of the close of the taxable year.

(3) In case such taxable year begins in 1942 prior to September 2, 1942, and ends after September 1, 1942, an amount equal to 40 per centum of the amount by which the amount of indebtedness as of September 1, 1942, exceeds the amount of indebtedness as of the close of the taxable year.

(4) In case such taxable year begins in 1941 or ends before September 1, 1942, zero.

No interest shall be allowed or paid by the United States on account of any overpayment of tax attributable to any credit allowed under this section.

(c) Reduction of credit and of bonds outstanding under section 780. If a credit is allowed for debt repayment in a taxable year pursuant to this section, the amount of such credit or refund shall be deducted from the credit under section 780 (a) and the amount of bonds issued under section 780 shall, to the extent necessary, be correspondingly adjusted.

(d) Definition of indebtedness. For the purposes of this section the term "indebtedness" means any indebtedness of the taxpayer or for which the taxpayer is liable evidenced by a bond, note, debenture, bill of exchange, certificate, or other evidence of indebtedness, mortgage, or deed of trust.

§ 30.783–1 Credit for debt retirement—(a) General rule. Subject to the limitations prescribed in section 783 (b), a taxpayer may, at its election, credit against the excess profits tax for the taxable year an amount equal to 40 percent of the aggregate of the amounts paid by the taxpayer during such year in repayment of the principal of indebtedness (as defined in section 783 (d)). The credit is allowable with respect to amounts so paid, whether they constitute part or full payment of the principal of indebtedness.

The credit is allowable only with respect to "amounts paid" by the taxpayer. If, for example, indebtedness of the taxpayer in the amount of $1,000 is satisfied by a payment of $900 by the taxpayer, the credit is allowable only with respect to the $900 paid. Moreover, mere reduction in indebtedness is not enough. Thus, where a taxpayer pays off its obligation on a bond for $1,000 with its bond for $900 (having a later maturity or a higher interest rate) no credit is allowable though there has been a reduction of $100 in indebtedness.

The credit is allowable only with respect to amounts paid "in repayment of the principal of indebtedness." Thus, if the taxpayer purchases its own bonds as an investment or for resale as distguished from the payment of its bonds, the credit is not allowable. If there has been a payment, as distinguished from a purchase, the fact that the evidence of an indebtedness such as a bond has not been retired and canceled in the same taxable year in which acquired by the debtor taxpayer does not preclude allowance of the credit against the tax for such year. Whether in any case an amount paid by the taxpayer upon the principal of indebtedness was paid "in repayment of the principal of indebtedness" is dependent upon all the facts and circumstances.

If the taxpayer desires to take the credit for a taxable year in which amounts are paid in repayment of indebtedness, the election to take the credit must be made in the taxpayer's return for such year. An election not to take the credit for that year, once made by filing a return on which the credit is not taken, is irrevocable after the expiration of the time prescribed by law for filing the return for such year (including the period of any extension of time for filing the return granted pursuant to section 53). An election to take the credit, once made by filing a return on which the credit is taken, similarly becomes irrevocable. The election to take the credit, or not to take the credit, for any taxable year does not in any case constitute an election for any subsequent year.

(b) Limitations. The limitations provided in section 783 (b) upon the credit for debt retirement are as follows:

(1) No credit for debt retirement is allowable against excess profits tax for any taxable year which began in 1941 or ended before September 1, 1942. This is true though a post-war credit is allowable in the case of certain of such years. (See § 30.780–1 (a).)

(2) In the case of a taxable year which began in 1942 prior to September 2, 1942, and ends after September 1, 1942, the credit shall in no event exceed whichever of the following amounts is the lesser:

(i) An amount equal to 10 percent of the excess profits tax imposed upon the taxpayer for such year; or

(ii) An amount equal to 40 percent of the amount by which the amount of indebtedness as of the beginning of September 1, 1942, exceeds the amount of indebtedness as of the close of the taxable year.

(3) In the case of any taxable year beginning after September 1, 1942, the credit shall in no event exceed whichever of the following amounts is the lesser:

(i) An amount equal to 10 percent of the excess profits tax imposed upon the taxpayer for such year; or

(ii) An amount equal to 40 percent of the amount by which the smallest amount of indebtedness during the period beginning with the first moment of September 1, 1942, and ending with the close of the preceding taxable year exceeds the amount of indebtedness as of the close of the taxable year.

The tax imposed, for purposes of the limitations described in this paragraph, is the amount determined as the tax imposed for purposes of section 780 (a) (see § 30.780–1 (a)), as such amount may (by reason of refunds, credits, or deficiencies) be adjusted pursuant to section 781 (a) and (b) (see § 30.781–1 (a)). The limitations prescribed in section 781 (d) upon the post-war credit are not limitations upon the credit for debt retirement.

In the following examples of the computation of the credit allowable for debt retirement all indebtedness referred to is indebtedness as defined in section 783 (d) (see § 30.783–1 (d)).

Example (1). The excess profits tax imposed upon the X Corporation for the calendar year 1942 is $200.000. The amounts paid by the corporation throughout the year in repayment of indebtedness total $85.000. The outstanding indebtedness of the corporation during the year is as follows:

1942:
Jan. 1			$100,000
Aug. 3	$25,000		75,000
July 10		$200,000	275,000
Sept. 1			275,000
Oct. 22	60,000		215,000
Dec. 31			215,000
Total paid	85,000

The credit allowable for debt retirement is $20,000, computed as follows:

40% of $85,000, the total repaid in the year (see section 783 (a) and § 30.783–1 (a)) ---------- $34,000

But the credit for debt retirement may not exceed whichever of the following amounts is the lesser (see section 783 (b) (1) and (3) and § 30.783–1 (b) (2)):

10% of $200,000 (amount of tax imposed) ---------- $20,000

40% of $60,000 (amount by which indebtedness September 1, 1942, $275,000, exceeds indebtedness at close of taxable year 1942, $215,000) ---------- 24,000

Example (2). The excess profits tax imposed upon the Y Corporation for the calendar year 1942 is $700,000, and for the calendar year 1943 is $800,000. The amounts paid by the corporation in repayment of indebtedness throughout the year 1942 total $150,000, and throughout the year 1943 total $170,000. The outstanding indebtedness of the corporation during the years 1942 and 1943 is as follows:

Jan. 1			$500,000
July 10	$100,000		400,000
Sept. 1			400,000
Oct. 22	50,000		350,000
Dec. 3		$20,000	370,000
Dec. 31			370,000
Total paid	150,000
1943
Jan. 1			370,000
Nov. 5	170,000		200,000
Dec. 31			200,000
Total paid	170,000

The credit allowable for debt retirement for 1942 is $12,000, computed as follows:

40% of $150,000, the total repaid in 1942 (see section 783 (a) and section 30.783–1 (a)) ---------- $60,000

But the credit for debt retirement for 1942 may not exceed whichever of the following amounts is the lesser (see section 783 (b) (1) and (3) and § 30.783–1 (b) (2)):

10% of $700,000 (amount of tax imposed) ---------- $70,000

40% of $30,000 (amount by which indebtedness September 1, 1942, $400,000, exceeds indebtedness at close of taxable year 1942, $370,000) ---------- 12,000

The credit allowable for debt retirement for 1943 is $60,000, computed as follows:

40% of $170,000, the total repaid in 1943 (see section 783 (a) and § 30.783–1 (a)) ---------- $68,000

But the credit for debt retirement for 1943 may not exceed whichever of the following amounts is the lesser (see section 783 (b) (1) and (2) and § 30.783–1 (b) (3)):

10% of $800,000 (amount of tax imposed) ---------- $80,000

40% of $150,000 (amount by which lowest amount of indebtedness during period beginning September 1, 1942, through close of preceding taxable year (December 31, 1942), $350,000, exceeds indebtedness at close of taxable year (December 31, 1943), $200,000) ---------- 60,000

Example (3). The facts are the same as in example (2), except that, instead of paying $50,000 on October 22, 1942, and borrowing $20,000 on December 3, 1942, the Y Corporation borrows $20,000 on October 22, 1942, and pays $50,000 on December 3, 1942.

The credit allowable for debt retirement for 1942 is $12,000, the same amount as arrived at in example (2) and computed in the same manner as in such example.

The credit allowable for debt retirement for 1943 is $68,000 (as distinguished from $60,000 under example (2)), computed as follows:

40% of $170,000, the total repaid in 1943 (see section 783 (a) and section 30.783–1 (a))---------- $68,000

Since the lowest amount of indebtedness in the period September 1, 1942, to the close of preceding taxable year is $370,000, as distinguished from $350,000 in example (2), the amount of the limitation under section 783 (b) (2) is a higher amount than the corresponding amount under example (2). The limitations under section 783 (b) (1) and (2) (see § 30.783–1 (b) (3)) are as follows:

10% of $800,000 (amount of tax imposed)---------- $80,000
40% of $170,000 (amount by which lowest amount of indebtedness during period beginning September 1, 1942, through close of preceding taxable year (December 31, 1942), $370,000, exceeds indebtedness at close of taxable year (December 31, 1943), $200,000)------ 68,000

Example (4). The excess profits tax imposed upon the Z Corporation for the calendar year 1942 is $30,000, and for the calendar year 1943 is $15,000. On January 1, 1942, the Z Corporation was the owner of certain real property subject to a mortgage executed by the corporation. The mortgage secured a promissory note made by the corporation, payable to mortgagee M in the amount of $100,000. On October 1, 1942, the Z Corporation conveyed the property, subject to the mortgage, to the R Corporation, and the latter assumed the indebtedness. The Z Corporation, however, remained liable for the indebtedness. On November 2, 1942, the R Corporation paid $15,000 on the note, the only amount paid by the R Corporation on the indebtedness. M foreclosed the mortgage in 1943, the net proceeds from the foreclosure sale of the property amounting to $80,000, which was paid and credited upon the indebtedness on November 15, 1943, leaving $5,000 still owing upon the original indebtedness. The Z Corporation, on December 15, 1943, paid the $5,000 to M upon the latter's demand therefor. During the years 1942 and 1943 the Z Corporation had no other indebtedness outstanding, nor was any other indebtedness incurred or paid by it. The outstanding indebtedness of the Z Corporation during the years 1942 and 1943 is as follows:

	Paid by Z Corporation	Paid by R Corporation or from proceeds of foreclosure sale	Total indebtedness
Jan. 1		----------	$100,000
Sept. 1			100,000
Nov. 2		$15,000	85,000
Dec. 31			85,000
1943
Jan. 1			85,000
Nov. 15		80,000	5,000
Dec. 15	$5,000	----------	0
Dec. 31			0
Total paid	5,000

[1] Nothing paid.

No credit for debt retirement is allowable to the Z Corporation for the year 1942, since it paid no amounts in repayment of indebtedness.

The credit allowable for debt retirement for 1943 is $1,500, computed as follows:

40% of $5,000, the total repaid by Z Corporation in 1943 (see section 783 (a) and section 30.783–1 (a))- $2,000

But the credit for debt retirement for 1943 may not exceed whichever of the following amounts is the lesser (see section 783 (b) (1) and (2) and § 30.783–1 (b) (3)):

10% of $15,000 (amount of tax imposed)---------- $1,500
40% of $85,000 (amount by which lowest amount of indebtedness during period beginning September 1, 1942, through close of preceding taxable year (December 31, 1942), $85,000, exceeds indebtedness at close of taxable year (December 31, 1943), zero)---------- 34,000

(c) Effect upon post-war credit and bonds. The post-war credit and bonds purchased with such credit are required by section 783 (c) to be reduced by the amount allowed as a credit for debt retirement. If in any case the amount of the credit for debt retirement for a taxable year exceeds the post-war credit allowable for such year, the post-war credit or bonds issued to the taxpayer for any other taxable year or years shall be reduced by the amount of such excess. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue shall certify to the Secretary a statement of the amount, if any, by which the amount of bonds outstanding should be reduced.

(d) Definition of indebtedness. For the purposes of the credit for debt retirement, the term "indebtedness" means any indebtedness of the taxpayer or for which the taxpayer is liable which is evidenced by a bond, promissory note, debenture, bill of exchange, certificate, or other evidence of indebtedness, mortgage, or deed of trust, executed by either the taxpayer or any other person. Indebtedness as used in the preceding sentence means an unconditional and legally enforceable obligation for the payment of money. It includes outstanding obligations of the taxpayer held by the taxpayer for investment or resale. It does not include a contingent obligation. However, if and when a contingent obligation for the payment of money becomes absolute it is included in indebtedness. The term "indebtedness" includes indebtedness assumed by the taxpayer even though such indebtedness is evidenced, so far as the taxpayer is concerned, only by a contract with the person whose indebtedness has been assumed. An assumption of indebtedness includes, in addition to the customary forms of assumption, the acquisition of property subject to indebtedness. If indebtedness of the taxpayer or for which the taxpayer is liable is assumed by another person (thus becoming indebtedness of such other person), it does not thereby cease to be indebtedness of the taxpayer or for which the taxpayer is liable. (But credit for debt retirement is allowable to a taxpayer only with respect to amounts paid by the taxpayer. See section 783 (a) and § 30.783–1 (a)). An obligation ceases to be indebtedness when it is satisfied (such as by payment, whether by the taxpayer or another person), extinguished, or otherwise ceases to be legally enforceable, though such indebtedness may be replaced by indebtedness to another person or new indebtedness to the same person.

The term "indebtedness" does not include indebtedness incurred by a bank arising out of the receipt of a deposit and evidenced, for example, by a certificate of deposit, a passbook, a cashier's check, or a certified check.

In order for any indebtedness to be included within the term it must be bona fide. It must be incurred for business reasons and not merely to increase the excess profits credit or the credit for debt retirement.

Whether outstanding certificates designated by such names as "debenture preferred stock" or "guaranteed preferred stock" constitute indebtedness depends upon whether the holder has a proprietary interest in the corporation or has the rights of a creditor, determined in the light of all the facts. The name borne by the certificate is of little importance. More important attributes to be considered are whether or not there is a maturity date, the source of payment of any "interest" or "dividend" specified in the certificate (whether out of earnings or out of capital and earnings), rights to enforce payment, and other rights as compared with those of general creditors.

The term "other evidence of indebtedness" refers to evidence of indebtedness of the same general character as bonds, notes, debentures, bills of exchange, or certificates of indebtedness. Open account book entries, invoices, or statements of account are not evidences of indebtedness.

ABNORMALITIES IN INCOME IN TAXABLE PERIOD

In order to conform Regulations 109 [Part 30, Title 26, Code of Federal Regulations, 1941 Sup.] to section 221 and section 222 (f) of the Revenue Act of 1942 (Public Law 753, 77th Congress), approved October 21, 1942, such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. There is inserted immediately preceding § 30.721–1 of Regulations 109 the following:

SEC. 221. ABNORMALITIES IN INCOME IN TAXABLE PERIOD. (Revenue Act of 1942, Title II)

(a) Rule for computations. Section 721 (c) and (d) (relating to computation of tax in case of abnormalities in income in the taxable period) is amended to read as follows:

(c) Computation of tax for current taxable year. The tax under this subchapter for the taxable year, in which the whole of such abnormal income would without regard to this section be includible, shall not exceed the sum of:

(1) The tax under this subchapter for such taxable year computed without the inclusion in gross income of the portion of the net abnormal income which is attributable to any other taxable year, and

(2) The aggregate of the increase in the tax under this subchapter for the taxable year (computed under paragraph (1)) and for each previous taxable year which would have resulted if, for each previous taxable year to which any portion of such net abnormal income is attributable, an amount equal to such portion had been included in the gross income for such previous taxable year.

(d) Computation of tax for future taxable year. The amount of the net abnormal income attributable to any future taxable year shall, for the purposes of this subchapter, be included in the gross income for such taxable year.

(1) The tax under this subchapter for such future taxable year shall not exceed the sum of—

(A) The tax under this subchapter for such future taxable year computed without the inclusion in gross income of the portion of such net abnormal income which is attributable to such year, and

(B) The decrease in the tax under this subchapter for the previous taxable year in which the whole of such abnormal income would, without regard to this section, be includible which resulted by reason of the computation of such tax for such previous taxable year under the provisions of subsection (c); but the amount of such decrease shall be diminished by the aggregate of the increases in the tax under this subchapter for the future taxable year as computed under subparagraph (A) and for the taxable years intervening between such previous taxable year and such future taxable year which have resulted because of the inclusion of the portions of such net abnormal income attributable to such intervening years in the gross income for such intervening years

(2) If, in the application of subsection (c), net abnormal income from more than one taxable year is attributable to any future taxable year, paragraph (1) of this subsection shall be applied with respect to such future taxable year in the order of the taxable years from which the net abnormal income is attributable beginning with the earliest, as if the portion of the net abnormal income from each such year was the only amount so attributable to such future taxable year, and (except in the case of the portion for the earliest previous taxable year) as if the tax under this subchapter for the future taxable year was the tax determined under pargaraph (1) with respect to the portion for the next earlier previous taxable year.

(3) If in the application of paragraph (1) to any future taxable year it is determined that the decrease in tax computed under paragraph (1) (B) with respect to the net abnormal income, a portion of which is included in the gross income for the future taxable year, does not exceed the aggregate of the increases in tax computed under paragraph (1) (B) with respect to such net abnormal income, then the portions of such net abnormal income attributable to taxable years subsequent to such future taxable year shall not be included in the gross income for such subsequent taxable years. For the purpose of computing the tax under this subchapter for a taxable year subsequent to the future taxable year, the portion of net abnormal income attributable to the future taxable year shall not be included in the gross income for such future taxable year to the extent that the inclusion of such portion of net abnormal income in the gross income for such future taxable year did not result in an increase in tax for such future taxable year by reason of the provisions of paragraph (1).

(e) Application of section. This section shall be applied only for the purpose of computing the tax under this subchapter as provided in subsections (c) and (d), and shall have no effect upon the computation of base period net income. For the purposes of subsections (c) and (d)—

(1) Net abnormal income means the aggregate of the net abnormal income of all classes for one taxable year.

(2) Under regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary, the tax under this subchapter for previous taxable years shall be computed as if the portions of net abnormal income for each previous taxable year for which the tax was computed under this section were included in the gross income for the other previous taxable years to which such portions were attributable.

(3) If both subsections (c) and (d) are applicable to any current taxable year, subsection (d) shall be applied without regard to subsection (c), and subsection (c) shall be applied as if the tax under this subchapter, except for subsection (c), was the tax computed under subsection (d) and as if the gross income and the other amounts necessary to determine the adjusted excess profits net income were those amounts which would result in the tax computed under subsection (d)

(f) Abnormal income from exploration, etc. If by reason of taking into account, in determining constructive average base period net income under section 722, exploration, discovery, prospecting, research, or development of tangible property, patents, formulae, or processes, or any combination of the foregoing, extending over a period of more than 12 months, such constructive average base period net income is higher than it would be without such taking into account, only such portion of the income in the taxable year resulting from such activity which is of a class described in subsection (a) (2) (C) as is attributable to another taxable year under this subchapter shall be deemed attributable to a year other than the taxable year.

(b) Taxable years to which amendments applicable. The amendments made by this section shall be applicable with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1939.

(f) Technical amendment. Sections 721 (a) (2) (B) (relating to abnormalities on account of long-term contracts) shall not apply with respect to any taxable year beginning after December 31, 1941.

PAR. 2. Section 30.721–4, as added by Treasury Decision 5045, approved May 3, 1941, is further amended to read as follows:

§ 30.721–4 Computation of tax for current taxable year. The excess profits tax for the taxable year shall be the smaller of the following amounts:

(a) The excess profits tax computed without excluding from gross income any amounts attributable to other years under section 721, and so computed with the application of section 721 (d), relating to the tax for future taxable years to which net abnormal income is attributable, if such section is applicable to such taxable year; or

(b) The sum of (1) the excess profits tax for the taxable year computed without including in gross income the amount of items of net abnormal income attributable to other taxable years, and so computed with the application of section 721 (d) if such section is applicable, and (2) the aggregate of the amounts of additional excess profits tax which would have resulted for the taxable year in the computations under (1) of this paragraph and for each previous excess profits tax taxable year if there had been included in the gross income for each previous taxable year the amount of the items, if any, of the net abnormal income attributable thereto. If the excess profits tax for any previous taxable years was computed under section 721, the increases in tax under (2) of this paragraph shall be computed on the basis of the computations made for such previous taxable years, that is, as if the gross income for all previous taxable years included the items of net abnormal income attributable to such previous taxable years from the other previous taxable years to which section 721 applied.

Since the net abnormal income attributable to any taxable year, if included in the gross income for such taxable year, would reduce items, such as the net operating loss or unused excess profits credit, for such year which are taken into account in other taxable years through a carry-over or carry-back, such inclusion in gross income may also result in an increase in tax in such other taxable years in which such loss or unused credit is taken into account in computing the net operating loss deduction or unused excess profits credit adjustment. Section 721, as amended by the Revenue Act of 1942, requires that the increase in tax for the taxable year in which such net operating loss deduction or unused excess profits credit adjustment would be affected by the attributed income must be taken into account in computing the tax under section 721. Such income shall not be included in determining the net abnormal income for the taxable year to which it is attributable. The increase in tax caused by any adjustment under section 721 is the difference between the tax computed without such adjustment and the tax computed after making such adjustment.

The computations required by section 721 (c) may be illustrated by the following examples:

Example (1). The taxpayer, on the calendar year basis, sustains a net operating loss in 1939 which forms the basis for a net operating loss deduction of $10,000 for 1940. In 1940 it has $6,000 net abnormal income, all of which is attributable to 1939. Since the excess profits tax does not apply to taxable years beginning before January 1, 1940, there would be no increase in excess profits tax for 1939 if the $6,000 net abnormal income were included in gross income for that year. However, the $6,000 would have offset the $10,000 net operating loss for 1939, so that the net operating loss deduction for 1940 would be reduced to $4,000, and the excess profits tax for 1940 would be increased to the extent caused by such reduction of the net operating loss deduction. The tax for 1940 is whichever is less of the following:

(i) The tax for 1940 computed without excluding any net abnormal income from gross income, or

(ii) The tax for 1940 computed after excluding from gross income the $6,000 net abnormal income attributable to 1939, plus the increase in the tax so computed which would result if, by reason of the $6,000 being included in gross income for 1939, the net operating loss deduction available in computing excess profits net income for 1940 were only $4,000 instead of $10,000.

The taxpayer had net income and adjusted excess profits net income for 1940 after giving effect to the net operating loss deduction of $10,000. For 1941 it has $8,000 net abnormal income, all of which is attributable to 1939. The tax for 1941 is whichever is less of the following:

(A) The tax for 1941 computed without excluding any net abnormal income from gross income; or

(B) The tax for 1941 computed after excluding from gross income the $8,000 net abnormal income attributable to 1939, plus the increase in the tax for 1940 which would be caused by the reduction in the net operating loss deduction for that year if the $8,000 were included in gross income for 1939 so that it offset the net operating loss sustained in that year. In making these computations for 1939 and 1940, the adjustments made for those years in applying section 721 (c) to 1940 are retained, that is, the $6,000 net abnormal income attributable to 1939 from 1940 in applying section 721 to 1940 is treated as if it remained in gross income for 1939, and the $6,000 net abnormal income attributable to 1939 from 1940 is not included in the gross income for 1940 and the net operating loss deduction for that year (prior to any adjustment caused by applying section 721 (c) to 1941) is treated as being $4,000, not $10,000.

Example (2). The taxpayer, on the calendar year basis, has $50,000 net abnormal income in 1940 attributable in the amount of $10,000 to each of the years 1941 to 1945. This $10,000 amount is therefore included in gross income for each of these years. In 1945 it has $60,000 net abnormal income, all of which is attributable to 1943. The tax for 1945 is whichever is less of the following:

(i) The tax for 1945 computed under section 721 (d) without excluding any net abnormal income for 1945 from gross income; or

(ii) The tax for 1945 computed under section 721 (d) after excluding the $60,000 net abnormal income for 1945 from gross income, plus the increase in the tax for 1945 as so computed, if any, and the increase in tax, if any, for all previous taxable years which would result if the $60,000 net abnormal income were included in gross income for 1943.

For any taxable year for which the excess profits tax or the increase in excess profits tax is determined under section 721 (c), the excess profits tax may be computed pursuant to the provisions of section 710 (a) (1) (B) (if such section is applicable to such year) as an amount which when added to the normal tax and surtax for the year is equal to 80 percent of the corporation surtax net income for such year determined under section 15 or Supplement G (relating to insurance companies) but without regard to the credit provided in section 26 (e) (relating to income subject to excess profits tax), as follows:

If the provisions of section 710 (a) (1) (B) are applicable for the purposes of paragraph (a) of this section, the normal tax and surtax shall be the actual normal tax and surtax for the taxable year computed under chapter 1, and the corporation surtax net income shall be the actual corporation surtax net income computed under chapter 1 or, if the excess profits tax is computed under section 721 (d), the corporation surtax net income determined for the purposes of section 721 (d). See § 30.721-5. If the provisions of section 710 (a) (1) (B) are applicable for the purposes of paragraph (b) (1) of this section, the normal tax and surtax shall be the actual normal tax and surtax for the taxable year computed under chapter 1, and the corporation surtax net income shall be the corporation surtax net income described in the preceding sentence except that the amount of any items of net abnormal income attributable to other taxable years shall be excluded from gross income. If the provisions of section 710 (a) (1) (B) are applicable for the purposes of paragraph (b) (2) of this section, the normal tax and surtax for a pervious taxable year shall be the actual normal tax and surtax for such year computed under chapter 1, and the corporation surtax net income for such year shall be the corporation surtax net income described in the first sentence of this paragraph increased by the total amount of the items of net abnormal income attributable to such prior year.

PAR. 3. Section 30.721-5, as added by Treasury Decision 5045, is further amended to read as follows:

§ 30.721-5 Computation of tax for future taxable years. Amounts of items of net abnormal income attributable to a future taxable year shall be included in the gross income for such future taxable year for the purposes of the excess profits tax, except that if in the application of section 721 (d) (1) to any future taxable year it is determined that the decrease in tax computed under section 721 (d) (1) (B) for the taxable year in which the net abnormal income was realized does not exceed the aggregate of the increases in tax for other taxable years with respect to such net abnormal income, as computed under section 721 (d) (1) (B), then no portion of such net abnormal income shall be included in gross income for any taxable year subsequent to such future taxable year. For example, in 1940 the taxpayer, on the calendar year basis, has $60,000 net abnormal income, of which $10,000 is attributable to each of the years 1941 to 1946. In applying section 721 (d) to 1943, it is determined that the decrease in tax for 1940 caused by the application of section 721 (c) (computed with the exclusion of the net abnormal income from gross income) does not exceed the increases in tax for 1941 and 1942 caused by the inclusion in gross income of the net abnormal income attributable to those years. Therefore, the net abnormal income for 1940 attributable to 1944, 1945, and 1946 shall not be included in gross income for those years.

The excess profits tax is determined as the lesser of the amounts computed under section 710 (a) (1) (A) (90 percent of the adjusted excess profits net income) and section 710 (a) (1) (B). Under section 710 (a) (1) (B), the excess profits tax is an amount which when added to the normal tax and surtax for the year is equal to 80 percent of the corporation surtax net income for such year determined under section 15 or Supplement G (relating to insurance companies) but without regard to the credit provided in section 26 (e) (relating to income subject to excess profits tax). For the purpose of applying section 710 (a) (1) (B) to a future taxable year to which amounts of items of net abnormal income are attributable, which amounts are included in gross income for such year for excess profits tax purposes under section 721 (d), the normal tax and surtax shall be the actual normal tax and surtax for the taxable year computed under chapter 1, and the corporation surtax net income shall be computed on the basis of the gross income determined for the purposes of the excess profits tax for such taxable year.

If net abnormal income is included in the gross income for any future taxable year, and if the tax for such year is the amount determined under the limitations of section 721 (d) (1) with respect to such net abnormal income, then for the purpose of computing the net operating loss deduction or unused excess profits credit adjustment for any taxable year subsequent to such future taxable year the gross income for the future taxable year shall be deemed to include only such portion of the net abnormal income as, when added to the other gross income for such future taxable year, would result without the application of section 721 (d) (1) in an excess profits tax equal to the amount determined under that section. For example, $50,000 net abnormal income for 1942 is attributable to 1945, and is included in the gross income for that year. The excess profits tax for 1945 computed without the application of section 721 (d) (1) is $145,000. Under section 721 (d) (1), the excess profits tax is determined to be $118,000. If only $20,000, instead of $50,000, had been included as net abnormal income in the gross income for 1945, the excess profits tax for that year without the application of section 721 (d) (1) would be $118,000. Therefore, for the purpose of computing the net operating loss deduction or unused excess profits credit adjustment for any taxable year subsequent to 1945, the gross income for 1945 is considered to include $20,000 and not $50,000 net abnormal income.

Section 721 (d) (1) provides that the excess profits tax for a future taxable year to which any portion of the net income for a previous taxable year is attributed is the smaller of the amounts determined under (a) and (b) below:

(a) The excess profits tax for such year computed with the inclusion in gross income of such portion of the net abnormal income;

(b) The sum of:

(1) The excess profits tax for such year computed without the inclusion in gross income of such portion of the net abnormal income, and

(2) The excess of:

(i) The decrease in excess profits tax for the year of realization which resulted from the exclusion of net abnormal income from the gross income for such year, over

(ii) The aggregate of the increase in excess profits tax for the future taxable year (as determined under (1) of this paragraph) and for intervening years resulting from the inclusion in the gross income for such intervening years of the other portions of such net abnormal income.

If net abnormal income from more than one previous taxable year is attributed to the future taxable year, the determinations under (a) and (b) of this section are to be made first with respect to the portion of net abnormal income attributed from the earliest previous taxable year, the portions of net abnormal income from the later taxable years being treated as ordinary income for such future taxable year. The determinations under (a) and (b) are then to be made with respect to the portion of net abnormal income attributed from the next earliest previous taxable year, and for such purpose the excess profits tax for the future taxable year determined under (a) is considered the excess profits tax resulting from the determinations under (a) and (b) with respect to the net abnormal income attributed from the earliest previous taxable year, and the gross income referred to in (b) is considered that amount which would result in the tax reported under (a) if section 721 (d) (1) did not apply. The determinations for the other previous taxable years from which net abnormal income is attributed to the future taxable year are to be made in a similar manner in the order of such taxable years, and the amount so determined for the latest of such taxable years is the tax under section 721 (d) (1) for the future taxable year. The foregoing provisions are illustrated by the following example:

Example. A taxpayer, on the calendar year basis, has net abnormal income for 1941, of which $10,000 is attributed to 1945, and net abnormal income for 1942, of which $20,000 is also attributed to 1945. The tax for 1945, before the application of section 721 (d) (1), is $90,000. The adjusted excess profits net income for 1945 is $100,000, and the gross income and other amounts necessary to determine this amount are such that a decrease in gross income (if such decrease is $100,000 or less) causes a decrease of an equal amount in adjusted excess profits net income. For the purpose of applying section 721 (d) (1) to 1945, computations under (a) and (b) are first made only with respect to the $10,000 attributed from 1941, and the $20,000 attributed from 1942 is not considered net abnormal income. Upon this computation the tax under (a) is $90,000. The tax under (b) (1), determined by excluding the $10,000 from gross income, is $81,000. Assuming that the amount determined under (b) (2) with respect to the $10,000 net abnormal income is $4,500, the excess profits tax would then be determined under (b) as $85,500, a lesser amount than the $90,000 computed under (a). The computations under (a) and (b) are then made with respect to the $20,000 attributed from 1942. For this purpose, the tax under (a) is considered to be the $85,500 amount computed with respect to the net abnormal income attributed from 1941. For the purposes of (b), the taxpayer is considered to have such gross income and other items of deductions and credits as would produce the tax of $85,500 determined with respect to the net abnormal income attributed from 1941. That is, the gross income is considered reduced by $5,000, the items of deductions and credits remaining the same, so that the adjusted excess profits net income is reduced to $95,000, on which amount the tax would be $85,500. The exclusion of $20,000 from that amount of gross income which would produce $95,000 adjusted excess profits net income would reduce such adjusted excess profits net income to $75,000, on which the tax is $67,500, and this $67,500 amount is considered the tax under (b) (1) determined by excluding the $20,000 from gross income. Assuming that the amount determined under (b) (2) with respect to the $20,000 net abnormal income is $7,500, then the tax finally determined under section 721 (d) (1) for the future taxable year would be $75,000, the sum of $67,500 and $7,500, which is a lesser amount than the $85,500 determined under (a).

If part of the income for a future taxable year, to which year net abnormal income of previous years is attributed, constitutes net abnormal income for such future year which is attributable to other taxable years, then the computations under section 721 (d) (1) shall be made without regard to the provisions of section 721 (c) which apply in determining the tax for such future taxable year. Section 721 (c) is applied after the tax is determined under the limitations of section 721 (d). In determining for the purpose of section 721 (d) (1) the increases and decreases in tax for previous taxable years, portions of net abnormal income for any of such previous taxable years attributable under section 721 (c) to other of such previous taxable years shall be treated as remaining in gross income in the years to which attributed.

This section may be illustrated by the following example:

Example In the taxable year 1940, the A Corporation realized $26,000 net abnormal income, $2,000 of which is attributed to the taxable year 1940 and $4,000 to each of the taxable years 1941 through 1946. For the years 1940 through 1942, the adjusted excess profits net income, computed with these attributed amounts included in gross income, and the resulting excess profits tax are as follows:

1940	$ 4,000	$1,000
1942	104,000	93,600

The adjusted excess profits net income for 1943, after the inclusion in gross income of the amount attributed to such year, is $124,000. The excess profits tax for such year is $109,000, computed as follows:

(a) Tax on $124,000 computed without regard to the limitations of section 721 (d)	$111,600
(b) (1) Tax on $120,000 (income for 1943 excluding amount attributed to such year)	108,000
(2) (i) Tax for 1940 if section 721 were not applied to the net abnormal income for such year (tax on sum of $4,000 plus the $24,000 attributed to other years, or a total of $28,000)	7,400
(ii) Less tax for 1940 after application of section 721	$1,000
(iii) Decrease in tax for 1940 due to application of section 721	6,400
(3) (i) Tax for 1941 after application of section 721	20,800
(ii) Less tax for 1941 if attributed income of $4,000 were excluded from gross income (tax on $50,000)	19,000
(iii) Increase in tax for 1941 due to inclusion of attributed income	1,800
(4) (i) Tax for 1942 after application of section 721	93,600
(ii) Less tax for 1942 if attributed income of $4,000 were excluded from gross income (tax on $100,000)	90,000
(iii) Increase in 1942 tax due to inclusion of attributed income	3,600
(5) Aggregate of increases in tax for intervening years 1941 and 1942 (item (3) (iii) plus item (4) (iii))	5,400
(6) Excess of decrease in tax for 1940 over aggregate of increases in tax for intervening years 1941 and 1942 (item (2) (iii) minus item (5))	1,000
(7) Sum of tax on income for 1943, excluding amount attributed to such year, plus excess of decrease in tax for 1940 over aggregate of increases in tax for 1941 and 1942 (item (1) plus item (6))	109,000

Since the amount computed in (b) (7), $109,000, is less than the amount computed in (a), $111,600, the excess profits tax of the A Corporation for 1943 is $109,000, the smaller amount.

In the above example, the decrease in tax for 1940 ($6,400) has been equalled by the aggregate of the increases in tax for the intervening years 1941 through 1943 ($1,800 plus $3,600 plus $1,000). Therefore, the $4,000 attributed to 1944, 1945, and 1946 will not be included in gross income for such years.

PAR. 4. Section 30.721-6, as amended by Treasury Decision 5045, is further amended by inserting at the end of the first paragraph of the example therein the following sentence:

There was no net operating loss deduction or unused excess profits credit adjustment in 1940 or 1941.

PAR. 5. Section 30.721-7, as amended by Treasury Decision 5045, is further amended as follows:

(A) By changing the first sentence to read as follows:

The second class of potentially abnormal income specifically set forth in section 721 (a) (2) is income constituting amounts payable under contracts the performance of which required more than twelve months and is applicable only with respect to excess-profits tax taxable years beginning before January 1, 1942.

(B) By adding the following new paragraph immediately following the first paragraph:

If the taxpayer has elected under the provisions of section 736 (b) to compute, for excess profits tax purposes, its income from long-term contracts upon the percentage of completion method of accounting, income from long-term contracts shall not constitute abnormal income under any provisions of section 721 for any taxable year.

PAR. 6. Section 30.721-8 as amended by Treasury Decision 5045, is further amended as follows:

(A) By adding the following new paragraph immediately following the third paragraph:

Exploration, discovery, prospecting, research, or development of tangible property, patents, formulae, or processes, or any combination of the foregoing extending over a period of more than twelve months occurring during or immediately prior to the base period may constitute the basis of a claim under section 722 (b) that the average base period net income is an inadequate standard of normal earnings and for the establishment of a constructive average base period net income under section 722 (a). In such case, if the constructive average base period net income determined by taking into account the activities described in section 721 (a) (2) (C) and in the preceding sentence is higher than it would be if such activities are not taken into account, only that portion of the net abnormal income for the taxable year resulting from such activities, which is of a class described in section 721 (a) (2) (C) and this section, as is attributable to another excess profits tax taxable year shall be deemed attributable to a year other than the taxable year. No amount of such net abnormal income shall be attributed to any year in the taxpayer's base period or to any year prior thereto.

(B) By inserting at the end the following new example:

Example (3). In 1937, the B Corporation, which had been engaged in manufacturing and selling patented products under licensing agreements with the patent holders, discontinued such practice and devoted its facilities to research and development of new products. In 1938 and 1939, the corporation secured several patents and started selling the products which it manufactured under such patents. In 1940 and in subsequent years, the corporation received net abnormal income as a result of such sales. The corporation has made an application for relief under section 722 (b) (4) on the ground that it had changed the character of its business during the base period, and that its average base period net income does not reflect the normal operation for the entire base period of the business. The constructive average base period net income finally determined is higher than it would have been if the activities referred to and engaged in by the corporation in 1938 and 1939 had not occurred and were not taken into account under section 722. Consequently no part of any net abnormal income determined under section 721 (a) (2) (C) and this section shall be deemed to be attributable to 1937, 1938, or 1939.

(Sec. 62 of the Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 32; 26 U.S.C., 62), as made applicable by section 729 (a) of the Internal Revenue Code (54 Stat. 789; 26 U.S.C., 729 (a)), and sections 221 and 222 (f) of the Revenue Act of 1942 (Pub. Law 753, 77th Cong.))

However, these regulations relate only to the capital stock tax imposed under Chapter 6 of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended by the Revenue Act of 1942, for the year ended June 30, 1942, and succeeding years.

§ 137.21 Geographical scope. The tax is applicable (1) to corporations created or organized in the United States, or under the law of the United States or of any State or Territory, with respect to carrying on or doing business, without reference to where such business is carried on or done, and (2) to every other corporation with respect to carrying on or doing business in any State of the United States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and the District of Columbia.

SUBPART D—DOMESTIC CORPORATIONS

SEC. 1200. TAX. [As amended by section 301 (a), Revenue Act of 1941, and Section 301 (a), Revenue Act of 1942.]

(a) Domestic corporations. For each year ending June 30, beginning with the year ending June 30, 1939, there shall be imposed upon every domestic corporation with respect to carrying on or doing business for any part of such year an excise tax of $1.25 for each $1,000 of the declared value of its capital stock. [Under section 301 (d), Revenue Act of 1941 the $1.25 rate is applicable only for the year ended June 30, 1941, and subsequent years.]

SEC. 1202. DECLARED VALUE. [As amended by section 301 (b), Revenue Act of 1942.]

(a) Declaration of value. The declared value shall be the value as declared by the corporation in its return for the year (which declaration of value cannot be amended). The value declared by the corporation in its return shall be as of the close of its last income-tax taxable year ending with or prior to the close of the capital stock tax taxable year (or as of the date of organization in the case of a corporation having no income-tax taxable year ending with or prior to the close of such declaration year).

[SEC. 301. CAPITAL STOCK TAX. (Revenue Act of 1942.)]

(d) Prior returns effective. If a return for the year ended June 30, 1942, is filed under Chapter 6 of the Internal Revenue Code, without regard to the amendment thereof as made by this Act, the adjusted declared value reported by the corporation on such return (whether or not correct) shall constitute the declared value for the purposes of such Chapter 6 as amended by this Act, unless a different value is declared on a subsequent return for such year received within the prescribed filing period.

§ 137.30 Nature and rate of tax. The tax is an excise tax imposed with respect to carrying on or doing business during a taxable year ending June 30, or any fractional part thereof. It is an excise tax upon the exercise of the privilege of doing business and not upon the business itself and is imposed upon each corporation with respect to carrying on or doing business and not upon each business carried on. If more than one corporation is engaged in carrying on a single business, each must file a return and pay the tax. The tax is imposed at the rate of $1.25 for each full $1,000 of the declared value of the capital stock. The tax may not be apportioned under any circumstances. If a corporation is engaged in business for any portion of a taxable year, liability for the tax is incurred for the entire taxable year.

§ 137.31 Doing business. The term "business" is very comprehensive and embraces whatever occupies the time, attention, or labor of men for profit. Accordingly, regardless of the nature of its activities, any corporation organized for profit and carrying out any of the purposes of its organization is doing business within the meaning of the Code. Similarly, even if not organized for profit, any corporation which engages in activities ordinarily carried on for profit is doing business. It is immaterial whether the activities result in a profit or a loss, or whether the corporation has been successful in its enterprise, or that because of unfavorable business conditions, no operations are carried on for a particular period. No particular amount of business need be done, nor is it necessary that the business be continuous throughout the taxable year.

The case is exceptional in which the activities of a corporation organized for profit do not amount to doing business within the meaning of the Code. Such a case is generally limited to one in which the corporation is not pursuing the end for which organized, i. e., profit.

§ 137.32 Illustrations—(a) General. In general "doing business" includes such activities as:

(1) Buying, selling, manufacturing, developing, financing, speculating, or otherwise dealing in or managing, property of any description;

(2) Furnishing services of any character;

(3) Leasing or managing properties, collecting rents or royalties;

(4) Managing, financing, controlling, or directing the operations, performing any function, or in any other way aiding or serving the general purposes of, any affiliated or related company;

(5) The orderly liquidation of property by negotiating sales from time to time as opportunity and judgment dictate and distribution of the proceeds as liquidation is effected—for example, the liquidation of an estate, of properties taken over from another corporation, or of shareholders' fractional interests in particular property;

(6) Investment or reinvestment (in the case of a corporation holding securities) of surplus or other funds in securities, with the exception of the reinvestment of funds realized upon the maturity or redemption of securities;

(7) May be engaged in by a corporation which has leased its properties to another without divesting itself of all control and management thereof or under such terms that it is required to or does keep the properties in repair; or any activities performed by a lessor corporation to enable the lessee to utilize the leased properties, regardless of whether such activities are performed on behalf of under the order of the lessee or whether such acts are of major importance; or

(8) Any other activities coming within the ordinary and natural signification of the term "carrying on or doing business."

(b) Parent company. A company owning the controlling interest in one or more active subsidiary corporations is deemed to be doing business within the meaning of the statute.

(c) Debtor in possession. A corporation continued in possession, control and management of its property as a "debtor in possession" in a proceeding under Chapter X of the Bankruptcy Act, as amended, is doing business and subject to the tax the same as any other corporation.

(d) Exceptions. Ordinarily the exceptions to "doing business" are restricted to limited activities of a corporation. For example:

(1) A corporation (not including a parent company as specified in paragraph (b)) is not subject to the tax if its corporate powers are limited to the mere owning and holding of property and the distribution of its avails, or, although incorporated for the purpose of doing business, if it has retired from the business for which it was organized and has reduced its activities to the mere ownership and holding of property, the distribution of its avails, and doing only such acts as are necessary to the maintenance of its corporate existence and the private management of its purely internal affairs. However, a corporation which has retired from its principal business is subject to the tax if, nevertheless, it engages in other business activities or maintains its organization for the purpose of continued effort in the pursuit of profit or gain.

(2) A newly organized corporation does not incur liability for the tax while its activities are limited to purely internal matters incidental to the completion of its organization, such as the sale of its stock for cash, and the election of officers. On the other hand, it is not necessary for such corporation to have commenced the actual operation of the business for which it was organized before a tax liability may arise. Generally, liability for the tax is first incurred by a newly organized corporation when, preliminary to the commencement of the operation of its intended business, it undertakes such activities as the acquisition of property, whether paid for in stock of the corporation or with proceeds from the sale of such stock; constructing or contracting for the construction of a plant; contracting for the purchase of property or for the sale of its intended product; the purchase of materials, machinery or equipment; the hiring of employees; etc.

(3) A corporation will not be regarded as "doing business" if it had no activities during the entire taxable year because it has:

(a) Become dormant; or

(b) Completed its business, as, for example, where a real estate subdivision has been developed, sold and reduced to cash; or

(c) Abandoned its business, as, for example, where prospective oil properties are proven worthless.

§ 137.33 Declared value. In its return for each year, a corporation must declare a definite and unqualified value for its capital stock. The declaration of value must be made in terms of United States dollars and be specific, as, for example, "$10,000", or "Zero" in the event it is desired to indicate no value. The declared value can in no case be less than zero, and statements such as "None", "No value", "Deficit", and similar expressions, or a declaration of a deficit or minus figure shall be considered a declaration of "Zero."

A corporation may exercise unrestricted judgment and discretion in determining the value to be declared for its capital stock on a return for any year. In making such declaration, the corporation is not bound by any previous declaration of value.

The value shall be declared as of the close of the last income-tax taxable year ending with or prior to the close of the capital stock tax taxable year, or as of the date of organization if the corporation has no income-tax taxable year ending with or prior to the close of the capital stock tax taxable year. Thus, for the year ended June 30, 1942, the value shall be declared as of December 31, 1941, if the corporation makes its income tax returns on a calendar year basis, or as of the close of any other month from July 1941, to and including June 1942, if its income tax returns are made on the basis of a fiscal year ending with such month. In the case of a newly organized corporation which does not have an income-tax taxable year ending with or prior to the close of the capital stock tax taxable year, June 30, the value shall be declared as of the date of organization.

Extreme care should be exercised in making the declaration of value, since once made it cannot be amended, except as otherwise provided for in this section, either by the corporation or by the Commissioner. It is not only binding with respect to the capital stock tax liability for the year for which declared, but is also a prime factor in computing the declared value excess-profits tax, if any, for the applicable income-tax taxable year under subchapter B of Chapter 2 of the Code. A corporation may, within the statutory period for filing returns (up to and including the last day of any extension period), amend the value declared on one return by filing another return to take the place of the one previously filed, but, under the provisions of section 1202 (a) of the Code, such amended return must be received by the collector on or before the last day of the filing period. An amended return received after such date is not effective, whether or not placed in the mails in ample time to reach the office of the collector in due course before the expiration of the filing period. Where two or more timely returns are received by the collector, the last received constitutes the return required by law and the value declared thereon becomes the binding value for capital stock tax and declared value excess-profits tax purposes.

SUBPART E—CHINA TRADE ACT CORPORATIONS

(b) Credit for China Trade Act corporations. For the purpose of the tax imposed by section 1200 there shall be allowed in the case of a corporation organized under the China Trade Act, 1922, 42 Stat. 849 (U. S. C., 1940 ed., title 15, ch. 4), as a credit against the declared value of its capital stock, an amount equal to the proportion of such declared value which the par value of the shares of stock of the corporation, owned on the last day of the taxable year by (1) persons resident in China, the United States, or possessions of the United States, and (2) individual citizens of the United States or China wherever resident, bears to the par value of the whole number of shares of stock of the corporation outstanding on such date. For the purposes of this subsection shares of stock of a corporation shall be considered to be owned by the person in whom the equitable right to the income from such shares is in good faith vested; and as used in this subsection the term "China" shall have the same meaning as when used in the China Trade Act, 1922.

§ 137.40 Definitions. As used in this subpart:

(a) China Trade Act Corporation means a corporation chartered under the China Trade Act, 1922.

(b) China means (1) China including Manchuria, Thibet, Mongolia, and any territory leased by China to any foreign government, (2) the Crown Colony of Hongkong, and (3) the Province of Macao.

(c) Possessions of the United States include Puerto Rico, the Philippine Islands, the Panama Canal Zone, Guam, Tutuila, Wake, and the Virgin Islands.

(d) Persons resident means persons who on June 30 of the taxable year had their domicile in China, the United States, or a possession of the United States.

§ 137.41 General. Corporations organized under the China Trade Act, 1922, are domestic corporations and, with the exceptions noted in this subpart, are subject to all of the provisions of these regulations relating to domestic corporations, including those governing declarations of value (see § 137.33). In view of the provisions of section 12 of the China Trade Act, the income-tax taxable years of all China Trade Act corporations end on December 31. Declarations of value shall be shown in United States dollars. In declaring a value for the capital stock, conversion of foreign currencies must be made at the rate of exchange prevailing on December 31, of the taxable year. The prevailing rate of exchange shall be the rate certified to the Secretary by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York under the provisions of section 522 (c) of the Tariff Act of 1930 (46 Stat. 740).

§ 137.42 Credits and computation of tax. A China Trade Act corporation is allowed a credit against the declared value of its capital stock for each taxable year equal to the proportion of such declared value which the par value of the shares of its stock owned on June 30, the last day of the taxable year, by (a) persons resident in China, the United States, or possessions of the United States, and (b) individual citizens of the United States or China, wherever resident, bears to the par value of the whole number of the shares of stock outstanding on such date.

Only those shares of stock, the equitable right to the income from which is in good faith vested on June 30 of the taxable year in persons resident in China, the United States, or possessions of the United States and individual citizens of the United States or China, wherever resident, may be considered in determining such credit.

If a corporation claims the credit mentioned above it shall file a capital stock tax return (Form 707) executed in accordance with the law and these regulations (see subpart H) and complete the form in accordance with the instructions thereon. It must also securely attach to such return, and make a part thereof, a supplemental form (707a) which shall contain all of the information required by the law, these regulations, and the instructions on the form.

SUBPART F—FOREIGN CORPORATIONS

[Sec. 1200. Tax (As amended by section 301 (a), Revenue Act of 1941, and section 301 (a), Revenue Act of 1942)]

(b) Foreign corporations. For each year ending June 30, beginning with the year ending June 30, 1939, there shall be imposed upon every foreign corporation with respect to carrying on or doing business in the United States for any part of such year an excise tax equivalent to $1.25 for each $1,000 of the declared value of capital employed in the transaction of its business in the United States. [Under section 301 (d), Revenue Act of 1941 the $1.25 rate is applicable only for the year ended June 30, 1941, and subsequent years.]

(a) Declaration of value. The declared value shall be the value as declared by the corporation in its return for the year (which declaration of value cannot be amended). The value declared by the corporation in its return shall be as of the close of its last income-tax taxable year ending with or prior to the close of the capital stock tax taxable year (or as of the date of organization in the case of a corporation having no income-tax taxable year ending with or prior to the close of such declaration eyar).

(d) Prior returns effective. If a return for the year ended June 30, 1942, is filed under Chapter 6 of the Internal Revenue Code, without regard to the amendment thereof as made by this Act, the adjusted declared value reported by the corporation on such return (whether or not correct) shall constitute the declared value for the purposes of such Chapter 6, as amended by this Act, unless a different value is declared on a subsequent return for such year received within the prescribed filing period.

§ 137.50 Nature and rate of tax. The tax is an excise tax imposed with respect to carrying on or doing business in the United States during a taxable year ending June 30, or any fractional part thereof. The tax is imposed at the rate of $1.25 for each full $1,000 of the declared value of capital employed by a foreign corporation in the transaction of business in the United States. For the provisions under which foreign corporations are required to file capital stock tax returns, see § 137.74.

§ 137.51 Carrying on or doing business in the United States. The determination as to whether a foreign corporation is carrying on or doing business in the United States within the meaning of the Code depends upon the particular facts of each case. Ordinarily, a foreign corporation engaged in trade or business within the United States, and therefore classified as a resident foreign corporation for purposes of the tax imposed by section 14 (c) (1) of the Code is subject to the capital stock tax as a foreign corporation carrying on or doing business in the United States. As to the meaning of "carrying on or doing business," in general, see §§ 137.31 and 137.32.

§ 137.52 Capital employed in the United States. The phrase "capital employed in the transaction of its business in the United States" means the portion of the total capital of the foreign corporation utilized in carrying on or doing business in the United States.

A foreign corporation may employ capital in the transaction of its business in the United States in various ways. For example, property in the United States used in its business; notes and accounts receivable, and other like assets, representing business done in the United States; merchandise kept in the United States for sale; and funds on deposit in the United States for use in the corporation's business in the United States, are capital employed in the transaction of business in the United States.

§ 137.53 Declared value. In its return for each year a foreign corporation shall declare a definite value for the capital employed by it in the transaction of business in the United States. The rules relating to the declared value of the capital stock of domestic corporations (see § 137.33) are applicable to the declared value of the capital of foreign corporations employed in the transaction of business in the United States.

SUBPART G—EXEMPTIONS

Sec. 1201. Exemptions.

(a) The taxes imposed by section 1200 shall not apply—

(1) Corporations exempt from income tax. To any corporation enumerated in section 101;

(2) Insurance companies. To any insurance company subject to the tax imposed by section 201, 204 or 207.

[Sec 169 Common trust funds.]

(b) Taxation of common trust funds. A common trust fund shall not be subject to taxation under this chapter, * * * or chapter 6 and for the purposes of such chapters * * * shall not be considered a corporation.

Sec. 101. Exemptions from tax on corporations. [As amended by section 217 (a), Revenue Act of 1939, and sections 137 (a) and 165 (a), Revenue Act of 1942.]

The following organizations shall be exempt from taxation under this chapter—

(1) Labor, agricultural, or horticultural organizations;

(2) Mutual savings banks not having a capital stock represented by shares;

(3) Fraternal beneficiary societies, orders, or associations, (A) operating under the lodge system or for the exclusive benefit of the members of a fraternity itself operating under the lodge system; and (B) providing for the payment of life, sick, accident, or other benefits to the members of such society, order, or association or their dependents;

(4) Domestic building and loan associations substantially all the business of which is confined to making loans to members, and cooperative banks without capital stock organized and operated for mutual purposes and without profit;

(5) Cemetery companies owned and operated exclusively for the benefit of their members or which are not operated for profit; and any corporation chartered solely for burial purposes as a cemetery corporation and not permitted by its charter to engage in any business not necessarily incident to that purpose, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual;

(6) Corporations, and any community chest, fund, or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and no substantial part of the activities of which is carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation;

(7) Business leagues, chambers of commerce, real-estate boards, or boards of trade, not organized for profit and no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual;

(8) Civic leagues or organizations not organized for profit but operated exclusively for the promotion of social welfare, or local associations of employees, the membership of which is limited to the employees of a designated person or persons in a particular municipality, and the net earnings of which are devoted exclusively to charitable, educational, or recreational purposes;

(9) Clubs organized and operated exclusively for pleasure, recreation, and other nonprofitable purposes, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder;

(10) Benevolent life insurance associations of a purely local character, mutual ditch or irrigation companies, mutual or cooperative telephone companies, or like organizations; but only if 85 per centum or more of the income consists of amounts collected from members for the sole purpose of meeting losses and expenses;

(12) Farmers', fruit growers', or like associations organized and operated on a cooperative basis (a) for the purpose of marketing the products of members or other producers, and turning back to them the proceeds of sales, less the necessary marketing expenses, on the basis of either the quantity or the value of the products furnished by them, or (b) for the purpose of purchasing supplies and equipment for the use of members or other persons, and turning over such supplies and equipment to them at actual cost, plus necessary expenses. Exemption shall not be denied any such association because it has capital stock, if the dividend rate of such stock is fixed at not to exceed the legal rate of interest in the State of incorporation or 8 per centum per annum, whichever is greater, on the value of the consideration for which the stock was issued, and if substantially all such stock (other than nonvoting preferred stock, the owners of which are not entitled or permitted to participate, directly or indirectly, in the profits of the association, upon dissolution or otherwise, beyond the fixed dividends) is owned by producers who market their products or purchase their supplies and equipment through the association; nor shall exemption be denied any such association because there is accumulated and maintained by it a reserve required by State law or a reasonable reserve for any necessary purpose. Such an association may market the products of nonmembers in an amount the value of which does not exceed the value of the products marketed for members, and may purchase supplies and equipment for nonmembers in an amount the value of which does not exceed the value of the supplies and equipment purchased for members, provided the value of the purchases made for persons who are neither members nor producers does not exceed 15 per centum of the value of all its purchases. Business done for the United States or any of its agencies shall be disregarded in determining the right to exemption under this paragraph;

(13) Corporations organized by an association exempt under the provisions of paragraph (12) or members thereof, for the purpose of financing the ordinary crop operations of such members or other producers, and operated in conjunction with such association. Exemption shall not be denied any such corporation because it has capital stock, if the dividend rate of such stock is fixed at not to exceed the legal rate of interest in the State of incorporation or 8 per centum per annum, whichever is greater, on the value of the consideration for which the stock was issued, and if substantially all such stock (other than nonvoting preferred stock) is owned by such association, or members thereof; nor shall exemption be denied any such corporation because there is accumulated and maintained by it a reserve required by State law or a reasonable reserve for any necessary purpose;

(14) Corporations organized for the exclusive purpose of holding title to property, collecting income therefrom, and turning over the entire amount thereof, less expenses, to an organization which itself is exempt from the tax imposed by this chapter;

(15) Corporations organized under Act of Congress, if such corporations are instrumentalities of the United States and if, under such Act, as amended and supplemented, such corporations are exempt from Federal income taxes;

(16) Voluntary employees' beneficiary associations providing for the payment of life, sick, accident, or other benefits to the members of such association or their dependents, if (A) no part of their net earnings inures (other than through such payments) to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and (B) 85 per centum or more of the income consists of amounts collected from members and amounts contributed to the association by the employer of the members for the sole purpose of making such payments and meeting expenses;

(17) Teachers' retirement fund associations of a purely local character, if (A) no part of their net earnings inures (other than through payment of retirement benefits) to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and (B) the income consists solely of amounts received from public taxation, amounts received from assessments upon the teaching salaries of members, and income in respect of investments;

(18) Religious or apostolic associations or corporations, if such associations or corporations have a common treasury or community treasury, even if such associations or corporations engage in business for the common benefit of the members, but only if the members thereof include (at the time of filing their returns) in their gross income their entire pro-rata shares, whether distributed or not, of the net income of the association or corporation for such year. Any amount so included in the gross income of a member shall be treated as a dividend received.

(19) Voluntary employees' beneficiary associations providing for the payment of life, sick, accident, or other benefits to the members of such association or their dependents or their designated beneficiaries, if (A) admission to membership in such association is limited to individuals who are officers or employees of the United States Government, and (B) no part of the net earnings of such association inures (other than through such payments) to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.

§ 137.60 Proof of exemption under section 1201 (a) (1) of the Code. In every case, where not already established under section 1201 (a) (1) of the Code, or a similar provision of a prior Act, exemption from the capital stock tax as a corporation enumerated in section 101 of the Code, or in a corresponding section of a prior Act, must be established by an official ruling. To establish such exemption each corporation making claim thereto shall file a capital stock tax return, complete in all respects including (1) a declaration of value for its capital stock, (2) a statement of the subsection of section 101 under which exemption is claimed, and (3) the necessary supporting evidence required in the case.

In support of its claim for exemption, the corporation shall submit with the return a statement setting forth (1) the character of the organization, (2) the purpose for which it was organized, (3) its actual activities for a period of at least one year, (4) the sources of its income and the disposition of such income, (5) whether or not any of its income is credited to surplus or may inure to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and (6) in general all facts relating to its operations which affect its right to exemption. In addition, the corporation shall submit a copy of (1) its charter or articles of incorporation, (2) its by-laws, and (3) its latest financial statement showing the assets, liabilities, receipts and disbursements. If, however, the corporation has received a ruling from the Commissioner exempting it from filing Federal income tax returns and if the conditions on which such ruling was based have not changed, the corporation may submit a copy of such ruling with the capital stock tax return in lieu of the specified information.

The original of such documents as charters, by-laws, etc., should not be submitted in any case as all evidence becomes a part of the records of the Bureau and, under the rules of the Department, may not be returned.

A corporation, the status of which has not been determined, may (1) pay any tax shown on such return to avoid any statutory interest that deferred payment might entail, or (2) defer payment of the tax until a ruling has been made. If the corporation exercises option (1) and the claim for exemption is allowed, it will be advised, and may thereafter file a claim for refund of the tax paid. If option (2) is exercised and the claim for exemption is rejected, the corporation will be required to pay the tax together with statutory interest from the due date of the tax and not merely from the date of the rejection of the claim for exemption.

The collector, upon receipt of the return and accompanying papers, properly executed, will forward them to the Commissioner for decision as to whether the organization is exempt. After consideration by the Commissioner, the corporation will be advised whether its claim for exemption is allowed or rejected. If the claim is allowed, no further capital stock tax returns will be required so long as its income tax status is not changed.

Each collector will keep a list of all such exempt corporations, to the end that he may from time to time inquire into their status and ascertain whether or not they are observing the conditions upon which their exemption is predicated.

For a more detailed discussion of the several classes of corporations that are enumerated in section 101, reference is made to the applicable income tax regulations.

SEC. 204. INSURANCE COMPANIES OTHER THAN LIFE OR MUTUAL. [As amended by section 164 (a), Revenue Act of 1942.]

(a) Imposition of tax.

(1) In general. There shall be levied, collected, and paid for each taxable year upon the normal-tax net income * * * of every insurance company (other than a life or mutual insurance company) and every mutual marine insurance company taxes at the rates specified * * *.

* * * * *

(3) No United States insurance business. Foreign insurance companies (other than a life or mutual insurance company) and foreign mutual marine insurance companies not carrying on an insurance business within the United States shall not be taxable under this section but shall be taxable as other foreign corporations.

SEC. 207. MUTUAL INSURANCE COMPANIES OTHER THAN LIFE OR MUTUAL. [As amended by section 165 (b), Revenue Act of 1942.]

(a) Imposition of tax. There shall be levied, collected, and paid for each taxable year upon the income of every mutual insurance company (other than a life or a marine insurance company and other than an interinsurer or reciprocal underwriter) a tax * * * and upon the income of every mutual insurance company (other than a life or a marine insurance company) which is an interinsurer or reciprocal underwriter, a tax * * *:

* * * * *

(6) No United States insurance business. Foreign mutual insurance companies (other than a life or marine insurance company) not carrying on an insurance business within the United States shall not be taxable under this section but shall be taxable as other foreign corporations.

§ 137.61 Insurance companies. Only those insurance companies subject to the income tax imposed by sections 201, 204, or 207 of the Code are exempt from capital stock tax under section 1201 (a) (2) of the Code. Such exempt status must be established by an official ruling. For that purpose a capital stock tax return, complete in all respects including a declaration of value for its capital stock, shall be filed, showing under which of the specified sections the corporation is subject to income tax. After consideration by the Commissioner, the corporation will be advised whether its claim for exemption is allowed or rejected. If the claim is allowed, no further capital stock tax returns will be required so long as the income tax status is not changed.

The exemption provided by section 1201 (a) (2) does not apply to incorporated insurance agencies; attorneys in fact for reciprocal insurance companies or interinsurance exchanges, holding companies for insurance companies, or any corporation (other than an insurance company) which is closely affiliated with, or is a facility of, or whose capital stock is held by, an insurance company.

§ 137.62 Common trust fund. A common trust fund, as defined in section 169 (a) of the Code, is not subject to the tax and is not required to file capital stock tax returns since it is provided in section 169 (b) of the Code that such organization shall not be considered a corporation for capital stock tax purposes.

§ 137.63 Not doing business. A domestic corporation which did not carry on or do any business (see §§ 137.31 and 137.32), or a foreign corporation which did not carry on or do any business in the United States (see § 137.51), during a taxable year ending June 30, may claim exemption on the ground of not doing business within the meaning of the Code. If such claim is allowed, the corporation will not be required to pay any capital stock tax for such year, but must, nevertheless, file a return and declare therein a value for the succeeding taxable year.

As corporations are generally organized to do business, every corporation is presumed to be subject to the tax unless it submits evidence satisfactory to the Commissioner that it has not carried on or done business during any part of the taxable year. Accordingly, exemption from the tax must be established by an official ruling by the Commissioner. The fact that an exemption from the tax was allowed for one year because of not doing business is not acceptable as proof that business was not carried on in any subsequent year. Likewise, the mere citation of a court decision, or of a provision of the Code or of these regulations, or a statement to the effect that the same conditions existed during the taxable year as prevailed in a previous year, or any other mere conclusion, does not constitute satisfactory proof. If a corporation claims exemption from the tax because of not doing business, a capital stock tax return, completed in accordance with the requirements of these regulations (see subpart H), must be filed for each year, regardless of whether or not the claim for exemption has been allowed for the previous taxable year. The following evidence must be attached to the return: (1) An excerpt from its charter setting forth its corporate powers; (2) copies of the minutes of all meetings of the board of directors held during the taxable year, and of all reports made by an executive or other standing committee, or any other governing body, upon the activities of the corporation during the taxable year; (3) a comparative statement of the assets and liabilities as of the beginning and close of the taxable year; (4) a detailed statement for such year of the cash receipts from all sources and the cash disbursements for all purposes; and (5) a comprehensive statement of all activities in which the corporation was actually engaged during the taxable period, and in general all facts relating to its operations which may affect its right to exemption. (See § 137.64.) In addition there shall be submitted all other information, data, and records that the Commissioner may require. The original of such documents as charters, by-laws, etc., should not be submitted, as all evidence becomes a part of the official records and under the rules of the Department may not be returned.

The collector upon receipt of the return, including the necessary evidence to support the claim for exemption, shall forward it to the Commissioner for decision as to whether the organization is exempt from payment of the tax for the year.

§ 137.64 Action on claims for exemption. A claim for exemption from liability for the tax should be made at the time the return is filed. A claim made at a later date will be considered only if made by filing with the collector a claim for the abatement or refund (as the case may be) of any tax assessed or paid. Such claim shall be accompanied by the necessary supporting evidence. If a claim for exemption is rejected, the tax due on the value declared in the return, or on the value determined by the Commissioner in case the corporation fails to declare a value, shall be assessed at once. Interest on such tax accrues at the statutory rate from the due date and not merely from the date when the exemption was denied. For discussion of incomplete returns, see § 137.71; for discussion of penalties and interest, see § 137.92.

SUBPART H—RETURNS

SEC. 1203. RETURNS.

(a) Requirement. Every corporation liable for tax under section 1200 shall make a return under oath. Such return shall contain such information and be made in such manner as the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary may by regulations prescribe.

* * * * *

SEC. 3632. AUTHORITY TO ADMINISTER OATHS, TAKE TESTIMONY, AND CERTIFY.

(a) Internal Revenue personnel.

(1) Persons in charge of administration of internal revenue laws generally. Every collector, deputy collector, internal revenue agent, and internal revenue officer assigned to duty under an internal revenue agent, is authorized to administer oaths and to take evidence touching any part of the administration of the internal revenue laws with which he is charged, or where such oaths and evidence are authorized by law or regulation authorized by law to be taken.

* * * * *

(b) Others. Any oath or affirmation required or authorized by any internal revenue law or by any regulations made under authority thereof may be administered by any person authorized to administer oaths for general purposes by the law of the United States, or of any State, Territory, or posession of the United States, or of the District of Columbia, wherein such oath or affirmation is administered, or by any consular officer of the United States. This subsection shall not be construed as an exclusive enumeration of the persons who may administer such oaths or affirmations.

§ 137.70 Returns, in general. Except as otherwise provided in Subpart G, every corporation is required to make a complete return under oath within the time prescribed by law. If this is not done the collector or deputy collector is required to make the return for the corporation or the Commissioner may do so. As to details and penalties in such cases, see §§ 137.82 and 137.92.

The return must be verified under oath by at least one of the responsible officers of the corporation and preferably by the president and the treasurer. However, see § 137.75. The oath may be administered by any collector, deputy collector, internal revenue agent, internal revenue officer assigned to duty under an internal revenue agent, or by any person duly authorized to administer oaths for general purposes by the law of the United States or of any State, Territory, or possession of the United States, or of the District of Columbia, wherein such oath is administered, or by a consular officer of the United States. The statutory requirement that a return shall be made under oath will be considered satisfied by a return made under affirmation.

§ 137.71 Incomplete return. If a document purporting to be a return is filed on time but is so defective in essential matters that it does not substantially comply with the law, it may be disregarded as a return and the corporation may be subjected to the same penalties as though the document had not been filed (see § 137.92). In any such case the collector, deputy collector, or Commissioner may make a return for the corporation (see § 137.82).

§ 137.72 Return by domestic corporation. Except in a case where a ruling has been received from the Commissioner (see §§ 137.60 and 177.61) specifically exempting the corporation from filing capital stock tax returns, a return must be filed by every domestic corporation in existence during any part of a taxable year, including a corporation incorporated or ceasing to exist within such year. The return must be filed even though the corporation claims exemption from the tax because of not carrying on or doing business at any time during the taxable year (see § 137.63).

The return shall be submitted, under oath, on Form 707, copies of which may be procured from the collector. The return shall set forth all the information required by the form, including, regardless of whether exemption from the tax is claimed, a declared value for the capital stock. The return shall be filed, in triplicate, with the collector (see § 137.81) within the time prescribed for the filing thereof (see § 137.79).

§ 137.73 Returns by affiliated corporations. The tax is imposed upon each corporation with respect to carrying on or doing business and not upon each business carried on. If more than one corporation is engaged in carrying on a single business, each must file a return and pay the tax. Accordingly, a consolidated return is not permitted for purposes of the capital stock tax, even though a consolidated return may be filed for income tax purposes. So-called parent and subsidiary corporations must file separate returns and make separate declarations of value for their capital stock, the same as other corporations.

A parent corporation which owns the controlling interest (that is, more than 50 percent of the voting stock) in one or more corporations shall submit with its return a list of all such subsidiaries, showing, with respect to each subsidiary, the name and address, the State and date of incorporation, the number of shares of stock of each class held by the parent, and the district in which capital stock tax returns are filed by the subsidiary. The return of each subsidiary shall, in addition to other information required by the return, show the name and address of the parent company and the district in which the return of the parent company is filed.

§ 137.74 Return by foreign corporation. A capital stock tax return must be filed by every foreign corporation which, whether on a calendar or fiscal year basis, is required to file an income tax return of net income for purposes of the tax imposed under section 14 (c) (1) of the Code. Such return must be filed even though the corporation claims that it was not carrying on or doing business in the United States at any time during the taxable year (see § 137.51). In such case the corporation may, in lieu of paying the tax at the time of filing the return, claim exemption from the tax because of not doing business, but in that event the corporation shall attach to the return, in accordance with the instructions set forth on the return form, a detailed statement of its activities in this country during the taxable year.

The return must be submitted, under oath, on Form 708, copies of which may be procured from collectors. The return shall set forth all the information required by the form, including, regardless of whether exemption from the tax is claimed, a declared value for the capital employed by the corporation in the transaction of business in the United States (see § 137.53). The return shall be filed, in triplicate, with the collector (see § 137.81) within the time prescribed for the filing thereof (see § 137.79).

§ 137.75 Return of corporation in receivership. If at the time for filing a return all the property of a corporation is in custody of a receiver (including a trustee in bankruptcy or other like representative), the return shall be filed by the receiver. Where the business was operated by the corporation for any part of the taxable year, the return of the receiver shall be complete, including a declared value for the capital stock. If the receiver's custody was continuous throughout the entire capital stock tax taxable year, no statement of declared value is required but, in lieu thereof, the receiver shall attach a statement to the return showing the date on which the property came into his custody and whether his custody was continuous thereafter. The above rules do not apply to the case of a "debtor in possession" (see § 137.32 (c)). In such case a return complete in all respects must be filed.

§ 137.76 Return by new corporation. A corporation created within a taxable year is required to file a return for that year the same as one created prior to and existing throughout the year. This requirement applies to any organization within the definition of the term "corporation" contained in § 137.10 (d) established within a taxable year regardless of whether a corporate charter is later procured.

§ 137.77 Return by liquidated corporation. If a corporation is entirely liquidated during a taxable year, its responsible representatives shall file a return for that year. Such return shall be marked "Final return" and shall be accompanied by a statement setting forth in detail all the facts relating to the liquidation. The return may be filed immediately upon completion of the liquidation, adapting for this purpose a return form used for a preceding year in the event the form for the current year is not available. As to payment of tax in such cases, see § 137.90. However, if during a taxable year a corporation ceases to exist as a corporate entity in contemplation of the law under which it was created, for example, by failure to renew its charter, but remains in business in a quasi corporate capacity, it becomes an association in contemplation of the Code and, accordingly, must file returns as a continuing corporation.

§ 137.78 Change of corporate name. A mere change in name by amendment of an existing charter does not create a new corporation. In such case, the return shall be made in the name which the corporation bears at the close of the taxable year and show the name under which the return was filed for the preceding year.

(b) Time for filing.

(1) General rule. Such return shall be made within one month after the close of the year with respect to which such tax is imposed.

(2) Extension of time. The Commissioner may extend the time for making the returns, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe with the approval of the Secretary, but no such extension shall be for more than sixty days. * * *

§ 137.79 Time for filing return. The return must be filed on or before July 31 next following the close of the taxable year, unless the time for filing has been officially extended prior to such date (see § 137.80). However, if July 31 or the last day of an extension period falls on a Sunday or a legal holiday, a return filed on the next succeeding business day will be considered timely filed.

§ 137.80 Extensions of time. The Code authorizes the Commissioner to extend, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe with the approval of the Secretary, the time for filing returns, subject to the limitation that no such extension shall be for more than 60 days. Pursuant to this authority an extension of either of two kinds may be granted as the circumstances may warrant: namely, (a) general, i. e., by Treasury decision to all corporations or all corporations of a specified class, or (b) special, i. e., by written notice to a corporation upon its application therefor. Collectors of internal revenue are hereby authorized to grant extensions of the second kind under the conditions prescribed herein. In the exercise of such authority, a collector shall grant an extension of time for filing a return, only (1) upon a written application under oath filed on or before the statutory due date of the return and showing reasonable cause for the extension; (2) for such reasonable period as may be required by the circumstances, not to extend in any case beyond the 29th day of September next following the close of the taxable year; (3) with the provision that interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum shall be paid upon the tax from the statutory due date (July 31) to the date of payment of the tax; and (4) in accordance with such procedure as may be prescribed from time to time by the Commissioner.

The determination whether an application presents reasonable cause for an extension depends upon the particular circumstances of each case. Ordinarily, sickness or absence of the officers charged with the responsibility of making the return, or other circumstances beyond the control of the corporation which prevent the filing of a proper return within the time required by law, constitute reasonable cause warranting an extension. A corporation desiring an extension of time for filing its capital stock tax return shall file with the collector on or before the statutory due date of the return an application under oath setting forth the reasons necessitating an extension and stating the time for which the extension is requested. In every case in which an extension is allowed, a copy of the collector's letter granting the extension shall be attached to the return when filed. As to general provisions relating to penalties and interest, see §§ 137.92 and 137.93.

PLACE FOR FILING

(c) Place for filing. The return shall be made to the collector for the district in which is located the principal place of business of the corporation, or, if it has no principal place of business in the United States, then to the collector at Baltimore, Maryland.

§ 137.81 Place for filing return. The return shall be filed with the collector for the district in which is located the principal place of business of the corporation, or, if it has no principal place of business in the United States, with the collector at Baltimore, Maryland.

FAILURE TO MAKE RETURNS; DELINQUENT AND FRAUDULENT RETURNS

SEC 3612. RETURNS EXECUTED BY COMMISSIONER OR COLLECTOR.

(a) Authority of collector. If any person fails to make and file a return or list at the time prescribed by law or by regulation made under authority of law, or makes, willfully or otherwise, a false or fraudulent return or list, the collector or deputy collector shall make the return or list from his own knowledge and from such information as he can obtain through testimony or otherwise.

(b) Authority of Commissioner. In any such case the Commissioner may, from his own knowledge and from such information as he can obtain through testimony or otherwise—

(1) To make return. Make a return, or

(2) To amend collector's return. Amend any return made by a collector or deputy collector.

(c) Legal status of returns. Any return or list so made and subscribed by the Commissioner, or by a collector or deputy collector and approved by the Commissioner, shall be prima facie good and sufficient for all legal purposes.

* * * * *

§ 137.82 Returns by collector, deputy collector, or Commissioner. If any corporation fails to make and file a complete return within the prescribed time or makes, willfully or otherwise, a false or fraudulent return, the collector or deputy collector shall make the return from his own knowledge and from such information as he can obtain through testimony or otherwise. In any such case the Commissioner may, from his own knowledge and from such information as he can obtain through testimony or otherwise, make a return or amend any return made by a collector or deputy collector. As to penalties in such cases, see § 137.92.

SEC. 1204 PUBLICITY OF RETURNS.

Returns required to be filed for the purpose of the tax imposed by section 1200 shall be open to inspection in the same manner, to the same extent, and subject to the same provisions of law, including penalties, as returns made under chapter 1, except that paragraph (2) of subsections (b) and (f) of section 55 shall not apply.

SEC. 55 PUBLICITY OF RETURNS.

(a) Public record and inspection.

(1) Returns made under this chapter upon which the tax has been determined by the Commissioner shall constitute public records; but, except as hereinafter provided in this section, they shall be open to inspection only upon order of the President and under rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary and approved by the President.

(2) And all returns made under this chapter, * * * shall constitute public records and shall be open to public examination and inspection to such extent as shall be authorized in rules and regulations promulgated by the President.

(3) Whenever a return is open to the inspection of any person a certified copy thereof shall, upon request, be furnished to such person under rules and regulations prescribed by the Commissioner with the approval of the Secretary. The Commissioner may prescribe a reasonable fee for furnishing such copy.

(b) Inspection by states.

(1) State officers. The proper officers of any State may, upon the request of the governor thereof, have access to the returns of any corporation, or to an abstract thereof showing the name and income of the corporation, at such times and in such manner as the Secretary may prescribe.

* * * * *

(c) Inspection by shareholders. All bona fide shareholders of record owning 1 per centum or more of the outstanding stock of any corporation shall, upon making request of the Commissioner, be allowed to examine the annual income returns of such corporation and of its subsidiaries.

(d) Inspection by Committee of Congress.

(1) Committees on ways and means and finance.

(A) The Secretary and any officer or employee of the Treasury Department, upon request from the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives, the Committee on Finance of the Senate, or a select committee of the Senate or House specially authorized to investigate returns by a resolution of the Senate or House, or a joint committee so authorized by concurrent resolution, shall furnish such committee sitting in executive session with any data of any character contained in or shown by any return.

(B) Any such committee shall have the right, acting directly as a committee, or by or through such examiners or agents as it may designate or appoint, to inspect any or all of the returns at such times and in such manner as it may determine.

(C) Any relevant or useful information thus obtained may be submitted by the committee obtaining it to the Senate or the House, or to both the Senate and the House, as he case may be.

(2) Joint committee on internal revenue taxation. The Joint Committee on Internal Revenue Taxation shall have the same right to obtain data and to inspect returns as the Committee on Ways and Means or the Committee on Finance, and to submit any relevant or useful information thus obtained to the Senate, the House of Representatives, the Committee on Ways and Means, or the Committee on Finance. The Committee on Ways and Means or the Committee on Finance may submit such information to the House or to the Senate, or to both the House and the Senate, as the case may be.

* * * * *

§ 137.83 Inspection of returns. All capital stock tax returns are public record, but are open to examination or inspection only under the rules and regulations provided for in section 55 of the Code, as amended. The persons who may examine, inspect or secure copies of the returns are limited to those designated in that section as further limited by section 1204 of the Code.

SUBPART I—PAYMENT AND COLLECTION OF TAX

SEC. 1205. PAYMENT OF TAX.

(a) Time of payment. The tax shall, without assessment by the Commissioner or notice from the collector, be due and payable to the collector before the expiration of the period for filing the return.

* * * * *

§ 137.90 Time for payment of tax. The tax is payable to the collector for the district in which the return is filed, on or before the due date. The due date is July 31 of each year, unless a general extension of time for filing returns is granted by the Commissioner (see § 137.80), in which case the due date is the last day of the extended period. For rules as to special extensions, see § 137.80. Section 137.77 provides that if a corporation is entirely liquidated during a taxable year its responsible representatives may file its return for that year immediately upon completion of the liquidation. In such case the tax may also be paid immediately upon completion of the liquidation. If the tax is not paid at that time, sufficient funds of the liquidating corporation should be retained to pay any tax assessable against the corporation; otherwise, the tax may be collected by suit against the stockholders or other liable transferees to whom its assets have been distributed.

[SEC 1205. PAYMENT OF TAX.]

(b) Extension of time. The Commissioner may extend the time for paying the taxes imposed by section 1200, under such rules is begun before the expiration of two years after the making of such refund.

(c) Refunds based on fraud or misrepre- of the United States having a par value not less than the amount of the bond grounds set forth in a claim filed prior to the expiration of such period. As to and regulations as he may prescribe with the approval of the Secretary, but no such extension shall be for more than sixty days.

§ 137.91 Extensions of time. The Code authorizes the Commissioner to extend the time for paying the tax, under such rules and regulations as he may prescribe with the approval of the Secretary, subject to the limitation that no such extension shall be for more than sixty days.

PENALTIES AND INTEREST

(d) Additions to tax.

(1) Failure to file return. In case of any failure to make and file a return or list within the time prescribed by law, or prescribed by the Commissioner or the collector in pursuance of law, the Commissioner shall add to the tax 25 per centum of its amount, except that when a return is filed after such time and it is shown that the failure to file it was due to a reasonable cause and not to willful neglect, no such addition shall be made to the tax: Provided, That in the case of a failure to make and file a return required by law, within the time prescribed by law or prescribed by the Commissioner in pursuance of law, if the last date so prescribed for filing the return is after August 30, 1935, then there shall be added to the tax, in lieu of such 25 per centum: 5 per centum if the failure is for not more than 30 days, with an additional 5 per centum for each additional 30 days or fraction thereof during which failure continues, not to exceed 25 per centum in the aggregate.

(2) Fraud. In case a false or fraudulent return or list is willfully made, the Commissioner shall add to the tax 50 per centum of its amount.

(e) Collection of additions to tax. The amount added to any tax under paragraphs (1) and (2) of subsection (d) shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner and as a part of the tax unless the tax has been paid before the discovery of the neglect, falsity, or fraud, in which case the amount so added shall be collected in the same manner as the tax.

(f) Determination and assessment. The Commissioner shall determine and assess all taxes, other than stamp taxes, as to which returns or lists are so made under the provisions of this section.

SEC 1206 ADDITION TO THE TAX IN CASE OF DELINQUENCY.

If the tax is not paid when due, there shall be added as part of the tax interest at the rate of 6 per centum per annum from the time when the tax became due until paid.

§ 137.92 Penalties and interest. Section 3612 (d) of the Code provides for penalties to be added to the tax in the following cases: (1) Where no return is filed, (2) where a delinquent return is filed, and (3) where a false or fraudulent return is filed.

A penalty of 25 per cent of the amount of the tax is imposed where no return is filed by the taxpayer, regardless of the reason for the failure to file the return. The imposition of the penalty is mandatory, and the penalty applies even though a return is made for the taxpayer by the Commissioner, collector, or deputy collector in accordance with the provisions of section 3612 (a) and (b) (see § 137.82).

A graduated penalty not in excess of 25 per cent of the amount of the tax is imposed for delinquent filing of a return, unless it is shown to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that the delinquency was due to a reasonable cause, and not to willful neglect. The penalty is 5 per cent if the delinquency is for not more than 30 days, with an additional 5 per cent for each additional 30 days or fraction thereof during which the delinquency continues, not to exceed 25 per cent in the aggregate. The penalty is computed on the basis of the exact number of days of continued delinquency and not on a calendar month basis.

If a return is placed in the mails, properly addressed and postage paid, in ample time (as shown by the date of the postmark on the envelope in which mailed) to reach the office of the collector in due course before expiration of the statutory filing period or any official extension thereof, but is not received by the collector until after expiration of the prescribed filing period, it will be considered that the delinquency in filing the return is due to reasonable cause, and accordingly the penalty for delinquency will not be asserted.

In all other cases, a corporation desiring to avoid the penalty for delinquent filing of a return must make an affirmative showing of all facts alleged as a reasonable cause for the delinquency. Such showing shall be made in the form of an affidavit which shall be attached to the return. If the Commissioner determines that the delinquency was due to a reasonable cause, and not to a willful neglect, the addition to the tax will not be assessed.

A penalty of 50 per cent of the amount of the tax is imposed where a false or fraudulent return is willfully made. The penalty applies to the total tax due for the entire period involved, including any tax paid previously to the discovery of the falsity or fraud.

Under section 1206 of the Code if the tax is not paid within the time fixed for filing returns interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum accrues automatically, without assessment of the tax by the Commissioner or notice to the taxpayer, to the actual date of payment or assessment, whichever is prior. The collection of such interest is mandatory under the law regardless of the reason for the delay in payment.

§ 137.93 Collection of penalties. Any penalty added to the tax shall be collected at the same time and in the same manner and as a part of the tax unless the tax has been paid before the discovery of the neglect, falsity, or fraud, in which case the amount so added shall be collected in the same manner as the tax.

SEC. 3655. NOTICE AND DEMAND FOR TAX

(a) Delivery. Where it is not otherwise provided, the collector shall in person or by deputy, within ten days after receiving any list of taxes from the Commissioner, give notice to each person liable to pay any taxes stated therein, to be left at his dwelling or usual place of business, or to be sent by mail, stating the amount of such taxes and demanding payment thereof.

(b) Addition to tax for nonpayment. If such person does not pay the taxes, within ten days after the service or the sending by mail of such notice, it shall be the duty of the collector or his deputy to collect the said taxes with a penalty of 5 per centum additional upon the amount of taxes, and interest at the rate of 6 per centum per annum from the date of such notice to the date of payment * * *.

§ 137.94 Penalty for nonpayment. If payment of any tax, including penalty or interest, is not made within 10 days after the date of issuance of Form 17 (First notice and demand) based on assessment made by the Commissioner, there will accrue under section 3655 of the Code, a penalty of 5 per cent of the total assessment, and interest at the rate of 6 per cent per annum upon the entire assessment from the date of the notice until the date of payment. If a claim for abatement is filed with the collector within 10 days after the date of the issuance of the first notice and demand, the 5 per cent penalty does not attach. However, in the event the claim for abatement is rejected and the liability is not paid within 10 days after issuance by the collector of demand for payment, the 5 per cent penalty applies. The filing of an abatement claim does not stay the running of interest, which continues to run for the full period that intervenes between the date of the first notice and the date of payment.

SEC. 3312. PERIOD OF LIMITATION UPON ASSESSMENT AND COLLECTION.

Except in the case of income, war-profits, excess-profits, estate, and gift taxes—

(a) General rule. All internal revenue taxes shall (except as provided in subsections (b), (c), and (d)) be assessed within four years after such taxes became due, and no proceeding in court without assessment for the collection of such taxes shall be begun after the expiration of five years after such taxes became due.

(b) False return or no return. In case of a false or fraudulent return with intent to evade tax, or of a failure to file a return within the time required by law, the tax may be assessed, or a proceeding in court for the collection of such tax may be begun without assessment, at any time.

(c) Willful attempt to evade tax. In case of a willful attempt in any manner to defeat or evade tax, the tax may be assessed, or a proceeding in court for the collection of such tax may be begun without assessment, at any time.

(d) Collection after assessment. Where the assessment of any tax imposed by this title has been made within the statutory period of limitation properly applicable thereto, such tax may be collected by distraint or by a proceeding in court, but only if begun—

(1) Within six years after the assessment of the tax, or

(2) Prior to the expiration of any period for collection agreed upon in writing by the Commissioner and the taxpayer.

SEC. 3746. SUITS FOR RECOVERY OF ERRONEOUS REFUNDS.

(a) Refunds after limitation period. Any portion of an internal revenue tax (or any interest, penalty, additional amount, or addition to such tax) refund of which is erroneously made, within the meaning of section 3774, may be recovered by suit brought in the name of the United States, but only if such suit is begun within two years after the making of such refund.

(b) Refunds otherwise erroneous. Any portion of an internal revenue tax (or any interest, penalty, additional amount, or addition to such tax) which has been erroneously refunded (if such refund would not be considered as erroneous under section 3774) may be recovered by suit brought in the name of the United States, but only if such suit is begun before the expiration of two years after the making of such refund.

(c) Refunds based on fraud or misrepresentation. Despite the provisions of subsections (a) and (b) such suit may be brought at any time within five years from the making of the refund if it appears that any part of the refund was induced by fraud or the misrepresentation of a material fact.

(d) Interest. Erroneous refunds recoverable by suit under this section shall bear interest at the rate of 6 per centum per annum from the date of the payment of the refund.

§ 137.95 Limitation upon assessment. Any tax due shall be assessed within four years after it became due, except that in case of a false or fraudulent return, a failure to file a return within the time required by law, or a willful attempt to evade or defeat the tax, the tax may be assessed at any time.

SEC 3660. JEOPARDY ASSESSMENT.

(a) If the Commissioner believes that the collection of any tax (other than income tax, estate tax, and gift tax) under any provision of the internal-revenue laws will be jeopardized by delay, he shall, whether or not the time otherwise prescribed by law for making return and paying such tax has expired, immediately assess such tax (together with all interest and penalties the assessment of which is provided for by law). Such tax, penalties, and interest shall thereupon become immediately due and payable, and immediate notice and demand shall be made by the collector for the payment thereof. Upon failure or refusal to pay such tax, penalty, and interest, collection thereof by distraint shall be lawful without regard to the period prescribed in section 3690.

(b) The collection of the whole or any part of the amount of such assessment may be stayed by filing with the collector a bond in such amount, not exceeding double the amount as to which the stay is desired, and with such sureties, as the collector deems necessary, conditioned upon the payment of the amount collection of which is stayed, at the time at which, but for this section, such amount would be due.

§ 137.96 Jeopardy assessment. Whenever, in the opinion of the collector, it becomes necessary to protect the interests of the Government by making an immediate assessment and collection of the tax, the case should be promptly reported to the Commissioner by telegram or letter. The communication should state the full name and address of the person involved, the amount of taxes due, the period involved, and the reason for the recommendation, which will enable the Commissioner to assess the tax immediately, together with all penalties and interest due. Upon assessment such tax, penalty, and interest shall become immediately due and payable, and the collector shall forthwith issue a notice and demand for payment thereof.

The collection of the whole or any part of the amount of the jeopardy assessment may be stayed by filing with the collector a bond in such amount, not exceeding double the sum with respect to which the stay is desired, and with such sureties as the collector deems necessary, conditioned upon the payment of the amount, collection of which is stayed, at the time at which, but for this section, such amount would be due. In lieu of surety or sureties the taxpayer may deposit with the collector bonds or notes of the United States having a par value not less than the amount of the bond required to be furnished, together with an agreement authorizing the collector in case of default to collect or sell such bonds or notes so deposited.

Upon refusal to pay, or failure to pay or give bond, the collector will proceed immediately to collect the tax, penalty, and interest by distraint without regard to the period prescribed in section 3690 of the Code.

SUBPART J—ABATEMENTS AND REFUNDS

SEC. 3770. AUTHORITY TO MAKE ABATEMENTS, CREDITS, AND REFUNDS.

(a) To taxpayers.

(1) Assessments and collections generally. Except as otherwise provided by law in the case of income, war-profits, excess-profits, estate, and gift taxes, the Commissioner, subject to regulations prescribed by the Secretary, is authorized to remit, refund, and pay back all taxes erroneously or illegally assessed or collected, all penalties collected without authority, and all taxes that appear to be unjustly assessed or excessive in amount, or in any manner wrongfully collected.

(2) Assessments and collections after limitation period. Any tax (or any interest, penalty, additional amount, or addition to such tax) assessed or paid after the expiration of the period of limitation properly applicable thereto shall be considered an overpayment and shall be credited or refunded to the taxpayer if claim therefor is filed within the period of limitation for filing such claim.

(3) Date of allowance. Where the Commissioner has signed a schedule of overassessments in respect of any internal revenue tax imposed by this title * * * the date on which he first signed such schedule * * * shall be considered as the date of allowance of refund or credit in respect of such tax.

SEC 3313 PERIOD OF LIMITATION UPON REFUNDS AND CREDITS.

All claims for the refunding or crediting of any internal revenue tax alleged to have been erroneously or illegally assessed or collected, or of any penalty alleged to have been collected without authority, or of any sum alleged to have been excessive or in any manner wrongfully collected must * * * be presented to the Commissioner within four years next after the payment of such tax, penalty, or sum. The amount of the refund * * * shall not exceed the portion of the tax, penalty, or sum paid during the four years immediately preceding the filing of the claim, or if no claim was filed, then during the four years immediately preceding the allowance of the refund.

§ 137.100 Claims by taxpayers. A claim for either abatement or refund of any amount erroneously or illegally assessed or collected shall be made on Form 843, and should be filed with the collector for the district in which the tax was assessed or paid. The claim must set forth in detail and under oath each ground upon which the abatement or refund is claimed and facts sufficient to apprise the Commissioner of the exact basis thereof. A claim which does not comply with the provisions of this paragraph will not be considered for any purpose as a valid claim.

A claim for refund of a tax, including interest, penalties, and other additions thereto, must be filed within four years next after payment. No refund will be allowed after the expiration of the four-year period applicable to the filing of a claim except upon one or more of the grounds set forth in a claim filed prior to the expiration of such period. As to the time within which claims for abatement must be filed in order to avoid the penalty for nonpayment of tax, see § 137.94.

SEC. 3771. INTEREST ON OVERPAYMENTS.

(a) Rate. Interest shall be allowed and paid upon any overpayment in respect of any internal revenue tax at the rate of 6 per centum per annum.

(b) Period. Such interest shall be allowed and paid as follows:

* * * * *

(2) Refunds. In the case of a refund, from the date of the overpayment to a date preceding the date of the refund check by not more than thirty days, such date to be determined by the Commissioner, whether or not such refund check is accepted by the taxpayer after tender of such check to the taxpayer. The acceptance of such check shall be without prejudice to any right of the taxpayer to claim any additional overpayment and interest thereon.

* * * * *

(1) Claim. No suit or proceeding shall be maintained in any court for the recovery of any internal revenue tax alleged to have been erroneously or illegally assessed or collected, or of any penalty claimed to have been collected without authority, or of any sum alleged to have been excessive or in any manner wrongfully collected until a claim for refund or credit has been duly filed with the Commissioner, according to the provisions of law in that regard, and the regulations of the Secretary established in pursuance thereof.

(2) Time. No such suit or proceeding shall be begun before the expiration of six months from the date of filing such claim unless the Commissioner renders a decision thereon within that time, nor after the expiration of two years from the date of mailing by registered mail by the Commissioner to the taxpayer of a notice of the disallowance of the part of the claim to which such suit or proceeding relates.

(3) Reconsideration after mailing of notice. Any consideration, reconsideration, or action by the Commissioner with respect to such claim following the mailing of a notice by registered mail of disallowance shall not operate to extend the period within which suit may be begun. This paragraph shall not operate * * * to prevent the suspension of the statute of limitations for filing suit under section 3774 (b) (2).

(b) Protest or duress. Such suit or proceeding may be maintained, whether or not such tax, penalty, or sum has been paid under protest or duress.

SEC. 3774. REFUNDS AFTER PERIODS OF LIMITATION.

A refund of any portion of an internal revenue tax (or any interest, penalty, additional amount, or addition to such tax) shall be considered erroneous—

(a) Expiration of period for filing claim. If made after the expiration of the period of limitation for filing claim therefor, unless within such period claim was filed; or

(b) Disallowance of claim and expiration of period for filing suit. In the case of a claim filed within the proper time and disallowed by the Commissioner if the refund was made after the expiration of the period of limitation for filing suit, unless—

(1) Within such period suit was begun by the taxpayer, or

[Suspension Order S-270]

LOUIS CAPOZZI AND ROSE CAPOZZI

Louis Capozzi and Rose Capozzi, his wife, are the owners of a building at 697-701 Main Street, Bridgeport, Connecticut. They operate a bar and restaurant on the ground floor and rent rooms on the upper floors. On or about October 30, 1942, Louis Capozzi entered into a contract with Salce Construction Company by the terms of which the latter agreed to make certain alterations in the building both interior and exterior for the sum of $3,600.

On November 23, 1942, the Hartford Office of the War Production Board notified Louis Capozzi to discontinue construction at the said premises if the cost exceeded the amount permitted by L-41, but in spite of such notification and the fact that the cost exceeded the permissible amount under Order L-41, the respondent continued with the work. Such conduct on the part of Louis Capozzi was a violation of the provisions of Conservation Order L-41. Since this construction was begun in violation of said order, and was continued after specific notice to stop had been given, it should not be completed unless authorized by the War Production Board as hereinafter provided. In view of the foregoing, It is hereby ordered, That:

§ 1010.270. Suspension Order No. S-270—(a) Neither Louis Capozzi nor any other person shall order, purchase, accept delivery of, withdraw from inventory, or in any other manner secure or use material or construction plant in order to continue or complete construction of the remodeling of the building located at 697-701 Main Street, Bridgeport, Connecticut, except as specifically authorized in writing by the Regional Compliance Chief of the Boston, Massachusetts, Regional Office of the War Production Board.

(b) Nothing contained in this order shall be deemed to relieve Louis Capozzi from any restriction, prohibition, or provision contained in any order or regulation of the War Production Board, except as specifically authorized in writing by the War Production Board.

(c) This order shall take effect on April 7, 1943, and shall expire on October 7, 1943, at which time the restrictions contained in this order shall have no further effect.

Issued this 5th day of April 1943.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,

Recording Secretary.

PART 933—COPPER

[Conservation Order M-9-c as Amended April 6, 1943]

The fulfillment of the requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of copper for defense, for private account and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense:

§ 933.4 Conservation Order M-9-c—(a) Restrictions on manufacture of items appearing on Combined List and on List A-2. (1) No manufacturer of any item on the Combined List attached, or of parts (including repair parts[1]) for any such item, may, if such item or parts contain copper products or copper base alloy products, continue their manufacture on or after December 26, 1942 by means of processing, assembling or finishing.

(2) No manufacturer of any item on List A-2 attached, or of parts (including repair parts[1]) for any such item, may, if such item or parts contain copper products or copper base alloy products, continue their manufacture by means of processing, assembling or finishing on or after the governing date set forth opposite such item in Column 2 of List A-2.

(b) Restrictions on manufacture of articles not appearing on Combined List and List A-2 out of inventory on hand on February 28, 1942 and June 30, 1942. (1) During the period from December 25, 1942 to and including January 15, 1943, a manufacturer of any article omitted from the Combined List and List A-2 or excepted from those lists, or of parts (including repair parts[1]) for such an article, may not continue the manufacture thereof by means of processing, assembling or finishing,

(i) Unless all copper products or copper base alloy products contained in such articles or parts were acquired by the manufacturer after February 28, 1942; or

(ii) Unless such articles or parts are being manufactured, processed, assembled or finished to fill a purchase order, existing or prospective,[2] bearing a preference rating of A-1-k or higher; and no such article or part so manufactured shall be delivered except to fill such an order; or

(iii) Unless the manufacturer has been specifically authorized by the War Production Board, pursuant to an application made on Form PD-426, or otherwise, to manufacture, process, assemble or finish the article or parts in question with the copper products or copper base alloy products being used.

(2) After January 15, 1943, a manufacturer of any article omitted from the Combined List and List A-2 or excepted from those lists, or of parts (including repair parts[1]) for such an article, may not continue the manufacture thereof by means of processing, assembling or finishing.

(i) Unless all copper products or copper base alloy products contained in such articles or parts were acquired by the manufacturer after June 30, 1942; or

(ii) Unless such articles or parts are being manufactured, processed, assembled or finished to fill a purchase order, existing or prospective,[2] bearing a preference rating of AA-4 or higher; and no such article or part so manufactured shall be delivered except to fill such an order; or

(iii) Unless the manufacturer has been specifically authorized by the War Production Board, pursuant to an application on Form PD-426, or otherwise, to manufacture, process, assemble or finish the article or parts in question with the copper products or copper base alloy products being used.

The provisions of this paragraph (b) shall not apply to a manufacturer assembling a completed fractional horsepower electric motor into machinery of any kind omitted from the Combined List and List A-2 or excepted from those lists; or to the manufacturing, processing, assembling or finishing of any machinery omitted from the Combined List and List A-2 or excepted from those lists, or of parts (including repair parts) for such machinery, if the only copper products or copper base alloy products used which were in the inventory of the manufacturer on or before February 28, 1942 (with respect to manufacturing, processing, assembling or finishing during the period from December 25, 1942 to and including January 15, 1943) or on or before June 30, 1942 (with respect to manufacturing, processing, assembling or finishing after January 15, 1943) are bushings, bearings, nuts, bolts, screws, washers and wire weighing in the aggregate less than 5% of the total weight of the article or part.

(c) Applicability of order to certain Governmental agencies. The prohibitions and restrictions contained in this order shall not apply to the use of copper products or copper base alloy products in the manufacturing, processing, assembling or finishing of any item or article on the "Military Exemption List", or part therefor, which is being produced for purchase by, or for the account of, or for use by, the Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission, the War Shipping Administration or the Coast Guard, where the use of copper products or copper base alloy products to the extent employed is required by the specifications (including performance specifications) of the Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission, the War Shipping Administration or the Coast Guard applicable to the contract, subcontract or purchase order.

(d) General restrictions on manufacture. (1) No manufacturer may continue the manufacture of any article omitted from the Combined List and List A-2 or excepted from such lists, or of parts (including repair parts[1]) for such an article, if such article or parts are to contain copper products or copper base alloy products where the use of any less scarce material is practicable; and no manufacturer may continue the manufacture of any article omitted from the Combined List and List A-2 or excepted from such lists, or of parts (including repair parts) for such an article, if they are to contain more copper products or copper base alloy products than is necessary for the article's proper operation or a higher type or grade of copper or copper base alloy than is necessary for the article's proper operation.

(2) (i) The use of copper products or copper base alloy products for plating any item on the Combined List or List A-2 or for plating any parts (including repair parts) of such an item, is prohibited unless such plating is expressly stated to be permissible on said lists.

(ii) The use of copper products or copper base alloy products for plating any article omitted from the Combined List and List A-2 or excepted from such lists and the plating of parts (including repair parts) for such an article, is permitted provided:

(a) That such plating is not for decorative purposes or part of a decoration or as an undercoating for lead or silver plating, and

(b) That the use of, or the normal wear on such article or parts, would make impracticable any other form of coating.

(e) General restrictions on deliveries. The disposition of frozen and excessive inventories containing certain copper products or copper base alloy products shall be subject to the applicable provisions of Priorities Regulation No. 13 (§ 944.34) as amended from time to time.

(f) Special provisions. (1) The foregoing provisions of this amended order shall not apply to the use of copper products and copper base alloy products in typography, engraving, photo-engraving, gravure plate making, electrotyping, stereotyping and printing in the printing and publishing industries. In those processes, the use of bronze powder, bronze ink, bronze paste and bronze leaf is controlled by Supplementary Conservation Order M-9-c-3 effective March 28, 1942; and all other uses in those industries of copper products, copper base alloy products, copper scrap and copper base alloy scrap are, in the quarter from October 1, 1942 to December 31, 1942, limited to 70% of the aggregate usage of such products and scrap in the last calendar quarter of 1940, and in each subsequent calendar quarter limited to 60% of such aggregate usage in the corresponding quarter of the year 1940; Provided, That, for electrotyping and rotogravure, 33⅓% of the allowable usage shall be in the form of copper or copper base alloy printing scrap during the month of February 1943, 50% of the allowable usage shall be in such form during the month of March 1943, and 75% of the allowable usage shall be in such form in each month after March 1943; And further provided, That for copper plate engraving of calling cards, greeting cards, social and business stationery and other similar articles, 100% of the allowable usage for the engraving of such plates shall be (i) of copper products or copper base alloy products which were in the possession of the engraver using them on December 31, 1942 or (ii) of copper scrap or copper base alloy scrap (old engraved plates), and in either event the engraver shall sell and deliver as scrap to a scrap dealer before the end of each calendar quarter beginning with the first calendar quarter of 1943, three pounds of copper or copper base alloy scrap in the form of old engraved plates for each one pound of copper products or copper base alloy products which he engraved for use in printing calling cards, greeting cards, social and business stationery and other similar articles during said calendar quarter. Nothing contained in this paragraph (f) (1) of this amended order shall affect the prohibition against the manufacture of powder containing copper products or copper base alloy products contained in parargaph (a) and the Combined List of this amended order.

(2) No person shall deliver, install or cut any copper or copper base alloy insect screening (i) unless such screening is to be delivered to, installed for or cut on the order of the Army or Navy of the United States, the United States Maritime Commission, the War Shipping Administration, the Panama Canal, the Coast Guard, any foreign country pursuant to the Act of March 11, 1941 entitled "An Act to Promote the Defense of the United States" (Lend-Lease Act), or Defense Supplies Corporation, Metals Reserve Corporation or any other corporation organized under section 5 (d) of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act as amended (except Defense Plant Corporation) or any person acting as agent of any such corporation (except Defense Plant Corporation), or (ii) unless such delivery, installation or cutting shall be with the specific authorization of the War Production Board. Applications for specific authorizations shall be made by letter addressed to the War Production Board, Washington, D. C., Ref.: M-9-c. The foregoing shall not apply to used or second hand insect screening or to insect screening in rolls of less than 25 feet in length. Nothing contained in this paragraph (f) (2) affects the prohibitions on the manufacture, processing, assembling or finishing of insect screening and screens with copper products or copper base alloy products contained in paragraph (a) and the Combined List of this order.

(g) Restrictions on deliveries to manufacturers. No person shall hereafter deliver copper products or copper base alloy products to any manufacturer, directly or indirectly, if he knows or has reason to believe that such products are to be used in violation of the terms of this order.

(h) Miscellaneous provisions—(1) Applicability of priorities regulation. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the priorities regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(2) Appeal. Any appeal from the provisions of paragraphs (a), (d) or (f) (1) of this order shall be made by filing Form PD-167 Revised with the War Production Board, Washington, D. C., Ref.: M-9-c. Relief granted pursuant to an appeal under this order shall remain in effect despite any amendment to this order, unless the grant of relief is specifically revoked or modified by the War Production Board.

(3) Communications. Any reports required to be filed under this order and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Copper Division, Washington, D. C., Ref.: M-9-c.

(4) Applicability of order. The prohibitions and restrictions contained in this order shall apply irrespective of whether such items, articles or parts whose manufacture is governed hereby are being manufactured pursuant to a contract made prior or subsequent to the effective date of this order. Insofar as any other order of the War Production Board or of the Office of Production Management may have the effect of limiting or curtailing to a greater extent than herein provided the manufacture of items, articles or parts or the sale and delivery of such items, articles or parts, the limitation of such other order shall be observed.

(5) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and, upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(6) Installation. The restrictions of this order shall not apply to the installation of any item or article, or part (including a repair part) therefor, for the ultimate consumer on his premises when any manufacturing, processing, assembling or finishing of such an item, article or part is incidental to such installation and is done on such premises. The foregoing does not in any way affect, revoke or modify the provisions of Supplementary Conservation Order M-9-c-4 which prohibits the installation of certain types of copper and copper base alloy pipe, tube, fittings and building material under certain circumstances or of any other order restricting installation.

(7) Repair. The restrictions of this order (other than those contained in paragraph (d) (1) hereof) shall not apply to the manufacture, processing, assembling or finishing of repair parts to make a specific repair of a used article or to a person repairing a used article, on or off the premises of the owner, if the manufacturer of the parts or the person making the repair does not use copper products or copper base alloy products weighing in the aggregate more than two pounds and any manufacturing, processing, assembling or finishing done by him is for the purpose of making a specific repair; nor shall the restrictions of this order (other than those contained in paragraph (d) (1) hereof) apply to the manufacture, processing, assembling or finishing of repair parts to make a specific repair of a used article or to a person repairing a used article, on or off the premises of the owner, if the manufacturer of the parts or the person making the repair does not use copper products or copper base alloy products weighing in the aggregate more than one pound in excess of the copper or copper base alloy scrap derived from the article being repaired, and all such scrap is delivered to a scrap dealer or to any other person to whom such delivery may be made under the provisions of Supplementary Order M-9-b and provided any manufacturing, processing, assembling or finishing done by him is for the purpose of making a specific repair.

[1] See also paragraph (h) (7) permitting the manufacture of repair parts to make specific repairs of used articles under certain conditions.

[2] Priorities Regulation No. 1, § 944.14, prohibits you from making more than a practicable minimum working inventory of articles or parts to fill prospective orders carrying particular ratings.

(8) Copper products or copper base alloy products not controlled by order. On and after the original issuance dates of the orders listed in this subparagraph, the provisions of this order shall not apply to the manufacture of the following items or articles and parts (including repair parts) therefor, even though they contain copper products or copper base alloy products, since these items or articles are specifically governed by the following orders:

Shoe findings and footwear of all kinds governed by Supplementary Conservation Order M-9-c-1.

Self-contained drinking water coolers governed by Schedule I of Limitation Order L-126.

The provisions of this order do not apply to attaching finished slide fasteners, hooks and eyes, brassiere hooks, sew-on, machine attached or riveted snap fasteners, buckles, buttons, corset clasps, eyelets (other than eyelets usable as shoe eyelets), garter trimmings, hose supporters, insignia, jewelry, loops, mattress buttons, pin fasteners, pins, staples, slides, and trouser trimmings. The order does apply to manufacturing, processing, assembling and finishing of the closures and associated items listed above where the provisions of this order are more restrictive than other orders of the War Production Board.

The provisions of this order do not apply to the assembling of watch or clock movements finished prior to June 15, 1942, into cases not made of copper or copper base alloy; the provisions of this order do apply to manufacturing, processing and finishing watch and clock cases and all other parts of watches and clocks, and to assembling watches and clocks except under the conditions mentioned in this sentence.

In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using material under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(i) Appeals. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him, or that it would result in a serious problem of unemployment in the community, or that compliance with this order would disrupt or impair a program of conversion from nondefense work, may apply for relief by addressing a letter to the War Production Board, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reasons such person considers that he is entitled to relief. The War Production Board may thereupon take such action, if any, as is deemed appropriate.

(a) Wherever, in said Schedule A, two or more items are bracketed together and only one quota percentage assigned thereto, such percentage shall be applied to such producer's total base production of all such bracketed items, and the total permissible weight thus determined may be distributed among all or any one or more of such bracketed items at his election;

(b) As to silos (Item 296 of Schedule A), the permitted production of a producer shall not exceed the number of units produced by him during either 1940 or 1941, whichever was the greater; and

(c) Any producer, instead of conforming to his quota percentages for the items of attachments as indicated respectively in Schedule A, may at his option manufacture not more than an aggregate of 30% of his total base production of such attachments, and the total permissible weight thus determined may be distributed among all or any one or more of such items of attachments at his election: Provided, That once such option is made, it shall apply to all attachments to be produced.

(ii) Manufacture for sale in the continental United States, a total quantity of repair parts of a value (manufacturer's current selling price at the factory) in excess of an aggregate of 160% of one-half the total value (manufacturer's selling price at the factory during 1940 and 1941) of his entire net sales of repair parts during the calendar years 1940 and 1941 combined;

(iii) Manufacture, for sale in the continental United States, any farm machinery and equipment requiring rubber tires;

(iv) Sell in the continental United States any quantity of farm machinery and equipment or repair parts which is in excess of the quantity thereof authorized to be manufactured for such sale by the provisions of this order.

(2) The War Production Board may, by specific directions issued to any one or more producers, increase or decrease any such producer's quotas as to all or any one or more items authorized to be produced by him by this paragraph (c), and may transfer any portion of such quotas between any such producers (including the transfer thereof from producers located in critical areas as the same may be designated from time to time by the War Manpower Commission).

(3) As to any portion of any such producer's quota as so established which he may decide not to produce at any time after November 1, 1942, he shall immediately notify the War Production Board, so that appropriate action can be taken to transfer such portion of his quota:

(4) No producer, whose quota of any item of farm machinery and equipment has been increased by reason of the amendment to Schedule A dated March 6, 1943, shall manufacture such increase over his former Schedule A quota.

(i) Except to the extent that it exceeds the weight of all quantities of such item both specifically authorized pursuant to paragraph (c) (2) hereof as an increase in his quota, and authorized on any appeal granted him prior to March 6, 1943, and

(ii) Unless such producer certifies to the War Production Board within 15 days after such date that he intends to manufacture his total quota of all such items, including such increase, such certification to be in substantially the following form:

The undersigned company hereby certifies that, except as indicated below, it intends to produce prior to September 30, 1943, its total quotas of all items listed on Schedule A of Order L–170, including all amendments and appeals, in accordance with paragraph (c) (4) of that order. Quantities of items within such quotas not intended to be so produced will be reported promptly in accordance with paragraph (c) (3) thereof.

(d) General restrictions on production for export—(1) Except as provided in paragraph (g) hereof, and subject to the provisions of paragraphs (d) (2), (d) (3) and (e) hereof, during the period November 1, 1942, to September 30, 1943, inclusive, no producer shall manufacture for shipment, or ship:

(i) To all foreign countries within any group of countries listed respectively on Schedules B–1, B–3, B–4 and B–6, attached hereto and made a part hereof, as amended from time to time, a quantity by weight of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts in the aggregate in excess of a designated percentage (listed respectively on each such schedule) of one-half the net shipping weight of the total quantity thereof exported by said producer during the calendar years 1940 and 1941 in the aggregate to all such countries within the particular group;

(ii) To any foreign country listed respectively on Schedule B–2 and B–5, attached hereto and made a part hereof, as amended from time to time, a quantity by weight of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts in the aggregate in excess of that quantity obtained by multiplying the quota percentage designated on the applicable Schedule for such country by one-half the net shipping weight of the total quantity thereof exported by said producer during the calendar years 1940 and 1941 to that country;

(iii) To Canada a quantity by units of any item of farm machinery and equipment or attachments and repair parts (as listed in Schedule B–7, attached hereto and made a part hereof, as amended from time to time) in excess of that quantity obtained by multiplying the quota percentage designated in said Schedule B–7 for such item by the quantity thereof shipped by said producer to Canada during the calendar year 1940; or

(iv) To all foreign countries listed on Schedule B–2a a quantity by weight of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts in the aggregate in excess of 100% of one-half the net shipping weight of the total quantity thereof exported by said producer during the calendar years 1939 and 1940 in the aggregate to all such countries.

(v) To any foreign country (including Canada and territories and possessions of the United States) any farm machinery and equipment requiring rubber tires.

NOTE: Paragraph (v) redesignated April 6, 1943.

(2) Except as to items destined for Canada (Schedule B–7) and for territories and possessions of the United States (Schedule B–6), no producer shall fabricate or process any material to be physically incorporated into any item of farm machinery and equipment which may be authorized to be manufactured for export by paragraph (d) (1) above, unless and until he has received from the War Production Board specific authorization for such fabrication or processing as to any or all such items, application for which may be by letter setting forth the pertinent facts: Provided, That nothing in this paragraph (d) (2) shall be deemed to prevent any such producer from earmarking for export, within his export quota, any items of farm machinery and equipment or repair parts from his inventory, whether or not such items were manufactured specifically for export.

As to any portion of any such producer's export quota, as established by paragraph (d) (1) above, which he may decide not to produce at any time after November 1, 1942, he shall immediately notify the War Production Board, so that appropriate action can be taken to transfer such portion of his export quota.

(3) The War Production Board may, by specific directions issued to any one or more producers, increase or decrease any such producer's quotas as established by paragraph (d) (1) above, and may transfer any portion of such quotas between any such producers (including the transfer thereof from producers located in critical areas as the same may be designated from time to time by the War Manpower Commission.

(e) Further restrictions on production—(1) Restrictions on production for specific periods. The War Production

Board may from time to time issue supplementary orders (or specific directions to any one or more producers) governing the production of all or any one or more items of farm machinery and equipment or repair parts for specified monthly, bi-monthly or quarterly periods. On and after the effective date of any such supplementary order or specific direction, no producer affected thereby shall, notwithstanding the provisions of this Order L–170, manufacture any such item during the period specified except in accordance with the terms of such supplementary order or specific direction.

(2) Items containing iron and steel. No person shall put into process any iron or steel (excluding screws, nails, rivets, bolts, or wire, strapping or small hardware for joining or other similar essential purposes) to make any of the following items:

Provided, however, That nothing in this subparagraph (e) (2) shall be deemed to prevent the manufacture or processing of cattle stalls, stanchions or stock pens solely from rerolled rail steel plus strapping and essential hardware.

(f) Overproduction under Order L–26. Any items of farm machinery and equipment or attachments and repair parts which have been manufactured and/or sold by any producer prior to November 1, 1942, and which are in excess of such producer's authorized quota under Limitation Order L–26 (including all amendments thereto and appeals granted thereunder), shall be deducted from such quotas as may be authorized for such producer by the provisions of this order or subsequent orders: Provided, That no such deduction shall constitute a condonation of any violation of any order or regulation of the War Production Board.

(g) Exceptions—(1) To the extent that the weight of any item or items of a producer's quota as established by paragraph (c) (1) hereof has been or will be increased by his substituting for more critical materials entering into such item or items any one or more of the following materials:

Plywood (produced with binder or adhesive not restricted by Conservation Order M–25 or any other applicable M or L order).
Gum and other hardwood lumber
Softwood lumber (subject to the restrictions of Conservation Order M–208 or any other applicable M or L order); such increased weight shall not operate to reduce the number of units which he could have otherwise manufactured pursuant to paragraph (c) (1) above. In addition, if any such producer has made, or shows that he can make, in any item or items of his quota as established by paragraphs (c) and (d) hereof, a substitution of any of the materials listed above for more critical materials entering into such item or items, he may apply by letter to the War Production Board for reconsideration of his quota, based on such substitution.

(2) Any item of farm machinery and equipment or attachments and repair parts which was manufactured for sale within the continental United States by a producer within his authorized quota under Limitation Order L–26 (including all amendments thereto and appeals granted thereunder) and which is, prior to November 1, 1942, completely manufactured, or completely fabricated and ready for shipment in knock-down form, may be sold on and after such date without reference to the provisions of this order.

(3) Nothing in paragraph (d) of this order shall be deemed to prohibit or control the shipment of any item of farm machinery and equipment or attachments and repair parts which:

(i) Was manufactured for export by a producer within his authorized quota under paragraph (c) (1) (iii) of Limitation Order L–26 (including all amendments thereto and appeals granted thereunder), and

(ii) Is covered by either an export license issued by the Board of Economic Warfare or by a lend-lease order, dated prior to November 1, 1942, (except as to items destined for Canada and territories and possessions of the United States), and

(iii) Is, prior to such date, completely manufactured or completely fabricated and ready for shipment in knock-down form.

Any such items for export which, prior to November 1, 1942, are in production or on order but not completely manufactured or ready for shipment in knock-down form, shall be deducted from such export quotas as may be authorized for such producer by the provisions of this order or subsequent orders, and shall not be manufactured on and after such date except in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (d) above.

Provided, however, That such items are made entirely (except for nails and essential strappings and fastenings) from any one or more of the following materials:

Glass or other ceramic products.
Plain concrete.
Fibre board.
Wood fibre products.
Plywood (produced with binder or adhesive not restricted by conservation order M–25 or any other applicable M or L order).
Gum and other hardwood lumber.
Softwood lumber (subject to the restrictions of conservation order M–208 or any other applicable M or L order).

(5) Any producer of any of the following items listed in Group 17 of Schedule A:

Feed carriers.
Litter carriers.
Track for feed and litter carriers.
Hay carriers.
Track for hay carriers.
Cattle stalls and fittings.
Cattle stanchions and fittings.

may consider not more than 30% of his base production of each such item as "repair parts" rather than "farm machinery and equipment". The value of such 30% may be added to his total repair parts quota established pursuant to paragraph (c) (1) (ii) hereof, and should be so reported on such forms as are filed pursuant to paragraph (m) hereof. His production quota for the remaining 70% shall be determined by multiplying his applicable Schedule A quota percentage for the particular item by 70% of his base production thereof.

(h) Restrictions on sales for domestic use. Subject to such directions as may be issued from time to time as to rationing control, by, or pursuant to delegations from the War Production Board.

(1) No person shall sell any item of new farm machinery and equipment (except horseshoes, muleshoes, horseshoe nails and harness hardware) which he knows or has reason to know will not be used in the hands of the ultimate consumer for the production or care of crops, livestock, livestock products or other produce on a farm (or elsewhere in the case of poultry), except to fill a contract or purchase order bearing a preference rating of A–9 or higher;

(2) Any producer may sell to any other producer any material in his inventory which is in excess of his requirements for the items of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts permitted to be manufactured under the provisions of this order. Such sales shall be expressly permitted within the terms of paragraph (c) (3) of Priorities Regulation No. 13 as amended.

(j) Standardization, simplification, substitution, and conservation of critical materials. (1) In the manufacture of any item of farm machinery and equipment or repair parts, no producer shall use any alloy steel, stainless steel, aluminum, magnesium, copper, brass, bronze, zinc, nickel, tin, cadmium or fabricated rubber products for any purpose where the use of other less critical materials will not impair the efficiency of operation of such item.

No materials shall be used which are prohibited by M Orders or other restrictions on use of critical materials as now or hereafter ordered by the War Production Board.

(2) The War Production Board may from time to time issue supplementary orders or schedules establishing required specifications with respect to the production of any item or items of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts. "Required specifications" may include requirements to standardize or simplify the types, sizes or models of, or the specifications for, any such item or items; to eliminate, reduce or conserve the use of critical materials in the production thereof; and to substitute less critical for more critical materials in the production thereof. On and after the effective date of any such supplementary order or schedule, no farm machinery and equipment and repair parts affected thereby shall be produced, fabricated, assembled, or delivered, if such production, fabrication, assembly, or delivery is prohibited by the terms thereof.

(k) Records. All persons affected by this order shall keep and preserve for not less than two years accurate and complete records concerning inventories, production and sales.

(4) Each producer affected by paragraph (d) hereof shall file by the 10th day of each month a report on Form PD–387 (revised) of his shipments during the preceding month (starting with November, 1942) to all foreign countries (including all countries listed on Schedules B–1, B–2, B–2a, B–3, B–4, B–5, B–6, and B–7).

(n) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, materials under priority control and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(o) Appeals. Any person affected by this order who considers that compliance therewith would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him in comparison with others similarly situated, may appeal to the War Production Board, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reasons why such person considers that he is entitled to relief. The War Production Board may thereupon take such action as it deems appropriate.

(p) Communications. All communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: War Production Board, Farm Machinery and Equipment Division, Washington, D. C. Ref.: L–170.

Recording Secretary.

SCHEDULE A

SCHEDULE OF QUOTAS COVERING THE DOMESTIC PRODUCTION OF FARM MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT FOR THE PERIOD NOVEMBER 1, 1942, TO SEPTEMBER 30, 1943

Quotas for repair parts are determined according to the provisions of paragraph (c) (1) (ii). Quotas for new machinery and equipment including attachments are expressed as a percentage of the weight of each item produced during 1940 or 1941, whichever was higher. Producers of these items must use the percentages set forth in the respective columns, depending upon whether they are Class A, Class B, or Class C producers. Production of "bracketed items" may be distributed among all or any one or more items included in the particular bracket so long as the total weight of material used does not exceed that determined by the quota percentage assigned to the particular bracket.

Any item of farm machinery and equipment not provided for in this Schedule A shall not be manufactured, unless specifically exempted by Order L–170.

In order to clarify the classification of producers under paragraphs (b) (3), (4), (5) and (6) of § 1029.10 Limitation Order L-170, resulting from transfers of quotas pursuant to § 944.28 (Interpretation of Limitation and Conservation Orders with respect to the Assignability of Quotas), the following official interpretation is hereby issued with respect to said § 1029.10:

(1) Whenever a producer's total farm equipment business has been or may be sold as a going concern, continuing, in the hands of the purchaser, to make substantially the same product at the same plant and with substantially the same personnel (other than executive officers) the classification of the purchaser shall be based upon his total net sales (including those of affiliates) of all products during 1941, plus total sales of farm machinery and equipment and repair parts by the acquired company during 1941. However, if the purchaser uses the acquired company's 1940 base production under paragraph (b) (12) of Order L-170, then, for purposes of the purchaser's classification, sales of the acquired company during 1940, rather than 1941, must be used.

(2) Any other arrangement whereby a producer purports, or has purported, to assign to another person his quota (or a portion thereof) for the production of farm machinery and equipment or repair parts is invalid, unless specifically authorized for the period covered by Order L-170 by the War Production Board pursuant to an appeal, which should be made jointly. If such an appeal is granted, the classification of the assignee, unless otherwise directed, will be based upon his total net sales (including those of affiliates) of all products during 1941, plus the 1941 sales of that portion of the assignor's farm machinery and equipment or repair parts business acquired by the assignee. If the assignee is authorized to use the assignor's 1940 base production of such portion, then, for purposes of the assignee's classification, sales of the assignor during 1940, rather than 1941, must be used.

(3) Assignments of quota specifically authorized by appeal under Limitation Order L-26 for the period ending October 31, 1942, are not recognized for the period covered by Order L-170. Accordingly, a new appeal should be made in each case where the assignee wishes to continue producing pursuant to an assignment of quota authorized under Order L-26. Appeals by any such assignee and his classification are governed by § 944.34 and paragraph (2) above. (Issued December 12, 1942.)

Any used part held shall be subject to disposition at the direction of the manufacturer or distributor who transferred the new part for a period of 60 days after such transfer. If no such direction is given within 60 days, the person holding the used part shall promptly dispose of it through regular scrap channels.

(e) Applicability of other orders. In so far as any other order heretofore or hereafter issued by the Director of Priorities or the War Production Board limits the use of any materials in the production of electric fans to a greater extent than the restrictions imposed by this order, the provisions of such other order shall govern unless otherwise specified therein.

PART 3175—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

[Interpretation 4 of CMP Reg. 1]

A Class A product need not be treated as "the same Class A product" as used in paragraph (1) (2) of CMP Regulation No. 1 if it differs from another product by reason of one or more of its specifications such as width, thickness, temper, alloy, finish, method of manufacture, etc.

For example: If a manufacturer is producing a line of springs, he may treat each different type or size of spring as a separate Class A product, so that orders received for each type or size within the quantity limitations specified in this paragraph constitute small orders.

Subchapter C—Director Office of War Utilities

PART 4504—COMMUNICATIONS

[Utilities Order U-5, as Amended April 6, 1943]

NOTE: The purpose of this amended order is to substitute preference rating "AA-5" for "AA-4" in paragraph (b) (1) and to change the date in paragraph (c) from September 25, 1942 to September 8, 1942.

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of certain types of wire communication equipment for defense, for private account, and for export; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense.

§ 4504.1 Utilities Order U-5—(a) Definitions. For the purposes of this order:

(1) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(2) "Manufacturer" means any person manufacturing wire communication equipment, parts or attachments thereto, of the kinds listed in Schedule A, to the extent that he is engaged in such manufacture, and shall include sales and distribution outlets controlled by said manufacturer.

(3) "Distributor" means any person other than a manufacturer regularly engaged in the business of leasing or selling wire communication equipment, parts or attachments thereto, to dealers.

(4) "Dealer" means any person (other than one engaged in rendering wire or radio communication service), regularly engaged in the business of offering wire communication equipment, parts or attachments thereto for sale or lease at retail to the consumer.

(5) "Wire communication equipment" shall include, but not by way of limitation, new and used wire telephone and telegraph communication equipment, parts and attachments thereto (including wire intercommunicating systems) of the kinds listed in Schedule A.

(b) General restrictions. (1) Regardless of the terms of any contract of sale, purchase, rental or other commitment, no manufacturer, distributor or dealer shall accept any purchase, rental or other order for wire communication equipment, parts or attachments thereto including, but not limited to, those included in Schedule A which is attached and made a part of this order, except a purchase, rental or other order bearing a preference rating of AA-5 or higher; and no manufacturer, distributor or dealer shall sell, lend, lease, rent, deliver or otherwise transfer any such wire communication equipment, parts or attachments thereto, nor shall any person receive or accept deliveries of any such equipment, parts or attachments thereto, from a manufacturer, distributor or dealer except to fill a purchase, rental or other order bearing a preference rating of AA-5 or higher. Provided, however, That this paragraph shall not prohibit the transfer or delivery of wire communication equipment to a manufacturer for repair or storage or the return of said equipment to the owner thereof after repair has been effected or storage terminated.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (b) (1), wire communication equipment, the order for which bears a preference rating of A-7 or higher and has been accepted by a manufacturer, distributor or dealer prior to January 2, 1943 or which bears a preference rating of A-1-a or higher and has been accepted by a manufacturer, distributor or dealer prior to April 1, 1943, may be manufactured and/or transferred and/or delivered.

(3) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (b) (1), no telephone "operator" as defined in Utilities Order U-3 and no telegraph "operator" as defined in Utilities Order U-4, shall sell, lend, lease, rent, deliver or otherwise transfer any wire communication equipment to any other such "operator" except in accordance with the provisions as to sale of materials by an operator from stock contained in Utilities Order U-3 or Utilities Order U-4, as the case may be.

(c) Existing contracts. Fulfillment of contracts in violation of this order is prohibited regardless of whether such contracts are entered into before or after September 8, 1942. No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties for any default under any contract or order which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with the terms of this order.

(d) Applicability of regulations. This order and all transactions affected thereby are subject to all applicable provisions of the regulations of the War Production Board, as amended from time to time.

(e) Communications to War Production Board. All reports required to be filed hereunder, and all communications concerning this order, shall, unless otherwise directed, be addressed to: Office of War Utilities, War Production Board, Washington, D. C., Ref.: U-5.

(f) Appeals. Any appeal from the provisions of this order shall be made by filing a letter in triplicate, referring to the particular provision appealed from, stating fully the grounds of the appeal.

(g) Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this order, or who, in connection with this order, wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information to any department or agency of the United States, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction may be punished by fine or imprisonment. In addition, any such person may be prohibited from making or obtaining further deliveries of, or from processing or using, material under priority control, and may be deprived of priorities assistance.

(h) Reports. All persons affected by this order shall execute and file such reports as the War Production Board shall from time to time require.

Chapter XI—Office of Price Administration

PART 1407—RATIONING OF FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

[RO 16,[1] Amendment 6]

MEAT, FATS, FISH AND CHEESES

A rationale for this amendment has been issued herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Ration Order 16 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 6.10 (b) is amended by adding the following after the period at the end of the paragraph: No retailer may sell or transfer a food covered by this order at less than its regular point value, unless he has reduced the money price of that food in the following way:

(1) No reduction in point value may be made unless the money price of the food has been reduced at least twenty-five per cent below its ceiling price established by applicable orders of the Office of Price Administration;

(2) No reduction in the point value of the food of more than twenty-five per cent below its regular point value may be made unless the money price of the food is reduced below its ceiling price in the same proportion. However, the money price need not be reduced, in any case, more than fifty per cent below its ceiling price.

2. Section 6.10 (c) is amended by putting a semicolon after the word "spoilage" at the end of paragraph (3) in place of the period, and by adding a new paragraph (4), to read as follows:

(4) The ceiling price of the item, and the reduced money price at which he intends to sell it.

3. Section 6.10 (e) (1) is amended by adding the following sentence: He must also certify in writing, in this report, that he reduced the money price of the food sold or transferred at the lower point value, in the way required by this section.

4. Section 6.10 (g) is amended by inserting, between the third and fourth sentences of that paragraph, the following sentence: It must also contain a certification in writing that he reduced the money price of the food sold or transferred at the lower point value, in the way required by this section.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this amendment have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This amendment shall become effective 12:01 a. m., April 5 1943.

Article I—General Provisions

SECTION 1 What this regulation does. This regulation fixes dollar-and-cents ceiling prices on all retail sales of beef, veal, lamb, and mutton cuts made on and after April 15, 1943. The only retail beef, veal, lamb and mutton cuts which may be sold are those described in section 20 of this regulation. The United States is divided into 12 zones. Different ceiling prices are fixed for sales made in each zone for sales of different grades and for sales made by different classes of retail stores. Your ceiling prices depend on the zone where your store is, its class, and the grade of the meat you are selling. A store includes any place where beef, veal, lamb and mutton cuts are sold at retail.

SEC. 2 Your ceiling prices. (a) You will find your ceiling prices for each grade of beef, veal, lamb and mutton cuts on your "OPA List of Ceiling Prices for Beef, Veal, Lamb and Mutton—Fresh, Frozen, Cured" (Article III, section 22). A copy of the list for each kind of meat for your zone and class may be obtained from your local War Price and Rationing Board or from your local OPA Office.

(b) Your zone. You can find out from your local War Price and Rationing Board or your OPA office what zone your store is in. After each list of prices in section 22, Article III, there is a description of the zone in which that list of prices applies.

(c) Your class. Your store is in "Class 1 and 2" if it had a 1942 total sales volume of less than $250,000 and if it is not a "chain store". Otherwise, it is in "Class 3 and 4."

(d) Chain stores. Your store is a "chain store" if it is one of a group of four or more stores owned by one person which had a combined total sales volume for all stores of $500,000 or more during 1942. If you are in doubt whether your store is in "Class 1 and 2" consult the directions given in sections 13, 14 and 15.

SEC. 3 When the new ceiling prices take effect. On April 15, 1943, the dollar-and-cents ceiling prices fixed by this regulation take the place of all previous ceiling prices fixed by the Office of Price Administration upon retail sales of beef, veal, lamb and mutton cuts. On and after April 15, 1943, you must not sell any cut other than described in this regulation and you must not sell such cut at a price higher than the ceiling price fixed for the grade by this regulation.

SEC. 4 What beef, veal, lamb or mutton cuts you may sell. On and after April 15, 1943, the only beef, veal, lamb and mutton items you may sell are (a) those cuts, fresh, frozen or cured, which are described and given dollar-and-cents ceiling prices under this regulation and (b) the following products for which your ceiling prices are to remain as fixed under the General Maximum Price Regulation, namely, sausage, beef kidneys, canned meat, and variety meats (including brains, liver, tongues, and hearts).

SEC. 5 Sales to eating places. Your ceiling prices for sales to hotels, restaurants, institutions, and other eating places selling or furnishing meals are the ceiling prices fixed by Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 169 for beef and veal, and Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 239, for lamb and mutton. Nevertheless, you may, during any month, use the ceiling prices fixed by this regulation in selling to eating places if 80% or more of your total sales of meat during the previous calendar month were retail sales to consumers, that is, to persons who buy the meat to be eaten by themselves or their families off your premises.

SEC. 6 Beef, veal, lamb and mutton must be graded and marked. (a) All carcasses and wholesale cuts of beef, veal, lamb and mutton, must be graded and must have a mark showing the grade on them. The grades, and the mark for each grade, are these:

Beef, veal and lamb grades	Grade mark	Grade mark, when graded by an official grader of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture
Choice	AA	U. S. choice or choice.
Good	A	U. S. good or good.
Commercial	B	U. S. commercial or commercial.
Utility	C	U. S. utility or utility.
Cutter and Canner	D	U. S. cull or cull (lamb). U. S. cutter or cutter (beef). U. S. canner or canner (beef). U. S. cull or cull (veal).
Mutton grades: Good	S	U. S. choice or choice.
		U. S. good or good.
Commercial	M	U. S. commercial or commercial.
Utility	R	U. S. utility or utility. U. S. cull or cull.

You may not have in your store refrigerator or cooler any meat which does not have the grade name or mark stamped on each wholesale cut.

(b) If you slaughter the animal yourself, you must have it graded and marked before you break the carcass. You must follow the rules for grading which are in Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 169, § 1364.411, for beef and veal, and Revised Maximum Price Regulation No. 239, § 1364.167, for lamb and mutton. These rules may be obtained from your local Office of Price Administration Office.

(c) You must leave the grade mark on retail cuts, and you must not put different grades of meat together in your showcase.

SEC. 7 How you make retail cuts. Section 20 of this regulation describes the different cuts of beef, veal, lamb and mutton which you may sell, and how they are to be cut. If you buy a carcass, or side, or quarter or combination cut of meat, you must first cut it into the standard OPA wholesale cuts described in section 23 before you make the retail cuts. If you buy live animals and have them slaughtered for you, you must first break the carcass into the standard wholesale cuts, and the person who slaughters for you must comply with the rules set for custom slaughterers by the wholesale beef and veal regulation, § 1364.401 (c), and by the wholesale lamb and mutton regulation, § 1364.151 (b).

SEC. 8 Post your ceiling prices. Beginning April 15, 1943, you must post at your store your "OPA List of Retail Ceiling Prices for Beef, Veal, Lamb and Mutton Cuts." Tear out the page which shows your "class" and zone from this regulation and put it on or at the counter of the meat department in your store in one or more places where your customers can easily see and read it. You must get your official copies of this regulation or price lists, for posting, or reproducing, from your war price and rationing board or from your district OPA office. If you display any cut of beef, veal, lamb or mutton, as in your show case, you must put on it your selling price for that cut.

SEC. 9 Records, sales slips, and receipts. After April 14, 1943, you shall keep the same kind of records you have customarily kept, showing the prices you charge for beef, veal, lamb and mutton cuts. You shall show the records to any representative of the Office of Price Administration upon request. If you have customarily given a customer a sales slip, receipt or similar evidence of purchase, you shall continue to do so. Furthermore, regardless of your previous custom, you shall, upon request by any customer, give a receipt showing the date, your name and address, the name, weight and grade of each cut sold and the price you received for it.

SEC. 10 Licensing and registration. The licensing and registration provisions of sections 15 and 16 of the General Maximum Price Regulation shall apply to every person making sales subject to this regulation. Sections 15 and 16 provide, in brief, that a license is required of all persons selling at retail commodities for which maximum prices are established. A license is automatically granted. It is not necessary to apply for the license, but all sellers may later be required to register. The license may be suspended for violations in connection with the sale of any commodity for which maximum prices are established. No person whose license is suspended may sell any such commodity during the period of suspension.

SEC. 11 Indirect price increases. (a) The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded directly or indirectly by you; and you shall not require the purchaser to buy at any price other food products as a condition of selling beef, veal, lamb or mutton cuts.

(b) You must not charge or receive any consideration for or in connection with any service which has not been provided for in this regulation and for which a price has not been fixed.

SEC. 12 Prohibitions and penalties. On and after April 15, 1943, the date this regulation takes effect, if you sell or deliver any meat cut specified in this regulation at a price higher than your ceiling price for the grade, or if you otherwise violate any provision of this regulation, you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, license suspension proceedings, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. Also, any person, who in the course of trade or business, buys from you at a price higher than your ceiling price for the grade is subject to the criminal penalties and civil enforcement actions provided for by that Act.

Article II—Special Provisions

SEC. 13 How you figure the annual sales of your store (for most stores). (a) To find your annual sales, take your total sales for the calendar year 1942. Include all sales, whether of foods or not, as shown on your books, except sales made by a restaurant operated in conjunction with your store. You can use your Federal income tax return to get your sales for all or any part of the calendar year 1942 which is covered by such return. If you own more than one store, figure the sales for each store separately, treating each as a separate retailer.

(b) If you were not in operation during the entire year 1942, you must divide your total gross sales from the time you began operation up to April 1, 1943 by the number of weeks you were in operation. This will give you your weekly average gross sales. Multiply this figure by 52, and take the result as your "annual gross sales."

SEC. 14 How you figure the annual sales of your store (for certain special cases).—(a) Department stores. If you operate a department store, that is, a store in which the greater volume of sales is general merchandise and not foods, and you sell foods in a separate department or departments, then you must find your class by using only the gross annual sales of your food department or departments.

(b) Stores in which more than one retailer operates. (1) If you sell foods in a retail store in which more than one retailer sells a complete line of the same general class of food, you will be treated as operating a separate retail store of your own, and you find your class by using your own separate sales.

(2) If you sell food in a retail store in which there are other food retailers, but none of whom sells a complete line of the same general class of food, you must find your class by taking the combined annual gross sales of all the food retailers in that store.

SEC. 15 How to find your annual gross sales if you are a new retailer. If you open a retail store after March 1, 1943, which is not a chain store, you must consider yourself a "Class 1 and 2" retailer and figure your ceiling prices accordingly. However, after you have been in operation for 3 months you must determine again what class your store is in. To do this, take your gross sales for the 3-month period and multiply by 4. Use the result as your "annual sales" in determining the class in which your store belongs. If you then find that your store no longer belongs in "Class 1 and 2", it is in "Class 3 and 4", and you must take the ceiling prices for "Class 3 and 4" stores in your zone.

SEC. 16 Transfers of business or stock in trade. If you acquire in any manner the business, assets or stock in trade of any store subject to this regulation after April 14, 1943, and you carry on the business or continue to deal in beef, veal, lamb or mutton cuts in a store, separate from any other store previously owned or operated by you, then your ceiling prices should be the same as those of the former owner as if no transfer had taken place, unless as a result of the transfer the business changes from one class of stores to another, in which case your ceiling prices shall be those fixed for the class to which the store belongs after the transfer. You must keep all records sufficient to verify your ceiling prices. The former owner shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to you all records of transactions prior to your acquiring the store which are necessary to enable you to comply with the record provisions of this Regulation.

SEC. 17 Retail sales taxes. Any tax upon, or incident to, a sale at retail of beef, veal, lamb, or mutton cuts covered by this regulation which is imposed by any statute of any State or subdivision thereof may be collected by you in addition to the ceiling price, if the statute does not prohibit you from stating and collecting the tax separately from the purchase price.

SEC. 18 How certain stores in "Class 3 or 4" may, upon certain conditions, use "Class 1 and 2" ceiling prices. Any regional office of the Office of Price Administration, or such offices as may be authorized by order issued by the appropriate regional office, may act on all applications for adjustment under the provisions of this section of this regulation.

(a) If your store is in "Class 3 and 4", and does business in the manner outlined below, you may request permission under paragraph (b) to use the ceiling prices for "Class 1 and 2" stores:

(1) Most of your sales in your grocery department are made by sales clerks who assist customers in selecting, collecting, and wrapping merchandise; and

(2) Your store generally offers to all its customers the services of: (i) taking orders over the telephone, and (ii) carrying monthly charge accounts, and (iii) providing free delivery service; and

(3) The general level of your prices for meat and grocery products is as high or higher than that maintained for such products by "Class 1 and 2" stores in the same community and is generally higher than the level of prices charged for similar products by "Class 3 and 4" stores in your community; and

(4) The total gross margin on all sales in your store, if you are not a "chain" store, was more than 21% in your fiscal year 1941; or, if you are a "chain" store, the total gross margin on the combined sales of all the stores in your chain was more than 21% in your fiscal year 1941. If you were not in operation in 1941, your gross margin for the most recent fiscal year, or if you have not been doing business for a full fiscal year, for the most recent fiscal period, must be more than 21%.

(b) If your store does business in the manner set forth above and you want to sell at the ceiling prices for "Class 1 and 2" stores, you must by May 15, 1943, file with your State or district OPA office a request to use such ceiling prices. This request must be filed on a form which you may get from such OPA office. If you have filed this form, you may, on the effective date of this regulation, use the ceiling prices of "Class 1 and 2" stores. However, OPA reserves the right to withdraw this permission, and, if you receive a notice to such effect you must from that time forward use the ceiling prices for stores in "Class 3 and 4".

If you have already filed the form for reclassification from "Class 3 and 4" to "Class 1 and 2" under Maximum Price Regulation No. 336 (retail ceiling prices for pork cuts), you are not required to file another form under this regulation. If the Office of Price Administration has denied your request filed under Maximum Price Regulation No. 336 (retail ceiling prices for pork cuts), you are not eligible for adjustment under this regulation.

Tail or caudal vertebrae to be left on the hindsaddle or hindquarter are not to exceed 4 in number.

(2) Retail cuts from hindsaddle and hindquarter.—(i) "Legs of veal whole" means the portion of the hindsaddle or hindquarter remaining after the severance of the loin from the hindsaddle or hindquarter, which portion shall be obtained by cutting squarely in a line at a right angle to the chine bone, starting at the juncture between the 5th and 6th lumbar vertebra and through a point flush against the anterior end or pin bone end of the pelvis, leaving all the hip bone in the leg. The pair of legs may be split through the center to make a single leg.

(ii) "Legs of veal", "shank half and rump half" means the whole leg, as described, which has been cut in half. They must be sold without removing any round steaks (cutlets).

(iii) "Rump of veal" (bone in and boneless) means the rump cut from the leg by placing the knife one inch from the knob at the aitch bone, continuing the cut close to the edge of the aitch bone and perpendicular to the outside or skin surface. This rump may be sold for a roast with the bone in. The rump also may be boned out and tied and sold as a boneless rump.

(iv) "Leg veal, rump off" means the part of the "leg veal whole" which remains after the rump is removed.

(v) "Round roast and round steak" (cutlet). The roast or steaks are cut from the "legs veal, rump off". This remaining portion, known as heel of round, may be used either as a boneless roast, boneless stew veal or ground veal. The heel shall not include the front muscle of the shin bone and must be entirely boneless.

(vi) "Hind shank". The remaining shank may be sold bone in or boned out for boneless stew or ground veal.

(vii) "Sirloin roast or steaks" means the entire hip of veal cut from the whole leg of veal; this may be sold as a roast or cut into steaks.

(viii) "Short loin roast (without kidney)" means that portion of the hindquarter or hindsaddle remaining after severance of the legs which portion shall be obtained by cutting squarely in a line at a right angle to the chine bone, starting at the juncture between the 5th and 6th lumbar vertebrae, and through a point flush against the anterior end or pin bone end of the pelvis, leaving all the hip bone in the leg. The double loin is split through the center of the chine bone to make a single loin. After the kidney is removed this may be sold as a roast.

(ix) "Loin veal chops (without kidney)" means chops cut from the loin, after removing 3 inches of the flank, removing the kidney, the fat not to be in excess of ½ inch on either side. Kidneys are to be sold with the kidney fat removed.

(3) "Foresaddle and forequarter" means the anterior portion of the carcass and side, respectively, remaining after the severance of the one-rib hindsaddle and hindquarter, which anterior portion shall be obtained by cutting the veal carcass or side between the 12th and 13th ribs, keeping the knife firmly against the 12th rib and following the curvature of the rib to the point where the 12th rib turns, from which point the cut shall be continued by following a line through the cartilage and meat of the flank in the same straight line at right angles to the chine bone, completing the cut.

(4) Retail cuts from foresaddle and forequarter—(i) Rib roast and rib chops. The rib roast or chops should not be over 6 inches in length on the outside from the back bone to the rib end of the roast or chop; this cut may be sold as rib roast or cut into chops.

(iii) "Shoulder square cut" (bone in and boneless), means the forequarter minus the rib, shank, breast, and neck. This may be sold bone in, or boned, rolled and tied with all bones removed.

(iv) "Neck and breast" (bone in and boneless), means the entire neck or breast of veal sold whole or in part in one piece or cut into small pieces. This cut may be sold boneless for stew or ground veal.

(c) Retail-lamb and mutton cuts—(1) Legs, lamb and mutton: (Long cut) (halves) (short cut). "Legs" and "leg" mean a pair of legs and one leg, respectively. The legs are separated from the loin by cutting squarely in a line at a right angle to the chine bone, just exposing the end or point of the hip bone and leaving all the hip bone in the leg. The pair of legs may then be split through the center to make the single leg. These legs may be sold whole or halves, and short cut. Short cut legs mean the balance of the legs after the leg chops are removed. These chops may be cut from the hip bone to the aitch bone.

(2) Loins, lamb and mutton. (i) "Loin" and "half loin" means the double and single loin, respectively, and is the part of the hindsaddle which remains after the legs have been removed. The loin is separated from the hindsaddle by cutting squarely in a line at a right angle to the chine bone, just exposing the end or point of the hip bone, leaving none of the hip bone in the loin. The loin includes the 13th rib, also the flank, kidney and fat. The half loin is made by splitting the loin in half through the center at the chine bone.

(ii) "Loin chops" mean chops cut from the loin, after removing 3 inches of the flank, removing the kidney, and the back fat and suet not to be in excess of ½ inch on either side. Kidneys are to be sold with the kidney fat removed.

(3) Hotel rack, lamb and mutton. (i) "Hotel rack" may be either the double or single rib sections from the 5th to the 12th ribs, inclusive, minus the breast. It is made by cutting the foresaddle or forequarter, starting at a point on the 12th rib not more than 4 inches down from the point of the eye, cutting in a straight line to a point on the 5th rib which is not more than 4 inches from the hollow of the chine bone on the inside, in the lamb carcass, and not more than 4½ inches from the hollow of the chine bone on the inside in the mutton carcass. It is then separated from the yoke by cutting between the 4th and 5th ribs following the curvature of the ribs close to the 4th rib. It may be split through the center of the chine bone to make two single rib sections.

(ii) "Rib chops" are cut from the hotel rack by splitting between the ribs. All chops from the rack that contain any segments of shoulder-blade bone or cartilage are to be sold as shoulder lamb chops. Rib roasts may be sold by selling the rack whole or in part, double or single rib sections.

(4) Yoke; lamb and mutton. "Yoke" means the foresaddle minus the hotel rack. It consists of the neck, brisket, breast, shanks, and shoulders. The half yoke is made by splitting the yoke in half through the chine bone and neck bone.

(i) "Triangle bone-in" means the entire yoke sold as one piece of meat.

(ii) "Triangle boneless" means the entire yoke, boned, rolled and tied with all bones removed, rolled into a cylindrical shape and tied.

SEC. 23. Appendix A: OPA Standard beef wholesale cuts. You must cut the beef carcasses, quarters or other wholesale cuts into the following cuts before you make the standard retail cuts (see the skeletal chart for bone names):

(i) "Hindquarter" means the posterior portion of the side remaining after the severance of the 12-rib forequarter from the side, and comprising the round, full loin including the 13th rib, flank, kidney and hanging tender all in one piece, which posterior portion shall be obtained by cutting the beef side between the 12th and 13th ribs keeping the knife firmly against the 12th rib while cutting down the length of the rib to the point at the end of the rib where the rib joins the rib (costal) cartilage, from which point passing through the cartilage and meat of the flank and short plate in the same straight line, completing the cut.

(ii) "Forequarter" means the anterior portion of the side remaining after the severance of the 1-rib hindquarter from the side, and comprising the rib, regular chuck, brisket, short plate and foreshank all in one piece, which anterior portion contains the 1st to the 12th rib, inclusive. All heart (mediastinal) fat, but no other fat, shall be removed from the forequarter. The skirt (diaphragm) shall not be removed from any cut or part of the forequarter to which it is attached.

(iii) "Round" means the portion of the hindquarter remaining after the severance of the untrimmed full loin, and flank from the hindquarter, which portion shall be obtained as follows: the untrimmed full loin and flank shall be severed from the hindquarter by cutting in a straight line perpendicular to the contour of the outside or skin surface of the hindquarter. The cut shall be made on a straight line formed by and starting from that point on the backbone which is the juncture of the last (5th) sacral vertebra and the first (1st) tail (caudal) vertebra, and passing through that point which just misses the end of the protuberance of the femur bone, and exposes the ball of the femur bone, continuing in the same straight line beyond the second point to complete the cut. Two tail vertebrae shall be left on the round. Attached to the tail bone of the round shall be the tip or rear corner of the fifth sacral vertebra. All cod, udder and pelvic fat remaining on the round after its severance from the full loin and flank shall remain on the round.

(iv) "Trimmed full loin" means the portion of the hindquarter remaining after the severance of the round, flank, hanging tender (from the open side), kidney knob and excess loin (lumbar) and pelvic (sacral) fat from the inside of the loin, from the hindquarter, and comprising the short loin and sirloin (loin end) in one piece, the back bone of which portion shall include one and one-half (1½) thoracic vertebrae, six (6) lumbar vertebrae, and five (5) sacral vertebrae (the tip or rear corner of the fifth sacral vertebra shall have been sawed off in severing the round from the full loin and flank), and which portion shall be obtained as follows: Part of the kidney knob, all of the kidney and the fat lying closely around the kidney in open (left) and closed (right) sides shall be removed first by a cut starting at the rear end of the kidney and slanting directly to the front edge of the half of the 12th thoracic vertebra at the point of severance of the hindquarter and forequarter.

Second, the hanging tender, which means the cylindrical shaped piece of lean meat attached at one end under the kidney knob in open (left) side hindquarters shall be removed entirely from open side loins by being severed at a point opposite the juncture of the 1st and 2nd lumbar vertebrae.

Third, after the severance of the round from the hindquarter, the flank shall be severed from the full loin by a cut starting at the heavy end of the full loin at the ventral point of severance of the round from the hindquarter and continuing in a straight line to a fixed point on the inside of the 13th rib determined by measuring off ten inches in a straight line from the center of the protruding edge of the 13th thoracic vertebra, but in making the cut no more than one (1) inch of cod or udder fat shall be left on the flank side of the face of the loin.

Fourth, the excess loin (lumbar) and pelvic (sacral) fat shall be trimmed from the inside of the full loin by placing the full loin upon a flat surface, with no other support to change its position, meat side down, and removing all fat which extends above a flat plane parallel with the flat surface supporting the full loin and on a level with the full length of the protruding edge of the lumbar section of the chine bone. Then all fat shall be removed which extends above a flat plane using the following two lines as guides for each edge of the plane: an imaginary line parallel with the full length of the protruding edge of the lumbar section of the chine bone which line extends 1 inch directly above such protruding edge; a line on the inside of the loin two inches from the flank edge and running parallel with such edge for the full length of the loin. All fat obstructing the measurement of the second line shall first be removed. In addition to the foregoing all rough fat in the pelvic cavity of the heavy end of the loin (sirloin) shall be trimmed smooth and trimming by a knife shall be apparent. No fat remaining in the pelvic cavity shall exceed one inch in depth.

(v) "Flank" means the portion of the hindquarter remaining after the severance of the round and untrimmed full loin from the hindquarter, which shall be obtained after the removal of the round by separation from the untrimmed full loin, starting the cut at the point at the lower end of the loin end (sirloin) which was the ventral point of separation of the full loin and round, leaving no more than one inch of cod or udder fat attached to the flank side of the face of the full loin, and continuing in a straight line to a fixed point on the inside of the 13th rib determined by measuring off ten inches in a straight line along the 13th rib from the center of the protruding edge of the 13th thoracic vertebra.

(NOTE The 10-inch measurement shall be made from the center of the protruding edge of the 13th thoracic vertebra and not from the hollow of the chine bone where the 13th rib joins the 13th thoracic vertebra.)

(vi) "Flank steak" means the flat, oval-shaped lean muscle of meat imbedded in the cod or udder end of the flank which shall be obtained by loosening the narrow end of the steak piece at the cod or udder end of the flank, cutting through the membrane along both sides of the steak, then pulling and cutting the steak loose and severing it from the thick membrane which lies directly under and to which it is attached. None of the thick membrane shall be left on the steak. All fat shall be trimmed from the steak, but the thin membrane on the top surface of the steak shall not be removed.

(vii) "Short loin" means that portion of the trimmed full loin remaining after the severance of the sirloin (loin end) from the trimmed full loin, which portion shall be obtained by a cut perpendicular to the contour of the outside or skin surface of the trimmed full loin begun at a point which is the juncture on the chine bone of the 5th and 6th lumbar vertebrae and continuing in a straight line perpendicular to the contour of the outside or skin surface of the trimmed full loin to and through a point flush against the end of the hip (pin) bone, but leaving no part of the hip (pin) bone in the short loin. The backbone of the short loin shall include five (5) lumbar vertebrae, one and one-half ($1\frac{1}{2}$) thoracic vertebrae and part of the 13th rib.

(viii) "Sirloin" (loin end) means the thick portion of the trimmed full loin remaining after the severance of the short loin from the trimmed full loin. The backbone of the sirloin shall include one (1) lumbar vertebra, five (5) sacral vertebrae (the tip or rear corner of the fifth (5th) sacral vertebra shall have been sawed off in separating the round from the trimmed full loin and flank), and the entire hip bone (ilium).

(ix) "Regular chuck" means the portion of the cross cut chuck remaining after the severance of the foreshank and brisket from the cross cut chuck, and containing most of the blade bone (scapula), part of the (humerus) arm bone, parts of the five ribs (1st to 5th, inclusive), that section of the back bone attached to the ribs, and the neck bone (cervical vertebrae from 1 to 7, inclusive), which portion shall be obtained by a cut through the cross cut chuck made in a straight line perpendicular to the contour of the outside or skin surface of the cross cut chuck (thereby separating the brisket and foreshank from the cross cut chuck) starting at a fixed point on the inside of the 5th rib determined by measuring off ten (10) inches along the 5th rib in a straight line from the center of the protruding edge of the 5th thoracic vertebra, continuing in the same straight line to the tip of the forward end of the breast bone (forward end of the 1st segment of sternum), and passing through the (humerus) arm bone in the same straight line to complete the cut.

(NOTE: The 10-inch measurement shall be made from the center of the protruding edge of the 5th thoracic vertebra and not from the hollow of the chine bone where the 5th rib joins the 5th thoracic vertebra.)

(x) "Foreshank" means the portion of the cross cut chuck remaining after the severance of the regular chuck and brisket from the cross cut chuck, which portion shall be obtained (after separation of the regular chuck) by separation from the brisket by a cut following the natural seam and leaving the entire lip, or web muscle, on the brisket.

(xi) "Brisket" means the portion of the cross cut chuck remaining after the severance of the regular chuck and foreshank from the cross cut chuck, which portion contains parts of four ribs (2nd to 5th, inclusive), part of the breast bone and the rib (costal) cartilages which connect the ends of the rib bones with the breast bone. All heart (mediastinal) fat, but no other fat shall be removed from the brisket.

(xii) "Rib" means the portion of the forequarter remaining after the severance of the cross cut chuck and short plate from the forequarter, and containing parts of seven ribs (6th to 12th, inclusive), that section of the back bone attached to the ribs, posterior tip and cartilage of the blade bone (scapula), part of the blade bone (scapula) which portion shall be obtained (by separation from the short plate) by a straight cut across the ribs starting at a fixed point determined by measuring off 10 inches on the inside of the 12th rib along the 12th rib from the center of the inside protruding edge of the 12th thoracic vertebra and continuing to and through a fixed point determined by measuring off 10 inches on the inside of the 6th rib along the 6th rib from the center of the inside protruding edge of the 6th thoracic vertebra.

(NOTE: The 10-inch measurements shall be made from the centers of the protruding edges of the 6th and 12th thoracic vertebrae, and not from the hollow of the chine.)

(xiii) "Short plate" means the portion of the forequarter remaining after the severance of the cross cut chuck and the rib from the forequarter, and containing parts of seven ribs (6th to 12th, inclusive), the rib (costal) cartilages attached to them, and part of the breastbone.

PART 1390—MACHINERY AND TRANSPORTATION EQUIPMENT

MACHINES AND PARTS, AND MACHINERY SERVICES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 1390.11 is amended and a new § 1390.35, Appendix D, is added, as set forth below:

§ 1390.11 Maximum prices; sales of second-hand machines and parts—(a) Definitions. For the purpose of this section

(1) A "second-hand machine or part" is any machine or part which has previously been used.

(2) A "rebuilt and guaranteed" machine or part is a machine or part (i) in which all worn or missing components which should have been replaced or repaired for satisfactory operation, have been replaced or repaired, (ii) which carries a binding written guaranty of satisfactory operation for a period of not less than 60 days, and (iii) which is expressly invoiced as a rebuilt and guaranteed machine or part or its equivalent, and in addition, in those cases where the machine or part operates under power or pressure, has been tested under power or pressure so as to prove that it has a substantially equivalent performance to that of a new machine or part. In the event of a sale by a governmental agency, such agency may substitute for the guaranty a certificate by a qualified person who is not engaged in the business of selling second-hand machines and parts and who is approved by the purchaser, to the effect that all worn or missing components which should be replaced or repaired for satisfactory operation, if any, have been replaced or repaired.

(3) The "new base price", except as provided in paragraph (2) below, means the highest maximum price established by this or any other Regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration to any class of purchasers for the nearest equivalent new machine or part, f. o. b. manufacturer's plant.

(b) Maximum price; rebuilt and guaranteed second-hand machines and parts. The maximum price for any rebuilt or guaranteed second-hand machine or part shall be the higher of the following:

(1) 85% of the new base price for such machine or part, or

(2) The price determined in accordance with the "depreciation method" provided in paragraph (d), below.

(c) Maximum price; second-hand machines and parts which are not rebuilt and guaranteed. The maximum price for any second-hand machine or part which is not rebuilt or guaranteed shall be the higher of the following, but shall not exceed 80% of the new base price for such machine or part:

(1) 55% of the new base price for such machine or part, or

(2) The price determined in accordance with the "depreciation method" provided in paragraph (d), below.

(d) Maximum price; "depreciation method"—(1) When "depreciation method" may be used. A maximum price may be computed under the "depreciation method" only for those machines or parts listed in § 1390.35, Appendix D, "Table of depreciation rates".

(2) Computation of maximum price. Under the "depreciation method", the maximum price of any second-hand machine or part listed in § 1390.35, Appendix D, "Table of depreciation rates" shall be the new base price for such machine or part less depreciation on the straight line method, at the rate provided for such type of machine or part in that Table, from the date of acquisition by the original purchaser of the machine or part when new to the date of sale. In measuring such period of time, a fractional period of a month consisting of sixteen days or more shall be regarded as a full month and a fractional period of a month consisting of 15 days or less shall be disregarded. Upon each sale at a price computed under this paragraph, the seller shall deliver to the buyer a signed statement setting forth the name and address of the original purchaser of the machine or part when new and the date of acquisition of such machine or part by such purchaser.

(e) Maximum price; second-hand machines and parts originally purchased on a delivered price or installed price basis—(1) Purchased originally on a delivered price basis. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, if the seller of a second-hand machine or part originally purchased such machine or part new on a delivered price basis and the maximum price established by this regulation for such machine or part when new is a delivered price basis only, the new base price upon the sale of such machine or part by such seller shall be the highest maximum price to any class of purchases for the same machine or part when new, delivered to the zone in which the seller is located.

(2) Purchased originally on an installed basis. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, if the seller of a second-hand machine or part originally purchased such machine or part new on an installed price basis (that is, a lump sum covering the cost of the machine or part, the cost of transportation and the cost of installation) and the maximum price established by this regulation for such machine or part when new is an installed price basis only, the new base price upon the sale of such machine or part by such seller shall be the highest maximum price to any class of purchasers for the same machine or part when new, installed at the seller's plant.

(f) Charges and expenses which may or may not be added to the maximum price—(1) Items which may not be added. The following charges and expenses are included within the maximum price for any second-hand machine or part and such charges and expenses may not be paid or received in addition to the maximum price:

(i) Any commission or service charge paid to or for the account of, the seller or any agent of the seller;

(ii) Expense of packing and crating the second-hand machine or part (except where a second-hand machine or part is sold on an "as-is where-is" basis);

(iii) Expense of dismantling and loading the second-hand machine or part for shipment to the purchaser (except where a second-hand machine or part is sold on an "as-is where-is" basis).

(2) Items which may be added. The following charges and expenses are not included within the maximum price for any second-hand machine or part and such charges and expenses, not to exceed the maximum price for such charges and expenses established by any applicable regulation or order of the Office of Price Administration, may be paid or received in addition to the maximum price, if billed or invoiced separately.

(i) The actual amount of any tax upon the sale or delivery of the second-hand machine or part;

(ii) The actual cost of transportation of the machine or part from the point of shipment to the purchaser's plant. The point of shipment means the point at which the machine is loaded on a conveyance for transportation directly to the purchaser;

(iii) The actual cost of installing the second-hand machine or part in the purchaser's plant.

(3) Sales on an "as-is where-is" basis. If a second-hand machine or part is sold on an "as-is where-is" basis and the sales price plus the actual cost incurred by the purchaser for dismantling and loading exceeds the applicable maximum price for such second-hand machine or part, the seller shall refund to the purchaser the excess over the maximum price or 10% of the maximum price, whichever sum is lower.

(g) Sales by Defense Plant Corporation. Notwithstanding any other provision of this § 1390.11, the maximum price applicable to the sale by the Defense Plant Corporation of any second-hand machine or part which was acquired by the Defense Plant Corporation for purposes of rental shall be computed as provided in subparagraphs (1), (2) and (3) below.

(1) Where the purchaser is the first lessee of the machine or part under an agreement with the Defense Plant Corporation. The maximum price shall be computed by adding the sum of the following:

(i) The cost of the machine or part to the Defense Plant Corporation, f. o. b. the plant of the manufacturer of the machine or part;

(ii) The freight paid by the Defense Plant Corporation from the plant of the manufacturer of the machine or part to the plant of the purchaser:

(iii) The cost to the Defense Plant Corporation of unloading the machine or part at the plant of the purchaser;

(iv) The cost to the Defense Plant Corporation of the installation of the machine or part in the plant of the purchaser;

(v) Interest on items (1) to (iv), inclusive, at the rate actually charged the purchaser under the agreement of lease between the Defense Plant Corporation and the purchaser, or if no interest rate was specified in such agreement the average rate charged by the Defense Plant Corporation to other lessees of comparable machines and parts, such interest to be computed from the date that each of such items was paid by the Defense Plant Corporation to the date of sale.

(vi) Direct expenses actually incurred by Defense Plant Corporation and normally charged the purchaser under the agreement of lease between Defense Plant Corporation and the purchaser; or, if no provision for direct expenses is specified in such agreement, direct expenses actually incurred by Defense Plant Corporation and normally charged by Defense Plant Corporation to other lessees of comparable machines and parts.

From the sum of items (1) to (v), inclusive, deduct depreciation on the original total cost of acquisition by Defense Plant Corporation at the rate of eight percent (8%) per annum from the date of installation and initial use after acquisition by Defense Plant Corporation of such machine or part, except that in the event of sale within ninety (90) days after such initial use no depreciation shall be deducted.

(2) Where the purchaser is a person other than the first lessee of the machine or part. The maximum price delivered to the plant of the purchaser shall be computed by adding the sum of the following:

(i) The cost of the machine or part to the Defense Plant Corporation, f. o. b. the plant of the manufacturer of the machine or part;

(ii) An allowance equal to the freight charge for the transportation of such machine or part from the location of the machine or part at the time of purchase to the plant of the purchaser.

From the sum of items (i) and (ii), deduct depreciation on the original total cost of acquisition by Defense Plant Corporation at the rate of eight per cent

(8%) per annum from the date of installation and initial use after acquisition by Defense Plant Corporation of such machine or part, except that in the event of sale within ninety (90) days after such initial use no depreciation shall be deducted.

(3) To the maximum price of any second-hand machine or part, as computed in accordance with paragraphs 1 or 2 above, the Defense Plant Corporation may add the amount of any tax upon the sale or delivery of such machine or part and shall bill such tax separately from the price of such machine or part.

(h) Sales between corporations entitled to file affiliated returns under the Internal Revenue Code—(1) Prices. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Section, in the case of a second-hand machine or part which is (i) sold by one corporation to another corporation both of which are members of an affiliated group as defined in Section 141 of the Internal Revenue Code, and (ii) is acquired by the purchasing corporation for the processing or fabricating of other commodities and not for resale in the same or in a fabricated form, the maximum price shall be the selling corporation's book value of such machine or part less depreciation computed at the rate and in the manner used by the selling corporation in the preparation of its federal income tax return.

(2) Report. Within ten days after any sale of a second-hand machine or part at a price determined pursuant to subparagraph (1) above, the selling corporation shall file with the Machinery Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., a report containing a description of the machine or part, the name and address of the purchasing corporation, the date of acquisition of the machine or part by the selling corporation, the selling price, a computation of the maximum price, in accordance with subparagraph (1) and an original statement of the purchasing corporation that the machine or part has been acquired for the processing or fabricating of other commodities and not for resale in the same or in a fabricated form.

(i) Further regulations or orders. If the maximum price provisions of this Maximum Price Regulation No. 136, as amended, for second-hand machines or parts are not adaptable to the pricing of particular machines or parts, or if they permit the charging of prices in excess of prices which could be obtained if sufficient new machines or parts were available, the Price Administrator may by separate regulation or order establish other maximum prices for the sale or delivery of such second-hand machines or parts.

PART 1377—WOODEN CONTAINERS

[Rev. MPR 186,[1] Amendment 3]

WESTERN WOODEN AGRICULTURAL CONTAINERS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Revised Maximum Price Regulation 186 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1377.103 (d) is revoked.

2. Section 1377.110 (b) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) Shook and covers produced in the Northwest area—(i) Basic prices and delivered prices to purchaser. The northwest area consists of the states of Washington and Idaho, the counties of Gilliam, Umatilla, Baker and Union in the state of Oregon, and that part of the state of Montana west of the crest of the Rocky Mountains. In the case of shook and covers produced in the northwest area, the "basic prices" listed in Tables 2 and 3 are the maximum f. o. b. mill prices. The ceiling delivered prices are the "basic prices" plus freight from mill to purchaser. An estimated average weight of 1,800 pounds per 1,000 feet for shook and covers or 2,700 pounds per 1,000 feet in the case of standard car bracing, or 2,100 pounds per 1,000 feet in the case of carstrips (dry) or 2,700 pounds in the case of carstrips (green) is used. However, in the case of shook produced in that part of the state of Washington which lies west of the crest of the Cascade Mountains, the maximum delivered prices on sales within the particular area shall be the prices shown under Group 2 in Tables 2 and 3.

(ii) Truck deliveries of shook and covers to warehouses in the northwest area. If delivery is made within the northwest area by common carrier truck the actual trucking cost from mill to warehouse may be added to the "basic price." If delivery is made by private truck, the actual trucking cost may be added to the "basic price": Provided, however, That in no such case shall the trucking cost exceed 80% of the common carrier truck rate for the same delivery.

3. Section 1377.110 (b) (2), the last sentence of the second unlettered paragraph is amended to read as follows:

Where the freight rate from both base cities is over $0.97, the delivered ceiling price is the "basic price" plus freight figured on the lower of the rates from the base cities at 1,800 pounds per M feet for shook and covers, or 2,700 pounds per M feet of car bracing or 2,100 pounds per M feet of dry car strips or 2,700 pounds per M feet of green car strips.

4. Section 1377.110 (c), Table 2, is amended to read as follows:

[MPR 358]

INSULATION CAMBRIC AND SEPARATOR CLOTH

In order to prevent the prices of insulation cambric and separator cloth from increasing to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942 and thus tending to defeat such purposes, it is necessary, in the judgment of the Price Administrator, to establish maximum prices for insulation cambric and separator cloth. The Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the prices of those fabrics prevailing on October 1, 1941, and has made adjustments for such relevant factors as he has determined and deemed to be of general applicability. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with representative members of the industry which will be affected by this regulation.

In the judgment of the Price Administrator the maximum prices established by this regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and Executive Order No. 9250. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

AUTHORITY: § 1400.201 issued under Pub. Laws 421 and 729, 77th Cong.; E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7871.

Article III—Maximum Prices

Appendix A: Maximum prices for principal kinds of insulation for cambric and separator cloth—(a) How to determine maximum prices for finished insulation cambric. (1) The maximum price for finished insulation cambric shall be the established maximum price for the cotton grey goods from which the cambric is finished increased by the applicable margin per linear yard set forth in Table I.

(2) For the purposes of subparagraph (1) of this paragraph:

(i) The established maximum price for the cotton grey goods shall be the maximum price on the day the contract for sale of the finished insulation cambric is made;

(ii) The established maximum price for seamless bias-cut tubing cut to a width of 37 to 39 inches shall be the established maximum price of the uncut tubing divided by 1.4 if the tubing is cut at a 45° angle or by 2 if the tubing is cut at a 30° angle.

TABLE I—FINISHED INSULATION CAMBRIC

Type of cloth	Margins in cents per linear yard
	Regular finish	Soft finish	Bleached finish

Lawns, carded and combed	3.25	2.50	3.45
Seamless tubing cut at either a 30° or 45° angle to a width of 37" to 39"	5.50	.....	.....

(3) When used in the above table the term:

(i) "Regular finish" refers to finished insulation cambric which has been singed, starched and friction calendered but not bleached; (ii) "Soft finish" refers to finished insulation cambric which has been singed, starched, and plain calendered but not bleached; (iii) "Bleached finish" refers to finished insulation cambric which has been bleached, singed, starched and friction calendered;

(4) The maximum prices are net selling prices f. o. b. finishing plant and nothing may be added by the seller for any inward freight, put-up, or other costs or expenses.

(b) How to determine maximum prices for varnished insulation cambric. (1) The maximum price for varnished insulation cambric shall be the seller's list price as of October 1941, increased by the applicable margin set forth in Table II and determined as follows:

(i) Linear yard basis. Where the list price is on a linear yard basis, the margin shall be the amount set forth in Column 1 multiplied by the width in inches;

(ii) Square yard basis. Where the list price is on a square yard basis, the margin shall be the amount set forth in Column 2;

(iii) Linear foot basis. Where the list price is on a linear foot basis, the margin shall be the amount set forth in Column 3 multiplied by the width in inches;

(iv) Pound basis. Where the list price is on a pound basis, the margin shall be the amount set forth in Column 2, divided by the number of pounds per square yard.

Article IV—In-line Prices

Appendix B: Maximum prices for insulation cambric and separator cloth not specifically priced in Appendix A. The pricing methods provided for in this Appendix are methods for pricing finished or varnished fabrics which are not specifically priced in Appendix A.

(a) Pricing finished insulation cambric if a different finish is used. The maximum price for finished insulation cambric, if the type of cloth is the same but the finish is different from any of those enumerated in Table I of Appendix A, shall be the established maximum price for the cotton grey goods from which the cambric is finished increased by a margin per linear yard computed as follows:

(1) The seller shall determine the cost of the finish enumerated in Table I which is most comparable to the finish which is being used;

(2) He shall deduct that cost from the appropriate margin for the comparable finish enumerated in that table;

(3) The difference obtained shall be added to the cost of the finishing process which is being used.

(b) Pricing finished insulation cambric if a different type of cloth is used. The maximum price for finished insulation cambric, if the finish is the same as one of those enumerated in Table I of Appendix A but the type of cloth is different, shall be the established maximum price for the cotton grey goods from which the cambric is finished increased by the margin per linear yard for the most comparable type of cloth set forth in that table.

(c) Pricing finished insulation cambric if both the finish and type of cloth are different. The maximum price for finished insulation cambric, if both the finish and the type of cloth are different from any of those enumerated in Table I of Appendix A, shall be the established maximum price for the cotton grey goods from which the cambric is finished increased by a margin per linear yard determined, as to the finish, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) of this Appendix for the most comparable type of cloth set forth in that Table.

(d) Pricing finished insulation cambric made with tubing which is cut at a different angle or to a different width. The maximum price for finished insulation cambric in cents per linear yard, if the type of cloth is tubing cut at an angle other than 30° or 45° or cut to a width less than 37 inches or more than 39 inches, shall be computed on the basis of the weights of uncut tubing and prices per pound listed as follows:

Weight of uncut tubing:	Cents per pound
Under 1.00 yard	10
1.00 to 1.99 yards	20
2.00 to 2.99 yards	30
3.00 to 4.99 yards	40
Over 4.99 yards	50

(e) Pricing varnished insulation cambric where a different type of cloth is used. The maximum price for varnished insulation cambric, if the type of cloth is different from any of those types enumerated in Table II of Appendix A, shall be the seller's list price for that cambric as of October 1941 increased by the applicable margin for the most comparable type of cloth set forth in Table II and determined in accordance with the provisions of section 8 (b) (1).

(f) Pricing varnished insulation cambric for which there was no list price. The maximum price for varnished insulation cambric for which the seller had no list price in October 1941, shall be determined by the seller as follows:

(1) Determine the unit direct cost. The "unit direct cost" is the sum of the costs per unit of the fabric, of other materials used in the varnished fabric, and of labor.

(2) Select from the fabrics in his price list of October 1941, two comparable fabrics: the one which has a unit direct cost immediately higher and the one which has a unit direct cost immediately lower than the unit direct cost of the fabric being priced. If a comparable fabric has the same unit direct cost as the fabric being priced, it shall be selected in addition to the comparable fabrics immediately higher and lower. If all comparable fabrics are either higher or lower, the one closest in unit direct cost shall be selected.

(3) Determine both the average percentage and the average dollar markup over unit direct cost for the comparable fabrics selected.

(4) Apply to the unit direct cost of the fabric either the average percentage or the average dollar markup, whichever will yield the lowest price. The resulting price shall be the maximum price.

EXAMPLE OF THE ABOVE COMPUTATION

[Assume that the unit direct cost of fabric being priced is $.80]

Unit direct costs of comparable fabrics selected	Maximum selling price for each such fabric	Dollar markup for each such fabric	Average percentage mark-up for such fabrics
$1.60	$1.40	.40	$2.30 (sum of maximum prices) −1.70 (sum of unit direct costs)
.70	.90	.20
$1.70	$2.30	.60÷2=.30	.60÷$1.70=35.3%

Unit direct cost × average percentage mark-up = $.80 × 35.3% = $.282 (amount of average percentage mark-up)

Unit direct cost + amount of average percentage mark-up = $.80 + $.282 = $1.082

Unit direct cost + average dollar mark-up + $.80 + $.30 = $1.10.

Maximum selling price of fabric being priced (the lower of the above two sums) is $1.082

(5) The average percentage markup over unit direct cost shall be calculated by computing the percentage markup between the sum of the unit direct costs and the sum of the maximum prices of the comparable fabrics selected.

(6) The average dollar markup over unit direct cost shall be calculated by averaging the individual dollar markups between the unit direct costs and the maximum prices of the comparable fabrics selected.

(g) Pricing varnished separator cloth if a different weight or width of cloth is used. The maximum price for varnished separator cloth, if the weight or width of the cotton grey goods is different from any of those enumerated in Table IV of Appendix A, shall be the established maximum price for the grey goods from which the cloth is varnished increased by an amount per linear yard computed as follows:

(1) The seller shall determine the cost of labor and materials used in the finish [2] in Table IV which is most comparable to the cloth which is being used;

(2) He shall deduct that cost from the appropriate margin for the comparable cloth enumerated in that table;

(3) The difference obtained shall be added to the cost of labor and materials used in the finish [2] and varnish of the cloth which is being used.

(h) Credit terms for finished insulation cambric. The maximum prices for finished insulation cambric priced under paragraphs (a) to (d), inclusive, of this Appendix are net selling prices f. o. b. finishing plant an nothing may be added by the seller for any inward freight, put-up or other costs or expenses.

(i) Credit terms for varnished fabrics—(1) Varnished insulation cambric. The maximum prices for varnished fabrics priced under paragraphs (e) and (f) of this Appendix are gross selling prices before discounts of any nature are deducted and shall include all commissions. Every seller shall maintain the discounts or allowances which he offered in October 1941.

[2] If the finishing is done by a person other than the varnisher, the cost of labor and materials shall be the amount charged to the varnisher by the person who does the finishing.

(2) Varnished separator cloth. The maximum prices for varnished fabrics priced under paragraph (g) of this Appendix are gross selling prices before discounts of any nature are deducted and shall include all commissions. Every seller shall maintain the discounts or allowances, except quantity discounts, which he offered in March 1942.

(j) Uniform costs must be used. In any pricing method in this Appendix where the seller must determine his price on the basis of the cost of a comparable fabric or finish, he must compute that cost so as to be consistent with the computation of the cost of the item being priced. For example, if he computes labor costs as of one date for the fabric being priced, he must compute those costs as of the same date for the comparable fabric, or if he uses cost prices of materials in one instance, he must use cost prices (not market prices or replacement costs) in the other.

The "applicable base-point" for sales of binder twine manufactured outside of the continental United States shall be the port of entry for such twine.

The "quantity purchased" means the quantity of binder twine purchased from the seller by the purchaser during the binder twine year ending October 31 of each year. Shipments of binder twine made during the course of the binder twine year may be invoiced and paid for at the applicable maximum price for the quantity shipped: Provided, That, if any later purchase of binder twine causes the establishment of a lower maximum price per bale, a rebate or allowance shall be made to the purchaser so that the amount charged per bale for all purchases up to that time does not exceed the lower maximum price established by the later purchase. Any such rebate or allowance shall be shown on an invoice or credit memorandum delivered to the purchaser within 30 days of the date of shipment of the purchase establishing the lower maximum price.

"Jobber" means any person who during the preceding binder twine year ended October 31 was treated by the seller as a jobber of binder twine, as evidenced by price quotations and business correspondence, and any other person conducting a binder twine business of substantially similar character. In general, the term means a person who resells a substantial quantity of the binder twine purchased by him to other jobbers or to retail stores.

A "bale" of binder twine means a parcel containing approximately 48 pounds of binder twine and weighing approximately 50 pounds gross, including wrappings and lashing.

(b) Terms and discounts applicable to sales by binder twine manufacturers. The maximum prices established by paragraph (a) of this section for sales by manufacturers of binder twine are subject to the following terms and discounts:

(1) Except for purchases by persons located in the territory listed in paragraph (2), below, shipments made prior to June 20 are net cash October 1, less a discount of 5% for payment on or before July 1, and shipments made on or after June 20 are net cash 60 days from date of invoice, less a discount of 5% for payment within 10 days of the date of invoice: Provided, That in the case of any shipment made prior to June 20 for which the seller requires payment before July 1, the maximum prices enumerated shall be reduced by the amount of the 5% cash discount and, in addition, shall be reduced at a rate no lower than 6% per annum for the period between the date of such shipment and July 1.

(2) In the case of purchases by persons located in the states of Maryland, Delaware, Virginia, West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico, or Arizona, or in the District of Columbia, shipments made prior to May 20 are net cash September 1, less a discount of 5% for payment on or before June 1, and shipments made on or after May 20 are net cash 60 days from date of invoice, less a discount of 5% for payment within 10 days of the date of invoice: Provided, That in the case of any shipment made prior to May 20 for which the seller requires payment before June 1, the maximum prices enumerated shall be reduced by the amount of the 5% cash discount and, in addition, shall be reduced at a rate no lower than 6% per annum for the period between the date of such shipment and June 1.

(c) Terms and discounts applicable to sales by jobbers. The maximum prices established by paragraph (a) of this Section for jobbers' sales of binder twine shall be subject to the same terms and discounts granted by the seller to a binder twine purchaser of the same class during the preceding binder twine year ended October 31: Provided, That in no event shall the terms and discounts be less favorable to the purchaser than 5% discount for cash within ten days of date of invoice, net 30 days.

(d) Sales to jobbers and retail stores on a delivered basis. A delivered price in excess of the maximum price f. o. b. applicable base-point may be charged for delivery to a point other than such base-point consisting of the maximum price f. o. b. applicable base-point plus (1) the rail freight on an identical shipment from the applicable base-point to the point of delivery; or (2) if rail transportation is not available to the point of delivery, a combination of the rail freight from the applicable base-point to the rail point nearest to the point of delivery and the freight on an identical shipment by other available commercial carrier having the lowest rate for shipment from such rail point to the point of delivery.

SEC. 4 Maximum prices for retail sales of binder twine. The term "retail sale" means a sale to the ultimate consumer.

(a) Retail sales of bale lots. The maximum price per bale, for retail sales of binder twine, f. o. b. retailer's store, is the sum of the following (adjusted to the nearest full cent):

(1) The maximum price per bale enumerated in section 3(a) of this regulation (without regard to the discounts provided for in section 3(b) or 3(c)) for sales of binder twine of the same type to retail stores in a quantity of less than 200 bales;

(2) Freight from the "applicable base-point" to the seller's store at the lowest available commercial carrier rate for an l. c. l. shipment of binder twine; and

(3) A markup of: (i) 75 cents per bale, if during the preceding binder twine year ended October 31 the seller's total volume of retail sales of binder twine was 400 bales or more; or

(ii) $1 per bale, if during the preceding binder twine year ended October 31 the seller's total volume of retail sales of binder twine was less than 400 bales.

For the purpose of determining whether a seller made retail sales of a quantity of 400 or more bales of binder twine during the preceding binder twine year, the combined sales of a seller who made retail sales through more than one retail outlet shall be taken into consideration.

(c) Terms. The maximum prices established by this regulation for retail sales of binder twine are net prices and no discounts or allowances therefrom need be granted.

SEC. 5 Relation to other regulations—(a) General Maximum Price Regulation, Maximum Price Regulation No. 133 and Maximum Price Regulation No. 188. The provisions of the General Maximum Price Regulation,[2] except as provided in section 7 (b), below, Maximum Price Regulation No. 133[3] and Maximum Price Regulation No. 188[4] shall not apply and this regulation shall apply to sales and deliveries of binder twine.

(b) Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation. The maximum price for export sales of binder twine is governed by the Revised Maximum Export Price Regulation[5] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 6 Enforcement. (a) Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, suits for treble damages, and proceedings for revocation of license provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

(b) War procurement agencies and their contracting or paying finance officers are not subject to any liability, civil or criminal, imposed by this regulation. Supplementary Order No. 36 provides, in brief, that a license is necessary in order to make sales, other than at retail, of any yarns, textiles, textile products or services for which maximum prices are established by this and certain other regulations. A license is automatically granted to all sellers making such sales. It is not necessary to apply for the license, but sellers may later be required to register. Licenses may be suspended for violations in connection with the sale of any commodity which the seller is licensed to sell by Supplementary Order No. 36. No person whose license is suspended may sell any of such commodities during the period of suspension.

(b) The registration and licensing provisions of sections 15 and 16 of the General Maximum Price Regulation are applicable to all sales of binder twine at retail. Section 16 automatically licenses persons selling at retail any commodity for which maximum prices are established by the Office of Price Administration. Section 15 provides that sellers may hereafter be required to register.

SEC. 8. Records and reports—(a) Records. Every seller must keep a record of every sale for which a maximum price is established by this regulation, including a description of the commodity sold, the name and address of the buyer, the date of the sale and the price. Every buyer making purchases for resale shall keep similar records of such purchases, including the name and address of the seller. All such records must be kept for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for so long as the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, is in effect.

(b) Reports. Any person affected by this regulation shall submit such reports as the Office of Price Administration may, from time to time, require.

SEC. 9. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1,[6] issued by the Office of Price Administration.

SEC. 10 Prohibited practices. Any practice which is used as a device to effect a higher-than-ceiling price without actually raising the dollars-and-cents price is as much a violation of this regulation as an outright over-ceiling price. This applies to devices making use of commissions, services, transportation arrangements, premiums, special privileges, tying agreements, trade understandings and the like.

SEC. 11 Adjustable pricing. Any person may offer or agree to adjust or fix prices to or at prices not in excess of the maximum prices in effect at the time of delivery. In an appropriate situation, where a petition for amendment requires extended consideration, the Price Administrator may, upon application, grant permission to agree to adjust prices upon deliveries made during the pendency of the petition in accordance with the disposition of the petition.

Effective Date

This regulation shall become effective April 5, 1943: Provided, That any shipment of binder twine made between January 1, 1943 and April 4, 1943, inclusive, to a jobber or to a retail store under an open price arrangement with the understanding between the buyer and the seller that the price to be charged therefor would be a price not in excess of the maximum price ultimately established by the Office of Price Administration for sales of binder twine for the 1942–1943 binder twine year, may be invoiced and paid for at a price not in excess of the maximum prices established by this regulation.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

All lands for which free water was served during the year 1942 will not again be served free water until evidence satisfactory to the project superintendent has been made that the water so granted free of charge during the year 1942 was applied to the land in sufficient quantities over a period of not less than 3 months, in which event water shall again be served free of charge provided the results accomplished during the preceding irrigation season were not satisfactory. All operation and maintenance charges shall be due and payable on March 1 of each year for the preceding irrigation season to the Agent-Cashier, Bureau of Reclamation, Yuma, Arizona.

All charges due under water rental contracts are payable in advance of the delivery of water. The minimum charge as specified shall be paid before any water is delivered during the current or subsequent seasons and all additional or excess water over the minimum of 4 acre-feet shall be paid for when ordered and prior to delivery. Refund will be made for excess water paid for but not used.

3. Annual water rental charge for lands in the Valley Division not under public notice: Lands in the Valley Division not under public notice which can be irrigated from the present distribution system without further construction expense by the United States may secure irrigation water during the calendar year 1943 and until further notice under water rental contracts at a rate of four dollars ($4.00) per irrigable acre, which charge will permit the delivery of four acre-feet per acre. Additional water furnished will be charged for at the rate of one dollar ($1.00) per acre-foot, payable in advance of delivery. Bureau of Mines.

KELLY FEED & SEED CO., LICENSEE

ORDER REVOKING LICENSE AND DIRECTING ITS SURRENDER

To: Kelly Feed & Seed Co., Albany, Oregon. Based upon the records in this matter, I. R. R. Sayers, Director of the Bureau of Mines, make the following findings of fact:

1. On January 25, 1943, a Specification of Charges against you setting forth violations of the Federal Explosives Act (55 Stat. 863) and the regulations pursuant thereto of which you were accused was mailed to you giving you notice to mail an answer within 15 days demanding a hearing if you wished to be heard on the charges against you.

2. The only answer from you was dated February 6 and received February 11, 1943. You have not denied that on May 18, 1942, you were storing a large quantity of explosives in a manner not adequately protecting them against the risk of theft, or that you thereby violated section 17 (a) of the regulations. You have not denied that on November 5, 1942, December 5, 1942, and December 18, 1942, after having been instructed by an Explosives Investigator of the Bureau of Mines and by the Explosives Control Division of the Bureau of Mines that your explosives should be stored in a properly constructed and securely locked magazine you nevertheless continued to store large quantities of explosives in a manner not adequately protecting them against the risk of theft, or that you thereby violated sections 17 (a), 14 (c)

January 16, 1943, and ending with the final disposition of all of your explosives

COLORADO

Whereas, it appears advisable to amend such wage orders and regulations signed to be held on April 13, 1943, at 10 a. m. (eastern war time) in Room 5042 sec. 13), hereby issues its complaint, stating its charges with respect thereto as thereby violated sections 17 (a), 14 (c) and 17 (c) of the regulations. You have not denied that you failed and refused to reply to letters to you on September 18, 1942, and December 17, 1942, concerning the storage of explosives and calling for replies, or that you thereby violated section 10 of the act. The only excuse or justification offered by you was a statement in your answer alleging difficulty in obtaining a more suitable magazine site, difficulty in obtaining labor and materials, and adverse weather conditions. Your answer also alleged that you expected to be able to complete a new magazine by March 15, 1943. Although the excuse or justification offered by you was insufficient, especially because of the long period of time that had elapsed since the inspection of your storage facilities in May 1942 and because of your failure to reply to the letters of September 18 and December 17 from the Explosives Control Division of the Bureau of Mines, I wrote to you on February 26, 1943, as follows:

> The proceedings which have been instituted against you to determine whether your Federal explosives licenses should be revoked will be suspended until March 22. If on or before that date I receive a sworn statement from you advising me that you have completed your explosives magazine in accordance with the requirements of the Bureau of Mines, the proceedings will continue to be suspended until such time as a representative of the Bureau of Mines verifies the accuracy of your statement. If I do not receive such a statement from you on or before March 22, I shall revoke your licenses immediately thereafter.

I have not received any statement from you indicating that you have completed your explosives magazine in accordance with the requirements of the Bureau of Mines.

3. The charges against you are true.

Now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in my by sections 8 and 18 of the Federal Explosives Act (55 Stat. 863) and section 22 of the regulations thereunder (7 F.R. 5901), I hereby Order:

That any and all licenses issued pursuant to the Federal Explosives Act to you under the name of Kelly Feed & Seed Co., or under the name of Max L. Kelly be and they are hereby revoked as of midnight April 15, 1943.

That prior to midnight April 15, 1943, you shall sell or otherwise dispose of all of your explosives and ingredients of explosives to persons licensed under the Federal Explosives Act.

That prior to midnight April 15, 1943, you shall surrender all licenses and certified or photographic copies thereof, if any, issued to you pursuant to the Federal Explosives Act under the name of Kelly Feed & Seed Co., or under the name of Max L. Kelly, by delivering or mailing them to me at the Interior Building, Washington, D. C.

That after having disposed of all of your explosives and ingredients as required by the preceding paragraph, you shall, prior to midnight April 15, 1943, deliver or mail to me at the Interior Building, Washington, D. C., a sworn statement of your transactions in explosives and ingredients of explosives for the period of time beginning with January 16, 1943, and ending with the final disposition of all of your explosives and ingredients as required above, to supplement the record heretofore submitted by you for the period of time prior to January 16, 1943. The statement shall set forth the amount of each kind of explosives or ingredients which you had on hand at the opening of business on January 16, 1943, the amount of each kind of explosives or ingredients acquired by you that day and each day thereafter, the dates on which acquired, and the names and addresses of the persons from whom acquired, the amount of each kind of explosives or ingredients sold or otherwise disposed of by you, the dates on which disposed of, and the names, addresses and Federal explosives license numbers of the persons to whom disposed of.

Failure to comply with any of the provisions of this Order will constitute a violation of the Federal Explosives Act punishable by a fine of not more than $5,000 or by imprisonment for not more than one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

This order shall be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Director, Bureau of Mines.

GRAND COULEE DAM PROJECT

AMENDMENT OF REVOCATION OF PREFERENCE RATING

Builder: U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, Denver, Colorado. Grand Coulee Dam Project.

Revocation of the above serially numbered preference rating order issued under date of October 27, 1942, and amended from time to time, is hereby further amended to permit certain construction hereinafter specified, and to permit the use of ratings assigned by said preference rating order in order to acquire materials for said construction. Such ratings are hereby partially restored as of the effective date of the said serially numbered preference rating order. Said revocation is hereby amended to read as follows:

The fulfillment of requirements for the defense of the United States has created a shortage in the supply of metals, lumber and other materials used in construction, for defense, for private account and for export, and of construction machinery and other facilities used in construction; and the following order is deemed necessary and appropriate in the public interest and to promote the national defense, It is therefore ordered:

1. Revocation of ratings. Preference Rating Order P-19-a, Serial No. 3748-a, heretofore issued and assigned under date of October 27, 1942 to deliveries to the above-named builder and to deliveries to his suppliers, is hereby revoked except that the rating assigned thereby may be applied or extended in order to obtain materials necessary in addition to those materials already at the site for permitted further construction (as hereinafter defined in paragraph 3). All preference rating certificates of any character heretofore issued to the Builder or to any of his suppliers are hereby revoked, insofar as they apply to purchase orders or contracts for materials to be incorporated in or used upon the project described in said order (hereinafter referred to as "the project"), except that ratings assigned by such certificates may be applied or extended in order to obtain materials necessary in addition to those materials already at the site for such permitted further construction

2. Effect of revocation. This revocation shall apply to ratings heretofore applied and extended as well as to ratings which have not yet been applied or extended, except with respect to rated orders and contracts which have been filled completely. For the purpose of extension by suppliers, as well as for the purpose of original application by the builder of any such rating, all purchase orders and contracts so rated, except orders or contracts which have been completely filled, shall have the status of unrated orders or contracts.

3. Prohibition of construction. The builder shall neither perform nor permit the performance of any further construction or installation on the project, except for permitted further construction, being construction necessary for purposes of safety or health or to avoid undue damage to or deterioration of materials already incorporated, other construction (such as the paving of the railroad fill and installation of fish facilities and the relocation of some roads, including construction on the Lincoln County Road running south from a point near Miles, Washington, for a distance of approximately fourteen (14) miles) the total cost of which shall not exceed $366,000, and construction necessary to replace temporary wooden gates at the outlet ends of the turbine draft tubes in the right power house of the Grand Coulee power plant with twenty-seven steel bulkhead gates fourteen feet by seventeen feet in size at an estimated total cost of $51,405.

4. Prohibition of deliveries of material. Neither the builder nor any suppliers, shall deliver or accept delivery of any further materials to be used in connection with the construction of or any installation on the project except of materials necessary in addition to those materials already at the site for permitted further construction. This paragraph shall not, however, prohibit the delivery to their immediate destination of any materials which are now in transit, or the acceptance of any such delivery.

5. Reports. The builder shall file with the War Production Board, Redistribution Division, such reports as may be required by the Director General for Operations.

6. Notice to suppliers. The builder shall promptly advise its suppliers of the terms of this order, and each Supplier shall in turn notify his Suppliers.

7. Application for exception. The builder or any supplier who considers that compliance with this order would work an exceptional and unreasonable hardship upon him may apply to the Director General for Operations for an exception, setting forth the pertinent facts and the reasons why he considers he is entitled to the relief requested. The Director General for Operations may thereupon take such action as he deems appropriate, including the restoration or temporary restoration of any rating herein revoked. Applications for exceptions under this paragraph shall be addressed to the War Production Board, Ref. P-19, Washington, D. C.

8. Effect on prior orders. This order supersedes all previous orders and directives of the War Production Board relative to the project.

9. Communications. Communications concerning this revocation shall be addressed to the War Production Board, Ref. P-19, Washington, D. C.

It is ordered, That the respondent, A. & M. Karagheusian, Inc., a corporation, and its officers, representatives, agents, and employees, directly or through any corporate or other device in connection with the offering for sale, sale, and distribution of rugs or carpets in commerce as "commerce" is defined in the Federal Trade Commission Act, do forthwith cease and desist from:

1. Using the words "Iranian" or "Hindustan" or any other word indicative of the Orient, to designate or describe rugs which are not in fact made in the Orient and which do not possess all the essential characteristics and structure of Oriental rugs.

2. Using the word "Mirastan" or any other word or combination of words or syllables, coined or otherwise, which are indicative of the Orient, to designate or describe rugs which are not in fact made in the Orient and which do not possess all the essential characteristics and structure of Oriental rugs.

3. Using the word "reproduction" or any other word of similar import or meaning to designate or describe rugs which are not in fact reproductions of genuine Oriental rugs in all respects, including structure, method of manufacture, and material.

It is further ordered, That no provision of this order to cease and desist shall be construed as prohibiting the respondent from using the term "Gulistan" to designate or describe its rugs and carpets, provided there is used in immediate connection or conjunction therewith a statement which clearly and conspicuously states in appropriate terms that the rugs and carpets so designated and described are woven on power looms in the United States.

It is further ordered, That the respondent shall, within sixty (60) days after service upon it of this order, file with the Commission a report in writing, setting forth in detail the manner and form in which it has complied with this order.

By the Commission.

PART 944—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE OPERATION OF THE PRIORITIES SYSTEM

SPECIAL SALES OF INDUSTRIAL MATERIALS

§ 944.34 Priorities Regulation 13—(a) Purpose. The purpose of this regulation is to provide uniform rules governing special sales of idle or excess industrial materials by persons who are not regularly engaged in the business of selling such materials, including distress and liquidation sales and sales by persons who, by reason of the effect of priority orders or for other reasons, cannot use such materials in the regular course of their business.

This regulation does not authorize receipt or use of any such materials by any person in violation of any inventory, quota or use restrictions imposed by any order or regulation.

This regulation applies only to special sales of industrial materials; other sales or transfers remain subject to the provisions of all applicable orders and regulations.

(b) Definitions. For the purposes of this regulation:

(1) "Sale" of an item includes any public or private sale, auction sale, sale upon foreclosure of any lien or mortgage, or delivery of such item in exchange for money or for any other property and the sale of any warehouse receipt, bill of lading or other document evidencing an interest in such item but does not include the pledge or mortgage or other creation of any lien upon such item or the transfer of possession of such item without any transfer of title.

(2) "Special sale" means any sale of any item by any person who does not regularly in the course of his business sell such item in the same form, including a sale by any auctioneer, receiver, trustee in bankruptcy, public official or other person acting in a fiduciary or representative capacity (except when made in the course of carrying on the business of an insolvent or bankrupt person or other person whose business is in the hands of such fiduciary or representatives), or any other sale made in the course of liquidating a business or the assets of a business.

(3) "Industrial material" means any commodity or unassembled part or product except the following, which are not included:

(i) Scrap;

(ii) Products which either are being rationed at the retail level by the Office of Price Administration or any other governmental agency, or are excluded from the effect of War Production Board orders and regulations because their distribution is being controlled by some other governmental agency, such as the Petroleum Administration for War in the case of certain petroleum products and the Department of Agriculture in the case of foods and certain fats and oils;

(iii) Medicines or other products for human or animal consumption;

(iv) Tools, machinery, assembled equipment or any other assembled product;

(v) Finished consumers' goods which are in the form in which they are used by ultimate consumers and which do not require, in order to be used, to be further processed or made part of a building, structure or assembly, or affixed to a building, structure or assembly.

(4) "Restricted industrial material" means any industrial material consisting in whole or substantial part of one or more materials listed on Schedule A attached.

(5) "Person" means any individual, partnership, association, business trust, corporation, governmental corporation or agency, or any organized group of persons, whether incorporated or not.

(6) Any reference to any order, regulation or other action of the War Production Board includes any action heretofore taken by the Director General for Operations or the Director of Industry Operations of the War Production Board or the Director of Priorities of the Office of Production Management.

(c) Permitted special sales. Subject to paragraph (e) (2) of this regulation the following special sales are permitted:

(1) A special sale of any new or used industrial material which is not a restricted industrial material may be made to any person without restriction.

(2) A special sale of any new or used restricted industrial material may be made if the sale falls within one of the following categories, and no special sale of any restricted industrial material may be made unless such sale falls within one of the following categories:

(i) A sale to any of the following governmental agencies or to any person buying as agent for any such agency: Commodity Credit Corporation, Defense Supplies Corporation, Metals Reserve Company, Rubber Reserve Company and any other corporation organized under section 5 (d) of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation Act as amended; or

(ii) A sale pursuant to a specific authorization of the War Production Board naming the seller and identifying the particular sale to be made; or

(iii) A sale of a single lot of restricted industrial materials of the same class and composition (other than materials listed in Schedule B attached) if the total value of the seller's holdings of those materials is less than $100. This exception does not permit the dividing of a single lot having a value of over $100 into smaller lots and selling such smaller lots for less than $100 under this subparagraph.

(iv) A sale of any "controlled material", as defined in CMP Regulation 1, to fill any "authorized controlled material order", as described in that regulation.

(v) A sale to any person falling within a class indicated on Schedule A attached as being a class to whom the particular restricted industrial material may be sold: Provided, That when any alloy, compound, mixture, or product is not listed as such on Schedule A and contains a significant amount of more than one material, the sale shall be made only to a person to whom all such contained materials may be sold. A sale of a plated item shall be governed by the basic material, disregarding the plating.

(3) In addition to the provisions of paragraph (c) (2) above, any person may make a special sale of any restricted industrial material to another person engaged in the same business as the seller if an order or other action of the War Production Board applicable generally to persons engaged in such business expressly permits such a sale.

(d) Intra-company transfers. Any person may transfer, otherwise than by sale, any industrial material to another department, branch, division or section of his business or to a wholly owned subsidiary or affiliate or to another person under common ownership or control, provided such transfer would have been a special sale permitted under this regulation had the transfer been made for money or other consideration.

(e) Effect on other orders and regulations. (1) Any sale which is not a special sale, and any transfer or disposition of anything other than industrial materials, shall remain subject to the provisions of all applicable orders and regulations.

(2) The provisions of this regulation shall control all special sales of industrial materials although inconsistent with any order or regulation of the War Production Board heretofore or hereafter issued unless such order or regulation expressly provides to the contrary and refers to this regulation. In the case of any special sale of industrial materials made under the terms of this regulation, delivery of the material sold may be accepted by the buyer, despite any provision of any order or regulation which would otherwise forbid such acceptance except that:

(i) Nothing in this regulation shall affect any provision contained in any order or regulation of the War Production Board which imposes any quota or other limitation on the amount any buyer may purchase, receive or produce, or which imposes any limitations on the amount of inventory of any person or any restrictions upon the use of any material; and

(ii) This regulation shall not affect any provision of any applicable order or regulation of the War Production Board requiring a buyer to make any reports or to furnish any information in connection with a purchase; and

(iii) No seller shall make any special sale if he knows or has reason to believe that the purchase or acceptance of delivery by the buyer would violate any inventory or quota restrictions imposed on the buyer by any order or regulation or that the buyer is acquiring the material for a use which would be in violation of any order or regulation.

(f) Records and reports. (1) Any person making a special sale of any industrial material which he has reported to the War Production Board as idle or excess material in connection with any material recovery program, such as the programs operated through Copper Recovery Corporation and Steel Recovery Corporation, shall promptly send to the operating headquarters of the program a copy of the invoice of sale or other notice of the sale.

(2) Any person making any special sale of industrial materials must maintain at his regular place of business all documents, including purchase orders and preference rating orders and certificates, upon which he relies as entitling him to make such sale. Such records shall be kept segregated and available for inspection by representatives of the War Production Board, or filed in such manner that they can be readily segregated and made available for such inspection.

(g) Listing of inventories. Any person eligible to make a special sale, may list his idle, excess or frozen inventories of industrial materials with his regional office of the War Production Board, which office will assist him to dispose of them.

(h) Communications. All communications concerning this regulation shall be addressed to the War Production Board, Redistribution Division, Washington, D. C., Ref.: P. R. 13 or to a district or regional office of the War Production Board, attention Redistribution Manager.

Issued this 7th day of April 1943.

WAR PRODUCTION BOARD,
By J. JOSEPH WHELAN,
Recording Secretary.

SCHEDULE A

Explanatory note: This schedule relates only to special sales made under paragraph (c) (2) (v) of this regulation. Any purchaser of material through a special sale must comply with all inventory, quota, use restrictions, reports and use certificates imposed or required by other orders and regulations.

When an alloyed material, or a physically or chemically compounded material, is shown in this table, the conditions that govern the special sale of the alloyed or compounded material are those shown for the alloy or compound and not those shown for the constituent elements or parts. For example, the conditions under which solder may be sold are those shown for the restricted industrial material "Solder" and not those shown for "Tin" or "Lead" or "Antimony". When any alloy, compound, mixture, or product is not listed as such on Schedule A and contains a significant amount of more than one restricted industrial material, the sale shall be made only to a person to whom all such contained restricted industrial materials may be sold. Plated items are governed by the basic material, disregarding the plating.

The word "No" appearing in any column in this schedule means that a holder may not sell the particular restricted industrial material to any person in the class to which that column applies unless the sale is otherwise permitted by this regulation. Specific authorization to make a sale not permitted by the provisions of this schedule, nor otherwise permitted under the regulation may be requested on Form PD-470 or by letter giving full details.

The letters "PR" mean Preference Rating, and wherever they appear in any column, mean that the holder may sell the particular restricted industrial material to any person in the class to which that column applies, but only provided that such person places with the holder an order for the material bearing a duly applied or extended preference rating equal to or higher than the rating shown immediately after the letters "PR". For example, "PR AA-5", which appears opposite the restricted industrial materials, "All other carbon and alloy steels" in the column headed "Users permitted to buy and use under existing WPB Orders" means that the holder may sell to any user who places an order for an unassembled product containing carbon or alloy steel (other than products specifically listed, such as rails) if that order bears a duly applied or extended preference rating of AA-5 or higher.

The letters "W. O. P." mean "Without Preference Rating, Allocation, or other Authorization" and wherever they appear in any column mean that the holder may sell the particular restricted industrial material to any person in the class to which that column applies without any preference rating, allocation, or other authorization.

The letter "X" means "Not applicable".

Wherever an asterisk (*) appears, refer to the note in the "Remarks" column.

The following direction is issued pursuant to paragraph (t) of CMP Regulation No. 1 (8 F.R. 482, 1730, 2565, 2857) to all Copper Wire and Cable Producers.

(a) April deliveries. Except as otherwise expressly authorized by the War Production Board, orders for copper wire mill products which have been approved heretofore on Form PD-59D and which were scheduled for delivery during April, 1943, shall not be displaced by any other order (including an authorized controlled material order), notwithstanding any provision in any CMP Regulation.

The following direction is issued pursuant to paragraph (t) of CMP Regulation No. 1 (8 F.R. 482, 1730, 2565, 2857) to all Brass Mills.

(a) April deliveries. Except as otherwise expressly authorized by the War Production Board, orders for brass mill products which have been approved heretofore by the War Production Board on PD-59D or otherwise and which were scheduled for delivery during April 1943 shall not be displaced by any other order (including an authorized controlled material order) notwithstanding any provision in any CMP Regulation.

(b) May and June deliveries. (1) Except as otherwise expressly authorized by the War Production Board, authorized controlled material orders for May and June deliveries bearing program symbols other than N-1, O-1 or O-4 shall be accepted up to 100% of the amount established in each category in production directives previously issued. PART 3175—REGULATIONS APPLICABLE TO THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

§ 3175.3 Special direction regarding distributors' orders. Delivery orders without allotment numbers or symbols placed by dealers, distributors or jobbers prior to April 7, 1943, calling for delivery not later than June 30, 1943, shall be deemed equal in rating, for purposes of Priorities Regulation No. 1, to the other orders bearing the same grade of rating with allotment numbers or symbols, notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (c) of CMP Regulation No. 3 regarding the superiority of ratings with allotment numbers or symbols. For example, a distributor of fittings places an order on April 1 for June delivery for replacement in his inventory of items which he has previously sold on a rating of AA-2X. Since the orders which he filled by such sales did not carry allotment numbers or symbols, he is unable to extend an allotment number or symbol with his order. On April 2, a manufacturer places an order for the same fittings, rated AA-2X with the allotment number of the manufacturer's authorized production schedule. The two orders are deemed of equal rating, and, if both cannot be filled, the distributor's takes precedence under Priorities Regulation No. 1 since the rating was first extended to it.

In the case of orders for controlled materials, this direction is not to be construed as converting a rated order into an authorized controlled materials order.

Issued this 7th day of April 1943.

Recording Secretary.

1. The title is amended to read as set forth above.

7. Section 1309.165 (c) (5) is added to read as follows:

(5) If the price submitted by the seller is disapproved by the Administrator, notice to that effect, together with the price approved pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph (c) and the reasons for such action, shall be given to the seller by letter. C., within thirty days from the date of mailing of the letter referred to above in this subparagraph, the disapproval together with the price approved by the Administrator will be incorporated in an order.

8. Section 1309.165 (e) and (f) are redesignated as § 1309.165 (f) and (g), respectively.

9. Section 1309.165 (e) is added to read as follows:

(e) Maximum prices for sales and deliveries of brass and bronze alloy shot. (1) The maximum price for any grade of brass or bronze alloy shot shall be a price in line with the maximum prices established by this regulation for brass and bronze alloy ingot, giving due weight to the differences in the cost of manufacturing shot as distinguished from ingot, shall be approved by the Administrator, and when once approved shall be the maximum price for all subsequent sales of such shot by the seller to whom such price approval is given unless the Administrator thereafter specifically withdraws such approval.

(2) Pending approval by the Administrator, any person may sell or deliver, and any person may buy and receive, any such shot at the price submitted for approval, and any person may offer to do any of the foregoing. If, however, the Administrator disapproves the price submitted, the contract price shall be revised downward to the maximum price which the Administrator shall approve, and if any payment has been made at a price higher than that so approved, the seller shall refund the excess: Provided, however, That the price submitted by the seller for approval shall be deemed to be approved unless the Administrator specifically disapproves such price and establishes an approved maximum price within fifteen days from the date on which the report required in paragraph (e) (3) of this section is received by the Office of Price Administration or, if further information is requested from the seller within such fifteen-day period, then within fifteen days from the date on which all such information is received by the Office of Price Administration.

(3) On and after April 12, 1943, the seller of any such shot, shall (i) report the first sale of such shot made on or after April 12, 1943 to the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., within 5 days from the date thereof, stating (a) the quantity sold, (b) the specifications including the alloy content and the size of the shot, (c) the proposed price including quantity differentials, (d) the method of manufacturing such shot, (e) the additional cost of manufacturing such shot as distinguished from ingot insofar as that is known to the seller, (f) if the seller sold any brass or bronze shot before April 12, 1943, the price or prices at which such sales were made from January 1, 1941 to the date of the sale being reported, and (ii) provide such other information concerning the manufacture and sale of such shot as may be requested by the Office of Price Administration in order to determine the proper maximum price of such shot.

(4) Nothing contained in this paragraph (e) shall be construed to prevent the Administrator from adjusting any price previously approved pursuant to this paragraph (e) when in his judgment such adjustment is warranted.

(5) If the price submitted by the seller is disapproved by the Administrator, notice to that effect, together with the price approved pursuant to subparagraph (2) of this paragraph (e) and the reasons for such action, shall be given to the seller by letter. At the request of the seller, received by the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., within 30 days from the date of mailing of the letter referred to above in this subparagraph, the disapproval together with the price approved by the Administrator will be incorporated in an order.

(6) Any maximum prices established by orders issued under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation for brass or bronze alloy shot shall be deemed to be prices approved in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph, but such orders shall have no other force or effect, and any pending applications for the establishment of a maximum price for such shot under § 1499.3 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation may be processed under this paragraph.

PULPWOOD PRODUCED IN OR SOLD INTO THE STATES OF MAINE, VERMONT, NEW HAMPSHIRE AND NEW YORK

In the judgment of the Price Administrator the prices of pulpwood have risen and are threatening to rise to an extent and in a manner inconsistent with the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

The Price Administrator has ascertained and given due consideration to the price of pulpwood prevailing in the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York, between October 1 and October 15, 1941, and has made adjustments for such relevant factors as he has determined and deemed to be of general applicability. The Price Administrator has advised and consulted with representative members of the industry. In the judgment of the Price Administrator, the maximum prices established by this regulation are and will be generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of said Act. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation has been prepared and is issued simultaneously herewith.*

(4) The maximum price for pulpwood sold at points other than those listed above shall be arrived at by deducting from the appropriate maximum price established above an amount equal to the actual cost incurred by the seller in transporting the wood to and loading the wood at the point of shipment described above actually used, or, in the case of wood trucked to the mill, the actual costs of such trucking.

(b) (1) The maximum price paid for pulpwood described in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraph (a) of this section shall in no event be more than $1.00 more per cord than the contract price established pursuant to said subparagraphs. Amounts in excess of such contract prices can be paid only if no dealer's commission is paid on the wood and if the buyer makes a statement to the Paper and Paper Products Branch, Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., either prior to or subsequent to such payment that

(i) The payment of the excess is necessary to secure the wood in question, and is the least expensive means of securing it;

(ii) The payment of the excess is or will be necessary to enable the seller to discharge obligations incurred by him pursuant to the contract of sale;

(iii) No dealer's commission has been or will be paid on the wood in question.

The statement shall set forth fully the reasons why the excess payment is necessary, and shall explain the excess payments in itemized form, with a justification for the payment of each item.

(2) Buyers and sellers will be held to violate this regulation in cases where unjustified amounts are paid in excess of the maximum contract prices herein provided for in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraph (a) of this appendix.

(3) The Office of Price Administration may at any time at discretion suspend or withdraw from any buyer or buyers the privilege of paying the excess amount over maximum contract prices provided for by this paragraph (b).

(c) The prices established herein are for wood of top quality prepared to conform with the consumer's specifications.

All trade practices and customs with respect to allowance for defective wood of any kind must be observed.

(d) Mixed shipments. If a shipment contains a mixture of species, except a mixture of spruce and fir, the maximum price per cord shall be ascertained by determining the number of cords of each species in the shipment and then applying the maximum price for each species.

(e) When one consumer sells pulpwood to another, the maximum price shall not exceed the actual cost which the wood stands the seller, plus such actual costs of moving the wood to the buyer as the seller incurs.

(f) Dealers. (1) In the event that a dealer in pulpwood, as defined in section 8 (a) (14), shall within a year from the effective date of this regulation deliver to a consumer 1000 cords or more of wood wholly produced in said year, such consumer may, at the time of delivery of said 1000 cords, pay such dealer with respect to wood purchased by such dealer, but not operated by him, a dealer's allowance (in addition to the producer's maximum price hereinbefore provided) not in excess of $1.00 per cord.

(2) The maximum prices established in paragraph (c) of Appendix A, can in no case be augmented by more than one dealer's allowance for each cord. In no event shall a person receive a dealer's allowance or the proceeds of a dealer's allowance on pulpwood cut by him or by his own operations. In no event shall a person receive a dealer's allowance on the cut of another person pursuant to any contract, agreement or understanding of any sort whatsoever between the two, whereby each is to sell, and charge an allowance on the wood cut by the other. In addition to the price paid by the consumer a dealer may receive a dealer's allowance only from a consumer and only if the dealer fulfills all of the following requirements with respect to the transactions:

(i) Keep copies of all contracts in which a dealer's allowance is charged.

(ii) The sale is made by the dealer to the consumer.

(iii) The pulpwood sold by the dealer to the consumer has been completely prepared for delivery by a person other than the dealer.

(iv) The dealer guarantees the merchantable quality of the pulpwood.

(v) The dealer's allowance in such transaction is shown as a separate item on the invoice. This invoice must contain a statement that the dealer has had no part in the preparation of the pulpwood covered prior to its delivery to the consumer, and that the charges are not in excess of those established in this Maximum Price Regulation No. ____.

(vi) The dealer's allowance is not split or divided with any other person.

This Maximum Price Regulation No. 361 shall become effective April 12, 1943.

PART 1351—FOOD AND FOOD PRODUCTS

DAIRY PRODUCTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 1351.1522 is amended in the following respects:

1. The headnote of the section is amended to read as follows:

2. Paragraph (b) is redesignated paragraph (c).

3. Paragraph (c) is redesignated paragraph (d).

4. New paragraph (d) (1) is amended to read as follows:

(1) All packaged powdered skim milk and packaged powdered buttermilk not covered by paragraph (b) of this section are covered under Maximum Price Regulation No. 280.[2] Specifically, paragraph (b) of this section fixes dollar and cents maximum prices for packaged powdered skim milk (spray process) for human consumption in 7, 12, and 16 ounce packages and provides a method whereby other size packages of such packaged powdered skim milk may be priced.

5. A new paragraph (b) is added to read as follows:

(b) The maximum prices for sales and deliveries of packaged powdered skim milk (spray process) by manufacturers or packers to the wholesale and chain store warehouse trade and to commercial, industrial institutional and governmental users shall be as listed in the following Table A:

TABLE A

For deliveries in	Price per dozen packages
	7 oz.	12 oz.	16 oz.
Zone A	$1.68	$1.78	$2.34
Zone B	1.09	1.80	2.37
Zone C	1.10	1.82	2.40
Zone D	1.11	1.84	2.43

(i) Differentials and discounts. If the manufacturer or packer has established differentials for quantity purchases or for any other class of purchasers, he shall continue such differentials. The differentials to such other classes of purchasers shall be determined by adding to or subtracting from the maximum prices fixed herein for such zone, as the case may be, the difference between the seller's customary price to wholesalers and his customary price to such class of purchasers. All other customary discounts and allowances including those for prompt payment shall likewise be continued.

(2) Definition of zones. (i) Zone A shall be all states not included in Zones B, C, or D.

(ii) Zone B shall be Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware, District of Columbia, Virginia, and West Virginia.

(iii) Zone C shall be Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Texas.

(iv) Zone D shall be Florida.

(3) Manufacturers or packers maximum prices for packaged powdered skim milk (spray process) packed in container sizes other than those for which maximum prices are fixed by this paragraph:

(i) The following pricing method applies only to those new packages whose weight is 50% greater or smaller than the weight of the package for which maximum prices are fixed herein, i. e. those packages which are not less than 3½ oz. nor more than 24 ozs. In the case of all other packages sizes, i. e. those less than 3½ oz. and those more than 24 oz. but not more than 80 oz. inclusive, the packer shall apply to the Office of Price Administration for a maximum price. He shall include in his application a statement giving the weight of the proposed package, the cost to him of the ingredients, packaging material, carton, labor, and overhead.

(ii) Where the packer may price pursuant to this subparagraph (3) he shall proceed as follows:

(a) Determine the base container. He shall first determine the size of the package for which a maximum price is fixed herein which is closest in net weight to the size which he desires to pack, i. e., if he desires to pack a 9 oz. package he shall use the 7 oz. package as the base container.

(b) Determine the base price. The base price is determined by dividing the maximum delivered price fixed in Table A above for a dozen of each container sizes, in each of the 4 zones established therein, by 12.

(c) Deduct the container cost. Taking his base price, the packer shall then subtract the direct cost of the base container. "Direct cost of the container" means the net cost, at the packers plant, of the container, label, and the proportionate part of the outgoing shipping wrapper or carton, but it does not include the cost of filling, closing, labeling or packing.

(d) Adjust for difference in contents. The figure gotten by this deduction shall then be adjusted for the size change by dividing it by the number of ounces in the base container and multiplying the result by the number of ounces in the new container.

(e) Add the new container cost to get the maximum price for the zone. Next, the packer shall add to the adjusted figure the "direct cost of the container" in the new size. He shall then multiply the resulting figure by twelve to determine his maximum delivered price per dozen in the new size container, in the zone for which he is making the computation. The packer shall make similar computations for each zone in which he desires to sell such new size container and adjust the prices pursuant to subparagraph (1) for the different classes of purchasers to whom he desires to sell such new size container.

(f) Computations and fractions of a cent. In making computations pursuant to this subparagraph (3), the packer shall carry all calculations to the second decimal of a cent. If his maximum price per dozen resulting from such computation ends in a fraction he shall adjust the price to the next higher cent where the fraction is ½¢ or more, and to the next lower cent if the resulting fraction is less than ½¢.

(iii) Records. Every manufacturer or packer who computes maximum prices pursuant to this subparagraph (3) shall keep records showing how he figured each maximum price established hereunder.

MANUFACTURERS' PRICES FOR WOMEN'S, GIRLS' AND CHILDREN'S OUTERWEAR GARMENTS

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Sections 1389.373 (a) (14) and (15) are added to read as follows:

(14) Privilege to estimate week-work costs. A manufacturer may use estimates in calculating the cost of any direct labor operation paid on a time basis if a week-work chart is prepared and kept with the manufacturer's cost records. The estimates shown in the chart are the maximum amounts which may be used in calculating the minimum allowable cost. If a manufacturer finds that his estimates are too low, he may amend his chart by means of a notation on the chart showing the revised estimates and the date of the notation; but the revised estimates may not be regarded as effective for any period prior to the date of the notation.

If the estimate for any craft exceeds the manufacturer's actual direct labor cost, determined by reference to the records of (i) total wages paid to employees in the craft, and (ii) total garments manufactured, during an accounting period chosen by the manufacturer and shown on the chart, the manufacturer's actual direct labor cost must be used in determining whether garments contain the minimum allowable cost.

(15) Week-work chart. The week-work chart required by the above provision must be prepared in accordance with the following instructions:

(i) Select an accounting period which will enable you reasonably to test the accuracy of your estimates, by reference to records showing your total payroll and total production. This period may not exceed five months. The first period may begin on any date after December 14, 1942; but if the chart is prepared after April 24, 1943, the first period must begin on the date of preparation.

(ii) Then list the crafts which you pay on a time basis and determine what a fair estimate of your direct labor cost (per unit or per dozen), by craft, would be for the accounting period specified. For example: Your past experience may show that for such a period your cutting averages 10¢ per unit, your sewing 65¢, your finishing 20¢ and your pressing 15¢.

(iii) The use of one estimate for each craft, regardless of category numbers and selling price lines, is permissible. For example: Your past experience may show that an estimate of 10¢ for cutting could be used for all your garments. However, estimates for different category numbers and selling price lines, or for different groups of category numbers and selling price lines, are also permissible. For example: Your past experience may show that cutting for women's suits (Category No. 1) costs more than for women's dresses (Category No. 21), and that cutting for $8.75 dresses costs more than for $3.50 dresses. Your cutting estimates might be 14¢ for suits, 12¢ for $8.75 dresses and 7¢ for $3.50 dresses.

(iv) Your week-work chart must be kept with your cost records and must show each estimate, the length of your accounting period and the date set as the beginning of the first period. The amounts shown in the chart are the most that can be used for the crafts listed in determining whether your garments contain the minimum allowable cost. For example: If your week-work chart shows a 10¢ estimate for cutting, and if your minimum allowable cost on a certain line is $3.12, garments in that line must contain at least $3.02 in addition to the cutting cost. If you find that your estimate was too low, and that 12¢ would be a fairer figure for cutting, you may not use 12¢ in your cost records until you have amended your chart by means of a notation in the chart showing the revised estimate (12¢) and the date of the notation. The revised estimate may be used only for garments cut after the date of the notation.

(v) At the close of each accounting period you must calculate and record in the chart your actual direct labor cost, determined by reference to the records of (a) total wages paid to employees in each week-work craft and (b) total garments manufactured. The records must be broken down in the same way as your estimates. For example: If you have used only one cutting estimate for all category numbers and all selling price lines, you merely divide your cutters' payroll by the number of garments cut. On the other hand, if you have used cutting figures of 14¢ for suits, 7¢ for $3.50 dresses and 12¢ for $8.75 dresses, your records must show the relation between the cutters' payroll and the number of suits, $3.50 dresses and $8.75 dresses produced.

(vi) At the close of each accounting period you must also record your estimate for the next accounting period, on a different line in the chart, or on a new chart. If your payroll and production records for the old period show that your estimate for that period was too high, you should revise your estimate for the new period accordingly.

(vii) You may alter the length of your accounting period if the new period begins on the last day of the period specified in your chart and does not exceed five months, and if you prepare a new chart. The old chart must be preserved.

MACHINES AND PARTS, AND MACHINERY SERVICES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Maximum Price Regulation 136, as amended, is amended in the following respects:

2. Section 1390.25 (a) is revoked.

3. Section 1390.25 (c) is redesignated § 1390.25 (a).

4. Section 1390.25a is added to read as follows:

§ 1390.25a Adjustments—(a) Application by a manufacturer of a machine or part—(1) Who may receive an adjustment. The manufacturers' maximum price for a machine or part established by this regulation may be adjusted only in the case of an essential producer of an essential machine or part. An "essential machine or part" is one which aids directly in the war program or is essential to a standard of living appropriate to the prosecution of the war. An "essential producer" is one whose output of a machine or part cannot be reasonably expected to be replaced at prices lower than the proposed adjusted maximum price. In addition, any person who has entered into, or proposes to enter into, a war contract (as defined in subparagraph (5)), or a subcontract thereunder, is an essential producer of an essential machine or part.

(2) When adjustment may be granted—(i) In general. The Office of Price Administration, any regional office, or such other offices as may be authorized by order issued by the appropriate regional office, may adjust the maximum price in the case of an essential producer of an essential machine or part upon the basis of information submitted by the manufacturer or of other information. It may make that adjustment whenever it finds that the maximum price of a machine or part is at such a level that, taking into account the cost thereof, the profits position of the manufacturer and the nature of his business, production of the machine or part is impeded or threatened.

(ii) Factors which may be considered. The following factors are relevant to the consideration of the adjustment:

(a) Whether, and by what amount, the maximum price is below or above the current manufacturing costs, and the current total unit costs, of the machine or part.

(b) Whether, and by what amount, the applicant's current over-all profits before income and excess profits taxes are greater or less than his average over-all profits during the normal base period, increased by 7% of the additional capital investment contributed entirely by the manufacturer, or its stockholders, since the normal base period.

(c) Whether the proposed price is higher than the price prevailing in the industry.

(d) Whether the manufacturer's sales of the machine or part represent only a very small part of his total sales.

(e) Whether the manufacturer previously sold the machine or part below the total unit cost of the machine or part.

(3) How the manufacturer proceeds in applying for an adjustment—(i) In general. An application for adjustment under this paragraph (a) shall be filed in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1 and shall be made on Form OPA 694–178A, set out in paragraph (a) of Appendix E, incorporated as § 1390.36 of this regulation. Copies of this form and of the instructions for completing it may be obtained from any district, state or regional office of the Office of Price Administration. If the manufacturer's total sales in the calendar year 1942, or in the fiscal year ending in 1942, exceeded $500,000, the application shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. If the manufacturer's total sales during that period did not exceed $500,000, the application shall be filed with the nearest regional office of the Office of Price Administration.

(ii) Application based on proposed wage or salary increase to be authorized by the National War Labor Board. A manufacturer who believes that the conditions for an adjustment set forth in this paragraph (a), would exist if the National War Labor Board should grant a pending application for wage or salary increase may file an application for adjustment under this paragraph. Applications for adjustment of maximum prices based on wage or salary increases requiring the approval of the National War Labor Board must also comply with Supplementary Order No. 28, which requires, among other things, that an application for adjustment in such case be filed within 15 days after an application for a wage or salary adjustment has been filed with the National War Labor Board, or, in a disputed wage proceeding, within 15 days after the employer receives notification that the National War Labor Board has taken jurisdiction of the dispute.

(4) Prices for deliveries made pending disposition of the application. A manufacturer who has filed an application under this paragraph (a) may contract or agree that deliveries made during the pendency of the application shall be at a specific price which is higher than the existing maximum price which the manufacturer wants to have adjusted. But no payment in excess of that existing maximum price may be received until the application is finally disposed of, and at that time the price received may not exceed the maximum price as determined by the Office of Price Administration.

A manufacturer who wishes to enter into such an arrangement must specifically state to the buyer the following:

(i) The maximum price for the machine or part;

(ii) The fact that an appropriate application for an adjustment of that maximum price has been filed with the Office of Price Administration;

(iii) The fact that the specific price quoted by the manufacturer is subject to the approval of the Office of Price Administration.

(5) Definitions—(i) Manufacturing costs. The term "manufacturing costs" means total unit costs less selling and administrative expenses properly allocable to the internal management of the business. Such selling and administrative expenses shall not be deemed to include direct deductions from gross sales, such as freight out, installation charges, cash discounts and sales and service commissions paid to independent dealers.

(ii) Normal base period. The term "normal base period" means the period 1936–1939. If the applicant shall demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Office of Price Administration either (a) that his entire industry was operating during the greater part of such period at an unusually depressed level or (b) that because of unusual conditions prevailing during that period, the manufacturer's plant was operating during that period at an unusually depressed level in comparison to other plants in the industry, and in addition that some other period prior to January 1, 1941, represents a proper "normal base period," such other period may be considered. The mere fact that the rate of production has increased since 1936–1939 will not be deemed evidence that production during that period was at an "unusually depressed level." If the manufacturer was not in business prior to January 1, 1941, he shall state that fact in his application.

(iii) Over-all profits. The term "over-all profits" means net profit resulting from the operation of all divisions of the manufacturer, before the creation of any reserves, except ordinary reserves for depreciation and bad debts, and before income and excess profit taxes. In the case of a subsidiary wholly owned by a parent corporation, the term "over-all profits" means the net profit of the parent corporation before the creation of any reserves, except ordinary reserves for depreciation and bad debts, and before income and excess profit taxes.

(iv) Subcontract. The term "subcontract" means any purchase order or agreement to peform all or any part of the work, or to make or furnish any commodity, required for the performance of another contract or subcontract.

(v) Total unit costs. The term "total unit costs" means the direct unit cost of labor, materials, and subcontracted services, plus a proportion of factory overhead, administrative and other expenses, based on actual operating experience, properly allocable to the production of the machine or part, but does not include provisions for income or excess profit taxes. The allocation of factory overhead, administrative and other expenses must be made without reference to temporary fluctuations of production, for whatever reason, and should be based on a representative period of continuous, normal production.

(vi) War contract. The term "war contract" means any contract with the United States, or any agency thereof, or with the government, or any agency thereof, of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States, under the terms of the Lend-Lease Act, for the sale of a machine or part purchased (a) for the ultimate use of the armed forces of the United States or for lend-lease purposes, or (b) by any government (or agency thereof) of any country whose defense the President deems vital to the defense of the United States under the terms of the Lend-Lease Act, or (c) for use in the production or manufacture of any commodity described in (a) or (b).

(b) Application by a machinery service supplier. Paragraph (a) applies, insofar as practicable, to adjustments of the maximum prices of machinery services and to application for such adjustments. However, the procedure to be followed in applying for an adjustment differs in the following respects:

(1) The application for adjustment shall be made on Form OPA694–178B, set out in paragraph (b) of Appendix E. Copies of this form may be obtained from any district, state or regional office of the Office of Price Administration.

(2) If the supplier's total sales of machinery services for the calendar year 1942, or for the fiscal year ending in 1942, exceeded $75,000, the application shall be filed in Washington, D. C. If the supplier's total sales of machinery services for that period did not exceed $75,000 the application shall be filed with the nearest regional office of the Office of Price Administration.

(c) Application by a manufacturer or a machinery service supplier based upon an appropriate decrease of other prices—(1) Who may receive an adjustment under this paragraph. Adjustments under this paragraph will be granted only in the case of an essential producer of an essential machine or part or an essential supplier of an essential machinery service. The meaning of these terms is explained in paragraph (a) (1) of this section.

(2) When adjustment may be granted. The Office of Price Administration, any regional office, or such other offices as may be authorized by order issued by the appropriate regional office, may make an adjustment of the maximum price in any case in which the manufacturer or supplier agrees to make and (simultaneously with any increase in the maximum price that may be authorized under this paragraph (c)) makes a reduction in the selling price of other products or services which will equal or exceed the total dollar amount of the adjustment granted under this paragraph.

(3) What an application under this paragraph must show. An application for price adjustment under this paragraph (c) shall contain information indicating that the applicant is an essential manufacturer of an essential machine or part or an essential supplier of an essential machinery service and that if the proposed adjustment is granted, the gross dollar amount of sales of the machines or parts or machinery services affected by the adjustment will not be greater than it would have been in the absence of the adjustment. In any case where such an adjustment is granted, the Office of Price Administration will require appropriate reports relating to the commodities or services affected.

(4) How the manufacturer or supplier proceeds in applying for an adjustment. An application for adjustment under this paragraph (c) shall be filed in accordance with Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1. If the manufacturer's total sales for the calendar year 1942, or for the fiscal year ending in 1942, exceeded $500,000, the application shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. If the manufacturer's total sales during that period did not exceed $500,000, the application shall be filed with the nearest regional office of the Office of Price Administration. If the supplier's total sales of machinery services for the calendar year 1942, or for the fiscal year ending in 1942, exceeded $75,000, the application shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C. If the supplier's total sales of machinery services during that period did not exceed $75,000, the application shall be filed with the nearest regional office of the Office of Price Administration.

(d) Application by a manufacturer or a machinery service supplier under a combination of both paragraphs (a) and (c) or paragraphs (b) and (c). A manufacturer or a machinery service supplier who desires to apply for an adjustment under paragraph (c) may, at the time he applies under that paragraph, also apply under paragraphs (a) or (b), if the facts of his case entitle him to do so. In such case, the office considering his application will give the adjustment available under paragraphs (a) or (b) before applying paragraph (c).

(e) This § 1390.25a supersedes Supplementary Order No. 9 (§ 1305.12), in so far as commodities and services covered by Maximum Price Regulation 136, as Amended, are concerned. Accordingly, applications for adjustment of a maximum price, established by this Maximum Price Regulation 136, as Amended, may no longer be filed under Procedural Regulation No. 6.

(f) The maximum price for sales of machines or parts by persons, other than manufacturers, may be adjusted in an order issued under this section.

5. Section 1390.36 is added to read as follows:

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE USE OF ADJUSTMENT APPLICATION FORM FOR MACHINES AND PARTS

In preparing this application, please consider that the form is intended to cover a wide variety of products. Therefore, you will find that some of the questions do not apply to your product. Moreover, you may find that some point that is important in your case is not covered in the form. Adapt the form if this can be done or state the information on a separate sheet if that will be clearer.

Schedule C entitled "Unit Price and Cost Information" is subject to the following explanation:

1. Price Data: (a) 1. (List) (Gross) Price. Please indicate whether the price is a list price or a gross price by crossing out the term that does not apply.

(a) 2. Dealer's Commissions: Where all dealers receive the same commission use the full commission rate even if some sales are not subject to any commission. If several different rates affect the machine covered by the application, use the rate that applies to the largest amount of sales.

(a) 3. Trade Discounts: Deduct trade discounts at the average rate of discounts prevailing in your company for the product covered by the application.

(b) Use a sufficient number of months prior to the date of the application to give an adequate understanding of the situation. Name the period in the allotted space and fill in commission rates or discounts.

2. Unit Cost Data: In presenting unit cost data be sure to include only actual cost.

Material cost must represent actual cost. State separately any charges added to costs of materials.

Where standard costs are used, adjust costs for over- or under-absorption during the period to which the costs apply.

The cost data for the ceiling date may be recomputed if the machine or part covered by the application was not manufactured on or about that date. In the recomputation apply the wage rates prevailing in your plant on the ceiling date and material cost of the same date.

Under items (f), (g) and (h) include only costs borne by the manufacturer and not billed separately to the buyer.

fecting the sale of gelatin have brought about a condition whereby all manufacturers of these commodities cannot maintain the prices established for them under the General Maximum Price Regulation without individual hardship to some, and such prices are determined by the Price Administrator to be not generally fair and equitable. A continuance of this condition will not assist in securing full and adequate production of such commodities. So far as practicable, the Price Administrator has advised and consulted with representatives of the industry which will be affected by this regulation.

This Maximum Price Regulation No. 362 is issued by the Price Administrator in order to establish maximum prices for gelatin which are generally fair and equitable, will continue and encourage the full production of the industry, and will effectuate the purposes of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended. A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this regulation, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

PART 1499—COMMODITIES AND SERVICES

[SR 14 to GMPR, Correction to Amendment 134[2]]

CERTAIN SALES TO INSTITUTIONS, ETC.

1. Section 1499.73 (a) (1) (ii) (h) (2), relating to sales at wholesale to hotels, restaurants, and other eating establishments in the boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, and Queens, incorrectly gave the maximum price of homogenized, Vitamin D, and homogenized-Vitamin D milk in paper containers as 5¼¢ for half-pints. The correct maximum price for this item is 5½¢. Accordingly, the table of listed maximum prices is revised by deleting 5¼¢ and inserting instead 5½¢ for half-pints of homogenized, Vitamin D, and homogenized-Vitamin D milk sold in paper containers.

2. Section 1499.73 (a) (1) (ii) (h) (3), relating to sales to institutions [whether wholesale or retail] in the boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, and Queens, contain a typographical error in setting out the provision on ½ quart container sizes. The word "for" was omitted immediately prior to "the same type of milk", following the phrase "increase in his ceiling price". Accordingly, the word "for" should be inserted in the appropriate place indicated.

3. Section 1499.73 (a) (1) (ii) (h) (4), relating to sales to Government agencies or subdivisions [whether wholesale or retail] in the boroughs of Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, and Queens, contain a typographical error in setting out the provision on ⅓ quart container sizes. The word "foregoing" immediately prior to "table" was printed "ofregoing". It should be revised to read "foregoing".

4. Section 1499.73 (a) (1) (ii) (h) (1), relating to sales at wholesale to stores in Westchester, Richmond, and Nassau Counties, incorrectly omitted homogenized-Vitamin D milk in the table of listed prices. The words "and homogenized-Vitamin D" should be inserted in the table of listed prices immediately after "homogenized, Vitamin D."

5. Section 1499.73 (a) (1) (ii) (h) (2) (A), relating to sales at wholesale to combination store-eating establishments in Suffolk County, contains a typographical error in that "½ pints" was printed as "½ points." The paragraph should be revised so that it reads "½ pints."

Issued and effective this 6th day of April 1943.

PART 1390—MACHINERY AND TRANSPORTATION EQUIPMENT

MACHINES AND PARTS, AND MACHINERY SERVICES

A statement of the considerations involved in the issuance of this amendment, issued simultaneously herewith, has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

Section 1390.8a is added to read as follows:

§ 1390.8a Maximum prices for fixed capacitors of the type and size used for military radio and radar equipment. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this regulation, the maximum prices for fixed capacitors of the type and size used for military radio and radar equipment shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(a) Maximum prices; price lists. The maximum price for fixed capacitors of the type and size used for military radio and radar equipment shall be the price stated in the price list of the seller in effect on April 1, 1943 less all discounts, allowances and any other deductions from the list price in effect to a purchaser of the same class on that date. This price is subject to the approval of the Office of Price Administration in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (e).

(b) Maximum prices; formula pricing. If a fixed capacitor of the type and size used for military radio and radar equipment cannot be priced in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a), its maximum price shall be determined by using the price determining method the seller used on April 1, 1943. In applying that price determining method a manufacturer must use labor rates and materials prices in effect to him on April 1, 1943. The price determining method used to compute maximum prices under this paragraph is subject to the approval of the Office of Price Administration in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (e).

(c) Mica capacitors. Manufacturers of mica capacitors may add to the maximum price determined in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) or (b) increases in unit costs due to increases realized subsequent to April 1, 1943, in the cost of block mica and in the cost of splitting and cutting mica film, except that nothing in this paragraph shall permit the addition of an increase in costs due to an increase in labor rates subsequent to April 1, 1943. Sellers other than manufacturers may increase the prices of mica capacitors by the amount that prices have been increased to them pursuant to the provisions of the preceding sentence.

(d) New list prices. (1) Any person who desires or is required in writing by the Office of Price Administration to establish a list price for fixed capacitors of the type and size used for military radio and radar equipment shall file a report pursuant to subparagraph (2) hereof containing a proposed price determined under paragraph (b), and such price shall thereafter be the maximum price: Provided, That the Office of Price Administration either approves such price in writing or fails to disapprove it within 30 days after the receipt of the report. Such price may be disapproved only on the ground that it was not computed in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b) or because the Office of Price Administration finds that a computation at a later date may result in a lower maximum price.

(2) Under the circumstances set forth in subparagraph (1), a report shall be filed with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., containing the proposed list price, the proposed effective date, the class or classes of purchasers to whom such price is to be quoted, all relevant data used in determining such price, and evidence that such price was determined in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (b).

(e) Approval of maximum prices.—(1) Reports. Every seller of fixed capacitors of the type and size used for military radio and radar equipment shall file with the Office of Price Administration in Washington, D. C., before April 30, 1943, a report stating the maximum prices established by this section, the method by which he determined those prices, and the discounts, allowances and other price differentials in effect therefor on April 1, 1943. The report filed by sellers other than manufacturers shall be accompanied by a list of the cost prices to such sellers.

(2) Approval. Each maximum price and price determining method reported in the manner just set forth shall be subject to the approval of the Office of Price Administration within 30 days after the receipt of the report. Within five days prior to filing such report, the seller may quote, contract, sell or deliver at the proposed price; but final settlement shall be made in accordance with the action of the Office of Price Administration on the report, and, if required by the Office of Price Administration, refunds shall be made.

This amendment shall become effective as of April 1, 1943.

Twin State proposes to use the proceeds from the sale of its New Hampshire Properties to redeem its $2,435,200 outstanding principal amount of First Lien and Refunding Mortgage 5½% Gold Bonds, Series A, dated March 2, 1925 and due March 1, 1945 at the current call price of 101% and to reduce its outstanding bank loans from $2,255,250 to an amount estimated at $451,300.

II

A. It is proposed that Nepsco will prior to the merger: (1) make a capital contribution to Central Vermont by the surrender of 11,829 shares of the Common Stock of Central Vermont for the specific purpose of creating a capital surplus to be used forthwith for the write-off of $341,421.55 (amount carried in Account 100.5 "Electric Plant Acquisition Adjustments"), and for the creation, by transfer from such capital surplus, of a reserve in the amount of $250,000 against its investment in "Other Physical Property"; (2) make a capital contribution to Twin State by the cancelation of Twin State's obligation to it which, together with accrued interest, aggregated $319,240.47 at December 31, 1942 and by the surrender of its holdings of all of the outstanding 15,525 shares of 5% Cumulative Preferred Stock of Twin State.

B. It is proposed that Twin State prior to the merger will call for redemption and retirement all of its outstanding 7% Prior Lien Stock (at 110% plus accrued dividends) and the obligation to deposit the redemption price in trust is to be undertaken by Central Vermont under the Agreement of Merger.

C. It is further proposed: (1) that Nepsco tender for conversion its present holdings of 17,929 shares of Common Stock of Twin State and receive therefor shares of Common Stock, no par value, of Central Vermont on the basis of one share of such Common Stock for each $50 of Nepsco's equity interest in the assets of Twin State to be acquired by Central Vermont upon the merger; (2) that Central Vermont issue and deliver to an agent appointed by Twin State, the said shares of Common Stock, no par value, for distribution to Nepsco, and that Nepsco acquire said shares; (3) that Central Vermont issue and sell for cash 960 shares of Common Stock, no par value, at the price of $50 per share and that Nepsco purchase such shares.

D. It is further proposed that Central Vermont: (1) will assume the liability for the payment of the bank debt of Twin State in the estimated amount of $451,300; (2) issue and sell privately for cash $800,000 principal amount of its First Mortgage Bonds 3½%, Series C, due 1973; (3) issue and sell privately for cash at par $2,150,000 principal amount of Fifteen-Year Serial Unsecured Notes (interest rates to be supplied by amendment); (4) issue and sell for cash 5,000 shares of Preferred Stock, $6 Dividend Series, of which Series, 37,856 shares are presently outstanding.

E. It is proposed that proxies be solicited from the stockholders of 7% Prior Lien Stock of Twin State in connection with the sale of Twin State's New Hampshire Properties to New Hampshire and the merger of its Vermont Properties with Central Vermont.

F. It is further proposed that Central Vermont apply the proceeds from the sale of its Notes, Bonds, Preferred Stock and Common Stock as follows: (1) to pay bank loans in the amount of $250,000; (2) to pay the bank loans of Twin State to be assumed under the agreement of merger; (3) to pay the redemption price of the 7% Prior Lien Stock of Twin State; (4) to pay for certain securities proposed to be acquired from Nepsco; (5) to provide the Company with the necessary funds for the purchase and construction of property to be used in the carrying out of its corporate purposes.

III

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter VIII—Food Distribution Administration[1]

PART 802—SUGAR DETERMINATIONS

DETERMINATION OF FAIR AND REASONABLE WAGE RATES FOR PERSONS EMPLOYED IN PRODUCTION, CULTIVATION, OR HARVESTING OF 1943 CROP OF SUGAR BEETS

Whereas, section 301 (b) of the Sugar Act of 1937, as amended, provides, as one of the conditions for payment to producers of sugar beets and sugarcane as follows:

(b) That all persons employed on the farm in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of sugar beets or sugarcane with respect to which an application for payment is made shall have been paid in full for all such work, and shall have been paid wages therefor at rates not less than those that may be determined by the Secretary to be fair and reasonable after investigation and due notice and opportunity for public hearing; and in making such determination the Secretary shall take into consideration the standards therefor formerly established by him under the Agricultural Adjustment Act, as amended, and the difference in conditions among various producing areas: Provided, however, That a payment which would be payable except for the foregoing provisions of this subsection may be made, as the Secretary may determine, in such manner that the laborer will receive an amount, insofar as such payment will suffice, equal to the amount of the accrued unpaid wages for such work, and that the producer will receive the remainder, if any, of such payment.

And whereas, the Secretary of Agriculture, pursuant to a notice of hearing, dated February 15, 1943, held public hearings for the purpose of receiving evidence likely to be of assistance to him in determining fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production, cultivation, or harvesting of the 1943 crop of sugar beets.

Now, therefore, I, Claude R. Wickard, Secretary of Agricultaure, after investigation and due consideration of the evidence obtained at the aforesaid hearings and all other information before me, do hereby make the following determination:

§ 802.141 Fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production, cultivation or harvesting of the 1943 crop of sugar beets. Fair and reasonable wage rates for persons employed in the production, cultivation or harvesting of the 1943 crop of sugar beets shall be as follows:

For any farm or part of a farm, which is covered by a separate labor agreement, from which sugar beets are contracted to be delivered to factories located in the following districts:

(a) Fair and reasonable wage rates for the 1943 crop of sugar beets.

(b) Provided, however:

(1) That in instances where inexperienced workers or workers between 14 and 16 years of age are employed on a time basis, the fair and reasonable rate per hour shall be:

(i) For inexperienced workers during a reasonable training period three-fourths of the hourly rate specified herein for the operation to be performed;

(ii) For workers between 14 and 16 years of age, two-thirds of the hourly rate specified herein for the operation to be performed. (Employment of such workers not to exceed 8 hours per day.)

(2) That in an instance in which the use of a special machine method of planting, cultivation, or harvesting (other than specified under item 3 below) reduces the amount of labor required as compared with the method in previous use, the fair and reasonable rate for the operation involved shall be the rate agreed upon between the producer and the laborer, provided such rate is determined by the State Committee as equivalent to the piece rate specified herein for the part of such work performed;

(3) That in instances where segmented or sheared seed is used in planting and the amount of labor for blocking and thinning is reduced because no hand thinning is required (as compared to the amount of labor where hand thinning is required) the fair and reasonable piece rate for blocking and thinning shall be 75% of the rate specified herein or the rate agreed upon, whichever is higher;

(4) That if the producer and the laborer agree upon a wage rate for any operation or a combination of operations higher than that prescribed herein, payment in full of the amount agreed upon must be made to qualify the producer for payment;

(5) That the wage rate for any work in the production, cultivation or harvesting of sugar beets for which a rate is not specifically provided herein, shall be the rate agreed upon between the producer and the laborer;

(6) That if the producer and the laborer agree in writing that the laborer is to receive the combined rate specified herein for blocking, thinning, hoeing and weeding, for all such work in the production and cultivation of the crop regardless of the number of hoeings or weedings required, the payment of this amount will be deemed to meet the requirements of this determination with respect to such work;

(7) That in addition to the foregoing, the producer shall furnish to the laborer, without charge, the perquisites customarily furnished by him, such as a house, garden plot, and similar incidentals; and

(8) That the producer shall not, through any subterfuge or device whatsoever, reduce the wage rates to laborers below those determined above.

Chapter IX—Food Distribution Administration

PART 912—MILK IN THE DUBUQUE, IOWA, MARKETING AREA

Order amending the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Dubuque, Iowa, Marketing Area.

It is provided in Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress (May 12, 1933), as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (hereinafter referred to as the "act"), that the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States (hereinafter referred to as the "Secretary") shall, subject to the provisions of the act, issue orders regulating such handling of certain agricultural commodities (including milk and its products) as is in the current of interstate or foreign commerce, or which directly burdens, obstructs, or affects interstate or foreign commerce in such commodities.

§ 912.1 Finding and determinations—(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the act and the rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR 900.1–900.17; 6 F.R. 6570; 7 F.R. 3350; 8 F.R. 2815) a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is hereby found that:

(1) The aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby amended and all of the terms and conditions of said order, as amended and as hereby amended, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The prices calculated to give milk produced for sale in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area a purchasing power equivalent to the purchasing power of such milk as determined pursuant to sections 2 and 8 (e) of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds, and other economic conditions which affect market supplies of and demand for such milk, and the minimum prices set forth in the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk, and be in the public interest; and

(3) The aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activities specified in the aforesaid tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, upon which a hearing has been held.

The foregoing findings are supplementary and in addition to the findings made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and the findings made in connection with the issuance of each of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings are hereby ratified and affirmed except insofar as such findings may be in conflict with the findings herein set forth.

(b) Determination. It is hereby determined that handlers (excluding cooperative associations of producers who are not engaged in processing, distributing, or shipping milk covered by the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby further amended) of at least 50 percent of the volume of milk covered by said order, as amended and as hereby further amended, which is marketed within the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area refused or failed to sign the tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area; and it is hereby further determined that:

(1) The refusal or failure of such handlers to sign said tentatively approved marketing agreement, as amended, tends to prevent the effectuation of the declared policy of the act;

(2) The issuance of this order further amending the order, as amended, is the only practical means, pursuant to the declared policy of the act, of advancing the interests of producers of milk which is produced for sale in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area; and

(3) The issuance of this order, further amending the aforesaid order, as amended, is approved or favored by at least two-thirds of the producers who participated in a referendum on the question of the approval of this order and who, during the determined representative period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in said Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area.

§ 912.2 Order relative to handling. It is, therefore, ordered that, from and after the effective date hereof, the handling of milk in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended and as hereby further amended; and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended in the following respect:

Delete § 912.6 (a) (4) and substitute therefor the following:

(4) For Class III milk, the price shall be the result of the following computation by the market administrator: multiply by 2.4 the average weekly prevailing price of the cheese known as "Twins" on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange, Plymouth, Wisconsin (or in the absence of such price, the price of such "Twins" at Chicago, as reported by the United States Department of Agriculture), and multiply such result by 3.5: Provided, That during any delivery period in which there is in effect an offer by Commodity Credit Corporation to purchase American Cheddar cheese for resale to manufacturers, the price offered by Commodity Credit Corporation shall be used in lieu of the aforesaid price of "Twins" in computing the price for Class III milk: Provided, further, That for purposes of determining the butterfat differential pursuant to § 912.10 (b) the price for Class III milk shall be computed on the basis of the price of the aforesaid "Twins."

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 6th day of April 1943, to be effective on and after the 11th day of April 1943. Witness my hand and the official seal of the Department of Agriculture.

TITLE 26—INTERNAL REVENUE

Chapter I—Bureau of Internal Revenue

[T.D. 5256]

PART 19—INCOME TAX UNDER THE INTERNAL REVENUE CODE

STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ON REFUNDS AND CREDITS

In order to conform Regulations 103 (Part 19, Title 26, Code of Federal Regulations, 1940 Sup.) to section 169 of the Revenue Act of 1942 (Public Law 753, 77th Congress), approved October 21, 1942, such regulations are amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. There is inserted immediately preceding § 19.322-1 the following:

SEC. 169. STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS ON REFUNDS AND CREDITS. (Revenue Act of 1942, Title I.)

(a) Limit on amount of credit or refund. Section 322 (b) (2) is amended to read as follows:

(2) Limit on amount of credit or refund. The amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid—

(A) If a return was filed by the taxpayer, and the claim was filed within three years from the time the return was filed, during the three years immediately preceding the filing of the claim.

(B) If a claim was filed, and (i) no return was filed, or (ii) if the claim was not filed within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer, during the two years immediately preceding the filing of the claim.

(C) If no claim was filed and the allowance of credit or refund is made within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer, during the three years immediately preceding the allowance of the credit or refund.

(D) If no claim was filed, and (i) no return was filed or (ii) the allowance of the credit or refund is not made within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer, during the two years immediately preceding the allowance of the credit or refund.

(3) Exceptions in the case of waivers.—If both the Commissioner and the taxpayer have, within the period prescribed in paragraph (1) for the filing of a claim for credit or refund, agreed in writing under the provisions of section 276 (b) to extend beyond the period prescribed in section 275 the time within which the Commissioner may make an assessment, the period within which a claim for credit or refund may be filed, or credit or refund allowed or made if no claim is filed, shall be the period within which the Commissioner may make an assessment pursuant to such agreement or any extension thereof and six months thereafter, except that the provisions of paragraph (1) shall apply to any claim filed or credit or refund allowed or made, before the execution of such agreement. The amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the total of the portions of tax paid (A) during the two years immediately preceding the execution of such agreement, or, if such agreement was executed within three years from the time the return was filed, during the three years immediately preceding the execution of such agreement, (B) after the execution of the agreement and before the expiration of the period within which the Commissioner might make an assessment pursuant to such agreement or any extension thereof, and (C) during six months after the expiration of such period, except that the provisions of paragraph (2) shall apply to any claim filed, or credit or refund allowed, before the execution of the agreement. If any portion of the tax is paid after the expiration of the period within which the Commissioner might make an assessment pursuant to such agreement, and if no claim for credit or refund is filed after the time of such payment and before the end of six months after the expiration of such period, then credit or refund may be allowed or made if a claim therefor is filed by the taxpayer within six months from the time of such payment, or, if no claim is filed within such six-month period after the payment, if the credit or refund is allowed or made within such period, but the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid during the six months immediately preceding the filing of the claim, or, if no claim was filed (and the credit or refund is allowed after six months after the expiration of the period within which the Commissioner might make an assessment), during the six months immediately preceding the allowance of the credit or refund.

(4) Return considered filed on due date.—For the purposes of this subsection, a return filed before the last day prescribed by law for the filing thereof shall be considered as filed on such last day. For the purposes of paragraphs (2) and (3) of this subsection, and for the purposes of subsection (d) of this section, an advance payment of any portion of the tax made at the time such return was filed shall be considered as made on the last day prescribed by law for the payment of the tax even if the taxpayer elected to pay the tax in installments, on the last day prescribed for the payment of the first installment. For the purposes of this paragraph, the last day prescribed by law for filing the return or paying the tax shall be determined without regard to any extension of time granted the taxpayer.

(5) Special period of limitation with respect to bad debts and worthless securities.—If the claim for credit or refund relates to an overpayment on account of—

(A) the deductibility by the taxpayer, under section 23 (k) (1), section 23 (k) (4), or section 204 (c), of a debt as a debt which became worthless, or, under section 23 (g) (2) or (k) (2), of a loss from worthlessness of a security, or

(B) the effect that the deductibility of a debt or loss described in subparagraph (A) has on the application to the taxpayer of a carry-over or of a carry-back, in lieu of the three-year period of limitation prescribed in paragraph (1), the period shall be 7 years from the date prescribed by law for filing the return for the year with respect to which the claim is made. In the case of such a claim, the amount of the credit or refund may exceed the portion of the tax paid within the period provided in paragraph (2) or paragraph (3), whichever is applicable, to the extent of the amount of the overpayment attributable to the deductibility of items described in this paragraph.

(b) Overpayment found by board. Section 322 (d) is amended to read as follows:

(d) Overpayment found by board. If the Board finds that there is no deficiency and further finds that the taxpayer has made an overpayment of tax in respect of the taxable year in respect of which the Commissioner determined the deficiency, the Board shall have jurisdiction to determine the amount of such overpayment, and such amount shall, when the decision of the Board has become final, be credited or refunded to the taxpayer. No such credit or refund shall be made of any portion of the tax unless the Board determines as part of its decision (1) that such portion was paid (A) within two years before the filing of the claim, the mailing of the notice of deficiency, or the execution of an agreement by both the Commissioner and the taxpayer pursuant to section 276 (b) to extend beyond the time prescribed in section 275 the time within which the Commissioner might assess the tax, whichever is earliest, or (B) within three years before the filing of the claim, the mailing of the notice of deficiency, or the execution of the agreement, whichever is earliest, if the claim was filed, the notice of deficiency mailed, or the agreement executed within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer, or (C) after the execution of such an agreement and before the expiration of the period within which the Commissioner might make an assessment pursuant to such agreement or any extension thereof, or (D) after the mailing of the notice of deficiency; or (2), if such portion was not paid within the period described in clause (1), but the notice of deficiency was mailed within seven years from the time prescribed for the filing of the return, or a claim described in subsection (b) (5) was filed, that such portion does not exceed the amount of the overpayment attributable to the deductibility of items described in subsection (b) (5).

(c) Effective date of amendment. The amendment inserting paragraph (5) of section 322 (b) shall be applicable to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1938.

SEC. 101. TAXABLE YEARS TO WHICH AMENDMENTS APPLICABLE. (Revenue Act of 1942, Title I.)

Except as otherwise expressly provided, the amendments made by this title shall be applicable only with respect to taxable years beginning after December 31, 1941.

PAR. 2. Section 19.322-7 is amended as follows:

(A) By striking out the heading and first sentence of the section and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

§ 19.322-7 Limitations upon the crediting and refunding of taxes paid; taxable years beginning prior to January 1, 1942—(a) General rule. Unless a claim for credit or refund of an overpayment for a taxable year beginning prior to January 1, 1942 is filed within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer or within two years from the time the tax was paid, the Commissioner is prohibited from allowing or making a credit or refund of income tax imposed by chapter 1 for such year after both periods have expired.

(B) By striking out the last sentence of the first paragraph of the section and inserting in lieu thereof the following: The provisions of this subsection are subject to the exceptions provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

(C) By inserting immediately after paragraph (b) (5) of the section the following:

(c) Overpayments on account of bad debts, worthless securities, etc. If the claim for credit or refund relates to an overpayment on account of:

(1) The deductibility by the taxpayer, under section 23 (k) (1), section 23 (k) (4), or section 204 (c), of a debt as a debt which became worthless, or, under section 23 (g) (2) or (k) (2), of a loss from the worthlessness of a security, or

(2) The effect that the deductibility of a debt or loss described in clause (1) has on the application to the taxpayer of a carry-over or of a carry-back, such as the carry-over of a capital loss provided in section 117 (e) or the carry-over or carry-back of a net operating loss provided in section 122 (b), then in lieu of the three-year period from the date the return was filed in which the claim may be filed or credit or refund allowed or made, as prescribed in (a) of this section, the period shall be seven years from the date prescribed by law for filing the return (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing such return) for the taxable year for which the claim is made or the credit or refund allowed or made. In the case of such a claim, the amount of the credit or refund may exceed the portion of the tax paid within the period provided in (a) of this section to the extent of the amount of the overpayment attributable to the deductibility of items described in this paragraph. Such a credit or refund cannot exceed the sum of the following: (i) the portion, if any, of the tax paid within the period provided in (a) of this section, and (ii) the amount of overpayment due to the de-ductibility of items described in this paragraph. The portion of an overpayment due to items described in this paragraph shall be determined by treating the proper deduction of such items as the first adjustment to be made in computing such overpayment.

Although claim for credit or refund is not filed and credit or refund is not allowed or made within the seven-year period described in the preceding paragraph, credit or refund may nevertheless be allowed or made if claim therefor is filed or if such credit or refund is allowed or made within the two-year period prescribed in (a) of this section, subject to the provisions of (a) which limit the amount of credit or refund in the case of a claim filed within such period or, if no claim is filed, in the case of credit or refund allowed or made within such period.

The provisions of section 322 (b) (5) do not apply to an overpayment due to the deductibility of a debt that became partially worthless during the taxable year, but only to an overpayment due to the deductibility of a debt which became entirely worthless during such year.

The provisions of this subsection with regard to an overpayment caused by the deductibility of a bad debt under section 23 (k) (1), section 23 (k) (4), or section 204 (c) or of a loss from the worthlessness of a security under section 23 (g) (2) or (k) (2) are likewise applicable to an overpayment caused by the effect that the deductibility of such a bad debt or loss has on the application to the taxpayer of a carry-over or of a carry-back.

For the limitation on the allowance of interest for an overpayment where credit or refund is subject to the provisions of section 322 (b) (5), see section 3771 (d), as added by section 124 (c) of the Revenue Act of 1942.

PAR. 3. Section 19.322–8 is renumbered § 19.322–9, and there is inserted immediately after § 19.322–7 the following new section:

§ 19.322–8 Limitations upon the crediting and refunding of taxes paid; taxable years beginning after December 31, 1941—(a) General rule. Unless a claim for credit or refund of an overpayment for a taxable year beginning after December 31, 1941 is filed within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer or within two years from the time the tax was paid, the Commissioner is prohibited from allowing or making a credit or refund of income tax imposed by chapter 1 for such year after both periods have expired. If no return is filed by the taxpayer, the Commissioner is prohibited from allowing or making a credit or refund of such tax after two years from the time the tax was paid unless before the expiration of such 2-year period a claim therefor is filed. The amount of the credit or refund in any case shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid:

(1) If a return was filed by the taxpayer, and the claim was filed within three years from the time the return was filed, during the three years immediately preceding the filing of the claim.

(2) If a claim was filed, and (A) no return was filed, or (B) if the claim was not filed within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer, during the two years immediately preceding the filing of the claim.

(3) If no claim was filed and the allowance of credit or refund is made within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer, during the three years immediately preceding the allowance of the credit or refund.

(4) If no claim was filed, and (A) no return was filed or (B) the allowance of the credit or refund is not made within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer, during the two years immediately preceding the allowance of the credit or refund.

For the purposes of this section, a return filed before the last day prescribed by law for the filing thereof, or an advance payment of any portion of the tax prior to such date, shall be considered as filed or made on the last day prescribed by law for the filing of such return or the payment of such tax. If the taxpayer elected to pay the tax in installments, such an advance payment shall be considered as made on the last day prescribed for the payment of the first installment, but in all cases the last day prescribed by law for filing the return or paying the tax shall be determined without regard to any extension of time granted the taxpayer for filing the return or paying the tax. The provisions of this subsection are subject to the exceptions provided in paragraphs (b), (c), and (d) of this section.

(b) Limitations in case waiver executed. If the Commissioner and the taxpayer, within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer or within two years from the time the tax was paid, whichever period expires the later, have agreed in writing under the provisions of section 276 (b) to extend beyond the period prescribed in section 275 the time within which the Commissioner may make an assessment, then the period within which a claim for credit or refund may be filed, or a credit or refund may be allowed or made if no claim is filed, is the period within which the Commissioner may make an assessment pursuant to such agreement or any extension thereof, and for six months thereafter. The amount of the credit or refund in such case shall not, however, exceed the sum of:

(1) The portion of the tax paid during the two years immediately preceding the execution of the agreement between the Commissioner and the taxpayer, or, if such agreement was executed within three years from the time the return was filed, during the three years immediately preceding the execution of such agreement;

(2) The portion of the tax paid after the execution of the agreement between the Commissioner and the taxpayer and before the expiration of the period within which the Commissioner might make an assessment pursuant to such agreement or any extension thereof; and

(3) The portion of tax paid during the six months immediately following the expiration of the period within which the Commissioner might make an assessment pursuant to the agreement between the Commissioner and the taxpayer or any extension of such agreement.

If any portion of the tax is paid within six months after the expiration of the period within which the Commissioner might make an assessment pursuant to an agreement between the Commissioner and the taxpayer or any extension thereof, and if credit or refund is allowed or made after such payment and before the end of such six-month period, or if claim for credit or refund is filed after such payment and before the end of such six-month period, then the limitations on such credit or refund are those set forth in the preceding provisions of this subsection.

Credit or refund may be allowed or made more than six months after the expiration of the period within which the Commissioner might make an assessment pursuant to an agreement between the Commissioner and the taxpayer or any extension thereof (in cases other than those described in the immediately preceding paragraph) only if such credit or refund is allowed or made within six months after the tax was paid or if claim for such credit or refund is filed within six months after such payment. In such case, the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid during the six months immediately preceding the filing of the claim or, if no claim was filed, the amount of the credit or refund shall not exceed the portion of the tax paid during the six months immediately preceding the allowance of the credit or refund. The two-year period provided in section 322 (b) (1) and (2) is not applicable in any case in which the tax was paid after the execution of such an agreement.

If a claim for credit or refund is filed or if credit or refund is allowed or made before the execution of any agreement between the Commissioner and the taxpayer to extend the period within which the Commissioner might make an assessment, the limitations on such credit or refund shall be those specified in paragraph (a) of this section.

The agreement referred to in this subsection will not be considered to have been executed until the date it is signed by or for the Commissioner.

(c) Overpayment on account of bad debts, worthless securities, etc. If the claim for credit or refund relates to an overpayment on account of:

(1) The deductibility by the taxpayer, under section 23 (k) (1), section 23 (k) (4), or section 204 (c), of a debt as a debt which became worthless, or, under section 23 (g) (2) or (k) (2), of a loss from the worthlessness of a security, or

(2) The effect that the deductibility of a debt or loss described in clause (1) has on the application to the taxpayer of a carry-over or of a carry-back, such as the carry-over of a capital loss provided in section 117 (e) or the carry-over or carry-back of a net operating loss provided in section 122 (b),

then in lieu of the three-year period from the date the return was filed in which the claim may be filed or credit or refund allowed or made, as prescribed in (a) of this section, the period shall be seven years from the date prescribed by law for filing the return (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing such return) for the taxable year for which the claim is made or the credit or refund allowed or made. In the case of such a claim, the amount of the credit or refund may exceed the portion of the tax paid within the period provided in (a) or (b) of this section, whichever is applicable, to the extent of the amount of the overpayment attributable to the deductibility of items described in this paragraph. Such a credit or refund cannot exceed the sum of the following: (i) the portion, if any, of the tax paid within the period provided in (a) or (b) of this section, whichever is applicable, and (ii) the amount of overpayment due to the deductibility of items described in this paragraph. The portion of an overpayment due to items described in this paragraph shall be determined by treating the proper deduction of such items as the first adjustment to be made in computing such overpayment.

If claim for credit or refund is not filed and if credit or refund is not allowed or made within the seven-year period described in the preceding paragraph, then credit or refund may be allowed or made only if claim therefor is filed within, or if such credit or refund is allowed or made within, any period prescribed in paragraph (a) or (b) of this section, whichever is applicable, subject to the provisions of such paragraph (a) or (b) which limit the amount of credit or refund in the case of a claim filed or, if no claim was filed, in the case of refund or credit allowed or made within such applicable period.

The provisions of section 322 (b) (5) do not apply to an overpayment due to the deductibility of a debt that became partially worthless during the taxable year, but only to an overpayment due to the deductibility of a debt which became entirely worthless during such year.

The provisions of this subsection with regard to an overpayment caused by the deductibility of a bad debt under section 23 (k) (1), section 23 (k) (4), or section 204 (c) or of a loss from the worthlessness of a security under section 23 (g) (2) or (k) (2) are likewise applicable to an overpayment caused by the effect that the deductibility of such a bad debt or loss has on the application to the taxpayer of a carry-over or of a carry-back.

For the limitation on the allowance of interest for an overpayment where credit or refund is subject to the provisions of section 322 (b) (5), see section 3771 (d), as added by section 124 (c) of the Revenue Act of 1942.

(d) Overpayment determined by Board. In any case where a person having a right to file a petition with the Board of Tax Appeals with respect to a deficiency in income tax imposed by chapter 1 filed such petition within the prescribed time, no credit or refund of the tax for the year to which the deficiency relates shall be allowed or made, and no suit for the recovery of any part of such tax shall be instituted by the taxpayer, subject to the following exceptions:

(1) If the Board finds that there is no deficiency but that the person has overpaid his tax for the year to which the notice of deficiency relates, and the decision of the Board as to the amount overpaid has become final (see section 1140, set forth in paragraph 39 of the Appendix to these regulations), the overpayment shall be credited or refunded, but no such credit or refund shall be made of any portion of the tax unless the Board determines as part of its decision:

(i) That such portion was paid:

(a) Within two years immediately preceding the filing of a claim for credit or refund thereof, the mailing of the notice of deficiency, or the execution of an agreement by both the Commissioner and the taxpayer pursuant to section 276 (b) to extend beyond the time prescribed in section 275 the time within which the Commissioner might assess the tax, whichever event occurs first in point of time, or

(b) Within three years immediately preceding the filing of the claim, the mailing of the notice of deficiency, or the execution of the agreement, whichever event occurs first in point of time, if the claim was filed, the notice of deficiency mailed, or the agreement executed within three years from the time the return was filed by the taxpayer, or

(c) After the execution of such an agreement and before the expiration of the period within which the Commissioner might make an assessment pursuant to such agreement or any extension thereof, or

(d) After the mailing of the notice of deficiency; or

(ii) If such portion of the tax was not paid within the period described in (i) of this paragraph, but the notice of deficiency was mailed within seven years from the time prescribed for the filing of the return (determined without regard to any extension of time for filing such return), or a claim of the type described in paragraph (c) of this section was filed, that such portion of the tax does not exceed the amount of the overpayment attributable to the deductibility of items described in paragraph (c) of this section. The amount of the overpayment attributable to the deductibility of items described in paragraph (c) of this section shall be determined under the provisions of that subsection. For the limitation on the allowance of interest for such portion of the overpayment see section 3771 (d), as added by section 124 (c) of the Revenue Act of 1942.

(2) In the case of a jeopardy assessment made under section 273, if the amount which should have been assessed as determined by a decision of the Board which has become final is less than the amount already collected, the excess payment shall be credited or refunded subject to a determination being made by the Board with respect to the time of payment as stated in (d) (1) of this section.

(3) If the amount of the deficiency determined by the Board (in a case where collection has not been stayed by the filing of a bond) is disallowed in whole or in part by the reviewing court, then the overpayment resulting from such disallowance shall be credited or refunded without the making of claim therefor subject to a determination being made by the Board with respect to the time of payment as stated in (d) (1) of this section. (See section 1146, set forth in paragraph 45 of the Appendix to these regulations.)

(4) Where the amount collected is in excess of the amount computed in accordance with the decision of the Board which has become final, the excess payment shall be credited or refunded within the period of limitation provided in section 322 (b).

(5) Where an amount is collected after the statutory period of limitation upon the beginning of distraint or a proceeding in court for collection has expired (see § 19.275–2), the taxpayer may file a claim for refund of the amount so collected within the period of limitation provided in section 322 (b). In any such case, the decision of the Board as to whether the statutory period upon collection of the tax expired before notice of the deficiency was mailed shall, when the decision becomes final, be conclusive.

§ 1306.165 Appendix G: Maximum prices for certain prime iron or steel products for various zones. The maximum delivered price for iron or steel products specifically covered by any zone table in this Appendix G when shipped within and between the zones and between the zones and the non-zoned area shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of this Appendix G regardless of any other provisions of this Revised Price Schedule No. 49. Sales of iron or steel products which are not specifically covered by this Appendix G shall continue to be governed by the applicable provisions of this Revised Price Schedule No. 49 without reference to the provisions of this Appendix G.

(a) General provisions—(1) Products covered. The products covered by this Appendix G are those specifically listed in the zone tables of the Appendix.

(2) Relationship to § 1306.159, Appendix A. The provisions of the following paragraphs of § 1306.159, Appendix A, shall also apply to this Appendix G:

"Zone" means the geographical or trading area whose boundaries are described in the tables in paragraph (b) below.

"Zone destination price" means the price at the buyer's destination located within a zone, computed in accordance with the provisions of subparagraph (4) below. (There is no zone destination price where the destination is within the non-zoned area.)

"Zone shipping point price" means the price at a shipping point within a zone, computed in accordance with the provisions of subparagraph (5) below.

(4) Method of computing the zone destination price. The zone destination price shall be the aggregate of the following as set forth in paragraph (b) below in the zone price component index for the zone in which the buyer's destination is located:

QUANTITY DIFFERENTIALS

All orders of one day from one person for shipment at one time or at seller's convenience to one destination shall be combined to determine the quantity bracket in accordance with the provisions of each of the following tables:

TABLE E–1.—Hot rolled products

Structural shapes.
Stair stringer channels.
Plates (all thicknesses), including tank, firebox, high carbon, copper bearing, and Armco iron.

TABLE H-3-c.—Cold saw cutting extras on bars

The standard Cold Saw Cutting Schedule as shown on Tables H-3-c to H-3-g inclusive, is to be used on Hot Rolled Steel Bars when saw cut and on all Cold Finished Steel whether sawed or sheared to length.

Please note particularly that the Cold Saw Cutting Schedule applies on all lengths of Cold Finished Steel with the exception of:

STANDARD STOCK LENGTHS AS FOLLOWS:

Rounds, 10 to 12 ft. random (at option of seller) and 20 ft. lengths.

*TRANSMISSION SIZES ONLY, 10 to 12 ft. random (at option of seller) and 16, 20 and 24 ft. lengths.

*The following sizes ONLY are regarded as transmission sizes: 1 15/16", 1 11/16", 1 15/16", 2 3/16", 2 7/16", 2 11/16", 3 3/16", 3 7/16", 3 11/16", 4 3/16", 4 11/16", 5 3/16", 5 15/16". Where any lengths other than the above are specified, or when exact lengths within the random limits are ordered, Cold Saw Cutting may be charged.

EXAMPLE

[6 Pieces 4 7/16" Round Turned and Polished Shafting cut 6'6" long]

FIRST. Under list of extras for "Other Than Stock Lengths." Table H-3-d, locate "Rounds Turned and Polished, and find division covering 4 7/16" Round which comes under the heading "over 4" to 6" inclusive." This gives S as the letter E to be used.

Then refer to Table H-3-e and using Schedule E find the division including the length of 6'6" which comes under the heading "Over 5 ft. to 7'." This gives an extra of 25¢ per cut which is to be added to the price of the steel.

SECOND. Apply the per cut charge according to Table H-3-f. Since the table does not show 4 7/16" dia. use the next larger size Rounds which is 4 15/16". Follow across to the right for six cuts which comes under the heading "5 to 9 cuts." This gives a cutting charge of 40¢ per cut.

For flats and other shapes first find the sectional area according to Table H-3-d. Then refer to Table H-3-d under stock lengths and find the proper schedule letter for the quality of steel required, under the heading for the given sectional area for the size. Then refer to Table H-3-e for the extra per 100 lbs for lengths than stock lengths. The per cut charge will be found on Table H-3-f opposite the cross sectional area shown in the extreme left hand column.

For lengths of 3' and over ---------- 2 times width charge
For lengths under 3' to 1' ---------- 2½ times width charge.
For lengths under 1' ---------- 3 times width charge.

All sheets cut to size charged on gross weight, except Cold Finished Sheets which are charged on net weight. If waste is not excessive.

Intermediate gauges will be charged on the basis of the next lighter gauge.

A. RECTANGULAR SHAPES

1. If width* of piece ordered is less than ¼ of the width of any stock size sheet in same type, gauge and finish add ten percent (10%) of the stock size price.

2. If width* of piece ordered is ¼, but less than ½ of the width of any stock size sheet in same type, gauge and finish add fifteen percent (15%) of the stock size price.

3. If width* of piece ordered is ½ or more of the width of any stock size sheet in same type, gauge and finish add twenty percent (20%) of the stock size price.

4. If the cut size or sizes ordered are cut without waste from any stock size, none of the above percentage extras (10%, 15%, 20%) may be added, but the following shearing charges may be made for the number of cuts actually made in filling the order. Figure one first cut for each thickness ordered. In no case shall the shearing charge exceed the value of the cut pieces figured at 12¢ per pound.

*The smallest dimension shall be considered the width regardless of surface finish or grain structure. If a charge is made in accordance with (1), (2), or (3) the net weight of the cut material ordered shall be the weight used in invoicing.

MISCELLANEOUS EXTRAS

A. GENERAL CONDITIONS

The prices are list prices subject to differentials and cover new material only.

All prices herein are based on galvanized weight.

Differentials apply to the total weight of all galvanized materials (except galvanized sheets, produced at mills) ordered in one day for shipment at one time or at the seller's convenience to one destination.

For intermediate sizes use next higher list.

B. DIFFERENTIALS

For any material from which paint or grease has to be burned off not more than 50% may be added to galvanizing charge.

The following length differentials apply to angles, tees, channels, flat bars, flat strips, half ovals, rounds, squares, half rounds and may be added to net galvanizing extra:

	Rate per 100 pounds
Under 10'0"	Add ---- $0.15
Under 6'0"	Add ---- .25
Under 2'0"	Add ---- .50
Over 30'0"	Add ---- .10
Over 45'0"	Add ---- .20
Over 50'0"	Add ---- .40
	Add ---- .90

Minimum charge of $1.00 will be made for galvanizing a single item and/or order if weight of order at net price does not amount to $1.00.

The following differentials apply on all Galvanizing Extras listed below:

Under 500 lbs	Plus 25%
500 to 1,999 lbs	Plus 10%
2,000 to 5,999 lbs	Less 5%
6,000 to 9,999 lbs	Less 15%

Angles, 2½" x 2½" x ½" and smaller—all lengths.
Angles, 3" to 6" leg, inclusive, under 5'0" long.
Total cuts of one length, cross section, finish and analysis determines the charge per cut.
Minimum charge—35¢ per item of one length, cross section, finish and analysis.

Rounds, squares, hexagons over 2"; flats over 1½" thick; bar channels; bar tees; bar zees; use Table H–5.
Angles over 6" either leg, use Table H–8.
Hot rolled bars 0.60 mean of carbon and over use Schedule H–6.

Gross weight may be charged for the stock of cross-section of the cut length angle.

The leg-shearing operation is done before cutting to length. Thus 2 angles 5'0" long would be subject to one $0.25 leg shearing extra since this operation is performed on a 10'0" angle.

1. If width* of piece ordered is less than ¼ of the width of any stock size sheet in same type, gauge and finish add ten percent (10%) of the stock size price.

2. If width* of piece ordered is ¼ but less than ½ of the width of any stock size sheet in same type, gauge and finish add fifteen percent (15%) of the stock size price.

3. If width* of piece ordered is ½ or more of the width of any stock size sheet in same type, gauge and finish add twenty percent (20%) of the stock size price.

4. If the cut size or sizes ordered are cut without waste from any stock size, none of the above percentage extras (10%, 15%, 20%) may be added, but the following shearing charges may be made for the number of cuts actually made in filling the order. Figure one first cut for each thickness ordered. In no case shall the shearing charge exceed the value of the cut pieces figured at 12¢ per pound.

MISCELLANEOUS EXTRAS

[Rate per 100 pounds]

Except as specifically noted in the extra tables themselves, the following charges may be made only when the service, operation or labor described as an extra is actually performed on the material sold:

TABLE K-1.—Galvanizing extras

A. GENERAL CONDITIONS

The prices are list prices subject to differentials and cover new material only.

All prices herein are based on galvanized weight.

Differentials apply to the total weight of all galvanized materials (except galvanized sheets, produced at mills) ordered in one day for shipment at one time or at the sellers convenience to one destination.

For intermediate sizes use next higher list.

B. DIFFERENTIALS

For any material from which paint or grease has to be burned off not more than 50% may be added to galvanizing charge.

The following length differentials apply to angles, tees, channels, flat bars, flat strips, half-ovals, rounds, squares, half rounds and may be added to net galvanizing extra.

Under 10'0"	Add	$0.15
Under 6'0"	Add	.25

Over 22'0"	Add	.10
Over 30'0"	Add	.20
Over 45'0"	Add	.40
Over 50'0"	Add	.90

Minimum charge of $1.00 will be made for galvanizing a single item and/or order if weight of order at net price does not amount to $1.00.

The following differentials apply on all galvanizing extras listed below:

Gross weight may be charged for the stock size cross-section of the cut length angle.
The leg-shearing operation is done before cutting to length. Thus 2 angles 5'0" long would be subject to only one $0.25 leg shearing extra since this operation would be performed on a 10'0" angle.

1. If width* of piece ordered is less than ¼ of the width of any stock size sheet in same type, gauge and finish add ten percent (10%) of the stock size price.
2. If width* of piece ordered is ¼ but less than ½ of the width of any stock size sheet in same type, gauge and finish add fifteen percent (15%) of the stock size price.
3. If width* of piece ordered is ½ or more of the width of any stock size sheet in same type, gauge and finish add twenty percent (20%) of the stock size price.
4. If the cut size or sizes ordered are cut without waste from any stock size, none of the above percentage extras (10%, 15%, 20%) may be added, but the following shearing charges may be made for the number of cuts actually made in filling the order. Figure one first cut for each thickness ordered. In no case shall the shearing charge exceed the value of the cut pieces figured at 12¢ per pound.

MISCELLANEOUS EXTRAS

[Rate per 100 pounds]

Except as specifically noted in the extra tables themselves, the following charges may be made only when the service, operation or labor described as an extra is actually performed on the material sold:

TABLE K-1.—Galvanizing extras

A. GENERAL CONDITIONS

The prices are list prices subject to differentials and cover new material only.

All prices herein are based on galvanized weight.

Differentials apply to the total weight of all galvanized materials (except galvanized sheets, produced at mills) ordered in one day for shipment at one time or at the sellers convenience to one destination.

For intermediate sizes use next higher list.

B. DIFFERENTIALS

For any material from which paint or grease has to be burned off not more than 50% may be added to galvanizing charge.

The following length differentials apply to angles, tees, channels, flat bars, flat strips, half-ovals, rounds, squares, half rounds and may be added to net galvanizing extra:

	Rate per 100 pounds
Under 10'0"——	Add—$.15

Over 30'0"——	Add—1.20
Over 45'0"——	Add—1.40
Over 50'0"——	Add—1.90

Minimum charge of $1.00 will be made for galvanizing a single item and/or order if weight of order at net price does not amount to $1.00.

The following differentials apply on all galvanizing extras listed below:

	Percent
Under 500 lb.——	Plus—25
500 to 1,999 lb.——	Plus—10

PART 1306—IRON AND STEEL

[RPS 49,[1] as Amended April 8, 1943]

RESALE OF IRON OR STEEL PRODUCTS

Sections 1306.151, 1306.152, 1306.157 (s), 1306.159 (e), (i) (3) and (p) (5) amended; §§ 1306.157 (p) and (q) revoked, and § 1306.157 (bb) added by Amendment 13,[2] issued April 8 and effective April 15, 1943, so that Revised Price Schedule 49 shall read as follows:

Prices in effect on April 16, 1941, have been specified as maximum prices for sale of iron or steel products by producers, under Price Schedule No. 6, as revised on June 21, 1941.[2] A large proportion of the iron or steel products used in industry passes through the hands of jobbers, dealers, and distributors of various kinds. In some cases, these middlemen have charged exorbitant and unwarranted prices. It is therefore essential that the price charged by these persons, as well as the price charged by the producer, be kept within reasonable limits. To protect both the consumer and the jobbers, dealers, and other distributors who have maintained a reasonable price level, it has been determined by the Office of Price Administration that a price schedule covering all resale of iron or steel products should be issued. April 16, 1941, has been selected as the base date since the maximum price at which the reseller may purchase from a producer has been established as of that date. Pending further investigation of transportation problems, maximum prices for Pacific Coast and Gulf Port prices are being specified.

AUTHORITY: §§ 1306.151 to 1306.164, inclusive, issued under E.O. 8734, 8875, 6 F.R. 1917, 4483. (Executive authority superseded by Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, Pub. Laws 421 and 729, 77th Cong.; E.O. 9250, 7 F.R. 7871.)

§ 1306.151 Maximum prices for the resale of iron and steel products. On and after December 15, 1941, regardless of the terms of any contract of sale or purchase, or other commitment, no seller, as defined in § 1306.157 (a) of this Revised Price Schedule 49, shall sell, offer to sell, deliver or transfer iron or steel products at prices higher higher than the maximum prices in effect at the time of such sale, offer for sale, delivery or transfer, as hereinafter set forth in the appendices to this Revised Price Schedule 49.

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 7 (7 F.R. 5176) provides that the prohibition contained in any price regulation against buying or receiving any commodity or service at a price higher than the maximum price permitted by such regulation shall not apply to any war procurement agency, or government whose defense is vital to the defense of the United States.]

[NOTE: Supplementary Order No. 31 (7 F.R. 9894) provides that: "Notwithstanding the provisions of any price regulation, the tax on transportation of all property (excepting coal) imposed by section 620 of the Revenue Act of 1942 shall, for purposes of determining the applicable maximum price of any commodity or service, be treated as though it were an increase of 3% in the amount charged by every person engaged in the business of transporting property for hire. It shall not be treated, under any provision of any price regulation or any interpretation thereof, as a tax for which a charge may be made in addition to the maximum price."]

§ 1306.152 Less than maximum prices. Lower prices than those established by this Revised Price Schedule 49 may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

§ 1306.153 Evasion. The price limitations set forth in Price Schedule No. 49 shall not be evaded either by direct or indirect methods in connection with a purchase, sale, barter, delivery or transfer of iron or steel products alone or in conjunction with any other material, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or by way of discount, premium, or other privilege, or by way of tying agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

§ 1306.154 Records and reports—(a) Records of sales, inventory and orders. Every seller of iron or steel products shall, after December 15, 1941, keep for inspection by the Office of Price Administration for a period of not less than one year, complete and accurate records of:

(1) Each such purchase or sale, showing the date thereof, the name and address of the buyer or the seller, the price paid on each purchase for resale and received on each resale, the quality and grade, the sizes, and the quantity of each product purchased or sold, and

(2) The tonnage of iron or steel products on hand and on order, classified by product, in a manner similar to that of Form PD 83 as issued by the War Production Board. A copy of Form PD 83 may be had upon request by applying to the War Production Board.

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Amendment 2, 7 F.R. 2540, effective 3-31-42]

(b) Filing prices. On or before December 31, 1941, every seller of iron or steel products having annual gross sales of $100,000 or more, even though iron and steel products comprise only a part of the total, during the year ending December 31, 1941, shall file in duplicate, in affidavit form, with the Office of Price Administration, Washington, D. C., his prices circulated to his salesmen or customers in effect on April 16, 1941, or customarily quoted and charged on that date, including extra lists, deduction lists, charges, and discounts. Special prices or discounts given to any customers and classes of customers as of April 16, 1941, shall be filed. This includes prices or discounts to jobbers, dealers and large, industrial or other special buyers. Every seller shall file individual price sheets for each warehouse or branch, showing city and country prices, wherever such exist; and he shall indicate the area or cities to which such prices apply. In the event that any prices so filed exceed the maximum prices established by Revised Price Schedule No. 49, the seller shall, after the effective date of Revised Price Schedule No. 49, eliminate this excess and charge a maximum price not in excess of the maximum prices established herein. Every seller shall state with regard to his April 16, 1941 price for each product, the range of sizes, types or cross-section covered by each price submitted; trade names, if any, and prices charged; prices for each base quantity; products sold in various quantity brackets, and prices for each bracket. If the person is a seller without prices as of April 16, 1941, (a) because of establishment of business after April 16, 1941, or (b) because of introduction of a product not handled on or prior to April 16, 1941, he shall file a list of his inventory as of December 1, 1941, and prices he proposes to charge for such products. These prices shall not be in excess of the maximum as established by Revised Price Schedule No. 49. Additional filing requirements from Pacific Coast and Gulf Port sellers, and for carload business, are included in other sections of Revised Price Schedule No. 49. Persons affected by Revised Price Schedule No. 49 shall submit such other reports to the Office of Price Administration as it may from time to time require: Provided, That every seller of pipe and tubular products shall file with the Office of Price Administration, in duplicate, on or before September 15, 1942, his cutting and threading charges circulated to his salesmen or to his customers and in effect on April 16, 1941, or customarily quoted and charged as of that date.

[Proviso added by Amendment 7, 7 F.R. 6693, effective 9-4-42]

NOTE: Supplementary Order 23 (7 F.R. 8478) provides that on and after October 24, 1942, reports filed with OPA pursuant to any price regulation issued prior to October 24, 1942, need not be notarized.

§ 1306.155 Enforcement. (a) Persons violating any provision of this Revised Price Schedule No. 49 are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

(b) Persons who have evidence of any violation of this Revised Price Schedule No. 49 or any price schedule, regulation or order issued by the Office of Price Administration or of any acts or practices which constitute such a violation are urged to communicate with the nearest field or regional office of the Office of Price Administration or its principal office in Washington, D. C.

[§ 1306.155 as amended by Supplementary Order dated March 1, 1942]

[NOTE: The provisions of Supplementary Order No. 17, (7 F. R. 7239, 11007) licensing persons subject to Revised Price Schedules 46 and 49, and Maximum Price Regulation No. 159 are applicable to every person selling iron or steel products for which maximum prices are established by Revised Price Schedule No. 49. That order provides in substance that a license is required of every person selling iron or steel products by this Revised Price Schedule No. 49, that every person subject to this regulation is granted a license as a condition of selling iron or steel products hereunder, and that every such person may in the future be required to register with the Office of Price Administration at such time and in such manner as the Administrator may prescribe. Licensees violating any of the provisions of this regulation or of said license are subject to the license suspension proceedings provided in the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.]

§ 1306.156 Petitions for amendment, adjustment or exception. (a) Any person seeking an amendment of any provisions of this Revised Price Schedule No. 49 may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Revised Procedural Regulation No. 1.[8]

[Paragraph (a) as amended by Supplementary Order 26, 7 F.R. 8948]

(b) A petition for exception may be filed by any seller requesting permission to sell high cost inventory, title to which was acquired prior to December 15, 1941, at prices in excess of the maximums established in this Revised Price Schedule No. 49. Such petitions must prove that serious financial losses will be imposed on the seller by sale at ceiling prices.

(c) A petition for exception may be filed in any case in which the petitioner claims that the gross margin on a particular product between mill ceiling price and the resale ceiling price as established by this Revised Price Schedule No. 49 is inadequate. The petition must demonstrate:

(1) That the spread is less than that which existed on April 16, 1941; and

(2) That circumstances such as the withdrawal of special competitive prices by the mill, the grant of an amendment or an exception under Revised Price Schedule No. 6[9] by the Office of Price Administration to the supplying mill, the use of the emergency basing point by the mill, etc., have led to the inadequacy of the gross spread; and

(3) That the sale of the particular product, at ceiling prices, has a serious effect on the over-all financial position of the petitioner.

The Office of Price Administration will consider the above factors, together with such other economic and financial data as may be relevant, in determining the merits of such a petition.

(d) A petition for adjustment may be filed requesting that the April 16, 1941 price of any seller be raised to conform to the listed or published price in any listed city, or the lowest combination price in an unlisted city.

(e) In any case in which extraordinary and unusual freight absorption is compelled by the exigencies of the war program, such as priority rating, allocation or the like, and the situation is not covered by § 1306.159 (f) of this Revised Price Schedule No. 49, a petition for exception may be filed by the seller; Upon such petition, the Administrator may grant, together with such other relief as may be proper, the right to price f. o. b. warehouse.

(i) In listed cities, the maximum delivered price shall not exceed the published listed prices, as set out in § 1306.160, Appendix B, [or, as may hereinafter be issued under "General Provisions", § 1306.159 (m) (3)] for that city or free delivery area.

(ii) In unlisted cities, the maximum delivered price shall not exceed the lowest delivered price that is the result of a combination of (a) country prices of any seller named in § 1306.160, Appendix B herein [or as may hereinafter be issued under "General Provisions", § 1306.159 (m) (3)] located in any listed city, and (b) less-than-carload freight from such listed city.

(2) If a person not having prices sells for delivery into a place other than the city or free delivery area in which he is located, the maximum delivered price shall be set in conformance with paragraph (b) of this section.

(3) Any person who for any reason is unable to set a maximum delivered price in accordance with the terms of Revised Price Schedule No. 49 may apply to the Office of Price Administration to set maximum delivered prices for the sale or series of sales in question.

(d) Modification of certain April 16, 1941, prices. (1) Any seller located in listed city or free delivery area to which published listed prices are applicable, if his prices as of April 16, 1941, were lower than such published listed prices, may make application to the Office of Price Administration to increase the maximum delivered price applicable to him in order to correspond to the published listed prices applicable to such listed city or free delivery area. Such application shall be in affidavit form and shall state that the services rendered by such seller are comparable to services rendered by the sellers named in § 1306.160, Appendix B, for such city, in such matters as delivery service, performance of cutting, shearing, bending, threading and similar operations, carrying of a full line of products, of comparable type, grade and quality, etc.

(In effect, if, to the seller's advantage, he may use the dislocated tonnage provision when applicable; if not, he may use § 1306.159 (b)). Provided further, That the maximum delivered prices for dislocated tonnage shall not apply to shipments of pipe or tubular goods, and that on all shipments of standard pipe, seamless pipe, water well casing, large O. D. pipe, line pipe and wrought iron pipe originating from jobber's stocks in the States of Washington, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Wyoming, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, California, New Mexico and Texas (El Paso and Pecos only) and shipped to points within the above mentioned states or to points West of the 103rd meridian, within the States of North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, and Texas, any freight actually paid in excess of the sum of thirty (30) cents per 100 pounds may be charged, notwithstanding that freight equalization of more than this amount may be required by the provisions of § 1306.159 (i) (1) and (2), establishing maximum delivered prices at such points of delivery.

(s) Maximum prices for imported iron or steel products. (1) The maximum delivered price for sales or deliveries of any iron or steel product imported prior to April 16, 1941, shall be the price for the product as established by the provisions of Revised Price Schedule No. 49 without reference to subparagraph (2) below.

(2) The maximum delivered price for sales or deliveries of any iron or steel product imported on and after April 16, 1941, shall be the price for the product as established by the Office of Price Administration, upon application by the seller. In establishing such price, the Office of Price Administration shall take into consideration the importance of the product to the war effort, and, wherever appropriate, any increase in the total landed costs of the product over the total landed costs of the same product or a similar product sold by the seller or a similar seller on or about April 16, 1941. The application by the seller shall include a proposed price and all information which he considers necessary for the Office of Price Administration to judge that proposed price and to determine the price to be established: Provided, That no petition or application for amendment, adjustment, exception or other relief made by the buyer of an imported iron or steel product will be entertained by the Office of Price Administration to the extent that such petition or application is based, directly or indirectly, on the purchase from a seller of an imported iron or steel product at a price higher than the price established under subparagraph (1) above for the same or similar imported iron or steel product. If the seller of the imported iron or steel product has applied or intends to apply to the Office of Price Administration for the establishment of a price under the provisions of this subparagraph (2), he shall prior to the time of selling or agreeing to sell the product notify the buyer in writing of the above limitation. In any case, under this subparagraph, where a maximum delivered price is to be determined by the Office of Price Administration, a seller may prior to such determination contract, sell, bill and deliver at an adjustable price, the definite price to be finally determined by the Office of Price Administration.

(c) The foregoing prices are base prices and quantity extras to which may be added all other extras permitted under Revised Price Schedule No. 49, provided also that where the sellers named in § 1306.160 Appendix B of Revised Price Schedule No. 49 published prices which reflected in the base price an extra for size, grade or section, (such as the difference in base prices between standard cold rolled sheets and deep drawing cold rolled sheets) such difference in base prices shall be considered an extra which may be added by sellers under the provisions of § 1306.159 Appendix A (a)(2) of Revised Price Schedule No. 49.

(d) The prices and extras set forth above shall be used as a basis for the computation of "Lowest Combination" Prices, (as defined in § 1306.157 (k)).

PART 1305—ADMINISTRATION

(g) Warehouse pickling charge. For secondary or rejected iron or steel products which have been job or warehouse pickled, in addition to the mill pickling extra allowed under Table V or VIII, there may also be added 25¢ per 100 pounds for sheets and 20¢ per 100 pounds for plates. No extra charges may be made in connection with this charge, such as, but not limited to, oiling, lining, drying, handling and transportation or cartage. The method of invoicing this warehouse pickling charge is set forth in paragraph (j) below.

(h) Restrictions on extras and charges. (1) Where a shipment is made containing two or more products or grades of products (or both) having different base prices or quality extras (or both), the maximum price for any shipment containing such range of products or grades (or both), unless the exact amount of each can be specified by the seller, shall be determined by computing the lowest base price or the lowest quality extra (or both). Such lowest base price or lowest quality extra (or both) shall be used in computing the price for the entire shipment.

For example:

(i) Where a shipment contains both hot rolled strip and cold rolled strip and the exact amount of each product cannot be specified by the seller, the maximum price for the entire shipment is the hot rolled strip price.

(ii) Where a shipment contains both hot rolled sheets and hot rolled pickled sheets and the exact amount of each grade cannot be specified by the seller, the maximum price for the entire shipment is the hot rolled sheet price.

(2) No extras not specifically listed in Table V or VIII above, and no charges not specifically listed in paragraphs (f) and (g) and Table IX above, may be added to the maximum delivered price (such as, but not limited to, analysis, thickness or gauge tolerance, deoxidizing, surface inspection, and roller leveling). Provided, That the Office of Price Administration may approve, upon application, certain extras and charges not permitted in this § 1306.164, Appendix F, and which were in effect and charged on April 16, 1941, by the seller or group of sellers applying.

(i) Special inventory filing and record requirements. Every seller of secondary or rejected iron or steel products, covered by this § 1306.164, Appendix F, shall comply with the following requirements:

(1) File, in duplicate, with the Office of Price Administration, Iron and Steel Price Branch, Washington, D. C., on or before April 1, 1943, his total inventory on hand on March 1, 1943, of secondary or rejected iron or steel products covered by this § 1306.164, Appendix F. This filing need not be made by any seller who had no inventory of secondary or rejected iron or steel products on hand on March 1, 1943. The inventory filing shall include the total tonnage of the products covered by this § 1306.164, Appendix F, segregated according to prime and secondary or rejected quality. A separate filing of this information shall be made for each warehouse location.

This requirement has been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

(2) Keep open for inspection for a two year period an inventory in a form similar to that required to be filed under subparagraph (1) above, taken at the end of each of his accounting periods. Also, keep open for inspection for two years after date of purchase a record of all material purchased as secondary or rejected iron or steel products which are covered by this § 1306.164, Appendix F. Such record shall distinguish secondary or rejected quality material from prime quality material. Further, there shall be kept for the same period records of purchases and sales of universal mill plates adequate to identify them as the product of a universal mill; of purchases and sales of all classifications of tin mill black plate in U. S. S. gauge # 28 and heavier; and of sales of job and warehouse pickled material on which a charge has been made in accordance with paragraph (g) above.

There shall, also, be indicated as a separate item on each invoice covering all job or warehouse pickled material on which a charge has been made in accordance with paragraph (g) above, the statement "charge for warehouse pickling."

(k) Secondary or rejected products not qualifying as rejects, wasters, waste wasters, offal or side and end shearings. The maximum prices for secondary or rejected iron or steel products subject to this § 1306.164, Appendix F, which do not qualify as rejects, wasters, waste wasters, offal, or side and end shearings, shall be those set forth in Revised Price Schedule No. 4 for sales of iron and steel scrap to a consumer.

A rationale for this amendment has been issued simultaneously herewith and has been filed with the Division of the Federal Register.*

General Ration Order 3A is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 1305.444 is amended to read as follows:

§ 1305.444 Signature cards and other papers required. A person opens his first account in any bank by completing, signing and delivering to the bank signature cards supplied by the bank. He may open any additional account at that bank by requesting the bank to enter the additional account on the original signature cards. If the bank requests new signature cards, however, he must complete and deliver them. He shall also submit, if the bank requests them, references, other proofs of identity and documents showing his authority to execute the signature cards. He shall also, if the bank requests it, furnish a statement, signed by him, of the facts which require or permit him to open or to continue to have an account. If, after an account is opened, new persons are authorized to sign checks drawn on that account, new signature cards must be completed and delivered, and such new documents as the bank requests must be submitted.

2. Section 1305.484a is added to read as follows:

§ 1305.484a Specified groups compelled to close accounts. Whenever a ration order of the Office of Price Administration shall require all depositors in a specified class or group to close their accounts, each depositor in that class or group shall promptly advise his bank in writing of the facts which bring him within it. The depositor shall reduce the balance in his account to zero within the time fixed in the ration order for the closing of such accounts.
